PREFACE

CINCE we graduated ten years ago we have followed widely O divergent paths. Some of us have been called to remote parts of the world. Most of us have acquired new responsibilities and new interests. In consequence many of our college intimacies have become simply memories. In too many cases we have lost touch with each other. Happy the man who throughout the past decade has been able to keep up and strengthen even a few of his college friendships.

The Class Report is the only medium by which we can bridge the gap of time and trace the careers of our classmates in their chosen work. It is a periodic stock-taking of a Harvard Class. a posting of the ledger of college friendships, and for this reason. it seems to me, the trouble and expense involved in preparing it is thoroughly worth while, provided, always, that it affords us information about practically all the members of the Class. Unless it does this, unless the members of the Class take enough interest to furnish the necessary data about themselves, then the Report fails to accomplish its purpose. I am sorry that so great a proportion of the members of the Class have failed to respond in connection with the present Report.

A protracted absence from home on service on the Mexican border, together with the press of private business, has prevented my handling the preparation of this Report. I regret this very much because I remember with keen pleasure my work in connection with the Third Report four years ago. But my own loss has been the gain of the Class since it has resulted in turning over the preparation of the Report to the Harvard Alumni Association. I wish particularly to acknowledge with gratitude the very faithful and competent work of our classmate, John Benbow, who has been most helpful and considerate.

John Reynolds. Secretary.

TREASURER'S REPORT

HARVARD 1907 CLASS FUND

BOSTON, MASS., March 20, 1917.

EXCEPT for the Sexennial events, the financial chronicle of the Class since the date of the last report is not especially eventful, as is shown by the figures below.

The income from the fund is large enough to cover the routine expenses of the secretary and treasurer, the annual Commencement spread, several smokers, unavoidable small deficits from dinners, and occasional gifts for appropriate purposes. The fund, therefore, seems adequate for the purposes for which it was raised. Special dinners and celebrations have to be paid for by special funds or charges.

I have from time to time traded bonds when it seemed wise. Owing to my absence from Boston much of this past year the bond coupons have not been cut regularly. This accounts for the apparently low income in that period.

Suggestions from any member of the Class in regard to the handling of the fund will always be welcome.

The pleasantest part of my job is the opportunity it gives to keep in touch with members of the Class all over the world. Men are still generously remembering the Class. Since these figures were compiled a man in New Orleans has presented us with a fifty dollar bond, quite out of a clear sky. One of our Boston classmates turned in a contribution not many months ago. A subscription just recently came in from Porto Rico. When these things happen, it makes me especially glad to be of a little service to such spirit.

RICHARD B. GREGG.

Treasurer.

AUDITOR'S CERTIFICATE

I have made an examination of the books and records of Richard B. Gregg, Treasurer of the Class of 1907, covering all transactions from December 31, 1912, the date of the last report, to December 31, 1916. All cash shown to have been received has been accounted for, and I have seen satisfactory evidence of payment for all disbursements. The cash and investments were found to be as stated in the balance sheet. I hereby certify that the above statements and balance sheet are in accordance with the records, and in my opinion accurately set forth the condition of the Class Fund on December 31, 1916, and the receipts and disbursements for the four years ended at that date.

RECORDS OF THE CLASS

ROBERT ABELES, Jr.

Born at St. Louis, Mo., Dec. 6, 1884.

Parents: Julius David, Emily (Taussig) Abeles.

School: Smith Academy, St. Louis, Mo.

Years in College: 1903-05.

Married: Katharine Peddle, Sept. 18, 1915, St. Louis, Mo.

Child: Robert 3d, Sept. 4, 1916.

Occupation: Lumber.

Address: (business) 509 Commercial Bldg., 6th and Olive Sts., St. Louis, Mo.;

(home) 5531 Berlin Ave., St. Louis, Mo.

A FTER working at several different jobs, I took a position with the Abeles & Taussig Lumber Company and have been with them ever since. I am also Secretary of the Terminal Hotel, St. Louis, Mo.

MEMBER: University Club and Amateurs Athletic Association.

SAMUEL LIONEL ABRAHAMS

Born at Fall River, Mass., July 20, 1887.

Parents: Isaac, Hannah Grace (Sterne) Abrahams.

School: Roxbury Latin School, Roxbury, Mass.

Years in College: 1904-07.

Degrees: A.B. 1907; M.E.E. 1910.

Unmarried.

Occupation: Electrical Engineering.

Address: (business) c/o General Electric Co., West Lynn, Mass.; (home) 223

Harvard Ave., Allston, Mass.

AM one of the average plodders who are "working for Blank & Co., starting with a job and working up to a position." After getting my A.B., I went to the Graduate School of Applied Science for three years more, and in 1910, armed with an M.E.E.,

н 1907 — 1

was allowed to continue my studies for two years more as an apprentice with the General Electric Company. After a period of "practical experience," I was dignified with the title of engineer and designed motors for a couple of years. Then I accepted a position—that's a real fact—in Baltimore, went to New York for a while, then spent a few months in Cleveland, and at the end of two years returned to my old love, the General Electric Company, where I am now designing telephone power apparatus. I am still unmarried, though I am unwilling to state how much longer I shall be able to boast of that condition. Incidentally I do a little tutoring on the side, and am doing my best to keep Harvard supplied with students. And I guess that's about all I have to tell about myself,— perhaps that's more than enough.

STEPHEN HULBERT ACKERMAN, Jr.

Born at Brooklyn, N. Y., July 8, 1885.

Parents: Slephen Hulbert, May Belle (Erans) Ackerman.

School: Boys High School, Brooklyn, N. Y. Years in College: 1903-07.

Degrees: A.B. 1907; M.D. (Columbia) 1911.

Married: Marie Lillian Ruck, Nov. 12, 1914, New York, N. Y.

Occupation: Medicine and Surgery.

Address: 195 Sterling St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

UPON completing the first half of the senior year and attaining the degree of A.B., I went to the University of Freiburg, Germany, and took up medical subjects. In the fall I returned and entered the College of Physicians and Surgeons, New York City. Upon graduation with the degree of M.D., I entered the Methodist Episcopal Hospital, Brooklyn, as interne for a period of two years. I also became 1st Lieutenant, Medical Corps, National Guard of New York, attached to the 13th Coast Defense Command, Brooklyn. After engaging in general practice for a time, I decided to specialize in orthopedic surgery, at which work I am at present engaged, at the New York Orthopedic Hospital, and at the New Jersey Orthopedic Hospital and Dispensary at Orange, N. J.

Member: Associated Physicians of Long Island, Ex-internes Society of the Methodist Episcopal Hospital, Brooklyn.

HERMANN FRANKLIN ARENS

Born at Boston, Mass., May 3, 1882.

Parents: Edward Johannes, Adelina Sohmes (Alkinson) Arens.

Schools: Dummer Academy, and Newburyport High School, Newburyport, Mass.

Mass.

Years in College: 1903-06. Degrees: A.B. 1907; A.M. 1913.

Married: Elizabeth Clare Mc Namara, Sept. 11, 1907, New York, N. Y. Children: Hermann Athanasius, May 4, 1911; Winifred Adelina, Feb. 16, 1914: Frederick Vincent, April 6, 1916.

Occupation: With Babson Statistical Organization.

Address: (business) Wellesley Hills, Mass.; (home) Cochiluate, Mass.

A FTER leaving Harvard in 1906, I spent 1907 and 1908 in Cambridge. I was in New York from October, 1908, to May, 1909, and the following three years were spent in Minnesota and Wisconsin. The academic year of 1912–13 found me back at Harvard studying in the Graduate School of Arts and Sciences and assisting Professor Carver in Economics 8. I took my Master's Degree in June, 1913. The following year 1 was assistant to Professors Foerster and Ford in Social Ethics 1, and during 1914–15 was Carver's assistant once more, this time in Economics 7 and 9. During 1915–16 I had charge of the economics tutoring for the "Widow" and in September, 1916, accepted a position with the Balson Statistical Organization of Wellesley Hills, Mass.

Member: American Economics Society.

RALPH MONTGOMERY ARKUSH

Born at Chicago, Ill., May 5, 1887. Parents: Ezekiel, Eda (Mayer) Arkush.

School: Phillips Exeter Academy, Exeter, N. II.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degrees: A.B. 1907; LL.B. 1909.

Married: Martha Starr Wellington, June 17, 1909, Boston, Mass.

Occupation: Lawyer.

Address: (business) 24 Broad St., New York, N. Y.; (home) 629 West 115th St., New York, N. Y.

UNTIL June, 1916, I was associated with the law firm of Byrne and Cutcheon of New York City, and since then have been practising law independently. One of the penalties of such a career is that what thrills there are must, being (so to speak) vicarious, go unrecounted.

Member: Harvard Club and Bar Association, New York City.

JAMES HARDING ARMSTRONG

Born at Wolfville, Nova Scotia, Aug. 19, 1882.

Parents: Arthur Wellesley, Marie (Huguenin) Armstrong. School: Hyde Park High School, Hyde Park, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degrees: A.B. 1907; A.M. 1908.

Married: Ada Jane Brown, Nov. 25, 1908, Chelsea, Mass.

Children: Richard Huguenin, Jan. 29, 1910; Marguerite Brown, Feb. 16, 1912; Eleanor Marie, Nov. 2, 1914.

Occupation: Grammar School Principal.

Address: (business) Lawrence School, Francis St., Brookline, Mass.; (home) 168 Kent St., Brookline, Mass.

THE fall after graduation I began work as principal of the schools at Edgewood, R. I., remaining there two years. During the second year I married Ada Brown, a Chelsea school teacher.

In the fall of 1909 I began work as sub-master of the Webster School in Cambridgeport and remained there four years. During this time I was principal of an evening school held in the same building. We removed to Waverley shortly after the birth of our first child, a boy, and while here our second child, a girl, was born.

Early in June, 1913, I accepted a position as master of the Lawrence School in the Longwood section of Brookline, and since then I have been teaching there, finding conditions very congenial. The second year of our residence here our third child was born.

When the system of limited town meetings was introduced a year ago I was elected a town meeting member for a term of three years. I am also serving as Clerk of the Brookline Baptist Church and as the Executive Secretary of K Δ Φ fraternity, a Normal School organization.

Unmarried.

Occupation: Broker.

Address: (business) c o Beach & Austin, 18 Asylum St., Hartford, Conn.;

(home) Hartford, Conn.

BOUT a year after leaving Cambridge I became associated A with Bond & Goodwin, brokers, in their New York office, where I remained until November, 1912. At that time I went to Hartford to form a partnership with Goodwin Beach, of our Class, under the name of Beach & Austin, for conducting an investment brokerage business. The firm continues today as originally started.

Member: Harvard Club of New York; University, Hartford, and Hartford Golf Clubs, Hartford, Conn.

CHARLES HOWE AUTEN

Born at Princeville, Ill., Dec. 4, 1884.

Parents: Edward, Maria (Cutter) Auten.

Schools: Princeville Academy, Princeville, Ill., and Toulon Academy, Toulon,

Years in College: 1903-05.

Married: Gertrude Maude Sholes, Boston, Mass., Aug. 1, 1912.

Children: Philip Sholes, Jan. 15, 1914; Howard Leavenworth, Aug. 17, 1916.

Occupation: Banking.
Address: Princeville, Ill.

A T the end of my sophomore year I sailed as a cattleman from Boston on the Bohemian of the Leyland Line. From Liverpool I journeyed through England to London, then to Amsterdam, Liege, the Rhine, Switzerland, and Paris.

On my return I entered the banking house of Auten & Auten, in my home town of Princeville, Illinois, becoming a partner in the firm in 1906. I still live in Princeville, and am still in the banking business, which in a country town of the Middle West, with insurance, mortgage loans, and legal business, includes almost all a New York Trust Company can do.

LOUIS ANGELL BABBITT

Born at Media, Pa., July 9, 1885.

Parents: Angell Boss, Ida Louella (Adams) Babbitt. School: De Lancey School, Philadelphia, Pa.

Years in College: 1902-07.

Degrees: A.B. 1907; A.M. 1908.

Married: Marie Euphemia Macdonald, Nov. 20, 1912, Boston, Mass.

Children: Louis Angell, Jr., Nov. 18, 1913; Frederick Macdonald, Sept. 20, 1915.

Occupation: Electrical Engineering.

Address: (business) 1631 Arch St., Philadelphia, Pa.; (home) 230 East Lincoln St., Media, Pa.

ON August 1, 1910, I entered the employ of the McElwain Shoe Company. On January 1, 1911, I resigned to accept a position in the engineering department of the Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania. Both the Telephone Company and I seem to be mutually satisfied each with the other and accordingly there has been no change in my position since 1911.

ROBERT LOW BACON

Born at Jamaica Plain, Boston, Mass., July 23, 1884. Parents: Robert, Martha Waldron (Cowdin) Bacon.

School: Groton School, Groton, Mass. Years in College: 1903-07.

Degrees: A.B. 1907 (1908); LL.B. 1910.

Married: Virginia Murray, April 14, 1913, New York, N. Y.

Children: Alexander Murray, March 4, 1914; Virginia Murray, June 7, 1916.

Occupation: Banking.

Address: (business) 14 Wall St., New York, N. Y.; (home) Westbury, Nassau County, L. I., N. Y.

I ENTERED Harvard Law School in the fall of 1907, graduating in 1910. I was connected with the United States Treasury Department from July, 1910, to April, 1911, as secretary to the Assistant Secretary of Treasury in charge of the financial bureaus. The summers of 1907, 1909, and 1911 I spent in Europe, that of 1903 in British Columbia.

I became a member of the banking firm of Kissel, Kinnicutt & Co., 14 Wall Street, New York, in November, 1911. I am still with them and intensely interested in the investment banking business.

I live in Westbury, Nassau County, N. Y., and give a good deal of time to politics and local activities.

I attended the First Military Training Camp at Plattsburg and was the first man to enroll; enlisted in the New York Militia as a private in Battery A, 2d Field Artillery, New York National Guard. I became a Lieutenant of Battery F, 1st Field Artillery, New York National Guard, serving in this capacity and with this regiment on the "border" at McAllen, Texas. After being mustered out of Federal service, I resigned my Commission November, 1916, and was honorably discharged. I resigned because of the conviction that national guard and militia system is worse than nothing at all, as it creates a false sense of security; also because of the conviction that universal military training and service is the only solution for adequate preparedness. I am too much interested in my family and business to give further time to military duties that should be the duty and privilege of younger men without family and business obligations.

Member: Various social and political clubs and societies, etc., in New York, Washington, Boston, and Nassau County, N. Y.

GEORGE WILLIAM BAILEY

Born at Wollaston, Mass., May 14, 1887.

Parents: Herbert Briggs, Alice (Brown) Bailey.

School: Adams Academy, Quincy, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degree: A.B. 1907.

Married: Alice Cooper, June 16, 1913, Honolulu, Hawaii.

Child: Mary Alice, Sept. 4, 1914. Occupation: Shoe Manufacturing.

Address: (business) c o C. M. Brett Co., Hudson, Mass.; (home) Church St., Weston, Mass.

THE first two years out of College I worked in the Beverly plant of the United Shoe Machinery Company, learning the trade of machinist. During the third year I learned to operate shoe machinery in the Bridgewater factory of the W. H. McElwain Company, and the fourth year I worked in different departments of the several factories of the company. The fifth year I was superintendent of the Derryfield factory in Manchester, N. H.

In 1913 I was transferred to the selling end of the business, and the next three years travelled in every state in the Union and across the Pacific.

When the war in Europe began the McElwain Company secured large contracts for foreign army shoes. During my work in connection with these contracts, I had many interesting experiences with various representatives of the Allies.

Last year I had the opportunity to become interested in a shoe manufacturing business, and I am now General Manager of the C. M. Brett Company of Hudson, Mass., manufacturers of men's and boys' work shoes for the jobbing trade.

Member: Harvard Club of Boston and Harvard Club of New York.

Married: Edith Perry, April 15, 1916, Boston, Mass.

Occupation: Instructor in Music.

Address: (business) c/o Harvard College, Cambridge, Mass.; (home) 497

Beacon St., Boston, Mass.

IN the summer of 1907 I went to Berlin, where I remained for two years studying piano and composition. In the fall of 1909 I went to Paris, where I studied music until the following spring, when I returned to America. In October, 1910, I settled in Cambridge, where I gave lessons in piano and harmony for two years. In the spring of 1911 Hermann Hagedorn and I collaborated on the "Delectable Forest," an out-of-door play with incidental music. This was produced in May, 1912, by the Idler Club of Radcliffe, assisted by players from the Symphony Orchestra. In 1912 I became Assistant in the Music Department at Harvard. In 1914 I was appointed Instructor. The summer of 1913 I spent at the MacDowell Memorial Colony at Peterborough, N. H., where studios are provided for workers in the various arts. Here I wrote a version of the Prelude to the "Delectable Forest" for full orchestra which was given the following year at the Mac-Dowell Festival in Peterborough. It was played by the Boston Symphony Orchestra under Dr. Muck in Cambridge, December 10, 1914; by the Chicago Symphony Orchestra in Springfield, Mass., at the May Festival, 1916; and by the same orchestra in Chicago, February 2 and 3, 1917.

I went to the MacDowell colony again the summer of 1914, where I finished the score of "The Eve of St. Agnes." a symphonic poem after Keats. This was played by the Boston Symphony under Doctor Muck on January 19 and 20, 1917.

I was married April 15, 1916 to Miss Edith Perry of Boston. We are building a house at Hancock, N. H. where we expect to spend our summers.

Publications: a song, "Retrospect," published in the Harvard Musical Review for April, 1913; a piano piece, "Morning" was published in the same magazine in December, 1913.

DU BOIS BEALE

Born at Hudson, N. Y., Jan. 29, 1885.

Parents: Charles F. T., Margaret (Du Bois) Beale. School: Phillips Exeter Academy, Exeter, N. H.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degree: A.B. 1907; LL.B. (N. Y. Law S.) 1909.

Married: Marjorie Dilmars, April 22, 1913, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Occupation: Law.

Address: (business) 31 Nassau St., New York, N. Y.; (home) Hartsdale, N. Y.

IT is, as Professor Channing used to say in History 10, stimulating to review with yourself, at the prompting of the Class Secretary, the events in your life since 1907 and wonder how much you dare divulge to your classmates. Fortunately there is little for me to conceal, but, unfortunately, no more to boast about. I can chronicle only the usual course of preparation for the business of life. The study of law, the scrambling through the bar examinations, the thrilling hunt for the first "job," its acquisition, the desperate attempt to be worthy of that $10 a week wage, and due gratitude and humbleness in its receipt, account for the first three years.

Next comes the inevitable feeling that you are not appreciated, the new "position" with its vast possibilities, the frantic struggle to rectify stupid mistakes before it is too late, and the glow of pride when first you see your name upon a brief or appeal, or struggling, the last of a long array, upon the last few inches of the office door. Then comes the first client and with him a vague unrest, and the slow blossoming thought that you must get out for yourself. All this is a great adventure to you, but trivial to each other who has adventured in his own way.

For two years I practised alone, or with an occasional client for company. Last year I formed a partnership with Lewis Sisson, Yale, 1907, under the firm name of Sisson & Beale. We tempt clients with a beautiful, if meager, view of the North River and an unrestricted prospect of the chimneys of lower Manhattan, from the eighteenth story of 31 Nassau Street, New York City.

We will gladly show you this view at any time.

I spent the summers of 1907 and 1908 in Europe; and that of 1910 on our western coast, escaping by a narrow margin from the oratory of the Native Sons, who guarantee sudden and immense wealth with the purchase of an acre of coca-cola trees.

Upon my return to New York, I at once joined the Seventh Regiment, N. G. N. Y., so that I could be sure that my term of service would expire before the regiment could be called for service on the border.

In 1913 I risked my life amid the trolley cars, drug stores, and museums of Brooklyn and rescued my future wife from those arid wastes. We spent our honeymoon in Jamaica and Panama and on our return built a home at Hartsdale, New York, where we now live. Commuting is now my favorite recreation.

Having starved through the depression of 1914 and avoided riches and War Brides during the last two years, I am now waiting for the decennial celebration.

Years in College: 1903-07. Degrees: A.B. 1907; A.M. 1911.

Unmarried.

Occupation: Archaeology.

Address: 1737 Cambridge St., Cambridge, Mass.

IN the spring of 1909 I went with the Princeton Expedition to Syria and spent a couple of months travelling beyond the Jordan and in the Roman province of Arabia. I took my A.M. in two first half-years (1909–10 and 1910–11), and in the spring of 1910 joined the newly-formed American Expedition to Sardis. I have remained with the Expedition ever since then, having charge of everything found in the excavations, and preparing the general catalogue. My principal interest has been Numismatics, and last year (1916) I published the Expedition's first volume (No. XI in the series) on the coins found during our first five years' work. Since then I have prepared for publication the coins from the Assos Excavations of the early eighties. This has not yet been printed. In 1911 I was appointed Curator of Numismatic Literature in the College Library, and since then have tried with some success to increase the Library's possessions under this heading.

Publications: "Poems and Sonnets." London, Elkin Mathews, 1915; "Sardis;" Publications of the American Society for the Excavation of Sardis, Vol. XI, Coins, Leiden, E. T. Brill, 1916. Member: Union and Harvard Clubs, New York; Harvard Married: Blanche Ballard, April 29, 1914, Somerville, Mass.

Occupation: Manager.

Address: (business) Harvard & Sixth Sts., Cambridgeport, Mass.; (home)

39 Benton Road, Somerville, Mass.

SINCE leaving College I have been with the J. S. Bell Confectionery Co. I started in at the bottom and have held various positions throughout the factory, also spent nearly six years as salesman on the road. My position now is hard to define exactly, but is one of management with considerable responsibility.

I have been a loyal and enthusiastic follower of Harvard athletics and for a while after leaving College competed in local athletic meets.

My hobby is collecting and specializing on the postage stamps of the United States and colonies.

I have contributed a few short articles to philatelic magazines, really not worth mentioning.

Member: Boston Philatelic Society, Fraternity Lodge, A. F. & A. M., Newton Royal Arch Chapter, National Philatelic Society.

STUART BELL

Born at Chestnut Hill, Mass., Feb. 21, 1884.

Parents: Albert D. S., Susan Laura (Stoughton) Bell. School: Browne and Nichols School, Cambridge, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-05.

Unmarried.

Occupation: Office Manager.

Address: (business) 53 State St., Boston, Mass.; (home) 371 Harvard St.,

Cambridge, Mass.

A T the end of my sophomore year I entered the office of Pettigrew, Bright & Co. (stock brokers) as bookkeeper. After two years I resigned to accept a position in the rattan factory of J. S. Newton & Co. Here I spent one year and then was made superintendent. I held this position until July, 1911, when I was obliged to give up on account of my health. Having gained back my health in April, 1912, I entered the factory of the Holtzer, Cabot Electric Co. In June, 1914, when business was so poor, I was obliged to leave. I then procured a temporary position with the Simplex Electrical Heating Co. in the advertising department. In November, 1916, I became office manager of the Eastern Machine & Iron Co., who are manufacturers of machinery and building materials.

Born at Fort Madison, Ia., March 5, 1884.

Parents: Horatio Frederick, Margaret Emily (Sawdon) Benbow.

School: Phillips Academy, Andover, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-06. Degree: A.B. 1907 (1906).

Married: Frances Elizabeth Breck, Nov. 30, 1910, Newton, Mass. Children: Marion Adams, Oct. 21, 1912; John, Jr., Oct. 22, 1914.

Occupation: Manufacturer of Books.

Address: (business) c o The Plimpton Press, Norwood, Mass.; (home) 16

Fairmont Ave., Newton, Mass.

IMMEDIATELY after receiving my A.B. in June, 1906 (as of 1907), I began work at The University Press, Cambridge, Mass., as private secretary to William Dana Orcutt, '92, the Vice President and General Manager. I remained in this position until January 1, 1910, when Mr. Orcutt retired from The University Press to associate himself with The Plimpton Press in Norwood, Mass. I accompanied him at that time and have continued with him and this Company.

My work has been of a character which is exceedingly interesting to me — the manufacture of books in their entirety. This involves the study of the early manuscript books, the typography, letterpress, and binding of the best periods of the past, the art of decoration and illustration, the processes of engraving, and the many ingenious complications of present-day mechanical printing and binding — and finally their application to the modern book. I have even found Latin and Greek of occasional commercial value to me — an experience which I imagine is rare outside the teaching profession. Among the most pleasant work that has come this year is that of manufacturing this Class Report and the Reports of Harvard 1877, 1892, 1897, 1902, 1913, and 1914. This is the result of the efforts we have made for several years past to raise the standard of the format of Harvard Class Reports.

I attended the July Camp at Plattsburg in 1916, as a private in Co. B., Seventh Regiment — all the time in the rear rank. Among other things, I learned that the best men are always kept in the rear rank because in executing "squads right" (or left) they are the only men who have anything to think about!

St., Bainbridge, N. Y.

A Soutlined in the last Class Report, immediately after leaving College I started in with the National Milk Sugar Co., a New York concern operating some twelve to fifteen factories through the East and Middle West. My first two years were occupied in learning the details of the business in the different factories and offices; and as a chemist in testing products, improving certain processes, and developing new products. In August, 1909, I became manager of this company, having charge of everything but the sales, which position I held until May I, 1913. At this time my father, who was an invalid, was growing steadily weaker, which necessitated my remaining at home until after his death in June, 1914.

The following year I spent considerable time in travelling throughout the United States and Canada. During the past year I have been filling a position in the Oneonta Branch of the J. G. White Management Corporation, of New York. This company owns and operates over 100 electric light and gas plants throughout the United States, South America, and Europe. I have recently resigned this position to locate in Pasadena, Cal. For the present at least, I shall be with the B. O. Kendall Co., investment bank-They are one of the oldest and largest coners and brokers. cerns handling stocks, bonds, and real estate in South California.

There is a prevailing idea through the East and Middle West that California is a very fine place to live in, but a very poor place for a young man to go without capital, and search for an opportunity to build himself up in a business way. What is said about the difficulty of getting located in Los Angeles or Pasadena, owing to the fact that men all over the country are anxious to "get in" there and enjoy the climate and other advantages, is largely true. The opportunities and chance for advancement are there, notwithstanding, and any Harvard men who go there and will stick are bound to make good. There are more opportunities in Los Angeles for young men of creative and constructive ability than in any city of equal size in the country, and the salaries there average as high as in New York.

Any Harvard men who are thinking of making a change would do well to investigate the possibilities of Los Angeles and Pasadena, and any inquiries sent to me at 124 North Marengo Ave., Pasadena, will receive my hearty cooperation. I should like to see enough Harvard men in Los Angeles some day to build a Harvard Club like our club in New York.

ROBERT STANLEY BENNETT

Born at Williamstown, Grant County, Ky., Feb. 14, 1881.

Parents: Thomas, Betty (Wallace) Bennett.

School: Valparaiso College and Northern Indiana Normal School, Valparaiso,

Years in College: 1904-05.

Unmarried.

Occupation: Author and Writer.

Address: Union, N. Y.

IN 1905, after leaving the University, I secured employment in the Engineering Department of the Boston and Maine Railroad, Boston. In 1906 I left the employ of this road and went South, securing a position in the office of the Chief Engineer of the N. C. and St. L. Ry., Nashville, Tenn. I worked there until early in the year 1908. A failure in health led me to go West a short time later. I returned from South Dakota in April, In February, 1915, I bought a place in New York State (Spencer, R. R. 1, Tioga County).

But my writing and things relating to it have always been the controlling factor in the events of my life.

Your letter reached me shortly after I had prepared a manuscript on "Force and Free-will." It goes without saying that the field and office of force is, at the present time, a paramount consideration in the world.

The dead hand of the past will grasp and destroy whatsoever we will commit to it.

I submit, as part of my record, the following ideas on Force and Free-will.¹

"My country is the world; my countrymen are all mankind." I have been a member of several organizations. At Cambridge I belonged to the Harvard Engineering Society, the Harvard Union and the Kentucky Club of Harvard. I believe I never thought to tell you of this in previous records. At one time I belonged to the Y. M. C. A. of Cambridge. I have belonged to other Y. M. C. A. bodies.

I have by me a letter inviting me to become a member of the World Court League of New York City.

Publications: "Patriotism," Cincinnati, 1913; "Natural Law and National Survival," manuscript unpublished; "Peace," Single Tax Review, New York, May-June, 1916; various other manuscript writings.

WILLIAM TILDEN BENTLEY

Born at Central Falls, R. I., Feb. 14, 1885.

Parents: Charles N., Anna A. (Palm) Bentley.

[¹ Owing to the limited scope of a Report of this nature it was found impossible to publish in this connection Bennett's interesting article. — Ерггов.]

School: Cambridge Latin School, Cambridge, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degree: A.B. 1907.

Married: Ethel A. Hunt, Dec. 23, 1916, Malden, Mass.

Occupation: Teaching.

Address: (business) Malden High School, Malden, Mass.; (home) 25 Ivy

Road, Malden, Mass.

A FTER graduating from College, I spent my first year teaching in a Southern preparatory school. On my return to the North the following summer, I took a position open to me at Powder Point School, Duxbury, Mass. Having fully made up my mind now to continue teaching, or educational work, I went to Bridgewater State Normal School in 1909 and 1910, taking a special course for college graduates. Immediately after graduation, I accepted a position at Tabor Academy for the next year, after which I spent two years at The Fessenden School, West Newton, Mass.

Up to this time I had been in private school work. I wanted experience in the public schools, so, in the fall of 1913, I began teaching in the Somerville High School. During the winter of 1914 I transferred from Somerville to Malden High, where I have been since. English and Community Civics are my special subjects now.

CORNING BENTON

Born at Newton Centre, Mass., June 17, 1885.

Parents: Edward Raymond, Annie Cline (Corning) Benton.

School: Newton High School, Newton, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-07. Degrees: A.B. 1907; A.M. 1908.

Married: Dorothy Burr, July 2, 1912, Newton Centre, Mass.

Occupation: Teaching. Address: Exeler, N. II.

A FTER graduation I spent three years in the Harvard Graduate School, doing work in history and government, and acting as assistant in History 27 (one year) and History 1 (two years). The summer of 1907 I spent in England, and that of 1908 on the Continent. The year 1910-11 I spent in the Columbia Graduate School, doing work in Spanish and Spanish-American History. In the fall of 1911, I was appointed Instructor in History at the Phillips Exeter Academy, Exeter, N. H. In July, 1912, I married and spent the summer in England and Scotland. The summer of 1913, Mrs. Benton and I spent in Italy, Switzerland, and Germany.

My summers since then I have spent at a boys' tutoring camp in North Bridgton, Me.

Since coming to Exeter I have dropped the teaching of history, and now teach only English. In addition to my teaching work, I coach the Phillips Exeter crews. Personally, I can conceive of no life more pleasant and satisfying than that in a great preparatory school like Exeter.

Publications: Two articles on "Athletics" and "Scholarship" in "Life at Phillips Exeter," published October, 1913, at Exeter, N. H.; numerous articles in the Phillips Exeter Bulletin, published three times a year by the Phillips Exeter Academy.

CINCE the Class Confession of 1913 I have continued to write, and, before the war, travelled a bit abroad. When I pause now to record the achievements of this period, they strike me as small and inconsequential, so that I am inclined to make faces at this decennial celebration business, which has crept upon me unawares, as I presume it has on most of the Class. My first novel "Seven Keys to Baldpate"—of which youthful effort I hope some day to hear the last — was dramatized by Mr. Cohan and ran a full year on Broadway. Occasionally, even now, it is heard from in the provinces. The play was also produced in London, and the book too appeared on the other side. My second novel, "Love Insurance," appeared in September, 1914. A play of which I was sole author - "Inside the Lines" - was produced at the Longacre Theatre, New York, on the twelfth of February, 1915, and ran through the remainder of the season at that house. My latest novel, "The Agony Column," was published in November, 1916. In view of the meagerness of this list, I may add by way of defense that I have two other plays awaiting production. There have been, also, a few magazine stories.

Publications: Novels: "Seven Keys to Baldpate," Bobbs-Merrill, 1913; "Love Insurance," Bobbs-Merrill, 1914; "Inside the Lines," Bobbs-Merrill, 1915; "The Agony Column," Bobbs-Merrill, 1916. Plays: "If You're Only Human," produced in Boston, 1912; "Seven Keys to Baldpate" (with Geo. Cohan), produced at Astor Theatre, New York, September, 1913; "Inside the Lines," produced at Longacre Theatre, New York, February,

Brookline, Mass.

FROM October, 1907, to August, 1908, I was learning to manufacture tanning extract with the Argentine Quebracho Co., at Greenpoint, Long Island. In August, 1908, I went to Argentina on construction work of a new factory for the above company at Tartagal in the Province of Santa Fé. On completion of construction I was made superintendent of the factory, which position I held until leaving the Argentine in April, 1912, to return to the States. In the meantime, however, I had a leave of absence (on full pay) for six months, four of which were spent in this country. Plenty of work but very interesting, little recreation, good experience. The period from May, 1912, to February, 1913, was spent looking into several lines of business and scattering my earnings saved in Argentina. This was the easiest job I have ever had.

In February, 1913, I formed a small corporation known as Norfolk Hardening Works (Inc.) of which I am Clerk and Treasurer. The business is treating steel: viz. case-hardening, tempering, annealing, and heat treating. The office is at 30 Federal St., Boston, and the works at 79 Freeport St., Dorchester, Mass.

My present jobs are Treasurer and Clerk, Norfolk Hardening Works (Inc.); Trustee, with Roland W. Boyden, for T. H. Austin Trust; Director, Brown-Howland Co.; member of Hospital (ity) Committee, Decennial Reunion 1907.

Member: Harvard Club of Boston; Hatherly Club, North Scituate, Mass.; Scituate Yacht Club, Scituate, Mass.; Boston

Chamber of Commerce.

THOMAS BARNARD BLAKE

Born at Boston, Mass., April 24, 1881.

José, Cal.

Years in College: 1903-04.

Unmarried.

Occupation: Health Officer.

Address: 855 Waverley St., Palo Alto, Cal.

FTER a year at Harvard I studied for a year under a private A tutor (Mr. R. W. Coues, Harvard, '95), and in 1905 returned to my home in California, where I re-entered Stanford University, at which I had spent a year before entering Harvard, and which I left at the end of the first term in 1908 because of ill health. In September, 1909, I returned to Boston and in January entered Harvard Medical School as a special student. I did not take the regular course, but devoted my time to public health, especially bacteriology. In 1911 I returned to California. During the last two years in Boston I had many things to trouble me. My health gave way and, although I have improved in health since I returned to California, I shall never be the man I was. Shortly after my return the doctor who had my case told me that I must give up my work as a health officer, since which time I have had no occupation and doubt if I have the right to put myself down as health officer. I have no official degree from Harvard Medical School, but hold a paper signed by the doctor under whom I worked stating that I have satisfactorily completed the course required of a Public Health Officer and passed the state examination, which was held at the Harvard Medical School.

GEORGE BLANEY

Born at Swampscott, Mass., Oct. 9, 1886.

Parents: George Andrew, Ella Amanda (Fowle) Blaney.

School: Newton High School, Newton, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-06.

Degrees: A.B. 1907; LL.B. 1909.

Unmarried.

Occupation: Law.

Address: (business) 53 State St., Boston, Mass.; (home) 169 Washington St.,

Newton, Mass.

IN the autumn of 1906, after a summer in the White Mountains, I entered the Harvard Law School, whence I graduated in 1909. I was at once admitted to the Massachusetts Bar and became associated with the Boston law firm of Boyden. Palfrey, Bradlee and Trombly. On January 1, 1912, I set up for myself at 35 Congress Street, Boston. I was appointed a Justice of the Peace in 1910, was admitted to the Federal Bar, and appointed an Examiner for the Land Court of Massachusetts in 1912, and was re-appointed a Justice of the Peace in 1917.

In connection with my law practice I hold the following corporate offices: since 1913, Secretary of the Norman Cordage Machine Company and Clerk and Director of the Atlantic Rope and Line Company; since 1916, Treasurer and Director of the Dowling Iron and Steel Company, Treasurer and Director of the Eastern Machine and Iron Company, Treasurer and Director of the Lehnert Textile Machinery Company; since 1917, Treasurer and Director of the Highland Machine Company (having been Assistant Treasurer for a few months in 1916–1917).

For outside interests, I have been Treasurer of the First Unitarian Sunday School in Newton since 1911; Usher, 1911–13, and Head Usher since 1913, of the First Unitarian Church in Newton; and in the National Guard (vice Militia), Private 1913, Corporal 1914, Sergeant, 1915, and Second Lieutenant since June, 1916—all in Third Company, Massachusetts Coast Artillery, National Guard. Outside of the usual routine were a competitive "Hike" in which our Company detail, although breaking all previous records, was second, running on our Company relay team, and our short service at the Massachusetts Mobilization Camp at Framingham, where the Coast Artillery showed the Infantry how to play the Infantry's own game.

My vacation time has been spent largely among the White Mountains in both summer and winter. The only outside trip was over the "Long Trail" of the Green Mountain Club in Vermont. Much time and effort has been spent in trail-building — privately at Waterville, N. H., and in connection with the Appalachian Club on the Webster Cliff Trail in 1914, and the Garfield Ridge Trail in 1915 and 1916. The "chinks" have been filled by a little tennis, a little canoeing and a little "flivvering."

I HAVE nothing to add to what I wrote for the Sexennial Report except the fact of my marriage last September to Ellen P. Andrews, of Brookline. My present position with Little and Russell was a change from the previous Report — made something over a year ago after a trip to the Pacific coast in August, 1915.

AM still plugging away trying to teach the American people how truthfully they can say. "It hurts me more than it does you," when they whip their railway system into weakness. The game is "sporty" because the peepul are no mean proposition to teach — and when taught this week the job must be done all over again the next. It is probably a reflection on me that I've been on the job nearly four years and Congress and the Commission still are a bit refractory.

Leaving College in 1907, I lasted about six months behind the bars of the Western Electric Company and after some other business experience, got into newspaper work with the Chicago Evening Post in November, 1908. After six months on the local staff I became Railway and Associate Financial Editor, going from that to my present place May 1, 1913. During much of 1915 I was on the western railway wage arbitration and freight and passenger rate cases "expounding" the railway position to the peepul.

Since graduation a pet diversion has been travel, begun in the interests of the "See America First" idea. This has extended as far as circumstances allowed, covered all but two states of the Union; Canada from the Yukon to Cape Breton; as far into Mexico as safety permitted; Cuba and Alaska. The war (etc.) has prevented wandering further afield. In 1912 on one trip I was adopted as Nee-Nay-Nook-Ka (Chief Elk) into the Blackfeet Indian tribe, Montana. Last summer on another trip I was arrested down Quebec and Halifax way by the Canadian Military on suspicion of being a German spy — roused by over zeal in photography. This to my friends was the Olympic joke of the century, for my other pet diversion is the war, and NoT on the side of "Kultur."

I have been happy in being associated in business with Slason Thompson, whose opinions on Prussianism are the same as mine, if not more so — and have lived serenely by dint of occasionally spilling over into the "Vox Pop" columns. Were I care-free I should love to join the ambulance service in France.

No conspicuous "positions of honor or trust" but my friends all trust me and the greatest honor was being condemned in Senator La Follette's 365-page-million-or-so-dollar-speech of May 5, 1914, as part of the "monstrous" plan to influence opinion on the railway question.

At present, as Chairman of the Committee on High Schools of the Harvard Club of Chicago Scholarship Committee, I am working hard to turn the young high school idea toward Harvard, and am glad that there are today several occupants of the Freshmen Dormitories who are direct descendents thereof.

Publications: collaborated with Slason Thompson compiling "Railway Statistics U. S. A." and "The Railway Library," R. R. Donnelley & Co., Chicago, 1914, and Stromberg Allen & Co., Chicago, 1913, 1915, 1916. I translated anonymously, from the German, portions of "Revelations of a German Attaché" in collaboration with Slason Thompson, Geo. H. Doran Co., New York, 1916; translated from French and German numerous articles on railway topics appearing in "Railway Library" above; wrote several series of American travel letters appearing in Chicago Evening Post and elsewhere, 1910 to 1913. Also numerous articles on railway topics in Railway Age Gazette, Banker's Monthly, other financial papers and daily press, 1913 to date.

Degree: A.B. 1907.

Unmarried.

Occupation: Chemistry.

Address: (business) Chemical Laboratory, Harvard College, Cambridge, Mass.;

(home) 1750 Cambridge St., Cambridge, Mass.

EVER since graduation I have remained closely associated with Harvard University. During 1907–08 and 1908–09 I was enrolled in the Graduate School, doing research work with the late Professor Sanger on the determination of arsenic in animal tissue. At the same time I held the position of Assistant to the Director of the Chemical Laboratory, which involved simple administrative work. Since 1909 the duties and responsibilities of that position have increased so considerably that now for several years I have had time for little else. In 1916 my title was changed to Assistant Director. In this last year I have also acted as purchasing agent for the Chemical Laboratory of Radeliffe College, and in part for the laboratories of the Harvard Medical School. In the Chemical Laboratory of Harvard College my work includes the purchase and disbursing of supplies in addition to general administrative duties.

CHOOSING journalism as the best field for a man of my failings, in December, 1907, I got work on a New York weekly. The editor didn't like my English. One night I sat up with Poe and Hawthorne, working their sentences into my article. The next morning the editor pounced on those very sentences as illustrations of my inability to write. Thinking to slay him at one stroke I told him that those sentences were taken verbatim from Poe. "Poe!" he exclaimed, "Ah dunno nothin' 'bout no Poe: ah said dat sentence was clumsy!"

When they brought me to, I quit that job and went to another weekly, which was ideal except for the fact that it lasted but one issue. Then the owner of a weekly with national pretensions went away somewhere and left me to build up his paper. After a while he stopped sending money to get it out, and there was no paper. I went to every city editor in New York to get a job as reporter. I never got it. I tried to raise capital for a venture of my own; it has not been raised yet. After one year out of College I was glad to get work as a porter at the New York Stock Exchange.

For three years I wrote short stories, and the magazines wrote rejection slips. There was a girl who through all my misadventures kept the delusion that I was a compound of Horace Greeley, DeMaupassant, and other famous men. So I married her, Jessie Fortune, in 1912. We have one living child, Garrison Bowser, now old enough to give the Harvard cheer. Marriage compelling me to get a regular job, I took civil service examinations and became a government clerk in the railway mail service, March, 1913. Rapidly promoted, I was made clerk-in-charge of six mail trains running between New York City and Croton, N. Y. Dr. Jekyll supports the family and Mr. Hyde tries to break into the magazines.

On the whole I am a lucky man. Three things have I desired of the Lord—a Harvard education, one Jessie Fortune for a wife, and literary success. Two of these have been given me; I have a lifetime to achieve the third.

JOHN RICHARD PORTER BOYER

Born at Lost Creek, Pa., Jan. 20, 1885.

Parents: Alvah Howard, Ida Bertha (Porter) Boyer.

School: High School, Columbia, Pa. Years in College: 1903-07. Degree: A.B. 1907 (1908).

Married: Rila May Gardner, June 6, 1914, Newtonville, Mass.

Child: John Richard Porter, Jr., Oct. 23, 1915.

Occupation: Civil Engineering.

Address: (business) c/o Lockwood, Greene & Co., 60 Federal St., Boston, Mass.;

(home) 77 Wildwood Ave., Newtonville, Mass.

A FTER leaving College I became a travelling salesman for bank equipment and office systematizing. This showed me quite a bit of the country in the East and the Middle West, until the beginning of 1911, when I decided to take up engineering.

In March, 1911, I had my first taste of construction work on the new Catskill Aqueduct for New York City, and spent a year on a section of that great water subway. The experiences in driving a tunnel nearly a mile long through solid rock, and lining it with heavy concrete masonry were very interesting. In April, 1912, I left the cosmopolitan construction camp of about 500 foreigners, and returned to Boston in the employ of Lockwood, Greene & Co., mill engineers, and have been with this firm ever since, in various capacities in the Boston office. In the summer of 1916, I was sent to Columbia, S. C., as resident engineer to look after repairs and reconstruction for a group of four sizeable cotton mills which had just changed hands. This work kept me three and a half months in the land of big roaches and broiled chicken.

On June 6, 1914, Miss Rita M. Gardner of Newtonville, Mass., changed her name to mine in the presence of plenty of spectators. We both declare that we weren't the least bit nervous. For one year we were "cliff-dwellers" in a Belmont, (Mass.) apartment house, then moved to our present address in Newtonville.

Just before sunrise on October 23, 1915, a taxi driver refused to take us to the hospital until he was assured that our case wasn't "catching." "It" was a boy, Richard, Junior, who has been getting bigger, better and busier ever since.

Years in College: 1903-04.

Married: Ethel Mae Mead, Oct. 7, 1908, Marblehead, Mass.

Child: Grace Elizabeth, March 23, 1911.
Occupation: Hotel and manufacturing.

Address: (business) Marblehead, Mass.; (home) Gregory St., Marblehead, Mass.

A FTER leaving College, I went into business with my father and assisted in the construction of a large addition to our summer hotel at Marblehead. I assist my father in the management of the hotel during the summer months. The winters were for awhile my vacation, and it was during one of these winters that I had my opportunity of deep sea sailing. A large fishing schooner had been quarantined at Halifax, N. S., and some difficulty had arisen between the owners and the crew, giving them the opportunity to leave the vessel. A skipper and a crew of seven (all Harvard men) set sail out of Halifax, only to run into bad weather for ten days, losing our sails, and receiving a good shaking up in general until we had all lost hope. Finally, we managed to get our bearings, and found we were off Neversink Light, and then we put up our distress signal. We were sighted by the Revenue Cutter Mohawk and towed to New York.

In October, 1908, the same year I was married, I built a house in Marblehead, and settled down and tried to settle up, both equally hard. In March, 1911, a daughter arrived to grace the household. I have had the honor to serve my town on the Electric Light Board for three years. At the incorporation of the Rock-Mere Hotel Company I was elected the General Manager. Also I have lately been elected President of the Brackett Manufacturing Company, both concerns situated in Marblehead. These are the most important events in my life up to the present time. Oh, yes, I have been appointed "District Chief," of the Marblehead Fire Department.

YEA, Ho, Men! How many, many years ago it all does seem! Yet, how the College atmosphere clings. I will never forget that though many months of preparation were allowed us to prepare our final thesis in Ec., it was not until the night before the examination—in fact, the last working day of my College course, that Cravis and I sat down to burn the midnight oil—to begin and finish the task—it was finished at 6.00 a.m. I only speak of this to show how the influence still seems to hover over me—for here I am handing in my class report under similar circumstances, writing John Reynolds (the persistent devil) my little say as the clock strikes twelve on the last day allowed us. And then, it takes my old '07 pipe and Cake Box Mixture to fortify me.

I will omit the very early years of adolescent inspiration when the Boss—that's A. A. B.—that's my Pater—ran me through the dry goods gamut. Yes, it's rank commercialism that's got me—a so-called department store. First I started in the "Domestics," daily measuring out yards of ginghams ("Mesmerized Ginghams," as so many of our worthy patrons termed the mercerized species)—then successively rose to floorwalker, buyer for small departments, manager for large ones, then general superintendent, make-shift advertising man, etc., etc., jobs ad infinitum

(there is no end to the number of positions one can fill in this business). And now I am the main "Cheese" - a lot of holes in the "Cheese" but, nevertheless, the fellow that does all the ordering - Oh. it's great!

What can a man say that might interest you? All of you probably have led such a different life. You have neither sought. nor had thrust upon you, my necessarily commonplace experiences. As I view it, there have been two "spots" in the decade for me — 1910 and 1915.

In 1910 I was sick — Oh, miserably unhappy — "Ulcerated Stomach" - "Stomachated Ulcer," or something to that effect — and the hospital had me for two months. It was this that took me afterwards to Europe for six months — months of wonderful interest. Months of shoulder-to-shoulder-rubbing with solid. good people — Germans, French, English, Belgians — now mutilating each other. Just a close friend — Mick and I — stumbled all over the country. We lingered three months in the "Schwartzwald" of Southern Germany, flirting with the simple peasant girls, chatting long hours with the young physicians and students of St. Blastien, playing tennis with Russians, and taking the "Luft-Bad" with people of Babylon. So it was in old Nuremberg, where a small crowd of us met daily at the Bratwurst Glocklein to "tavernize," so to speak, where men were frank of spirit and expression. This sort of experience is to be had only once in a lifetime. Also, there, they dished out a sort of "dog" that even old "Rammy" could not equal. Later weeks saw us in Berlin, Munich, Frankfort, Cologne, then Liege, Bruges, Brussels, Ostende. I can't picture this little country of Belgium otherwise than as I saw it, peaceful, beautiful, stolid. Later, in London, we met Clarence Haring, rounding out some research work, aftermath of his Rhodes Scholarship. The few days we had together, particularly those spent in the open English country, were most pleasant, a friendship renewed in another land.

Then "spot" number two. — April, a bright, summerlike day. a whole party of us had been out canoeing on the Severn beyond Annapolis, and then in the evening we suppered at historic Carvel They tell me now that it was a jolly part, a good meal. I do not, however, put this down as an important fact, but only to point out that I can only recall that I was strangely perturbed. The party broke up about 9.30, each party leaving for home in his own machine. A fine girl, a perfect moonlight night, and a strong and speedy auto, what could I do? I asked her under an apple tree to say "Yes." She murmured, "I'm yours." And there you are.

I am a director of the Farmers and Merchants National Bank. And that's the whole story — except to say that Schlenker and I hope to be able to see all of you in June.

JOSEPH BRECK

Born at Allston, Mass., Feb. 3, 1885.

Parents: Joseph Francis, Annie Hayes (Wild) Breck.

School: Boston public schools, and Volkmann's School, Boston, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degree: A.B. 1907.

Unmarried.

Occupation: Director, Minneapolis Society of Fine Arts.

Address: (business) Institute of Arts, Minneapolis, Minn.; (home) 2015

Stevens Ave., Minneapolis, Minn.

A FTER graduating I studied a year abroad. Returning, I entered the Harvard Graduate School as a resident student, but left in February, 1909, to join the staff of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York, where, as Assistant to the Curator, and later as Assistant Curator in the Department of Decorative Arts, I continued until the spring of 1914. I then resigned to become (May 1, 1914) Director of the Minneapolis Society of Fine Arts, the position which I now hold. The museum, known as the Minneapolis Institute of Arts, is under my direction. Until the summer of 1916 I also served as temporary Director of the Minneapolis School of Art, another activity maintained by the Minneapolis Society of Fine Arts. I became a member of the faculty of the University of Minnesota in the second semester of 1915–16, lecturing on the History of Art. For a painting sent to the exhibition of the Minnesota State Art Society I received the gold medal in 1916.

Publications: "Catalogue of Romanesque, Gothic, and Renaissance Sculpture," the Metropolitan Museum of Art. New York, 1913; numerous articles in the Bulletin of the Metropolitan Museum, the Bulletin of the Minneapolis Institute of Arts, and in various art periodicals here and abroad.

DANIEL CLARK BRENNAN

Born at Cambridge, Mass., Jan. 3, 1884.

Parents: James Clement, Beatrice Anastasia (Clark) Brennan.

School: Cambridge Latin School, Cambridge, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-08.

Degrees: A.B. 1907 (1908); M.D. 1912.

Unmarried.

Occupation: Medicine.

Address: (business) 189 West Market St., Akron, O.; (home) 109 South Forge

St., Akron, O.

UPON receiving my degree in 1908, I entered the Medical School, where after four years of fairly well applied study, I received the degree of M.D. In 1912, subsequent to my receiving said degree, I spent a very enjoyable summer ministering to the physical wants and defects of the students attending the summer school camp at Squam Lake, N. H. In the fall I entered the interne service at the Worcester City Hospital at Worcester, Mass., where I obtained a very efficient and profitable service. In March, 1914, I finished my interneship at Worcester and accepted a position with the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company as examining physician at Akron, Ohio. After a short and very pleasant sojourn with that corporation, I opened offices for myself, undertaking the general practice of medicine in the fall of 1914. I have now been practising for over two years and am having all I want to do. My one regret is that I cannot fill in the space entitled "Wife's maiden name" and "Children's name omitting surname." But who can tell what is in the wind? It may not be always thus.

I am at present serving on the staffs of the only three hospitals in the city, the City Hospital, the People's Hospital, and the Children's Hospital. I am in charge of the Tuberculosis Clinic and Chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Health Committee.

GEORGE WILLIAM BRICKA

Born at New York, N. Y., May 26, 1884.

Parents: William, S. Emily (Katherler) Bricka.

School: New Rochelle High School, and Myron Lochman, tutor, New Rochelle, N. Y.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degree: A.B. 1907.

Unmarried.

Occupation: Advertising Agent and Publisher.

Address: (business) 114-116 East 28th St., New York, N. Y.; (home) 43 Davis Ave., New Rochelle, N. Y.

WHILE in College I made no plans regarding the way in which I was to earn my living but the moment college days were over the subject became a problem demanding a prompt solution. I determined to offer my services to the publishers, and devoted several weeks to interviewing all the book publishers in New York whose names I could find. Without exception I was asked to "call again" in two or three months. The monotony of repetition was beginning to grow wearisome when I stumbled into a connection with Wing & Son, a prominent piano manufacturing concern. Here my work consisted principally of letter writing that is, piano-selling by mail — and most of the people with whom I corresponded lived in small country towns all over this country. In the great majority of cases they were simple folks to whom one had to write in the simplest terms. It was something of a strain to curb the literary tendencies inspired by years of daily themes, but the feat was accomplished.

At the end of two years I resigned the position to join with two acquaintances in organizing an advertising agency. Our growth was too slow to please one member of the triumvirate who quit us at the end of the first year. At the end of the next, the other partner absconded, leaving me in a precarious position. The youngest advertising agent in New York, facing the keenest competition, I found myself handicapped by heavy financial obligations. In addition, my great confidence in the honesty and sincerity of men in general had suffered a terrible shock. However, with one exception, I managed to hold all the clients we had gathered, gradually increased the business, and now have a small but efficient organization serving a fairly long list of desirable clients.

Meantime Charlie Price, '09, had gathered together a fine collection of posters and had written a treatise on the principles underlying poster design. He took his material to several pub-They praised it unstintingly but could not be persuaded to issue it unless he financed the production. At that time the author barely made a living as an architectural draughtsman. He brought his problem to me and his enthusiasm and confidence were so infectious that I consented to publish the work myself. Possibly there was a remote desire to show the publishers what a remarkable opportunity they had missed in not snapping up the services I once had offered them. The production proved a bigger undertaking than I had counted upon, but the book finally appeared with my imprint and now after three years is to be found in many of the prominent libraries, both here and abroad, and continues to be in steady demand. A Berlin reviewer contrasting "Posters" with other American books and the presumably excellent character of German book-making was led to ask, "Sind Sie wirklich Amerikaner, Mr. Bricka?" The present tense situation may provide the opportunity to answer his question in no uncertain terms.

Aside from business, I have become fairly active in church work. In 1915 I was elected a Vestryman and Clerk of the Vestry of Trinity Church, New Rochelle, a corporation dating back to 1709. O'Donnell Iselin, '07, is also a member of our Vestry. Representing Trinity, I helped to found the Church Council of New Rochelle. It is the duty of the Council to suggest and sometimes to initiate movements of interest among the local churches. At the present time we are deep in the "Billy Sunday Campaign" and the approaching spring months promise to be extremely busy ones.

Member: New York Harvard Club. Metropolitan Museum of Fine Arts. Church Council of New Rochelle.

CHARLES VICKERY BRIGGS

Born at Fall River, Mass., June 18, 1885.

Parents: Benjamin Dexter, Matilda Shepardson (Kingman) Briggs.

School: B. M. C. Durfee High School, Fall River, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degree: A.B. 1907.

Married: Susan Lennox Mills, July 17, 1916, Fall River, Mass.

Occupation: Store Manager.

Address: (business) 76 Massachusetts Ave., Cambridge, Mass.; (home) 19

Wellington Rd., Brookline, Mass.

FTER graduating, I took up the task of making the "Coop" A more endurable for the University at large, bringing my talents to bear, first on the stationery department and then on the books. After seven years of this I grew a little tired of uplifting the masses, and entered the law book department of Little. Brown and Co. After two years with them, I again heard the call of the wild, and returned to the Coop to help make a branch for M. I. T. grow to a success. I am at present in charge of the stationery department of this branch, and trying to prove to the Tech men that we are friends, and not enemies. Tiring of the single state last July, I took to myself a wife, and we are now "keeping house," if an apartment can be called a house, in that part of Boston known as Aberdeen. In my spare time, I am encouraging preparedness by working with the First Corps Cadets Business and Professional Mens' Military Training School, Signal Corps division, and expect to be commissioned a lieutenant general at least in case of hostilities.

CHAPIN BRINSMADE

Born at Washington, Conn., March 1, 1885.

Parents: John Chapin, Mary Gold (Gunn) Brinsmade.

School: Gunnery School, Washington, Conn.

Years in College: 1903-06. Degrees: A.B. 1907; LL.B. 1910.

Unmarried.

Occupation: Teaching.

Address: The Gunnery School, Washington, Conn.

THE first year out of College, senior year, 1906-07, I taught at the Gunnery School, of which my father is the Headmaster. The next year, I entered the Harvard Law School, from which I graduated in 1910. For one year thereafter I acted as an assistant to Baymond G. Brown, '07, who was an Assistant United States Attorney for the Southern District of New York.

Then, until the fall of 1913, I was in the office of Van Wyck & Mygatt (later Wherry & Mygatt) of 40 Wall Street, New York; and then for a year I acted as attorney for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, with offices at 26 Vesey Street, and later at 70 Fifth Avenue. In November, 1914, I went to the Gunnery School and taught there for a month; then I taught for the rest of the academic year at the Abbott School, Farmington, Maine, and returned the next year to teach until the spring of 1916. I am now permanently located as a teacher in the Gunnery School.

Member: Harvard Club of New York, Harvard Club of Connecticut.

WILLARD COPE BRINTON

Born at West Chester, Pa., Dec. 22, 1880.

Parents: Samuel Lewis, Elizabeth (Smith) Brinton. School: State Normal School, West Chester, Pa.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degree: S.B. 1907.

Unmarried.

Occupation: Consulting Engineer.

Address: (business) 7 East 42d St., New York, N. Y.; (home) City Club, 55

West 44th St., New York, N. Y.

MY consulting work for the last three years has been an outgrowth of special work done for the Westinghouse Electric Company, Pittsburgh, Pa.; the United States Motor Company of New York and Detroit; with a year and a half of consulting work for the Bush Terminal Company of New York City.

In the summer of 1913 I went abroad for a trip with the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, during which we were entertained for three weeks as the guests of German engineers. To say the least, I had enough of German banquets on that trip to be sufficient for a lifetime. At the close of the official German trip I visited a friend who was chief engineer of the Italian Westinghouse Company near Genoa, and then spent a month investigating harbor facilities, water front freight terminals, etc., of most of the main continental and English seaports. One result of this work on freight terminals was the development of some special freight handling machinery.

In addition to my consulting work I am the President of the E. V. Lawrence Safety Brake Company. Inc., and the Terminal Engineering Company, Inc.

This last year has been an interesting one. Some consulting work took me on a trip to Birmingham, New Orleans, Memphis, Louisville, etc. Immediately afterwards work for another client involved a trip to China in the quickest possible time, going and returning on the same steamer so that I was in China only ten days. If this were an illustrated report I would insert a photograph showing a crusade through Soochow on donkey back with both feet dodging the ground. Among various incidents of the trip were a Japanese banquet in stocking-feet sitting on the floor, partaking of raw fish, etc., and a day under investigation as a spy because of my interest in taking photographs of freight handling facilities in a Japanese harbor. On my way home I spent about two weeks in the Pacific coast cities and included a trip up Mt. Rainier, two days of horse backing in Arizona, and a swim in Lake Michigan.

It seems to make no difference in what part of the world one travels, one finds Harvard men. J. B. Chevalier, '08, added much to the enjoyment of the trip from Vancouver to Yokohama. Two other Harvard friends were found in Shanghai.

As a result of my book "Graphic Methods for Presenting Facts," published in 1914, there have been a number of invitations to lecture before different societies and at different colleges, including the Harvard Business School, the Dartmouth Business School, University of Chicago Business School, etc. Last September an illustrated talk was given before the Cleveland Chamber of Commerce on the subject "Graphics for the Business Man."

I am Chairman of the Joint Committee on Standards for Graphic Presentation, composed of one representative from each of nineteen American scientific societies of national scope; and a member of the Council of the Association of Harvard Engineers.

Publications: a book "Graphic Methods for Presenting Facts," published in 1914 by the Engineering Magazine Company: the book has been favorably received and the publishers say it is the best selling book that they have ever printed; a number of articles have been contributed to technical papers as well as talks and discussions before meetings of The American Society of Mechanical Engineers; an article in World's Work for December, 1915, is entitled "New York Harbor and the Nation's Foreign Trade."

Member: American Society of Mechanical Engineers; Harvard and City Clubs, New York; the Association of Harvard Engineers;

West Chester (Pa.) Golf and Country Club.

Occupation: Manufacturing.

Address: (business) 8 Orchard St., Dover, N. H.; (home) 98 Silver St., Dover, N. H.

TWO years' work at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and eight years' steady factory work have occupied practically all my time since graduation. I am at present Superintendent for I. B. Williams & Sons, manufacturers of belting, lace leather, and welting. I have had a number of very pleasant vacations, chief of which were; summer of 1909 in Europe, and two weeks (March-April) 1913 at the Panama Canal.

PERCIVAL WILLIAMS BROWN

Born at Exeter, N. H., May 25, 1883.

Parents: Andrew Jefferson, Ellen (Woods) Brown. School: Phillips Exeter Academy, Exeter, N. H.

Years in College: 1903-07. Degrees: A.B. 1907; S.B. 1908. Married: Helen Elsie Krull, Sept. 7, 1912, Indianapolis, Ind.

Occupation: Civil Engineering.

Address: (business) 308 Union Railway Station, Indianapolis, Ind.; (home) 3847 North Senate Ave., Indianapolis, Ind.

WHEN I first left College I started working for a construction company as a timekeeper. After being with these people less than a year I went to Indianapolis with an engineering firm who were superintending the construction of a steam and electric plant. Later I went up into the mountains of eastern Tennessee with these same people to make an investigation of a water power development for producing electricity. From there I returned to Indianapolis to locate with a local engineering and contracting company, who were engaged in levee, dam, and lock construction. Two years later I became Assistant Superintendent and Engineer at Crown Hill Cemetery in Indianapolis, and after being there about two years I went into the railroad business in the Engineering Department, with the P. C. C. & St. L. Ry. Co., being now located in the Division Engineer's office in Indianapolis.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Unmarried.

Occupation: Manufacturer of food products. Address: 26 Phillips St., Waterlown, Mass.

I AM so overwhelmed by the data called for on the reverse side of this sheet that I can hardly think of anything to say about myself in the way of biography. Really I am too modest to give such an account anyway; and besides, I have not married yet, and a man cannot have anything of importance to transcribe in regard to himself as long as he lives the ignominious life of a bachelor.

I have neither written nor stolen any books, but I have struck off a few short squibs that I have sent around to local newspapers and magazines, one of which was accepted three years ago. but not yet printed! I have already wasted about as much on postage in sending the other articles to magazines as I would be likely to get were the things published.

Occupation: President State Agricultural and Mechanical College.

Address: Agricultural and Mechanical College, Normal, Ala.

I BEGAN work July 1, 1907, as southern financial agent of the Tuskegee Normal and Industrial Institute, Tuskegee, Ala. On October 1, 1907, I gave up that work to become Principal of the Corona Industrial Institute, Corona, Ala.,—an institution carrying ten teachers and about three hundred and fifty pupils, and devoting its time mainly to the grammar grades and trade work, with some effort towards the preparation of teachers.

On July 1, 1909, I resigned this principalship to accept the presidency of the State Agricultural and Mechanical College for Negroes at Normal, Ala. This is a school primarily for the training of industrial workers and public school teachers. It carries twelve trades for men and seven for women. Male students take the trades of their choice. All young women are required to take a minimum amount of work in cooking, sewing, and nursing. Above this, they may specialize in whatever line they choose.

Kindergarten, primary, grammar, high school, and teachers' college courses are offered. The school enrolls in the neighborhood of four hundred students each year, and employs about thirty teachers and officers.

During the eight years that I have had charge, we have built and equipped, largely by student labor, a pumping station, constructed a reinforced concrete reservoir which holds about 124,000 gallons, and installed water and sewage facilities throughout our grounds and buildings. These operations cost about $15,000. Madam Nettie F. McCormick, of Chicago, furnished $11,000 of this. Through the kindness of Miss Virginia McCormick, of Chicago, we have erected, with student labor, and fully equipped a brick hospital at a cost of nearly $12,000. Through the generosity of these same friends, we have put up a girls' trades building, which, with its equipment, cost nearly $20,000. We have built a barracks for the boys to take the place of two condemned dormitories which the boys were using when I took charge. We have erected, with student lab or, a science building which houses our divisions of Chemistry, Physics, Biology, Dairying, and Agricultural Extension.

We have just completed, through student labor, a two-story boys' trades building worth about $10,000, and known as Mansfield Hall, in honor of Frederick H. Mansfield of Dorchester, Mass., who helped me through college.

When it became evident that we would have to find a better means of disposing of our sewage than that of emptying it into an open ditch where it threatens to contaminate our water supply, a few members of the Class of 1907 came to the rescue and gave us $1200 towards the purchase of a piece of farm land which can be used both for agricultural purposes and sewage disposal.

In the last eight years, we have graduated about four hundred students from trade and academic courses, and, roughly speaking, these graduates are employed as follows: one-third, teaching; onethird, in agriculture and the trades; and one-third, housekeepers.

I count it a great privilege to have had a hand in directing this work. Most of our students work their way through school, inasmuch as their parents are not able to educate them, and there is a great deal of pleasure in being connected with such a student body and in knowing that one is having a part in making it possible for ambitious young men and women, of poor circumstances, to rise to a higher level of usefulness and happiness.

I might mention that I am a director in the Standard Life Insurance Company, of Atlanta, Ga. This is an old line legal reserve company, owned and operated entirely by Negroes. It is the first venture of its kind among my people, and I am very glad to say that it bids fair to become a successful enterprise.

T comes back to me very vividly as I sit down to write the story of my life since 1907 that when I was brought to the necessity of doing this same thing once before I registered a devout hope that by 1917 my life would offer something worth recounting. Since "class lifes" are a necessity, — and I have been recently reminded by our Secretary in terms more forceful than pleasant that it is my duty to furnish one. — it seems a shame that I haven't been granted at least one adventure to adorn an otherwise uninteresting tale.

While my previous report is not handy for reference, I believe that by changing a word or a date here and there it could be made to suffice for the present occasion. It probably ran something like this: - "Immediately upon graduation, upon the urgent invitation of the party who had been acting as my financial backer for something over twenty years, I 'accepted a position' with the New Home Sewing Machine Co. of Orange, Mass., my native town, and have been with this company ever since." That's just as true today as it was then. For the life of me I don't know what else I could have written about or what I could chronicle now. I could, I suppose, relate that I have been married since the previous Report, but I did nothing particularly original thereby, especially at my time of life. If I should say further that after a matrimonial experience of nearly a year I don't regret it in the least and am led to wonder why I was so long in deciding that it was the thing to do I would be inviting a chorus of, "Old Stuff,"

I have written no books, although with furnishing cost data, summaries, balances, and the like, I have a record for sheer inkslinging that might rival Earl Derr Biggers himself. I have held no offices of honor or public trust other than a few minor positions such as any fairly good-natured citizen in a small town is almost sure to have wished on him. I belong to clubs and organizations enough, but mighty few of them were ever heard of outside of Franklin County, Mass.

My ten years, then, have been spent principally with sewing machines for almost daily companions, with making the acquaintance in hours of leisure of all the highways and byways for miles around that an automobile (flivver or otherwise) can negotiate. with taking a couple of trips out into Kansas to see how Marc Clapp and his hustling young bank were getting along, and in occasional visits to the Maine woods in search of trout, rest, recreation, and all that sort of thing.

Utah, Salt Lake City, Utah.

THREE years in the Graduate School and a certain amount of work gave me an M.E. degree in 1910. Armed with this I became chief engineer for a psuedo-coal mine in Rhode Island. I left this property early in 1911 and went to work for Phelps, Dodge and Company in Arizona. In Bisbee and Morenci I spent six years in various capacities, including three years of manual labor on pick, shovel, and rock-drill, as a mill hand, bossing miners underground, general engineering and efficiency work, and as Assistant Superintendent of the Phelps Dodge Concentrator at Morenci. The manual labor was the most valuable part of my experience, without a doubt, but I am contented in the hope that Recently I left Arizona, with many I have seen the last of it. regrets, to work for Lewisohn Bros, of New York. This has taken me to Salt Lake, from which point as headquarters I am managing three small copper properties, the Salt Lake Copper Company, mines at Tecoma Nev., the Rosemont Copper Company, mines in southern Arizona, near Tucson; and the Arkansaw Lode Mine, in the Seven Devils District, on the Snake River, Idaho. As I get time on my trips to and from these properties I look at prospects in the hope of finding a new mine. To date I have had no luck along these lines.

While on the border I saw a few battles between the Villistas and their more orthodox, though equally disreputable, antagonists. Also another man and I built a small dam in the mountains north of Douglas, Ariz., piped the water three or four miles to the valley, where we are irrigating a little less than four hundred acres. In connection with this we have acquired a lot of range land and are slowly building up a cattle ranch. It has kept me nicely "busted" to date. The war caught us in the construction stage and short of funds, and I had the pleasure of trying to raise a few dollars, on doubtful credit, in the East in late 1914.

Some of you bankers and men of affluence should settle in Arizona and get eight to ten per cent on your money with good security. And this in spite of the prophesied equalizing effect of the Federal Reserve Law.

Address: (business) Burtch Block, Fonda, N. Y.: (home) Main St., Fonda, N. Y.

I LEFT Harvard at the close of my Freshman year (1904) and immediately started the study of law in the office of J. S. Sitterly, Fonda, N. Y. I was admitted to practise law, by the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court of New York, November 19. 1907. My father died September 15, 1907, leaving me dependent upon my own resources. I accepted a position with J. S. Sitterly, with whom I studied law, and continued the practice of the law with him until his death on January 31, 1916, when I succeeded to the business, which at the time of his death was conducted under the name of Sitterly & Burtch. Since January 31, 1916, I have continued to practise under my individual name. In July, 1914, I was appointed Referee in Bankruptcy for the counties of Montgomery, Fulton, and Hamilton, N. Y., by Hon. George W. Ray, Judge of the United States District Court for the Northern District of New York. I was for two years designated by the Attorney General of New York, under the executive law, for the prosecution of cases arising under the Agricultural Law in Montgomery County.

THE story of my life since I quit College may be summed up in three words "eat, work, and sleep." On the whole I am thankful for two things — namely — I still have good health and am still an optimist.

Ever since leaving College I've been working as yard clerk for the Boston & Maine R. R.,—strenuous work, but I like it. Am out doors about eight hours a day in all kinds of weather and, believe me, it is no job for a "mollycoddle." I have put in twelve years on it now and don't see any chance of promotion. But I am satisfied, work hard, eat heartily, and sleep well. Above all I still possess a clear conscience and my mind is not dulled by the shams which I encounter in the world. For years to come, unless I get "fired," I'll probably be holding the same old job. After all, to be happy is the main thing in life, and I am always that.

CURTIS WOLSEY CATE

Born at Boston, Mass., Dec. 5, 1884.

Parents: Martin Luther, Martha Gertrude (Curtis) Cate.

School: Roxbury Latin School, Boston, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-06. Degrees: A.B. 1907; A.M. 1908.

Unmarried.

Occupation: Teaching.

Address: Carpinteria, Santa Barbara County, Cal.

I WENT to the Law School in the fall of 1907 and remained until spring, when I had found out that I could not expect to be a good lawyer. After making plans to go to California in the fall to teach school, I sailed for Italy. I remained in Europe five months, returning to Boston and leaving for California in September, 1908.

During the nine subsequent years, I have taught school in California: one year with Dr. C. Hanford Henderson at Riverside, one year at Mr. Thacher's splendid school in the Ojai Valley, and now seven years near Santa Barbara, building up a private boarding school. This school was founded in 1910, and incorporated in 1913, when six gentlemen joined me as trustees, and helped me raise the funds necessary to build new school buildings on our property of one hundred and fifty acres. I have three assistant masters and twenty-three boys, most of them Californians, but some from the North and East. Three boys have gone to college, one of them to Harvard, where several now with me plan to follow him.

The school seems to me the conventional boarding school, except that in California a few new features could be added of the eastern type. The boys all have horses, which they care for themselves, and the school has a camp over the mountains, where they often ride at the week-end. Such a school may give boys a thorough preparation for college and the best of health, but it may not make of them something more than the average respectable man, who is satisfied that the world should go on much as it is going. But no school can justify its existence, unless all its energies are bent on making bigger men than the average, unless its whole purpose is to help its boys along the road to a good college, where they shall enter not unprepared for the privilege of higher education and for the opportunity to become earnest citizens of a New Republic.

Years in College: 1903-04, 1905-07.

Degree: A.B. 1907.

Married: Augusta Barnard Barker, Sept. 4, 1908, West Newton, Mass. Children: Arthur Francis, Jr., July 13, 1909; Ruth, Feb. 9, 1913.

Occupation: Bond and Stock Salesman.

Address: (business) 4 Post Office Sq., Boston, Mass.; (home) 2158 Commonwealth Ave., Auburndale, Mass.

FROM June, 1907, to August, 1907, I worked at surveying. From then until January 1, 1908, I was assistant purchasing agent at the factory of Isaac Prouty & Co., shoe manufacturers, Spencer, Mass. From January 1, 1908, to August, 1909 I travelled locally and in the Middle West and South, selling shoe counters for the Columbia Counter Co. of Boston. From August 1909, to February, 1915, I was with S. D. Warren & Co., paper manufacturers, as order clerk and in the sales department.

Leaving there. I bought a farm in Keene, N. H., where in partnership with my brother-in-law, who owned the adjoining farm, I tried general farming. Eight months of it showed that it was not the thing for me, so I sold my interest in the business, although I still have the farm. From October, 1916, to the present, I have been with Chamberlain & Davis, of Boston, selling stocks and bonds.

GRANT CHANDLER

Born at Indian Orchard, Mass., Aug. 15, 1885. Parents: John Henry, Abbie F. (Smith) Chandler. School: Springfield High School, Springfield, Mass. Years in College: 1903-07.

Degree: A.B. 1907.

Married: Sadie Dinnsen, Aug. 24, 1910, Chicago, Ill.

Occupation: Accountant.

Address: (business) 1813 Harris Trust Bldg., Chicago, Ill.; (home) 7058

Emerald Ave., Chicago, Ill.

TMMEDIATELY upon leaving College I went to work in the ■ Traffic Department of the New England Telephone & Telegraph Co. At the time of the 1907 panic I was laid off. I secured a position immediately in the office of the Repair Department of the New York Telephone Co., New York. In September, 1908, an opening presented itself to take charge of the cost accounting work for a Chicago printing firm. I held this position for three and a half years, resigning to become Secretary of the Ben Franklin Club of Chicago, an organization of employing printers. Upon the election of a new president I resigned to take up the work of installing cost systems in printing plants, which work I continued until December, 1913, at which time I was offered a position with Andersen DeLany & Co., certified Public Accountants. I have continued in their employ from that date up to the time of writing.

The above constitutes a summary of my life since leaving College from a business standpoint. Two events in my private life are of sufficient importance to merit special mention. In August, 1910, I married the best partner a man ever had, and that act did more to stimulate my ambition and desire for the things worth while in life than any other event of my entire life. In 1913, I started to prepare to become a Certified Public Accountant and took the Illinois State examination in 1915. I was lucky enough to receive the silver medal given to the man passing second in this examination.

My work takes me all over the country, giving me little or no opportunity for home life, which is one of the hard things about it.

Member: Institute of Accountants of the United States of America, Illinois Society of Certified Public Accountants.

I LEFT College at the end of the Sophomore year and entered the employ of the Chapin & Adams Co., Wholesale Dairy Products and Commission Merchants, at 35 So. Market St., Boston, of which firm my father was and is the President. I was married in October, 1910, in Los Angeles, Cal., to Elizabeth H. Dunbar of that city, and brought her East with me. I became charmed with the Pacific coast while out there, and, unable to withstand its call and abetted by my wife, moved to Los Angeles in March, 1911, where I lived for more than a year. I made a good living there in the real estate game, but found that a young man's chances are as good in the East as they are in the West. I got homesick, and returned to Boston to the old employment, in July, 1911. I have been here in Boston ever since, leading a very quiet and, except for the arrival of additions to the family, an uneventful life. I have been working pretty hard and have had very little time to devote to interests outside of business and family. I was elected Vice-President of the Chapin & Adams Co. in May, 1915.

CLOVIS GILHAM CHAPPELL

Born at Flatwoods, Tenn., Jan. 8, 1882.

Parents: William Brown, Mollie (Gillham) Chappell.

School: Webb School, Bell Buckle, Tenn.

Years in College: 1904-05.

Married: Cecil Hart, April 15, 1909, Waverly, Tenn. Children: Clovis Gillham, Jr., Sept. 13, 1911; Bob Hart.

Occupation: Ministry.

Address: 3'07 Harvard Ave., Dallas, Tex.

IN November, 1908, I entered the ministry of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South. The two years previous I had been President of the E. W. Grove Training School at Paris, Tenn. This school had at that time no connection with the public school system. It was an endowed school and of considerable importance.

My progress in the ministry has been steady. Near the beginning of my third year I was made pastor of Epworth University Church, Oklahoma City. From there I was sent to Blooming Grove and Gatesville, Tex., respectively. Thence I was sent to Polytechnic Church, Fort Worth. The faculty and students of Texas Woman's College attend this church. There is besides a resident membership of more than a thousand.

In November, 1916 I was brought to Dallas and stationed at Highland Park Church. This church is the one attended by faculty and students of Southern Methodist University. It is therefore regarded as one of our most important pulpits.

Address: (business) c/o Hospital of Rockfeller Institute for Medical Research, New York, N. Y.; (home) 15 Evergreen Ave., Winter Hill, Mass.

A FTER two years' experience as an interne at the Presbyterian Hospital in New York City, an opportunity was extended to me to study clinical medicine from the investigative standpoint at the Hospital of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research. Under the direction of the Director of the Hospital, Dr. Rufus Cole, the past three years have been spent in a rather intensive study of problems connected with human infection and immunity to the pneumococcus, the organism most frequently associated with lobar pneumonia. Though the problem of influencing the disease therapeutically is a difficult one, the wide occurrence and seriousness of the disease warrants our most earnest and continued efforts CINCE graduation, my life has been very interesting — to me. I doubt that it would interest any one else, but since Jack Reynolds wants me to rush into print on the subject, here goes! The first summer, 1907. I went into railroading, which I firmly believed would be my life work. I was to "start at the bottom" and "work my way up" and all that sort of thing. The first part of this plan came out according to schedule: it was the bottom, all right! After "working my way" for a while - not up, but just working — I figured it all out. At the rate I was going, I would be able to pay my Class Day florist's bill in five years, and my other bills in about twenty. So in the fall of 1907 I started teaching at St. George's School, Newport, intending to teach for a year or two, and then go back to the Boston & Maine. To my surprise. I found that school teaching, at least at St. George's, was rather good fun. After two years of teaching I was crazy about it, and decided to stick to it for good.

In January, 1913, Miriam McLoud, Wellesley, 1912, and I were married. We immediately sailed to Europe for a year's honeymoon. (I was given my sabbatical.) After browsing around Italy, France, Switzerland, Austria Hungary, and Germany for ten months, loafing at some places and studying at others, we returned to Newport. In April, 1915, Eleanor was born. Just now we are busy building a house.

I teach French, with a side-line of gymnastics. When I have nothing else to do, I try to find out "what's the matter with the car." After the usual failure I play the fiddle.

The happiest day in my life, next to my wedding day was the day we declared war on Germany.

If you want to know what I look like, take the Class Album, find my picture, get an eraser and rub off all the hair from the top of my head, and there you are.

ARTHUR BRIGGS CHURCH

Born at Pembroke, Mass., July 15, 1886.

Parents: Frederick William, Emma Maria (Ramsdell) Church.

School: Rockland High School, Rockland, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-06.

Degrees: A.B. 1907 (1908); LL.B. 1909 (1910).

Married: Elizabeth Martha Ramsdell, Jan. 23, 1914, New York, N. Y.

Occupation: Law.

Address: (business) 27 Cedar St., New York, N. Y.; (home) 90 Morningside Drive, New York, N. Y.

SINCE the completion of my course at the Harvard Law School I have led, for the most part, a quiet and retiring life here in New York City. I work hard at the law business most all the time and go home at night to roost. Once in a while Parker Mitchell and Bill Low come to our house and spend an evening — on which occasions we have been known to have a mug of beer together and so forth. But Parker is now married and I observe a gradual toning down all around, due to the civilizing influences of domesticity. Bill Low, however, has not improved much, and I begin to feel he'll always be "the same old Bill." At any rate I hope so.

LAURENCE WHITFIELD CHURCHILL

Born at Chelsea, Mass., Aug. 3, 1885.

Parents: Arthur Whitfield, Laura Gertrude (Clark) Churchill.

School: Plymouth High School, Plymouth, Mass.

Years in College: 1904-07.

Degree: A.B. 1907.

Married: Ethel Lurana Shaw, June 2, 1909, Lowell, Mass.

Children: Laurence Whitfield, Jr., March 15, 1911; Grover, Dec. 17, 1912; Jane Shaw, June 25, 1914.

Occupation: Investment Banking.

Address: (business) 50 Congress St., Boston, Mass.; (home) 38 Lawrence St.,

Wakefield, Mass.

IN February, 1907, I started work with my father in the business of manufacturing refrigerators and store fixtures. I did this for the remainder of the college year. I then started in the investment banking business at 50 Congress St., Boston. I have been here ever since with the exception of a few months in 1911, when I was in Worcester for Spencer Trask & Co. I am still with this house, travelling more than half the time.

Outside of business, most of my time is needed by my growing family, which now has three children. It takes a lot of time to get two boys ready for college, especially Harvard, even though that time is still some years away. Although I have done considerable work in the affairs of my town I have not held any office and do not aspire to any.

THOMAS MACK CLAFLIN

Born at Boston, Mass., April 23, 1885.

Parents: William H., Carrie S. (Avery) Claflin. School: St. Paul's School, Concord, N. II.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degree: A.B. 1907.

Married: Alice F. Morton, June 3, 1912, Boston, Mass.

Children: Richard Morton, Sept. 16, 1913; Eleanor Pearson, Jan. 31, 1916.

Occupation: Bond Salesman.

Address: (business) 53 State St., Boston, Mass.; (home) 172 Dean Road, Brookline, Mass.

A FTER leaving College I studied two years at the Harvard Law School and was admitted to the Massachusetts Bar. Two more years of slaving in law offices was followed by my receiving the position of Attorney for the Boston Legal Aid Society. I decided that I cordially disliked the law, so in the fall of 1914 I accepted an opportunity to be a bond salesman. I am now with the firm of Parkinson & Burr, 53 State St., Boston.

In June, 1912, I married a Wellesley girl and built a home on Fisher Hill, Brookline. Its halls ring now with the lusty cheers of one candidate for Harvard and one for Wellesley.

Member: Harvard Club of Boston, The Country Club, Eastern Yacht Club, Boston City Club.

EDWARD WINSLOW CLARK

Born at Germantown, Pa., Sept. 3, 1885.

Parents: Clarence Munroe, Mary Newbold (Taylor) Clark.

Schools: Germantown Academy, Germantown, Pa.; Chestnut Hill Academy, Chestnut Hill, Pa.; and Milton Academy, Milton, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degree: A.B. 1907.

Married: Hazel Mills Dolph, Oct. 14, 1916, Portland, Ore.

Occupation: Banking and public utilities.

Address: (business) 321 Chestnut St., Philadelphia, Pa.; (home) Lincoln Drive, St. Martin's, Philadelphia, Pa.

ROM October, 1907, to June, 1908, I worked at the Tabor Manufacturing Company, a machine shop operated under the Taylor System of Scientific Management. The next year I was employed in the Columbus office of E. W. Clark & Co., and made various trips to electric railway and lighting properties under their control. Then I took a short course in accounting at Banks Business College. Since February, 1910, I have been with E. W. Clark & Co., and am now Secretary and Treasurer of the E. W. Clark & Co. Management Corporation. Most of my duties have been in connection with their public utility properties, particularly in matters of light and power rates, contracts, costs, reports, etc.

I am Executor of the late Frederick W. Taylor's Estate, and along with his numerous co-workers have been very much interested in the extension of his great system of management. I am a director of the Tabor Manufacturing Co., Housing Commission, Farmers National Bank of Bristol, Pa., and was Treasurer of the Harvard Club of Philadelphia from 1913 to 1915.

I have spent most of my vacations playing golf at Manchester, Vt. In the summer of 1912, along with several other fellows, I took a wonderful automobile trip through France, Italy, Austria, and Germany and the next year spent two weeks shooting at grouse, etc., in Scotland.

On October 14, 1916, I married Hazel Mills Dolph of Portland, Oregon, which is the best thing I ever did.

Member: Racquet, Down Town, Fourth St., Pine Valley Golf, Germantown Cricket, and Philadelphia Country Clubs.

GILBERT LAWRENCE CLARK

Born at Springfield, Mass., Dec. 30, 1884.

Parents: George Frederic, Clarissa Sophia (Beebe) Clark. School: Springfield High School, Springfield, Mass.

Degree: A.B. 1907.

Married: Katherine Beatrice Shaw, Aug. 31, 1912, Springfield, Mass.

Occupation: Science.

Address: (business) 145 Chestnut St., Springfield, Mass.; (home) 82 Garfield St., Springfield, Mass.

IN the fall of 1907 I went to work as a chemist for Uncle Sam at the Naval Proving Grounds, Indian Head, Maryland. Since April, 1908, I have been with the Emerson Laboratory, Consulting Chemists, Springfield, Mass., for the past three years as their Chief Chemist. I am Treasurer of the Connecticut Valley Section of the American Chemical Society.

MEMBER: American Chemical Society, Technical Association of the Pulp and Paper Industry, National Geographic Society, Kiwanis Club of Springfield, Mass.

JAMES DALEY CLARK

Born at Ware, Mass., April 2, 1885.

Parents: James Edward, Margaret Jane (Mulvany) Clark.

School: Ware High School, Ware, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degree: A.B. 1907.

Married: Elizabeth Ursula Downs, June 3, 1914. Pillsfield, Mass.

Occupation: Cotton Manufacturing.

Address: (business) c/o Otis Company, Ware, Mass.; (home) 117 North St.,

Ware, Mass.

TMMEDIATELY after commencement in June, 1907, I went to ■ work in the book and stationery department of the Springfield News Company, Springfield, Mass. This was interesting but not very lucrative employment. In the spring of 1910 I decided to go into cotton manufacturing. As a practical preparation for my new work, I spent one year at the Palmer Mill of the Otis Company at Three Rivers, Mass. This was a year of genuine hard work, but the experience was most valuable. On May 1, 1911, I returned to Ware, Mass., my home town, to accept a position as an assistant superintendent with the Otis Company. This concern is one of the few in this country engaged in the manufacture of both woven cloth and knit underwear. I am happily situated here and I enjoy my work thoroughly.

I was one of the founders of the Ware Board of Trade and I am President of this organization at present. I have been an auditor of the Ware Fire District for two years. Last year I was appointed a Commissioner to Oualify Public Officials in Massachusetts.

STANLEY CLARKE

HARRY BENJAMIN CLIFFORD

Born at Concord, N. 11., July 11, 1885.

Parents: Samuel Eastman, Ada Florence (Locke) Clifford.

School: Franklin High School, Franklin, N. II.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degree: A.B. 1907.

Unmarried.

Occupation: Roofer.

Address: (business) 4 Lincoln Are., Detroit, Mich.; (home) 41 Sycamore St.,

Detroit, Mich.

I SPENT the summer of 1907 in the Harvard Engineering Camp. Three months of study in Maine, pneumonia, teaching grammar school, preceded two years of clerical work with the Travelers Insurance Co., Hartford, Conn.

In 1910 I started westward, making stops en route. From Winnipeg and Calgary I joined surveying parties for three months. I served the Canadian Northern Pacific Ry. out of Victoria, B. C., six months as levelman, and twelve months as transitman on railway location. I was employed on Victoria's new Sooke Water Supply three months as instrumentman, twelve months as a division engineer, and twelve months as senior division engineer on flow line construction.

I left Victoria in July, 1914, and spent five weeks sightseeing along Columbia River, Northern Pacific, Yellowstone Park, and middle western cities. A five months' vacation followed the failure of a three years' Canadian hydro-electric development to proceed.

In February, 1915, I started wanderings through eastern cities in search of employment. About April 1, 1915, I arrived in Detroit, where I am engaged in the roofing business.

I copyrighted in 1916 the "Clifford Roofer's Pitch Board and Tables."

Member: Ionic Lodge 474, F. & A. M.

THE first year after leaving College I was with the Northern Pacific Ry. at St. Paul, Minn. Then for two years I was with the National City Bank of New York; and since that time I have been with the Boston Chamber of Commerce in various capacities, being now First Assistant Secretary and Assistant Treasurer.

WILLIAM WALLACE COLTON

Born at Pittsfield, Mass., Dec. 25, 1883.

Parents: Joseph Eli, Alice Viola (Thomas) Colton.

School: High School, Pittsfield, Mass.

Years in College: 1905-07.

Degree: S.B. 1907.

Married: Marion Ward, Nov. 5, 1907, Malden, Mass.

Child: Thelma, Jan. 15, 1909. Occupation: Forest Commissioner.

Address: (business) City Hall, West Newton, Mass.; (home) 309 Bellevue

St., Newton, Mass.

UPON graduating in June, 1907, I received an appointment as Forest Assistant in the United States Forest Service and was ordered to report at Yerka, Cal. Now Yerka being a long Wednesday night walk from Malden, Mass., I declined the offer (upon advice of council) and accepted a position as Forester for F. G. Crane of Dalton, Mass., in August, 1907. Having landed a job, my next step towards success was to get married, which I did in November of the same year. In January, 1909, I came into the only fortune I ever expect to possess, namely, a jewel, in the form of a seven and one-half pound baby girl (now eight years old).

In the spring of 1910 I became possessed with the wanderlust and migrated to Framingham where I was employed by the American Forestry Company until December of the same year, when I left to take a position as Division Superintendent, in charge of moth work for the Massachusetts Forest Service. I remained with the Service until July, 1911, when I resigned to accept the position of City Forester and Superintendent of Parks in the city of Fitchburg, Mass.

In June, 1914, I was offered the position of Forest Commissioner in the city of Newton, Mass., and as it offered more money and larger fields for work, I again resigned and moved to my present location where I hope I shall be located for some time to come.

My present duties include the care of all parks, public grounds, and cemeteries, all shade tree work, and the control and suppression of insect pests such as gypsy and brown tail moths and other insects injurious to trees, as well as mosquitoes.

Publications: Associate Editor of Arboria, a publication of the Massachusetts Tree Wardens and Foresters Association, in which I have published numerous editorials and the following articles: "Tree Surgery," "Summer Pruning of Shade Trees," "Tree Census Methods," and "Spraying Problems"; also the following: "City Forestry Methods," American City Magazine, June, 1913: "Work of a City Forester," Mass. State Forester's Report, 1912: "Organization and Management of Town Forests," Massachusetts Forestry Association Report, 1914; "A City's Tree Work," American Forestry Magazine, July, 1914; "Economical Value of Shade Trees," American Forestry Magazine, February, 1916; gave an address on "City Forestry and Its Future," at the Annual Meeting of the American Forestry Association in January, 1916; "The Younglove Log Rule," Forest Quarterly, 1913.

MEMBER: American Academy of Arborists; Massachusetts Tree Wardens and Foresters Association; Newton Branch Massachusetts Forestry Association; American Forestry Association; American Park Superintendents Association; New England Park Institute; C. W. Moore Lodge, A. F. and A. M.; Fitchburg Council, Royal Arcanum; Newton Council Knights of Pythias, Numerous minor local clubs and societies. In fact, I have joined (some of) those things which I ought not to have joined and left unjoined those which I ought to have joined and there is no "coin" left on me.

ROBERT CAMERON COLWELL

Born at Fredericton, N. B., Oct. 14, 1883.

Parents: David, Minnie (Cameron) Colwell.

School: Fredericton High School, Fredericton, N. B.

Years in College: 1906-07.

Degrees: A.B. 1907; A.B. (Univ. N.B.) 1904; A.M. (ibid.) 1908.

Married: Mary Berdella Walker, Dec. 21, 1911, Beaver Falls, Pa.

Occupation: Teacher.

Address: (business) Geneva College, Beaver Falls, Pa.; (home) 3101 College

Ave., Beaver Falls, Pa.

SINCE graduating from Harvard I have been teaching mathematics at Geneva College.

ARTHUR COLEMAN COMEY

Born at Somerville, Mass., Sept. 6, 1886.

Parents: Arthur Messinger, Kate (Coleman) Comey. School: Cambridge Latin School, Cambridge, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degree: A.B. 1907.

Married: Eugenia Louise Jackson, Oct. 2, 1915, Wilmington, Del.

Occupation: Landscape Architect and City Planner.

Address: (business) Abbot Bldg., Harvard Sq., Cambridge, Mass.; (home) 25 Chauncy St., Cambridge, Mass.

SINCE getting two years' practical experience at park work at Dixon, Ill., and Utica, N. Y., where I had the grand title, "Superintendent of Parks," and had sixteen men under me, I have specialized in city planning and improved housing, that is, foresight in providing the environment of mankind — a big ticket, I grant you. I lived in University Clubs and Y. M. C. A.'s while I worked out city plans in Milwaukee and St. Paul, with Mr. John Nolen as Advisor, and for Houston, Texas,—my first important work after opening a permanent office in Cambridge. Since then I have laid out a number of large subdivisions and have made studies for ten or twelve cities in Massachusetts and elsewhere, including my own city of Cambridge.

In an endeavor to live up to Richard Cabot's ideal of giving one half of one's time to community welfare I am serving on the Massachusetts Homestead Commission and as Secretary of the Massachusetts Federation of Planning Boards and the Cambridge Housing Committee. I have continued my education by two trips to Europe, one with the Boston Chamber of Commerce Tour, and by taking part in numerous state and national city planning and housing conferences. I have entered three competitions: in the Australian Capital Competition I was placed fifth; in the Chicago Quarter-Section Competition I won second prize; and in the Richmond, Cal., Subdivision Competition I won first prize of $5,000! — hush, IN LAND — three nice building lots, which I will sell at sixty per cent off. Since then I have sat back on my record and entered no more.

Finding the partner who would stand for it, we have tried "improved housing" on the dog, by living in a barn remodeled into a two-family house, in which I incorporated most of my ideas as to workmen's homes. And it works, at least we enjoy it; and will gladly show it off to any Seven-er who finds time to drop in during the Decennial or any other time. In summer we cut trails and "sculp" birch tree vistas at Chocorua, N. H.

Publications: printed reports for most of the larger works I have done, including Lowell Park, Dixon, Ill., 1908; Utica Park Board (Sup't), N. Y., 1909-10: Houston, Tex., Tentative Plans, 1913; Dover, N. J., Town Plan, 1913; Detroit, Suburban Planning, 1914; Billerica Garden Suburb, Mass., 1914; Lawrence, Mass., City Planning Studies, 1915; Fitchburg, Mass., Thorofare System, 1916; Cambridge, Mass., Annual, 1915, 1916; A Schedule of Civic Surveys, Bulletin 5, Massachusetts Homestead Commission, 1915. Married: Lilla Elizabeth Dielman, Dec. 9, 1915, New York, N. Y.

Occupation: Architecture.

Address: 3709 Albatross St., San Diego, Cal.

ON leaving College (mid-years of 1907) I went into the Boston office of Cram, Goodhue & Ferguson, architects. In October of that year I went to Paris, and prepared for the École des Beaux Arts, first at the Atelier Chifflot, and later in that of Monsieur Umbdenstock. I also studied free hand drawing at the Academy Julian, under the tuition of Jean Paul Laurens.

I became very much interested in Gothic architecture, rather to the detriment of my school work, and spent a great deal of time visiting and studying the cathedrals. I was admitted to the École eventually, however, and entered the school alelier of M. Umbdenstock. Owing to bad health and lack of sympathy with the aims and ideals of the school I left without getting a degree, in 1912, but not until I had reached the first class, and after travelling in England for a while, returned to Boston to the architectural firm that had now become Cram and Ferguson.

In the winter of 1915 I went down to Bermuda for a few months, then returning to New York worked in the architectural office of I. E. Ditmars. The following December I was married in the church of the Ascension, Fifth Avenue, to a distant cousin, Lilla Elizabeth Dielman. DuBois Beale, of our class, was my best man and among my ushers were the bride's two brothers, also Mr. Cram, for whom I worked in Boston.

Immediately after the wedding we came out to California, particularly for the sake of seeing the San Diego Exposition, which is the most beautiful thing of its sort that I ever saw, and we have been so fascinated by the place that we have lived here ever since.

Parents: Charles Phillips, Emaline Aubin (Kinloch) Craft.

School: Mt. Hermon School, Mt. Hermon, Mass.

Years in College: 1904-06, 1906-08.

Degree: S.B. 1907 (1915).

Married: Virginia Trotter, Sept. 25, 1912, Boston, Mass.

Children: Virginia Dupree, Sept. 6, 1913; Ellen Kinloch, Nov. 18, 1916.

Occupation: Vocational Teaching.

Address: (business) School No. 17, Indianapolis, Ind.; (home) 2061 Highland Pl., Indianapolis, Ind.

A FTER College I went to Tuskegee, Ala., where I took the position of head of the engineering department. After remaining there for three years I went to Chicago, Ill., and was placed with the Commonwealth Edison Company as an engineering draughtsman. During the panic of 1913–14 business reached such a low ebb that the draughting room of the Commonwealth Edison Company was practically done away with and the crew put up against the proposition of seeking employment elsewhere. This and other developments made it quite clear that I should grasp the chance to return to Cambridge for my degree. I therefore put in the year 1914–15 to that end with desired results.

The position of vocational instructor here in Indianapolis was offered me at the close of the year, so here I am.

ROBERT VINCENT CRAM

Born at Winchester, Mass., July 31, 1885.

Parents: Charles Edward, Mary Ingersoll (Wells) Cram.

School: Newton High School, Newton, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-07. Degrees: A.B. 1907; A.M. 1908. Unmarried.

Occupation: Teaching.

Address: (permanent) c/o Wm. Lloyd Garrison, Jr., 60 State St., Boston, Mass.;

(home) 33 Conant Hall, Cambridge, Mass.

A FTER my graduation in 1907 I remained in the Graduate School for three years. In the fall of 1910 I went to Juniata College in Huntingdon, Pa., where for four years I taught Greek, Latin, and Ancient History. In the fall of 1914 I went to Lafayette College in Easton, Pa., where for two years I was instructor in Greek. Now I have returned to the "Classic Shades" for one more year of study. I am a citizen of Easton, Pa., but have no definite abiding place. Many of the Class seem to have done their duty by the College and the nation. By way of contrast, I have so far escaped the darts of Cupid and have no immediate intention of departing from the state of single blessedness.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degree: A.B. 1907. Unmarried. Occupation: Broker.

Address: 136 Cypress St., Brookline, Mass.

I MMEDIATELY after graduation in 1907 I entered the employ of Curtis & Sanger, bankers and brokers, 35 Congress St., Boston. There I remained until 1910, when I went to Hood River, Ore., and started a wholesale fruit and produce business of my own. In 1912 an amalgamation of all the growers of Hood River and the bulk of the other northwest fruit districts was formed, so that I gave up my personal business, and became identified with the Northwest Fruit Distributors, first in their office at Hood River, and later as assistant manager and then manager of their Omaha office. Late in 1913, on account of the crop shortage, the Omaha office was closed and not wishing to go to Texas, where the distributors had planned to send me, I decided to return to Boston, and have been in that city since, engaged in the brokerage business.

Married: Jessie Barr Wright, Oct. 19, 1915, St. Louis, Mo.

Occupation: Surgery.

Address: 384 Commonwealth Ave., Boston, Mass.

REGISTERED in the course of anatomy, physiology, and hygiene in the Lawrence Scientific School, and spent my fourth year in College as a first year student in the Harvard Medical н 1907 — 6

School, completing the requisite work for the degree of S.B. The next three years were spent in the regular work at the Medical School and I received the degree M.D., cum laude, in 1910. During these years I found spare time to do a little extra work in anatomy, comparative anatomy, and physiology, as well as considerable clinical work in the hospitals. In July, 1910, I passed the examination of the State Board of Registration in Medicine and became a registered physician of this state.

November, 1910, found me beginning my career as surgical interne at the Massachusetts General Hospital, and on the completion of this service I received the appointment of West Surgical House Surgeon. This position I held from February 1, 1912, to February 1, 1913, when I left the hospital to become assistant to Dr. S. J. Mixter of Boston.

I was appointed Volunteer Assistant Surgeon of the Children's Hospital in March, 1916.

HARRISON CLIFFORD DALE

Born at Lynn, Mass., March 7, 1885.

Parents: Alvin Clifford, Helen Mary (Worthen) Dale.

School: Classical High School, Lynn, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-07. Degrees: A.B. 1907; A.M. 1908.

Married: Bertha May Garrard, June 5, 1916, Laramie, Wyo.

Occupation: Teaching.

Address: (business) University of Wyoming, Laramie, Wyo.; (home) 208 South Seventh St., Laramie, Wyo.

A FTER commencement, 1907, I went abroad and spent the summer travelling on the continent.

During the academic years 1907 to 1910 I found it impossible to tear myself away from the classic shades. The habit, formed in the four under-graduate years, of eating at Mem. and of regarding the Yard as the real center of things, stuck. Hence I took the degree of A.M. in 1908 and for two years thereafter I studied some, assisted in the Department of History some, and loafed some. The summer of 1908 I also spent in Europe travelling leisurely about with two 1907 men. Corning Benton and Paul Temple.

In 1910 came the break. I left Cambridge. I left New England. I crossed the Hudson River, previous to that time associated in my mind with all the perils and dangers of the frontier. I survived the wild and woolly in Ohio and Indiana and in a venturesome mood pushed on to Utah. There I lived two years as Professor of History in the Utah Agricultural College at Logan, and incidentally learned to ride a horse, to herd sheep, and punch cattle. In the summer of 1912 Paul Temple came out, and with a pack outfit we explored the Grand Canyon of Snake River and the Jackson's Hole country in northwestern Wyoming. Then I decided to try the so-called Middle West.

I went to St. Louis as Instructor in Ilistory in Washington University. That was in September, 1912. I stayed until 1915. In September of that year, I again shunted myself back to the sage-brush West to accept the position of Acting Professor of History in the University of Wyoming. That lasted from 1915 to 1916; and the present year, 1916–17, finds me Professor of Political Science in the same institution, living at an altitude of over 7,000 feet and a thermometer (at present) 35 degrees below zero. I am, however, in the heart of the Rockies, keep several horses and a dog, spend my spare time hunting elk, deer, ducks, cotton-tails—anything, in fact, and riding over what is left of the unfenced range and into the canyons of the Medicine Bow mountains.

In June, 1916, I married, bought a house, and prepared to settle down. These seem to be the only "offices of honor or trust" which I have held.

Publications: various articles of an historical character in the Washington University Record, the Washington University Studies, the Missouri Historical Society Collections, the Oregon Historical Quarterly, etc.; book: "The Ashley-Smith Explorations, 1822–1829, with Original Narratives," Arthur H. Address: (business) Union Arcade, Pittsburgh, Pa.; (home) 318 Aiken Ave., Pittsburgh, Pa.

POUR years, since the Third Report, and here we are again! When I gather myself together to think back over the interval, what do I find? What most of us find sooner or later, I fancy: that life has shaken us down into the destined. I had been writing plays—trying to, at any rate. My fourth play to be produced was "Gloomy Fanny," presented by Harry Davis at the Duquesne Theatre, Pittsburgh, on November 17, 1913. The death of my father, Barnett Davis, occurred that fall. It is no exaggeration to say that it greatly changed my whole outlook on life. Then my friend, Arthur G. Burgoyne, died too.

I had come to the end of a period. — When I entered College, and long before, I had been dedicated, like a youthful Samuel, to the study of the law. I had even had a year of law at the Harvard Law School in 1906–07. I used to go to lectures and never hear a word of them for scribbling away at verses and "The Promised Land." And of course at the end of that year, I strayed off on the tangent dramatic. But all the while, the law had been haunting me; and when I came to the "Stop, Look, and Listen" period, it was very close indeed. Said I then, "Why be pursued longer? Walk up and shake hands with the ghost that terrifies you, and if you die, you die."

So I did. And it wasn't a ghost at all, but a very friendly and familiar good spirit that led me into the law school of the University of Pittsburgh and the law office of Ex-Governor Wm. A. Stone; saw to it, in Sir Walter's phrase, that once I was in the boat I tugged at my oar as well as any man; had me admitted to the Bar two years later — in 1915; and has since been companionably at my right hand. I have little offices of my own. It's a keen, brisk life.

Write? Yes. Rather less than more; but still at it. The furor scribendi dies hard. The Chautauqua Association commissioned me to write a morality play for them, called "Happiness," which was produced under tent in Cape Charles, Va., on June 9, 1916. It played eighty southern towns that season, and is booked for the same number of northern towns this season. There are several other things: some of them done; some on the way.

Meanwhile — for my sins! — I've been twice vice president of an orthodox synagogue — none of your peeled wands of smooth reform — but an institution with the bark on. We wear our hats at service, and the women sit in the gallery (glory be, to be rid of them for once!), and our prayers are the same prayers, in the same language that our forefathers uttered when Titus was battering at the gates of Jerusalem; and before him too, time beyond time. — I've also been a member of the Board of Directors of the Hebrew Institute for four years or so. It's a school where after public school hours a thousand Jewish children are taught something of their tradition.

One evening a week, I deliver a two-hour lecture in the University of Pittsburgh on "Plays and Play Construction." There are about ten in the class now, mostly graduate students; and some of their work is, I think, very promising. It is a pleasure to be with them. So that in this way too I keep up my interest in the drama.

Not much else. Spring and fall I deliver a couple of lectures out of town. Occasionally I speak on Zionism or War Relief — Politics too, although I have no desire to try for office. For the rest, the duties of the day are happily sufficing.

"Away with funeral music — set
The pipe to powerful lips —
The cup of life's for him that drinks,
And not for him that sips."

I COMPLETED my College work in the first half year 1906–1907, and entered the real estate business in the office of Herbert A. Sherman, then at 9 Pine St., and also in the Fifth Avenue Bank Building, New York City.

On January 1, 1908, I went to Great Britain with Mr. N. F. Read and did not return until May. The next fall I entered Columbia Law School and took the regular three year course; incidentally being elected to the Law Review and acting as business manager for several months.

Upon graduation I entered the Adams Express Law Department and was subsequently with two other law offices in New York City. Last October I received the appointment by the Hon. Lester W. Clark, Justice of the Supreme Court of the State of New York, as his law Secretary. I regret that I have no particularly interesting incidents to relate.

Occupation: Insurance.

Address: (business) 87 Milk St., Boston, Mass.; (home) Canton Are., Milton,

I MMEDIATELY upon leaving College I took a very hurried trip through the West, spending the most enjoyable part of the time in the Canadian Rockies. I returned to Boston to enter the bond business with H. W. Poor & Company, where I had already worked for two summers. In 1908 this firm went out of business and I took a position in the home office of the New England Mutual Life Insurance Company, with which company I have remained ever since.

I am now at the head of the Bond and Mortgage Department, preparing offerings for the Investment Committee at its meetings, and having charge of the work connected with looking after the investments in bonds, stocks, mortgages, collateral loans, etc., after they are made.

I look back to my marriage in 1910 as the one thing which has done more than anything else to bring happiness into my life during these ten years, and I have now three children, two daughters and one son, the boy barely three weeks old at this writing.

FAIRMAN ROGERS DICK

Born at Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 7, 1885.

Parents: Evans Rogers, Elizabeth (Tatham) Dick.

School: St. Paul's School, Concord, N. 11.

Years in College: 1904-07.

Degree: A.B. 1907.

Married: Gladys Roosevelt, Nov. 25, 1913, New York, N. Y.

Occupation: Investment Banking.

Address: (business) 25 Broad St., New York, N. Y.; (home) North Ave.,

New Rochelle, N. Y.

UPON leaving College, I went to Japan and spent six months in Japan and Northern China, making a hunting trip to Mongolia and also into the Long White Mountains of Manchuria.

I returned to New York and worked for a few months with Dick Brothers & Co. before taking employment in the New York office of Lee, Higginson & Co. in October, 1908. I was with Lee, Higginson & Co. until August, 1910, when I took a hunting trip to Northern British Columbia, entering through the Stikine River from Fort Wrangel, Alaska. I obtained some very nice trophies, including the third Oris stonei on record at that time.

I hunted the month of December, on my return, in the Lewis & Clark forest reserve in Montana, and in January entered the firm of Dick Brothers & Co., where I endeavored to organize a bond department in addition to their Stock Exchange business and cotton business.

The summer of 1911 I was extremely sick of typhoid fever, and in the autumn went south to Florida, and in December went through Cuba and Jamaica to Hayti, where I spent several months investigating the country in connection with a railroad enterprise in which I was interested. I returned to New York in February, 1912.

In the autumn of 1913, in addition to getting married, I left Dick Brothers & Co. and entered the firm of Hambleton & Co. of Baltimore, to assist in opening their New York office for the handling of a bond business exclusively.

In November, 1915, I organized the firm of Dick, Gregory & Co. to do a bond investment business, with offices in New York and Hartford, where I am industriously engaged at present.

Since leaving College, on account of a belief in military training, I served over six years in Squadron A, Troop 3, N. G. N. Y., ending with the rank of corporal.

In the autumn of 1915, feeling that it was of the utmost importance to develop the aviation end of the service, I helped to organize the First Aero Company, N. G. N. Y., which was mobilized during the summer of 1916 at Mineola, and where I spent the summer flying and working on machines, with the rank of First Class Sergeant. This testing, so to speak, of army aviation from the point of view of volunteers, proved very valuable in demonstrating the difficulty and impracticability of militia units in a service so highly technical and exacting as the mechanical end of aviation.

Those of us proficient in flying are training for and entering the Aviation Officers' Reserve, where we are continuing to fly at the United States Army Training Station at Mineola, which has taken up the lines originally commenced by the First Aero Company.

CHARLES HENRY DICKERMAN

Born at Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 1, 1885.

Parents: Charles Francis, Kate Schell (Miller) Dickerman.

School: Central High School, Philadelphia, Pa.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degree: A.B. 1907.

Unmarried.

Occupation: Newspaper Editorial Work.

Address: 4131 Leidy Ave., Philadelphia, Pa.

TWO years after graduation I spent in teaching: 1907–08, as Assistant Principal in the High School at Bellefonte, Pa., and 1908–09, as Master of Modern Languages in the Wilson School at Fishkill-on-Hudson. During the summer of 1908 I lived in France and Belgium.

I began work in 1910 for The Press, Philadelphia, as a special writer, and remained with this newspaper until 1914, being successively Literary Editor, Literary and Dramatic Editor, Dramatic Editor, and Editorial Writer. A leave of absence for the summer of 1912 made it possible for me to visit England and Berlin with Dave Pfromm, '08.

In 1914, I resigned from The Press and went to Cambridge with a young friend, in whose training I was interested. We lived in Felton Hall, Cambridge, for about three years. For a short time I was with the Boston Herald, but for most of this period with the Boston Posl, on the editorial staff of the Sunday Department. I also gave a lecture course on English Poets in the Cambridge Night High School, in 1915.

I resigned from the Boston Post on January 1 of the present year, having been in New York and Philadelphia for a few weeks previous on vacation. My friend's art study had taken him to New York, and I felt it desirable to be either in that city or within striking distance. Since Christmas I have been living in Philadelphia. Quite possibly I shall remain in this city, at least for the near future.

ABNER FAISON DIXON

Born at Baltimore, Md., Aug. 26, 1884.

Parents: Amzi Clarence, Mary (Faison) Dixon. School: Roxbury Latin School, Roxbury, Mass. Years in College: 1903-06. Degrees: A.B. 1907: M.E. 1909.

Unmarried.

Occupation: Geologist.

Address: Caracas, Venezuela, S.A.; (home) 82 South Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

I WAS in the Graduate School during 1903-09 and I received the degree of mining engineer. I worked for the Cleveland-Cliff Iron Company of Michigan for a time as geologist, and then left for India as mining engineer and geologist for Tata Sons & Co., a Parsee firm of Bombay. I remained in India from 1910 to 1912. My work there was very pleasant for one of a roving disposition. My duties took me from the border of China and Siam, to the Northwest Frontier and from Tibet to Cape Comorin. Most of my time was spent in reporting on undeveloped mineral and oil prospects.

In 1912 I returned to the States and went to Venezuela as geologist for the Caribbean Petroleum Co. My work there was oil, geology, and exploring.

In 1914 I returned to New York but went back to Venezuela again as field manager for the Colon Development Co., Ltd., of London, which held a concession in the state of Zulia, Venezuela.

I am now working for private interests in Venezuela.

T seems ages ago—that roasting day in June—when the "Troop of the Guard" wandered forth into the cold, cold world. I certainly got my first taste of bumping up against the world right after College. It is now ancient history — that memorable "Signet Cruise" and how we were shipwrecked on our return from New London off Hyannisport. It seems long ago, but it has passed quickly. I cannot imagine how we used to consider seniors as hoary-headed, or how we respected sophomores — and as for graduates celebrating triennials, sexennials, decennials!

After a preliminary period of packing books, loading drays, sweeping floors, setting type, operating presses and going through the details of a big modern printing plant (Atheneum Press in East Cambridge), I received my first real job in an office, the advertising department of Ginn & Company, Beacon Hill.

received my first raise from $6.00 per to $8.00!

After two years of this work I grew impatient at the pedagogic conservatism of Ginn & Company and accepted an offer to tutor a dashing scion of wealth travelling abroad. For a while I lived on the fat of the land, and then returning to New York, connected with the Manhattan Press. Shortly after this I went West in a private car with a most attractive Western family. This was an alluring, luxurious, occupation affording me wonderful opportunities to survey our country. I was very happy except when my charges — I had two lively boys this time — affectionately filled my shoes with glue or put cactus in my bed!

On my return East I became connected with a magazine bought by a wealthy mining man. Interesting developments followed. The sale of this property was pretty nearly fraud. There was no advertising and the circulation was about minus a thousand. Those few people who really had subscribed were so sore with the magazine that they really should be classed as minus. These revelations were too much for the officers in charge — one becoming very ill, another going insane! This left me in complete charge. I was general manager, secretary, treasurer, bookkeeper, editor, office boy, in fact, everything.

In three years, however, I had cleared away the dead wood and brought to birth the beginnings of what promised to be a first rate publication — Business America. Unfortunately the owner was not willing to put up the funds necessary to keep the magazine going. The field is overcrowded and the cost high. So he sold it to another paper.

I became interested in a branch most vital and necessary in publishing — the advertising field. After one year in a small New York advertising agency I went West. I presented plans to the Hawaiian Pineapple Growers for their cooperative advertising. These plans were accepted and since then I have been in charge of their advertising. This has been successful as well as interesting work. I made another trip West last winter, going out to the Hawaiian Islands where I had a wonderful time. This fruit has developed from a small average and output until now there will be nearly three million cases or seventy-two million cans of Hawaiian pineapple distributed. Advertising is largely responsible for this development. I am indebted to Joseph Husband, '08, for assistance in my work. His company, Husband & Thomas Co., of which he is president, has grown by leaps and bounds and I am proud to be associated with him. The most important event in my life occurred when I married Isabelle Duncan of Denver. Colo., this last summer.

Publications: articles in Business America, practically every issue of the years 1912–13–14; also articles in trade papers.

Years in College: 1903-05.

Married: Helen Comey Gibson, Sept. 14, 1905, Clinton, Mass.

Children: Dudley Huntington, Jr., Oct. 21, 1906; Mary Comey, July 10, 1909; Nancy Miller, March 8, 1911; Richard Gibson, Feb. 10, 1915.

Occupation: Law.

Address: (business) 906 Barristers Hall, Boston, Mass.; (home) Lancaster, Mass.

A FTER leaving College I was employed for three years in the local freight department at Boston, of the Boston & Albany Railroad. I then entered Boston University Law School, while there clerking in my father's law office. I passed the Massachusetts Bar examination July 1, 1910, and was admitted to practise August 23, 1910. I assisted my father until January 6, 1912, when he died.

Since then I have actively (accent here) practised at the law with reasonable success. I have mixed somewhat in home town politics, having served as a member of the Board of Auditors 1909–1910, and as a member of the Republican Town Committee in 1912–1913, of which committee I acted as Secretary-Treasurer. I have been keenly interested in the local Playground Association which I have served as Treasurer, member of Executive Committee, etc., since its foundation in 1912. I am a director of another small local company, which I serve as Secretary, and am interested in a small partnership. Except for the above reservations my record appears clear and — shall I say uninteresting? — to date.

Elizabeth, May 2, 1911. Occupation: Teaching.

Address: (business) High School, Nutter Ave., Phoenixville, Pa.; (home) 388 Second Ave., Phoenixville, Pa.

SINCE leaving Harvard in 1906 I have been connected with the public schools of Phoenixville, Pa. From 1906 to 1910, I taught, mostly science and mathematics, in the High School. From 1910 to 1913 I was Principal of the High School. Since 1913 I have been Superintendent of Schools. This town is not very large — its population now being about 12,000 — but there is an opportunity to do some really constructive work.

I have been interested, as a matter of course, in activities outside the immediate official position, and manage to find my time fully occupied. I have done considerable platform work in educational and general addresses.

At the present time I am Superintendent of the Baptist Sunday School, a member of the Board of Library Trustees, Secretary of the Intercounty Improvement Society, and local Chautauqua Secretary.

Address: (business) Throop College of Technology, Pasadena, Cal.; (home)

425 Oakland Ave., Pasadena, Cal.

A T present I am Instructor in English at Throop College of Technology. I don't seem to slay put very well, this being my fourth college; the others were Texas, Leland Stanford, and Illinois. My reasons for moving on were either the temporary nature of the job, or questions of health. The life of a teacher of English is not exciting, and is too well known to need describing.

Throop is an Engineering College, young, and growing fast. Before long it will put itself in the class of Massachusetts Tech.

GEORGE EVELYN DOYEN

Born at Quincy, Ill., June 14, 1885.

Parents: Frank Evelyn, Florence Mary (Taggert) Doyen.

School: Powder Point School, Duxbury, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degrees: S.B. 1907; M.C.E. 1908.

Married: Sally Thompson Crary, Oct. 8, 1910, New York, N. Y.

Occupation: Designing Engineer.

Address: (business) c/o Turner Construction Co., 244 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.; (home) 1956 Bogart Ave., New York, N. Y.

I SPENT the summer of 1907 working as foreman on street paving work for the Hastings Pavement Co., New York City. I returned to the University in the fall and took courses leading to a master's degree in civil engineering, specializing on reinforced concrete. From June, 1908, to May, 1910, I was superintendent for the Hastings Pavement Co. and had charge of many paving jobs in New York City, Perth Amboy, New Rochelle, etc., during this period.

From May, 1910, to February, 1913, I worked for the Turner Construction Co. on reinforced concrete construction, starting as construction engineer and working up to assistant superintendent, general assistant and superintendent on building construction.

From February, 1913, to date I have designed all kinds of reinforced concrete buildings including such buildings as Loose-Wiles Biscuit Co. bakery in Long Island City, warehouse for the Nashua Manufacturing Co., Nashua, N. H., warehouse and factory for the Naumkeag Steam Cotton Co., Salem, Mass., and numerous other buildings.

My income from salary and bonuses has steadily increased to a present figure of about $3000 per year. I married Sally Thompson Crary, October 8, 1910, and have found married life to be the only life.

During the winter and spring of 1916 I took up the question of military preparedness and in August, 1916, attended the Plattsburg Camp for the first time, winning corporal's chevron. Since then I have been drilling or studying three times a week and have applied for a commission as an officer in the Reserve of the Corps of Engineers, U. S. Army. I have personally obtained about 1000 signatures to a petition for universal training and service which is to be forwarded to President and Congress.

Occupation: Manufacturing.

Address: (business) c/o Draper Corporation, Hopedale, Mass.; (home) Hope-dale, Mass.

I HAVE nothing unusual to report. I left College in November of our junior year and started to learn the various branches of the textile business, and have been in the same business ever since, with varying degrees of success.

Among offices now held I am director and assistant Sales Agent of the Draper Corporation, Hopedale, Mass.: a director of the National Shawmut Bank, Boston, Mass., Merchants National Bank, Worcester, Mass., Manville Company, Providence, R. I., Queen City Cotton Company, Burlington, Vt., Pilgrim Mill, Fall River, Mass., British Northrup Loom Company, Blackburn, England; and trustee of several estates and hospitals.

I.; Quequechan Club, Fall River, Mass.; Harvard and Merchants Clubs, New York, N. Y.; Grafton Country Club, Grafton, Mass.; National Association of Cotton Manufacturers; American Association of Cotton Manufacturers; Southern New England Textile Club, and Society of Colonial Wars.

PAUL AUGUSTUS DRAPER

Born at Canton, Mass., Aug. 31, 1886.

Parents: Charles Norris, Martha Howard (Gill) Draper.

School: Channey Hall School, Boston, Mass.

Years in College: 1904-07. Degree: A.B. 1907 (1908).

Married: Marjorie Carter Elmes, Nov. 21, 1911, Stoughlon, Mass.

Occupation: Wool Merchant.

Address: 281 Summer St., Boston, Mass.

POR one year after leaving College I worked at Winslow Bros. and Smith's factory at Norwood, Mass., and there thoroughly mastered all that there was to know about wool! Then Crimmins and Peirce Co. had nerve enough to give me a chance with them, and I was sent out West to make headquarters at San Francisco, to buy wool for eastern mills. I remained out West for eight and one half years, constantly finding out how little I had scratched the surface of wool knowledge. I can only marvel at the continued nerve of my superiors who have continued to keep me in service, and who two years ago gave me an interest in the business, and have recently made me a department head.

During these years out West my occupation took me into all parts of the far western states, and I have become imbued with a sincere respect and deep love for the West and California. For the past year I have been back at headquarters in Boston, where I am now to be permanently located.

In 1911, I married Miss Marjorie C. Elmes, of Stoughton, Mass., and those of my classmates who have shared the good fortune of being truly happily married, will agree that this is the most farreaching important happening that has transpired since College years.

CHARLES LOUIS DUFFY

Born at Cambridge, Mass., Aug. 19, 1876.

Parents: James Lennon, Catherine (McCaffrey) Duffy.

School: St. Mary's School, Cambridge, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-05.

Unmarried.

Occupation: Architect.

Address: (business) 15 Beacon St., Boston, Mass.; (home) 52 Hancock St., Cambridge, Mass.

SINCE leaving College I have been a member of the architectural profession, spending five years in the office of Andrews, Jaques & Rantoul, Boston; and since 1911, in the Boston office of Cram and Ferguson.

Besides the above I have managed to maintain sufficient private practice to enable me partially to solve the problem of the high cost of living.

I am not married, neither have I had any other adventures worth writing about.

ALBERT BEACH DUNNING

Born at Boston, Mass., July 31, 1875.

Parents: Albert Elijah, Harriet Wood (Westbrook) Dunning.

Address: 43 Druce St., Brookline, Mass.

SINCE graduating I have been a teacher, and I have also done considerable travelling in Europe, including Scandinavia and Russia.

HAROLD GARDNER DUNNING

Born at Springfield, Mass., May 17, 1885.

Parents: James Gardner, Sarah Lily (Potter) Dunning. School: Spring field Central High School, Spring field, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degree: A.B. 1907.

Married: Lillian May Wright, Feb. 6, 1908, Springfield, Mass.

Child: Marjorie Frost, July 29, 1911.

Occupation: Assistant Manager.

Address: (business) Springfield Printing & Binding Co., Springfield, Mass.; (home) 68 Bliss Road, Longmeadow, Mass.

A FTER graduating in June, 1907, I joined the staff of the Springfield Union, a daily paper, as reporter, where I worked three months, the last few weeks of this time as court reporter.

In October, 1907, I received word that I had successfully passed a civil service examination and received appointment as Deputy Surveyor of Customs at Springfield, a position which I held for three and a half years. In 1909, I was appointed a member of the United States Board of Civil Service Examiners for Massachusetts.

In March, 1911, I resigned my government position to go with the Springfield Printing & Binding Co. For this company I travelled three years, in 1914 being made assistant manager, a position which I am at present holding Member: Winthrop Club, Springfield, Mass.; Sons of American Revolution (George Washington Chapter).

HENRY WOODS DURANT

Born at Cambridge, Mass., March 22, 1886.

Parents: William B., Caroline V. (Aldrich) Durant.

School: Cambridge Latin School, Cambridge, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degree: A.B. 1907; LL.B. 1910.

Unmarried. Occupation: Law.

Address: (business) 60 State St., Boston, Mass.; (home) 9 Lowell St., Cambridge, Mass.

A FTER the regular course of three years in the Law School I worked as a clerk in the law office of Nathan Matthews of Boston, then a year in the office of Putnam. Putnam & Bell. Since then have had an office of my own. As a member of Battery A, First Regiment, Massachusetts Field Artillery, I spent the summer and part of the fall at El Paso, Texas. I am at present a member of the City Council, Cambridge.

Member: Harvard Club of Boston, Oakley Country Club.

THOMAS FRANCIS DWYER, Jr.

Born at Cambridge, Mass., Jan. 5, 1886.

Parents: Thomas Francis, Bride (Murphy) Dwyer. School: Cambridge Latin School, Cambridge, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degree: A.B. 1907. Unmarried.

Occupation: Railway Supplies.

Address: (business) 683 Atlantic Ave., Boston, Mass.; (home) 23 Ellsworth Ave., Cambridge, Mass.

A FTER leaving College I began work in the railway supply business, associated with F. A. Barbey of Boston. We sell to New England railroads devices of a more or less special nature.

In 1911 my attention was directed to a design of rail for track curves. Its function was to prevent excessive wear and friction from occurring on curves. After a thorough investigation we found that it did the work excellently. My people secured complete rights for this rail — which we called "Frictionless Rail"—and have since established its use on a majority of the large roads in this country.

My work in this connection included a two months' trip in 1912 through Germany, Belgium, and Great Britain. This was an unexpected experience for me and decidedly pleasant. I have a certain amount of travelling to do now in the South and West, but only enough to be interesting. My home has been in Cambridge as usual.

Member: Harvard Club of Boston, New England Railroad Club, New England Street Railway Club, National Railway Appliances Association, Commonwealth Club.

JOHN EARLY

Born at Rockford, Ill., Oct. 22, 1883.

Parents: Albert Dudley, Emma (Blakeman) Early. School: Rockford High School, Rockford, Ill.

Years in College: 1903-07. Degrees: A.B. 1907; LL.B. 1910.

Unmarried.
Occupation: Law.

Address: (business) 848 Otis Bldg., Chicago, Ill.; (home) 1719 Hinman Ave., Evanston, Ill.

A FTER graduating I attended the Law School, receiving my degree there in 1910. After a summer spent in Europe I returned to Illinois and studied for the bar examinations of that state, which I passed in the fall of that year. Thereupon, for three years I served as a law clerk in the offices of Miller, Starr, Packard & Peckham, John S. Miller, father of the famous "immunity bath," of the meat packers, being the senior member.

In the spring of 1914, I opened an office for the general practice of law and have been practising independently ever since.

In May, 1915, I became one of the charter members of Battery C., Illinois National Guard, and drilled weekly at Fort Sheridan, Ill., until the mobilization of troops on June 19, 1916. Then we went South as a part of the "First Illinois Field Artillery," returning late in the fall; whereupon I resumed my practice. The experience on the whole was very enjoyable and beneficial, and I am glad that I had it.

HAROLD BURNEY EATON

Born at Filchburg, Mass., June 21, 1886.

Parents: Harold Bayard, Annie Jane (Burney) Eaton.

School: Milton Academy, Milton, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-04.

Degree: M.D. 1915.

Unmarried.

Occupation: Medicine.

Address: 222 Marlborough St., Boston, Mass.

IN October, 1904, I went to Germany with my father, mother, and two sisters on account of my father's business making it necessary for him to spend some years in Germany. I found it difficult to learn German, since every educated German talks English, so went to Geneva, where I matriculated in the University. After two semesters in Geneva, I returned to Frankfurt a/M., Germany, where I worked in a factory six months in order to hear nothing but German. I went from there to Berlin, then to Giessen, where I took the Physicium, the examination dividing the prae medical and clinical work. Then I went to Munich where I remained four years at the University studying medicine. I had surgical hospital training in the Frankfurt Städtisches Krankenhaus, and medical training in Munich.

I returned to Boston in 1913 and spent two years in the Harvard Medical School, devoting myself more especially to neurology, and received my M.D. in June, 1915. I was appointed Physician in Charge of the Neurological Department of the Boston Dispensary in June, 1915, and was made a member of the Neurological Staff of the Massachusetts General Hospital in August, 1915.

Member: Massachusetts Medical Society, American Medical Association, Chirurgical Society of Boston.

JOHN EARL EATON

Born at Lynn, Mass., Nov. 8, 1884.

Parents: Charles William, Sarah Mason (Pelligrew) Eaton.

School: Cambridge Latin School, Cambridge, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degree: A.B. 1907.

Married: Maude Evelyn Eldridge, May 31, 1912, Neponset, Mass. Occupation: Manager Lens Sales Department, American Optical Co.

Address: (business) Southbridge, Mass.; (home) 23 Everett St., Southbridge,

Mass.

MY life history for the last ten years appears like this: 1907–11, post graduate course in Business Bumps; this included (1) a brief experience in the office of a large railroad corporation, (2) laboratory experience in a sugar refinery. (3) advertising agency work — copy work and editing house organs, general advertising and printing problems — (4) advertising "free lance" so to speak; 1911–17. (1) two years in advertising department of the American Optical Company, development of dealers service department, and general advertising incident to any extensive advertising campaign, (2) 1914–15. assistant in the branch office sales section — special work on sales of lenses, (3) 1915–16, in charge of branch office department, handling salesmen — their itineraries, reports, etc.,—direct selling by mail, (4) 1916–17, reorganization of entire sales force into several sales departments, by the company; since February, 1916, I have held my present position as manager of the lens sales department.

In May, 1912, I had the good fortune to marry a Boston girl, Miss Maude E. Eldridge. Whatever good luck is credited to me, I am glad to call "our" success. As a family we are still just two. A member of the Republican Town Committee is my sole claim to public recognition.

JOHN MARSHALL EATON

Born at Concord, Mass., May 21, 1885.

Parents: William Lorenzo, Florence Spring (Taft) Ealon.

School: Concord High School, Concord, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-06. Degree: A.B. 1907.

Married: Isabella Hayden Clark, Dec. 21, 1912, Boston, Mass. Children: Isabella, Dec. 21, 1914; Margaret, Dec. 25, 1916.

Occupation: Insurance.

Address: (business) 87 Kilby St., Boston, Mass.; (home) Concord, Mass.

ON leaving College at the end of my Junior year, I entered the employ of the Boston Insurance Co., with which company I have been associated continuously. My business has been of such nature that I have been very closely confined and have had little opportunity for travelling or any outside activities of any particular interest.

In 1912 I married Isabella Hayden Clark of North Billerica and we have two children. My married life has been a particularly happy one.

I have served four years in Battery A, 1st Field Artillery, M.V.M.

Member: Concord Country Club; Harvard Club, Boston; Exchange Club.

STEPHEN MAURICE EDGELL

Born at St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 26, 1884.

Parents: George Stephen, Isabella Wallace (Corbin) Edgell.

School: Cutler's School, New York, N. Y.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degree: A.B. 1907.

Married: Elsie Aldrich, Dec. 10, 1914, Warwick, R. I.

Child: Nelson Aldrich, Oct. 29, 1915.

Occupation: Vice President, Great Western Sugar Co.

Address: (business) 500 Sugar Bldg., Denver, Colo.; (home) 1015 Logan St.,

Denver, Colo.

As far as my life since leaving College is concerned, most of it has been described in the Third Report of the Class, published in June, 1913. I left my home, and the East, and went into manufacturing in Colorado—beet sugar. I progressed gradually, and in 1914 was made one of the vice presidents of the concern.

In 1914 I was married to Elsie Aldrich, of Providence, and on October 29, 1915, our son, Nelson Aldrich, was born. Since that time I have been busy with my work and in trying to help my wife so to shape the character of our son that he will not grow up as wicked a man as his father.

LEON LAVELLE EDWARDS

Born at Kirkwood, N. Y., May 17, 1880.

Parents: Lafayette, Harriett Winifred (Kipp) Edwards.

Schools: Binghamton Central High School, Binghamton, N. Y.; and Syracuse

University, Syracuse, N. Y.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degree: S.B. 1907.

Unmarried.

Occupation: Stenographer, Cable Clerk.

Address: (business) 23 Wall St., New York, N. Y.; (home) 15 Seaman Ave.,

New York, N. Y.

If I remember rightly, I had considerable difficulty in obtaining my first position, after leaving College; but finally, after being sent out on an endless number of "false scents" and "wild-goose chases," through the offices of Messrs. Hapgood & Co., and by the payment of a generous commission, The American Coal Co., 1 Broadway, New York, were kind enough to avail themselves of my services as stenographer and typewriter, in which capacity I continued for the space of two years. Then, becoming dissatisfied with existing conditions, I answered an advertisement in the classified list of the Evening Mail for a "stenographer with knowledge of French, German, etc., to go to China." As it turned out, my present employers, Messrs. J. P. Morgan & Co., took another man for the position, but at the same time took me into their New York office, where I have continued ever since, as stenographer, typewriter, and clerk. At present I am in the Cable Department.

SIDNEY ALBERT EISEMANN

Born at Albuquerque, N. M., Jan. 16, 1885.

Parents: Albert, Selly (Grunsfeld) Eisemann.

School: Goethe Gymnasium, Frankfort a/M., Germany.

Years in College: 1903-06.

Degree: A.B. 1907.

Married: Helen Muhlfelder, Nov. 20, 1912, Albany, N. Y.

Child: Jane, Oct. 19, 1913. Occupation: Wool Merchant.

Address: (business) 196 Summer St., Boston, Mass.; (home) 177 Thorndike

St., Brookline, Mass.

I HAPPENED into the wool business, and that is about all that has happened since. In 1909 the firm of Eisemann Brothers took a chance and made me one of their partners. They haven't been able to rid themselves of me since. In the spring and summer my duties take me to the Rocky Mountain states, wool gathering. This part of the wool business is far and away of the greatest interest to me. It brings one in touch with freer, broader, less prejudiced people than one is apt to meet in the East, and it abounds in interesting and at times, exciting situations and experiences

The only office of trust I occupy is that of Director of the Federated Jewish Charities of Boston.

Member: Harvard Club of Boston, Kernwood Country Club.

ALEXANDER HAROLD ELDER

Born at Moncton, New Brunswick, Can., Oct. 8, 1883. Parents: Alexander, Julia Anne (MacArthur) Elder. School: Somerville Latin School, Somerville, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degrees: A.B. 1907; LL.B. 1910.

Married: Helen Walker, March 27, 1911, Burlington, Vt.

Occupation: Law.

Address: (business) Interstate Commerce Commission, Washington, D. C.;

(home) 1760 Euclid St., Washington, D. C.

I WAS admitted to the Massachusetts bar in 1909, and received an LL.B. from the Harvard Law School in 1910. My first year in the practice of law was spent in the office of Davis, Peabody & Brown of Boston. In October, 1911, I was employed by the Interstate Commerce Commission and have remained in its employ ever since. At the beginning I was associated with Franklin K. Lane as a legal assistant. In this capacity I held rate hearings in various sections of the country and prepared the preliminary reports of the commissions in such cases. In 1913 I was appointed Attorney, in 1914 Assistant Chief of the Division of Inquiry, and in July, 1916, I became Chief of this division of the Commission, which investigates and assists in the prosecution of such violations of the Interstate Commerce Acts as are brought to the Government's attention. As Attorney I represented the Government in the so-called Lake Line Proceedings and in the N. Y., N. H. & H. Sound Line Proceedings under the Panama Canal Act. As Special Assistant appointed by the Attorney General, I have represented the United States in the trial and argument of numerous criminal cases arising in the Federal Courts under the Elkins Act and the Act to Regulate Commerce.

ALBERT GOULD ELDRIDGE

Born at Boston, Mass., Feb. 27, 1885.

Parents: Jonathan, Florence Amelia (Gould) Eldridge.

Schools: Classical High School, Lynn, Mass., and Dorchester High School, Boston, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-08.

Degree: S.B. 1908.

Married: Carre Allyn Fuller, Aug. 7, 1913, Canaan, Conn.

Child: Oliver Fuller, July 10, 1915.

Occupation: Teaching.

Address: (business) State Normal School, North Adams, Mass.; (home) 68
Park Ave., North Adams, Mass.

A FTER spending two years in the New Bedford, Mass., High School, teaching future mill owners something of the mysterious laws of magnetism, and the action of ammonia upon the color of a red cabbage. I went in 1910 to Canaan, Conn., as Principal of the Graded High School. Here I acquired not only experience in the work of the elementary grades and of the high school, but a fiancée, as well. Two years later I became District Superintendent of Schools for the towns of Clarksburg, Florida, Monroe, and Savoy, near North Adams, Mass. This work among the Poles and Italians who have come to share the land of the Berkshire hill towns with the remnants of our Yankee stock, proved so interesting that, when in 1913 I decided to take the superintendency of schools in the Blackstone-Seekonk district in the eastern part of the state, I found myself leaving the mountains with genuine regret.

The work in Blackstone and Seekonk began simultaneously with the first home of my own, and the latter circumstance went far to furnish courage and inspiration for the somewhat perplexing and decidedly discouraging school conditions which prevailed in the district. After two and a half years in this community — a period by no means monotonous, but rich in experiences, pleasant and otherwise, relating to the problems of a factory town — we came to North Adams, where I am teaching in the State Normal School. The work is most interesting, and I count it a joy to live once more among these glorious mountains.

My only club is the home, and that more than makes up for the lack of any other. The president of this club is Oliver Fuller Eldridge, now twenty months old, a young man of decided energy and marked decision of character. If any of you chance to be in North Adams, please remember that you have a most cordial invitation to climb our hill, and I will show you the best view in Massachusetts, and introduce you to the president and to his mother.

CARL McKNIGHT ELDRIDGE

Born at Somerville, Mass., Dec. 25, 1886.

Parents: Leander Marchant, Carolyn Amelia (Mc Knight) Eldridge.

School: Chelsea High School, Chelsca, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-07. Degree: A.B. 1907 (1908).

Unmarried.
Occupation: Law.

Address: (business) 53 State St., Boston, Mass.; (home) 74 Fayerweather St., Cambridge, Mass.

SINCE leaving College my time and attention have been divided between law and music. Three years were spent at Harvard Law School; two at the William L. Whitney International School of Opera. Since completing my course at these schools my time has been spent in the practice of law. In September, 1915, I opened law offices at 53 State Street, Boston, where I am located at the present time. I am just starting on my sixteenth year as tenor at St. Paul's Cathedral, Boston, and also do considerable concert singing. Coaching amateur theatricals occupies the remainder of my spare time.

Member: Harvard Club of Boston, Harvard Alumni Chorus.

SAMUEL WATERSON ELDRIDGE

Born at Boston, Mass., Jan. 18, 1885.

Parents: Leander Marchant, Carolyn Amelia (Mc Knight) Eldridge.

School: Chelsea High School, Chelsea, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degree: A.B. 1907.

Married: Marion Louise Roth, Sept. 5, 1914, Yonkers, N. Y.

Child: Marchant Waterson, Jan. 20, 1916.

Occupation: Piano Dealer.

Address: (business) 41-43 Warburton Ave., Yonkers, N. Y.; (home) 38 Point

St., Yonkers, N. Y.

SINCE obtaining my degree of A.B., I have been engaged chiefly in the piano business. Right here I might say that I suppose many of my laboratory classmates have often wondered to what advantage I have been putting the knowledge gained in College in the dissection of cats and dogfishes (oh! how they used to smell). To all such, let me say that I fully intended at that time to be enrolled with them in the Medical School, but health not permitting, I have been dissecting pianos instead. In this business I have prospered and my health at this writing could not be better.

I was located for many years with Cressey and Allen — piano dealers — of Portland, Maine, and did an extensive business for them all through the state. Since 1913, my business address has been 41–43 Warburton Ave., Yonkers, New York. Yes, same line of business — pianos and victrolas.

On September 5, 1914, I married Marion Louise Roth of this city, and on January 20, 1916, had a little son, Marchant Waterson, born to carry on some day his daddy's large and prosperous piano business.

Born at Worcester, Mass., Feb. 24, 1883.

Parents: Eugene, Abbie Maria (Priest) Ellinwood. School: Classical High School, Worcester, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degree: A.B. 1907.

Unmarried.

Occupation: Telephone Engineer.

Address: (business) 50 Oliver St., Boston, Mass.; (home) 47 Piedmont St.

Worcester, Mass.

THE first two years after leaving College, I taught sciences in the Morgan High School at Clinton, Conn. The following year, I taught physics in the high school at Concord, Mass. Since then I have been in the engineering department of the New England Telephone Company.

During this time with the telephone company, I have had experience on toll fundamental plans, toll routings, transmission equivalents and losses in various grades of circuits and apparatus. I have also done inventory and appraisal work for the company. At present, I am working on methods and materials of outside construction.

ARTEMAS RUSSELL ELLIS

Born at Cambridge, Mass., Sept. 19, 1883.

Parents: Emmons Raymond, Emma Louise (Libby) Ellis

School: Cambridge Latin School, Cambridge, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-07. Degree: A.B. 1907 (1908).

Unmarried.

Occupation: Wholesale Produce Merchant.

Address: (business) 50 South Market St., Boston, Mass.; (home) Cambridge, Mass.

THE week following graduation I commenced my business career. I became a member of a concern manufacturing fancy lace curtains. During the troublesome times of 1908 our concern grew sickly and died in considerable pain. The weight of a mighty brain from the famous class of 1907 was evidently more than the business could stand.

Immediately after this I entered the wholesale produce business, where I am at the present time. I became a member, and later a director, in the Boston Fruit and Produce Exchange. Since I became a director of the Exchange I have become truly famous. I have been accused of being a member of the "Cold Storage Trust" (whatever that is); I have been held responsible for the high price of butter and eggs; and I have been investigated by the House Wives' League. As yet, however, I have not reached that happy day when the hens will lay eggs for me only, nor have I had much better luck with the chickens, for I am still a single man.

THE tablet marking the birthplace of Francis Blake Ellis has not been erected as yet—such a tablet would be "somewhere in" Cambridge, Mass. However, tablets are very common in Cambridge—so let the spot alone. Ellis never has caused much notice in the world because of his remarkable talents (!)—he makes few friends and, as a result, few enemies—he is not a great man in any sense—he is not a criminal, a fool, a wise man, a leader—he is a nothing—why write about him? However, here goes.

He rolled about College until the earthquake shook San Francisco, April 18, 1906, then he rolled out there, leaving in the middle of one of "Booper's" lectures. He rolled about San Francisco and was with some of the best architects and on some of the most interesting re-construction work, until the bust of 1907 shook the country. Then his bank closed its doors (the cashier is now working in a rock pile). Ellis then rolled into Seattle with fifteen cents and a job. He worked on the A. Y. P. Exposition buildings and the State University of Washington buildings with the firm of Howard & Galloway from then until the Exposition opened its gates. He then remained in Seattle and Vancouver and fell deeply in love with the people and the country and enjoyed working with many large firms on very important work. In the year 1912 he returned to Boston to stop the rolling and settle down. He has aided in the building of a dormitory for Radcliffe, and for the last three years has been with the firm of W. W. Bosworth, architect, of New York, on the new Technology buildings, Cambridge, Mass. The latter work is about done and Francis B. Ellis is about to open offices with his brother, Richard Ellis, '09, at 28 School St. for the modest practice of architecture. Their great idea is to do without a lot of the nonsense found in the heads of so many fool architects — you know!

Occupation: Medicine.

Address: 86 Bay State Road, Boston, Mass.

CINCE leaving College I have studied medicine, and this in-Cludes the four years I spent in school, five years following that in hospitals, and the one year I have had of private practice. I certainly had a hard time to decide whether I wanted to be a doctor or not, and I remember very distinctly leaning against the wall of the book-store on the opening day of Medical School, still in doubt as to whether I should try four years of study in preparation for a profession for which, to say the least, I had the greatest doubt of my fitness, and without the money to pay my first term bill. And all the time young men were stepping briskly by me. with no doubt in their minds at all, with brand new text-books under their arms and a Bursar's receipt in their pocket. In a few words, I did it. When I finished school I wished that it might be clearer as to how much time I should give to hospital work, and whether I should take a surgical, or a medical, or a mixed training. Before I had finished I had worked five years in four hospitals. Though it took me a long time to decide, not only as to what branch of medicine I should go into, but as to where I should practise, I am now specializing in the diseases of children, in Boston. I am a junior Assistant Visiting Physician to the Children's Hospital, and next summer shall be Visiting Physician to the out-patients in the Floating Hospital.

Member: Massachusetts Medical Society, New England Pediatric Society.

Born at Winn, Me., April 8, 1886.

Parents: Jere Edward, Mary Eva (Hanscom) Estes. School: Coburn Classical Institute, Waterville, Me.

Years in College: 1903-06. Degrees: A.B. 1907; LL.B. 1909.

Married: Mellie Grover Timberlake, Aug. 18, 1909, Rangeley, Me.

Children: Bay Edward, Jr., July 11, 1910; Richard Fremont, Feb. 1, 1912; Robert Francisco, March 31, 1913; Donald Timberlake, Oct. 18, 1916.

Occupation: Lumber manufacturing and dealing.

Address: (business) 60 State St., Boston, Mass.; (home) 734 Franklin St.,

Melrose Highlands, Mass.

A FTER graduating from the Law School, I practised in Boston for three years. My work gradually became more and more straight business, until finally I gave up all active practice. I have been active in various lines of business since that time. My interests are primarily lumber and timberlands, although I am a director in several other enterprises. I sell eastern, western, and southern lumber at wholesale. I am interested also in the manufacture of spruce building lumber and pulp wood.

I have a fine lot of boys growing up, all blessed with the best of health. I haven't made a lot of money and the boys are about all I have to show for it all. However, we all have good health and the future seems most promising.

I extend to each and all of 1907 the best of good wishes and trust that whenever possible they will drop in on me to say "hello!"

GRIFFITH CONRAD EVANS

Born at Boston, Mass., May 11, 1887.

Parents: George William, Mary (Taylor) Evans. School: English High School, Boston, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degrees: A.B. 1907; A.M. 1908; Ph.D. 1910.

Unmarried.

Occupation: Professor.

Address: (business) Rice Institute, Houston, Tex.; (home) 1318 Oakdale

Ave., Houston, Tex.

MY occupation consists of teaching and research in the field of mathematics. I spent three years in graduate study at Harvard, doing a little instructing there also, and took the degree of Ph.D. in 1910. In August of that year I went abroad to stay two years on a Sheldon Fellowship. My time, with the exception of one summer term at the University of Berlin, was spent in Rome under the Italian mathematician Volterra, who was one of the pioneers in the development of the theory of integral equations. On the way home, I stopped at Cambridge, England, to attend the Fifth International Congress of Mathematicians (unfortunately the last).

In 1912 I was appointed assistant professor of pure mathematics at the Rice Institute, in Houston, Texas, which was opening its doors to students for the first time that year. Since last summer I have had a full professorship in the same institution. One of the duties of the Faculty is to give public lectures; I have given two sets, of three lectures each, which I hope later to publish. During the summer of 1916 I gave one of the two sets of colloquium lectures at the Fifth Colloquium of the American Mathematical Society.

I am engaged to be married to Miss Isabel Mary John, of Houston, Texas.

The positions out of the line of my regular duties, which I am holding, are as follows: Secretary of the Faculty, Chairman of the Library Committee, Member of the Council of the American Mathematical Society.

I cannot resist the temptation to mention the fact that the Rice Institute is the only university in the South which, at the same time, has the same standards of instruction with which we are familiar, and is free from political influence. Although for income bearing endowment it stands seventh in the country, this endowment is not sufficient; for with the present condition of the South it is impossible for the Rice Institute to perform its proper service if it charges tuition. Much less is it possible for these students to go to distant institutions.

Publications: Various scientific papers appearing in American and Italian mathematical journals from 1909 on. Lectures at the Cambridge Colloquium will be published this year in book form.

MEMBER: Harvard Club of Boston; University Club of Houston; Royal Societies Club of London, England; American Mathematical Society; Circolo matematico di Palermo; Société Astronomique de France.

Child: Robert French, Aug. 21, 1910.

Occupation: Manufacturing.

Address: (business) c/o Deere & Co. Harvester Works, East Moline, Ill.; (home)

McClellan Heights, Davenport, Ia.

IMMEDIATELY after leaving College I came west to Davenport, Ia., to engage in the implement business. I have made my home in Davenport and been associated in business with Deere & Co., Moline, Ill.

GEORGE EDWIN EVERSOLE

Born at Logansport, Ind., Aug. 17, 1884.

Parents: Henry Clay, Rachel Augusta (Coleman) Eversole.

School: Howe School, Howe, Ind. Years in College: 1903-07.

Degrees: A.B. 1907; M.D. 1913.

Married: Helen Gould Brown, March 20, 1914, Melrose, Mass.

Occupation: Medicine.

Address: Hollis St., Groton, Mass.

IN 1907 I entered the Harvard Medical School and spent three years there. I then returned to the Pacific Coast because of family reasons and ran a ranch in the Columbia River Valley until the fall of 1911. I returned to Boston and completed my course in the Medical School. I became interested in mental diseases and was assistant physician at the Psychopathic Hospital, Boston, from August, 1912, until March, 1914. I have been in private practice since.

Publications: articles in Boston Medical and Surgical Journal, Sept. 18, 1913; and Journal of Mental and Nervous Diseases, November, 1913.

T LEFT College with mingled feelings in the middle of the third ■ year and until September continued to loaf. In September I went to work for Stone & Webster as office boy and after three years in various departments left to try my hand at the manufacture of roofing slate with quarries at Monson, Maine. Three years of this did not show the expected results and I departed to the Middle West — Dayton, Ohio, being my abiding place. There, after a comparatively short time, I acquired an interest in the firm of Frank Hill Smith, where I remained in the reinforced concrete building construction business until August, 1915. During this time I was fortunate (or unfortunate) enough to be caught in the devastating flood which put Dayton in the down-and-out class for a time, but from which she arose better and stronger than ever. This experience was a bit too strong for me and I spent from June to October in the East recovering. Finally, in August, 1915, I came East and in February, 1916, severed connection with Frank Hill Smith, returning to the slate business. This business has at the present moment tremendous possibilities as a money-maker, with proper management and a good advertising campaign. We have acquired the old Monson quarries which we had in the past and also the largest of the unfading colored slate quarries in Vermont. We intend to do the business as it should be done and with present-day methods. Architects will do well to take notice now of the General Slate Company!!!

ON leaving College at the mid-years of my senior year I began work in Boston as an errand boy at the Old Colony Trust Company. This menial job lasted nearly two years, when I went with Millett, Roe & Hagen, bankers, as a bond salesman. But about the time I had begun to get some idea of the art of selling "gilt-edged securities." I left and bought a seat on the Boston Stock Exchange where I have been off and on ever since, doing some business once in a while when the market got active. But it happened that I went in at the end of a bull period in 1910, so it was several years before there was any business worth speaking of, and during the times when the market took a spurt I happened to be away.

During the summers and autumns of 1912, 1913, and 1914. I took long trips of from three to five months in the Canadian Rockies in British Columbia, between the Canadian Pacific Railroad and the Peace River to the north, for exploration, mapping the country and hunting; also doing some collecting of game and distribution data of birds and animals for the Biological Survey of the Department of Agriculture and the National Museum at Washington. In 1914 we left civilization in June, and as it was four months before we met anyone on our trip through the mountains we heard nothing of the European war until the middle of October, which was rather a unique experience. In the spring of 1915 I went to Paris to work with the American Ambulance, and from there went to Section I, which was then in Belgium. Most of the time we were north of Ypres attached to the Forty-fifth Division of the French army. That work, needless to say, was interesting as well as exciting during the bombardments. I came home in November, and in March, 1916, again returned to Paris where on May 30, I was married to Miriam Fiske. For the next few months I worked in the passport department of the United States Embassy in Paris, returning home in time for Christmas to settle down once more in Boston and to return to the hum-drum life of the Stock Exchange.

WILLIAM RODMAN FAY

Born at Woods Hole, Mass., Aug. 20, 1885.

Parents: Joseph Story, Rebecca Rodman (Motley) Fay. School: St. Mark's School, Southborough, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degrees: A.B. 1907; LL.B. 1910.

Married: Gerlrude Helen Schirmer, June 6, 1916, New York, N. Y.

Occupation: Law and trusts.

Address: (business) 60 State St., Boston, Mass.; (home) Pine St., Dover, Mass.

A FTER graduating from College I entered the Harvard Law School in the fall of 1907, graduating in June of 1910; then after a summer on the coast of Maine I entered the law office of Gaston, Snow & Saltonstall in Boston, where I worked for two years. In the fall of 1912 I left and set up for myself, sharing offices with three other young Boston lawyers. Since then I have done mostly trustee work. In the summer of 1913 I took an eight weeks' trip to Europe, spending three weeks in England after landing, and then going on a motor tour with some friends through the Bavarian Highlands and the Austrian Tyrol. During this tour we came upon the Austrian troops maneuvering amongst some of the very mountain passes connecting Austria and Italy where such terrific fighting has been taking place in the last two years between the Italians and Austrians.

On my return that fall (1913) I took up the glorious sport of hunting, and for the last four years I have followed the draghounds of the Norfolk Hunt Club twice a week during the three autumn months — usually going out early every Tuesday morning, when the air is crisp and invigorating, and every Saturday afternoon when time permits us to spend from three to four hours in the saddle, riding over country twelve or more miles from home. In 1914 my brother and I moved into a house we built in Dover, eighteen miles out of Boston, situated in beautiful country in the center of the hunting district, and while there I spend all my spare moments in the saddle.

That same year, 1914, I helped the late Professor John C. Gray of the Harvard Law School, in the publication of the third edition of his book "The Rule Against Perpetuities," spending laborious months in going over and correcting the publisher's sheets, work which occupied most of my time throughout that year. Last summer my wife and I took a three months' trip, first to California, then to Honolulu, and from there we made side trips to the beautiful Islands of Maui and Hawaii, both in the Hawaiian group, and visited the world-famous volcano of Kilauea. Then on our return to San Francisco we made an excursion to Alaska, returning home through the Canadian Rockies. We expect to make our home in Boston during the winter months, and in Dover the rest of the time.

ROBERT WALBRIDGE FERNALD

Born at Concord, N. H., Oct. 5, 1884.

Parents: George Alpheus, Jessie Anna (Dodge) Fernald.

School: Phillips Academy, Andover, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degree: A.B. 1907.

Married: Helen Dresser Clark, June 24, 1915, Kansas City, Mo.

Child: Richard Clark, Sept. 12, 1916. Occupation: Investment Banking.

Address: (business) 67 Milk St., Boston, Mass.; (home) 15 Reed St., Lexington, Mass.

POLLOWING graduation I entered the employ of the banking firm of George A. Fernald & Company, Boston, and served nine months as a "runner" in the stock department. Then the fever to go West took hold of me, and I secured a position in Iowa with a railroad under construction. After three months of "rodding" for one of the engineers, I moved on to Butte, Mont., where I became assistant to the local commercial agent of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railroad. In the late fall of 1908 I went further west to the coast and then returned to Boston. I reentered the employ of George A. Fernald & Company, this time as a bond salesman, with New Hampshire for my territory.

In October, 1910, a vacation trip by steamer to Texas ran me into hard luck. Thirty-six hours out of Galveston, the Brazos encountered a West India hurricane of frightful violence. The barometer went to 27.45. The wind attained a velocity of 110 miles. For four days and four nights we were helplessly in the grip of the hurricane. Badly battered, the ship somehow weathered it, and at last we managed to hobble back into port at New York. The constant expectancy of going to the bottom and the other hardships of the voyage proved my undoing for, after a few weeks' work, I caved in with a nervous breakdown. It took me two years to recover my health. Upon getting back into business with George A. Fernald & Company, I was placed in charge of the Worcester County territory.

In the fall of 1914 my attention and interest were drawn to the Boy Scout movement. I instituted an organization in my home town of Winchester, Mass., and, as a commissioned Scout Master, put my week-ends into the work and play of it actively and enthusiastically with a full troop of twenty-four boys.

In the fall of 1915, this interesting avocation had to be relinquished into other hands, owing to business plans which necessitated my removal to northern Michigan, where for the next year and a half, in the small city of Petoskey, I acted in the capacity of Assistant Manager of a paper and pulp mill.

In June, 1915, I was married. In the summer of 1916 we removed from Petoskey to Lexington, Mass., and I re-entered the banking office of George A. Fernald & Company, in Boston.

School: Milton Academy, Milton, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-10. Degree: S.B. 1907 (1910).

Unmarried.
Unoccupied.

Address: Milton, Mass.

ROM College I went directly abroad, where I joined Hermann Hagedorn and John William Hagedorn and John White in a trip from the Rhine to the Tyrol, the Italian Lakes, and Switzerland. For two years I was a master at Milton (Mass.), Academy, in charge of the musical activities, and a teacher of English, free-hand drawing, harmony, and algebra. Then I went back to Harvard to prepare for further teaching, and (being no longer a special student) took my degree. In the midst of triennial frolics I came upon two openings at once, and, turning from the one that would have led to further school work, accepted a position at The Riverside Press as designer of typography. It was a piece of good fortune, for it placed me under Mr. Bruce Rogers, whose book typography is among the best of all periods. Opportunities for the exercise of his talent were narrowing down under commercial pressure, however, and Mr. Rogers shortly moved to New York, leaving me alone in his place. I enjoyed the work for four years; but, as the narrowing of the field went on, I too gave it up. A place was waiting for me with a manufacturing corporation where I have since been learning something about buying, manufacturing, selling, advertising, accounting, etc., at first hand. A prolonged vacation has been forced upon me this year, and I shall use part of it in considering another sort of work more to my liking.

Born at Plainfield, N. J., Aug. 30, 1884.

Parents: Wilson, Annie Trescott (Southard) Fiske. School: Medford High School, Medford, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degrees: A.B. 1907; D.Sc. (Eidgenössiche Technische Hochschule, Zurich) 1911.

Married: Ruth Tufts, May 28, 1912, Medford, Mass.

Children: Eleanor, July 12, 1913; Richard Tufts, Feb. 28, 1915; Donald Winslow, Aug. 27, 1916.

Occupation: Sales and Office Manager.

Address: Lincoln. N. II.

POR the first two years after leaving College I was assistant in Inorganic Chemistry at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. I did some consulting and research work with the intention of preparing for more advanced chemical study, and in 1909 was granted a Fellowship for study abroad. I left Boston in August for Marburg, to study German for a few weeks before going to Heidelberg, where I spent the winter semester very satisfactorily. I would have remained there to finish my thesis, but my Professor (Bredig) was called to the Federal Technical Institute at Zurich in the spring of 1910, and I followed him.

Zurich proved more attractive than Heidelberg and I am glad to have had the opportunity to spend three semesters there. We were near enough to the mountains to do a little amateur climbing in vacations and week-ends, and in the town and on the lake had opportunity for tennis, rowing, sailing, hockey, and other sports. I took my doctor's degree in July, 1911, and returned to Technology for a year as Instructor in Inorganic Chemistry.

In June, 1912, I went to Glens Falls, N. Y., to take up cost and efficiency work for the International Paper Company. The manufacturing department, with which I was connected, was moved to New York in December, 1913. The most interesting part of the work was at the various mills of the company in New York State and in New England.

In September, 1915, I became associated with the Henry Paper Company at Lincoln, N. H. I have charge of the manufacturing department office, including sales and purchasing, and have some work in connection with the running schedules and operation of the mill.

Lincoln is a small town in the White Mountains without many diversions, but we find it rather attractive in summer and an excellent place for bringing up three small children.

A FTER leaving College I took post-graduate work at Cornell, was President of the Dairy Club and spoke in assembly twice. Then I Managed a 400-acre farm at Gardner, Mass., and was later Assistant Superintendent of a 1500-acre farm at Ipswich, Mass., and Manager of a 237-acre farm at Worcester, Mass. I became Principal of the Walpole, N. H., High School, and the next year was made head of the department of Agriculture at Springfield, Mo., State Normal School. I got my B.Pe. here in 1913. I was City Milk Inspector of Springfield, and built up the school farm and put the Agricultural Department on a paying basis in three years. I came to the Orleans, Vt., High School to do the same thing and have succeeded. The Agricultural Department here cost $806.00 and last year paid all running expenses and had a profit of $35.26. I have been to Europe twice.

RALPH DE BLOIS FLINT

Born at Boston, Mass., Aug. 22, 1885.

Parents: George Huntington, Mary Sanger (Greeley) Flint.

School: Brookline High School, Brookline, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degree: A.B. 1907.

Unmarried.
Occupation: Art.

Address: Fenway Studios, Boston, Mass.

ON leaving Cambridge I spent a year and a half studying abroad, in London, Paris (at Julien's Academy), and Italy, and went again in 1909 to Italy for six months. Since then I have been in Boston at work, attempting to revive the older methods of painting in the hope that the days when art really flourished may come again. Church work (a large altar piece in Providence), decorations, and portraits, have resulted, which sound more imposing than in reality, perhaps, but not nearly so much so as what I hope and have in mind to do.

RUFUS COFFIN FOLSOM

Born at Boston, Mass., Oct. 24, 1886.

Parents: Charles Edward, Annie Fremont (Ordway) Folsom.

School: Boston Latin School, Boston, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-06.

Degree: A.B. 1907; S.B. (Mass. Inst. Tech.) 1908.

Married: Marjorie Chapin, March 4, 1916, Brookline, Mass.

Child: John Chapin, Dec. 5, 1916.

Occupation: Assistant Superintendent.

Address: (business) 47 Granite St., Boston, Mass.; (home) 50 Englewood Ave.,

Brookline, Mass.

A FTER leaving College in June, 1906, I went to the "Tech" Summer School and took a few special courses which enabled me to enter "Tech" as a junior in the fall. I took chemical engineering and graduated in 1908. Immediately after graduation, I started as assistant chemist with the American Sugar Refining Company at their South Boston refinery. At the end of three years I became night superintendent, a job which gave me my real practical experience. Since July, 1915, I have been assistant superintendent. My business life has been uneventful, principally humdrum hard work and rather long hours.

ALBERT BARTHOLOMEW FOPIANO

Born at Cicagna, Italy, Dec. 28, 1880. Parents: John, Madeline (Fopiano) Fopiano. School: English High School, Boston, Mass.

Years in College: 1900-01, 1904-06.

Degrees: A.B. 1907; LL.B. 1909.

Unmarried.

Occupation: Law.

Address: (business) 73 Tremont St., Boston, Mass.; (home) 109 Antrim St.,

Cambridge, Mass.

CINCE leaving the Harvard Law School I have devoted my time to the general practice of law.

MEMBER: Harvard Club, Boston; Harvard Club, New York.

WALTER ALFRED FORBUSH

Born at Natick, Mass., Oct. 11, 1886.

Parents: Frank Mortimer, Annie Louise (Mead) Forbush.

School: Newton High School, Newton, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degree: A.B. 1907.

Married: Helen Baker Dill, Oct. 22, 1912, Newton Centre, Mass.

Children: Walter Alfred, Jr., Oct. 7, 1913; Lothrop Martin, Jan. 8, 1917.

Occupation: Electrical Engineering.

Address: (business) 42 Main St., Brockton, Mass.; (home) South St., Cam-pello, Mass.

A FTER leaving College I spent the summer of 1907 tutoring in a summer camp for boys. In the fall I entered the Stone & Webster organization and was sent to the Edison Electric Illuminating Company of Brockton. With this company I have worked in all departments, being in turn stockkeeper, meterman, solicitor, district agent, superintendent of distribution, and now general superintendent with charge of all operation and construction. The company conducts an electric light and power business in about a dozen towns in southeastern Massachusetts.

I can lay claim to no great adventures nor much prominence, but trust to prove that happy is the nation or individual without a history.

Member: American Institute of Electrical Engineers, National Electric Light Association, University Club of Brockton, Brockton Country Club.

HARRY PHIDIAS FORTÉ

Born at Three Rivers, Mass., Dec. 3, 1884.

Parents: Phidias Alexander, Aurélie Josephine (Morin) Forté.

School: Technical High School, Springfield, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degrees: S.B. 1907; M.M.E. 1908.

Married: Florence Lillian Hallett, Sept. 1, 1909, Lincolnville Beach, Me.

Child: Jane Aurélie, Sept. 1, 1915.

Occupation: Manufacturing.

Address: (business) c/o Beech Nut Packing Company, Canajoharie, N. Y.;

(home) 42 Wheelock St., Canajoharie, N. Y.

A FTER graduating in 1907, I returned to College as Austin Teaching Fellow and obtained the degree of M.M.E. in 1908. During the summers of 1907 and 1908 I was instructor of mathematics at the Harvard Engineering Camp.

During the following two years I, like the proverbial rolling stone, gathered very little "moss," but incidentally may have obtained a little "polish" in a manufacturing sense. I was connected successively with the Canadian Buffalo Forge Company at Montreal and Winnipeg, the Western Electric Company at New York, and the Wm. Underwood Company of Boston. In July, 1910, I became Mechanical Engineer for the Beech Nut Packing Company. During the past few years I have had occasion to design and look after the construction of a new plant at Rochester, N. Y., and the addition of numerous new buildings and new departments in our various plants.

At present I am gradually giving up my engineering duties and giving most of my time to looking after the manufacture and sale of certain of our products and to the development of new products.

I get away from this progressive little town often enough to make it interesting and to keep in touch with some of my classmates.

As a climax, I will add that I was married in September, 1909, and that Mrs. Forté and I are very proud of our little eighteen months' old daughter. Jane will not be able to represent Harvard on the athletic field, but from present indications will be able to give a good account of herself in the Harvard Cheering Section!

Member: Fort Rensselaer Club, and Canajoharie Tennis Club.

CLIFTON MACY FOSS

Born at Portland, Me., July 31, 1885.

Parents: Charles Sumner, Cara (Macy) Foss. School: Deering High School, Portland, Me.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degree: A.B. 1907.

Married: Marion Fletcher, June 12, 1913, Portland, Me.

Child: Robert Macy, Oct. 4, 1914.
Occupation: Manufacturing Chemist.

Address: (business) 36 Brown St., Portland, Me.; (home) 27 Rackleff St.,

Portland, Me.

A FTER graduating in June, 1907, I spent four months travelling in Europe with two college friends. About the first of November, 1907, I entered the employ of Schlotterbeck & Foss Co., manufacturing chemists, of Portland, Maine, to learn the business, and am now in charge of their laboratory. The business has increased from year to year until now we have about forty people selling our products in all parts of the United States.

Having had a desire to obtain an insight into the politics of the city of Portland, I was, last December, elected to the Common Council for one year.

MEMBER: Harvard Club in Maine, Economic Club.

4 Channing Mitchell Foster

Born at Chelsea, Mass., Sept. 21, 1884.

Parents: Alfred Sidnel, Frederica S. (Milchell) Foster.

School: Stone's School, Boston, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-05.

HATHERLY FOSTER, Jr.

Born at Boston, Mass., July 14, 1885. Parents: Hatherly, Emma Caroline Foster. School: Hackley School, Tarrytown, N. Y.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degree: A.B. 1907.

Unmarried.

Occupation: Stock Broker.

Address: (business) 30 State St., Boston, Mass.; (home) 190 Harvard St.,

Brookline, Mass.

A FTER our graduation in 1907, I had the fortunate opportunity of visiting Germany for the International Sonder Boat races at Kiel. As a member of the crew of one of the American racing boats I met many of the highest German officials, including the Kaiser. I often wonder how many of the men whom I met at that time are alive today.

On returning home, I spent the next nine months as a teacher at the Hackley School, Tarrytown, N. Y. In June, 1908, I entered the employ of a Boston Stock Exchange firm and in September, 1910, was myself elected a member of the Exchange.

In September, 1913, I formed a partnership under the name of Learoyd, Foster & Co., with offices at 30 State Street, Boston. Outside of my business I have taken considerable interest in political campaigns and have been Secretary of the Brookline Republican Town Committee for six years. Also I am a Town Meeting member of the town of Brookline.

I have about given up the more strenuous athletics but still continue to officiate at a few hockey matches in New York and Boston.

Member: Harvard Club of Boston, Corinthian Yacht Club, Massachusetts Republican Club, Norfolk Republican Club, Brookline Board of Trade.

SOMERS FRASER

Born at East Weymouth, Mass., Jan. 28, 1887. Parents: John Chisholm, Mary Ann (Boyle) Fraser. School: Weymouth High School, Weymouth, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-07. Degrees: A.B. 1907; M.D. 1911.

Unmarried.

Occupation: Medicine.

Address: 514 Commonwealth Ave., Boston, Mass.

I ENTERED the Harvard Medical School in the fall of 1907 and spent the next four years qualifying for a degree in medicine. After graduating from Medical School I spent three years as an interne in the following hospitals consecutively: the Boston City Hospital, surgery; the Boston Lying-in Hospital, obstetrics; and the Free Hospital for Women in Brookline, gynaecology. In 1914 I became Resident Surgeon at the Boston City Hospital Relief Station, which position I held for twenty-eight months. I started private practice in Boston at my present address on October 1, 1916.

I am a member of the Junior Surgical Staff of the Boston City Hospital; First Lieutenant in the Officers Reserve Corps, U. S. Army; and a member of the Boston City Hospital Red Cross Unit. I am also doing clinical teaching in the Department of Surgery in both Harvard and Tufts Medical Schools.

Member: Massachusetts Medical Society, Harvard Club of Boston.

Occupation: Teaching.

Address: (business) Teachers College, Columbia University, New York, N. Y.;

(home) 830 West 179th St., New York, N. Y.

THE fall of 1907 I went to the Horace Mann School, of Teachers College, to teach mathematics, and I remained there six years. I left there in 1913 to go to Robert College, Constantinople, to take charge of the mathematics of their "prep" department. In the summer of 1914 I went to England and I was there when the war started. As the prospects for returning to Constantinople did not look particularly encouraging, I sent my family home with some friends and, after some interesting experiences, reached Constantinople on the last boat through the Dardanelles. I remained for the school year, when I was very glad to start for New York by the first train to see my family. I reached New York the tenth of July and the last of September. I started back again to complete my contract, which was for three Unfortunately, or perhaps fortunately, I went on the Greek ship Patris and four days out we transferred to the good Scotch ship Tuscania, as the Patris was getting rather warm, due to the fact that she was on fire and burned up before we were out of sight of her.

I felt then that for a married man I had had enough and since returning to God's Country I have been leading a quiet and peaceful life, keeping up my acquaintance with my family and working occasionally as lecturer in the Department of Secondary Education of Teachers College.

LAURENCE ELWELL FRENCH

Born at Urbana, Ohio, Jan. 16, 1883.

Parents: Thomas, Jr., Laura S. French.

Schools: Franklin School and Technical School, Cincinnati, O.

Years in College: 1904-07.

Degree: S.B. 1907.

Unmarried.

Occupation: Automobile Engineering.

Address: (business) 435 Marsh Strong Bldg., Los Angeles, Cal.; (home)

Sebastopol, Cal.

I RETURNED to Cambridge the year following graduation and spent several months in completion of the work undertaken in connection with my thesis. This was the design of an instrument called a Manograph, used for taking indicator readings on gasoline engines.

After completing this I went into the motorcycle business at Brockton, Mass., in partnership with Charles H. Metz (who later became president of the Metz Co. of Waltham). This business yenture was dropped after several months on account of the general business depression which occurred in 1908.

For some time following I was employed on the editorial staff of the Horseless Age (a technical paper devoted to automobile interests).

I then went into business for myself, selling automobiles, motorcycles, and parts at Buffalo, N. Y., until December, 1910. I closed up this business and went to Europe in 1911, where I toured from Naples, Italy, to Ireland, visiting most of the principal places of interest in intermediate countries. At the end of the summer of 1911 I returned to the United States and went to California, where I went into business again, selling motorcycles and parts until 1913. At that time I became interested in light cars known as cycle cars and was engaged as chief engineer of the Los Angeles Cycle Car Co. I had charge of the engineering office of this company at Buffalo, N. Y., for about seven months.

I then obtained a position as experimental engineer with the Hupp Motor Car Co., of Detroit, Mich., where I was employed until March, 1917. During this time I had charge of the Hupp experimental laboratory, testing out all new parts of the car.

I have just come to California as President and Manager of the California Vaporizer Co., organized to manufacture and sell vaporizers enabling automobiles to operate on kerosene or distillate.

I have written a number of technical articles for the Horseless Age, which appeared in July and October, 1915.

MEMBER: Society of Automobile Engineers.

RALPH WINWARD FRENCH

Born at Fall River, Mass., Oct. 4, 1883.

Parents: Enoch Judson, Ella Corinna (Winward) French.

School: Stone School, Boston, Mass.

School: Cambridge Latin School, Cambridge, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-07. Degree: A.B. 1907 (1910).

Unmarried. Occupation: Landscape Architect. Address: Harvard Sq., Cambridge, Mass. Dear, old, patient Reynolds: —

The sting of this last letter of yours really has done its work and has set me to filling out the blank and giving an account of an existence which has seemed just at the moment too unsettled for accounting. I am on the eve of departing, as we expect, with Dr. Cushing's Harvard Unit No. 5 for France, the first enlisted men of the United States to have been ordered abroad. I am still a landscape architect with a vision of better things through the garden city, albeit conditions and laws have made the story difficult in the United States. I have become rather an ardent Socialist but in that I beg you not infer — as did one young woman who thought Socialists never married — a reason for my having neither wife nor children.

In spite of all my delay about this slight and hasty contribution to the Decennial Report my interests in the Class grow only keener.

DOANE GARDINER

Born at Albany, N. Y., Dec. 17, 1885.

Parents: James Terry, Eliza Greene (Doane) Gardiner.

School: St. Paul's School, Concord, N. II.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degree: A.B. 1907.

Unmarried.

Occupation: Lieutenant in the English Army (Machine Gun Corps).

Address: c/o Morgan Greenfell & Co., 22 Old Broad St., London, England.

DOANE GARDINER worked during the summers of 1907 and 1908 with the United States Geological Survey in Wyoming, and attended the Harvard Law School during the winter of 1908. In January, 1909, he left the Law School for the stage. For the sake of the better training to be had in England, he went out in May, 1909, and took the second man's part in many of the Shakespeare companies, notably in the Glossop-Harris Company. position as Assistant Manager under the owners of some of these companies brought him in close contact with foreigners on the semiannual tours in Germany, and sharpened his interest in European politics. At the outbreak of the war in August, 1914, he was acting in "Milestones" at Brighton. After considerable difficulty in breaking his theatrical contract, he at once applied for naturalization, not wishing to evade his American citizenship. In order to waste no time, he enlisted in an irregular Machine Gun Corps, but as soon as he was naturalized, he joined the Inns of Court Officers Training Corps ("The Devil's Own"). He was made corporal in January, 1915, and received his commission in April, 1915, as Second Lieutenant in the Third Reserve Batallion of the City of London Regiment, Royal Fusilliers. A month later he passed the necessary examinations and became a musketry instructor. During the ensuing year, the regiment being quartered in the Eastern Counties, he did some interesting individual work as officer in charge of establishing Zeppelin observation posts for the brigade. He was promoted to Lieutenant on January 18. 1916. On the twenty-first of August, 1916, he was transferred to the Machine Gun Corps, with the rank of Second Lieutenant. In November, 1916, he was ordered to France and on December 21, 1916, was promoted to Lieutenant.

SINCE leaving College I have been engaged in the musical profession. I have been organist at three churches: St. Joseph's Church, Wakefield; St. Leo's Church, Dorchester; and St. Patrick's Church, Cambridge. I have also given music lessons in the daytime and at night have played with different orchestras at dancing parties.

HARRY DAVIS GAYLORD

Born at Ashford, Conn., March 3, 1874.

Parents: John Davis, Sarah Elizabeth (Kendall) Gaylord.

School: High School, Pasadena, Cal.

Years in College: 1904-07.

Degree: S.B. 1907.

Married: Ella Mae Lowe, Aug. 5, 1898, Pasadena, Cal.

Occupation: Teacher.

Address: (business) 20 Garden St., Cambridge, Mass.; (home), 104 Hemen-way St., Boston, Mass.

A FTER graduating from Harvard I taught at the Rindge Manual Training School in Cambridge for one year. The following year I returned to my home in Pasadena, Cal., and taught as Assistant Professor of Mathematics in Throop Polytechnic Institute for two years. In the summer of 1910 I came to Cambridge for the vacation, and in the fall took a temporary position of one year as Instructor in Mathematics in Harvard College. The following year I retained two courses in mathematics at Harvard, one at Radcliffe, and became Mathematics Master at the Browne and Nichols Preparatory School in Cambridge. These positions I have held ever since, except that I resigned my instructorship at Harvard to take some courses in educational research in 1915–16 and 1916–17.

I have been Secretary of the Association of Mathematics Teachers in New England since 1911.

Publications: text book in trigonometry (in conjunction with Prof. Maxime Bôcher), Henry Holt & Co., 1914.

Member: Association of Mathematics Teachers in New England, The Mathematical Association of America, Harvard Teachers' Association.

ISAAC GERBER

Born at Boston, Mass., May 11, 1885.

Parents: Jacob Louis, Ida Gerber.

School: English High School, Boston, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degrees: A.B. 1907; M.D. 1910.

Married: Rose Albert, Nov. 30, 1911, Malden, Mass.

Child: Helen Marion, Feb. 17, 1916.

Occupation: Medicine.

Address: (business) 201 Waterman St., Providence, R. I.; (home) 515 Hope

St., Providence, R. I.

DURING the senior year at College I entered Harvard Medical School, and received my medical degree in 1910. Immediately after graduation I became a medical interne at the Boston City Hospital, where I remained for sixteen months. When my hospital service was over, I was married to Miss Rose Albert of Malden, Mass. Shortly afterwards we went to Europe, where I spent a year in medical study, chiefly at the universities of Tübingen, Berlin, and Vienna.

On my return, I opened an office in Boston, and became associated with Dr. A. W. George, in his private X-Ray laboratory.

After two years in Boston, I moved to Providence, R. I., where I have since been located. My practice is limited to X-Ray diagnosis and treatment. Recently I have been appointed as Director of the X-Ray department of the Rhode Island Hospital, and also Consulting Roentgenologist to St. Joseph's Hospital, both in Providence.

Publications: various papers on X-Ray diagnosis contributed to the current medical journals.

Member: Harvard Club of Rhode Island; American Medical Association; American Roentgen Ray Society; New England Roentgen Society; Providence, Rhode Island, and Massachusetts Medical Societies.

Millon, Mass.

Y College life was terminated at the end of my sophomore year by a nice letter to my family from Mr. Hurlbut. I went to work for Adams & Co., a banking house in Boston in December, 1905, and left them in the spring of 1908 for a position with the Boston office of Coffin & Co., a New York firm of brokers. In October, 1910, I left them and started in with the C. C. C. Fire Hose Co., a company engaged in the manufacture of fire hose and other mechanical rubber goods, with a factory at Canton, Mass. I am still connected with this company in the capacity of President and Treasurer.

PHILIP LINDSEY GILE

Born at Melrose, Mass., Sept. 5, 1883.

Parents: Daniel Dimick, Deliverance (Lindsey) Gile. School: Melrose High School, Melrose, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degree: A.B. 1907.

Married: Ellen Margaret White, Aug. 31, 1911, Rochester, N. Y.

Child: Philip Lindsey, Jr., May 28, 1914.

Occupation: Chemist.

Address: Mayaguez, Porto Rico.

A FTER leaving College I went to the Missouri Experiment Station as assistant chemist, and a couple of months later came to the Porto Rico Experiment Station in the same capacity. Since 1908 I have been chemist of the Station with a clear conscience to the present time. Nothing new since the last report except that I receive a little more salary, have less hair and poorer teeth. I have published various bulletins and articles on chemistry of soils and plants.

Member: American Chemical Society, American Association Advanced Science, American Society of Agronomy.

JESSE HOWARD GILES

Born at Abington, Mass., Dec. 7, 1884.

Parents: Thomas Ford, Nellie Davis (Brown) Giles. School: Abington High School, Abington, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degree: S.B. 1907.

Married: Gladys A. Buckingham, Nov. 5, 1913, Pocalello, Ida.

Occupation: Civil Engineering.

Address: (business) 158 East Center St., Pocatello, Ida.; (home) 216 South

Sixth Are., Pocatello, Ida.

IN June, 1907. I entered the employ of French and Bryant, engineers, of Boston and Brookline, Mass. I was engaged in municipal and private surveys in the New England States and Canada until January, 1908, when the entire office force was laid off on account of the 1907 panic.

In February, 1908, I was appointed to the engineering staff of the Isthmian Canal Commission. I sailed from New York on March 8, and on arrival at the Canal Zone was assigned to duty with the construction department at Las Cascadas, on the Culebra Cut. In December, 1908, I was transferred to the Department of Meteorology and River Hydraulies, on a survey of the Chagres River watershed, mapping the hitherto unexplored tributaries, and acquiring data from which the run-off into Gatun Lake was computed. In June, 1909, I was transferred back to the construction department. In March, 1910, I resigned, receiving the Presidential medal for two years' continuous service.

In April, 1910, I entered the service of the City of Pocatello, Idaho, as Assistant City Engineer, and with the exception of two years (1911 to 1913) with the Union Pacific Railroad Company in the Maintenance of Way Department, my service with the city of Pocatello has been continuous to date. Since May, 1915, I have held the office of City Engineer.

Publications: "Some Features of an Incandescent Street Lighting System at Pocatello, Idaho," Engineering and Contracting, Chicago, November, 1916; plans and specifications for about $225,000.00 worth of municipal improvements at Pocatello, including payements, sewerage, street lighting, etc.

ROLLIN EDINGTON GISH

Born at Peoria, Ill., May 5, 1886.

Parents: Moses N., Mary E. Gish.

School: Bradley Polytechnic Institute, Peoria, Ill.

Years in College: 1903-06. Degrees: A.B. 1907: LL.B. 1909.

Married: Eugenie Dubois, Dec. 13, 1911, Oklahoma City, Okla.

Child: Rollin Edington, Jr., July 12, 1912.

Occupation: Law.

Address: (business) 631-4 American National Bank Bldg., Oklahoma City, Okla.; (home) 1427 West 38th St., Oklahoma City, Okla.

PRACTISED law from 1909 to 1912. I was appointed Assistant Attorney General of Oklahoma on January 1, 1912, and returned to private practice in 1914. I went to San Benito, Texas, as a sergeant in the Oklahoma National Guard in the summer of 1916. Certain of my friends, doubtless envious of my salary as such, took advantage of my absence and convicted me to one term in the Oklahoma Legislature where I am now serving time. I am chairman of the committee on Revenue and Taxation, and a member of the Judiciary, Military Affairs, and Investigation of Executive and Judicial Departments committees.

I have attended all the annual meetings of the Harvard Club in this state, and as Secretary-Treasurer of the Club for many years I have introduced into this dry territory many "original packages."

CYRIL ROSS ALEXANDER GLADMAN

Born at Lindsay, Ont., Canada, Aug. 3, 1879. Parents: Henry, Melissa (Printora) Gladman. School: Lindsay Collegiate Institute, Lindsay, Ont.

Years in College: 1903-05.

Married: Millicent Newborn Stephens, Oct. 12, 1912, Port Hope, Ont., Canada.

Child: Millicent Yvonne Dorothea, March 3, 1915.

Occupation: Architect.

Address: (business) 74 Pleasant Blvd., Toronto, Ont.; (home) 29 Edgewood Crescent, Toronto, Ont. INCE leaving College I have been engaged in the practice of architecture. When the European War broke out between England and Germany, and Canada came forward with her assistance to the mother country, I took a commission with the 10th Regiment of the Royal Grenadiers, Toronto. After completing my course at the military school, Toronto, with the rank of Lieutenant, I received an appointment with the 177th Overseas Battalion, C. E. F. (Canadian Expeditionary Force) and served my unit as scout officer at Camp Borden for eight months, when I resigned in November, 1916, to take my captaincy with my militia regiment, the Royal Grenadiers. As all militia regiments in Canada are ordered to recruit to full strength for home defense, with one company for overseas service, I am now busily engaged in this work, and trust that I shall be one of the favored ones for overseas duty.

Member: Harvard Club Toronto; Royal Grenadiers, Toronto.

WILLIAM TAYLOR GLIDDEN, Jr.

Born at Boston, Mass., July 14, 1885.

Parents: William Taylor, Agnes Prescott (Hale) Glidden.

School: Volkmann's School, Boston, Mass.

Unmarried.

Occupation: Cotton Salesman,

Address: (business) 807 Exchange Bldg., Boston, Mass.; (home)[↑] 16 Coolidge Ave., Cambridge, Mass.

A FTER leaving college, I spent two years in Memphis, Tenn., learning something about the cotton business. I then returned to Boston, entering the employ of Cooper & Brush, dealers in cotton, and have been with them ever since, as salesman in their Boston office.

Member: Harvard Club of Boston; Oakley Country Club, Belmont.

PHILIP BURWELL GOODE

Born at Washington, D. C., Dec. 6, 1886.

Parents: George Brown, Sarah Ford (Judd) Goode.

Schools: Middletown High School, Middletown, Conn.; and Boston Latin

School, Boston, Mass. Years in College: 1903-06.

Degrees: A.B. 1907; LL.B. (George Washington Univ.) 1912.

Unmarried.

Occupation: Patent Law.

Address: 11 Broadway, New York, N. Y.

A FTER leaving College, I was engaged as Editorial Assistant at the Smithsonian Institution, Washington, D. C., for a period of about a year. Following that I entered the United States Patent Office as an assistant examiner, remaining there until November, 1911. During my term at the Patent Office I studied law at the George Washington University, receiving my degree in 1912 (in absentia). Since November, 1911, I have been Patent Attorney for the Ingersoll-Rand Company, 11 Broadway, New York City, manufacturers of mining machinery, and also attached to the office of this company's General Counsel, Robert Grier Monroe, Esq., 26 Liberty St., New York City. I have, however, been away from active work since March, 1916, due to illness following an operation.

MONTGOMERY MOORE GOODWIN, Jr.

Born at Norwich, N. Y., Nov. 3, 1885.

Parents: Montgomery Moore, Dora B. Goodwin. School: Fitchburg High School, Fitchburg, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-06.

Married: Ruth Irvin, Sept. 22, 1910, Cleveland, O.

Children: Oliver Montgomery, Aug. 23, 1911, died Dec. 30, 1914; Ruth, Aug.

3, 1913; Dorothy Louise, Dec. 30, 1915.

Occupation: Office Manager.

Address: (business) Firestone Tire & Rubber Company, San Antonio, Tex.;
(home) 615 West Mulberry St., San Antonio, Tex.

I LEFT College at the end of my junior year intending to return in the autumn but was prevented from so doing by my mother's illness. I therefore went to Cleveland and entered the' employ of the National Acme Manufacturing Company, manufacturers of screw machines and their products. About two years later I left the employ of this company and engaged in the advertising business with my brother. I had been in this business less than a year, however, when my old firm wanted me to return to them, which I was glad to do.

I spent eighteen months in Southern Florida, and from there went to Syracuse, N. Y., with the Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. In October, 1916, I was transferred to the San Antonio Branch of this firm where I have been since.

Member: Chamber of Commerce, San Antonio, Tex.

SIDNEY EMERSON GOODWIN

Born at New York, N. Y., Sept. 15, 1885.

Parents: Joseph Henry, Grace Warren (Sharts) Goodwin. School: College of the City of New York, New York, N. Y.

Years in College: 1904-07.

Degree: S.B. 1907.

Married: Florence Anne Mc Kinley, Dec. 26, 1912, Seattle, Wash.

Child: Phyllis Anne, Nov. 5, 1913.

Occupation: Senior Inspector, Department of Public Utilities.

Address: (business) 517 County-City Bldg., Seattle Wash.; (home) 2551 Fifth Ave. West, Seattle, Wash.

IMMEDIATELY after graduation I came out to Seattle, where I obtained a position as draftsman in the City Engineer's office. Six months after, I entered the Public Utilities Department as draftsman, then inspector, and am at present senior inspector. I have also been teaching in the evening high schools for the past five years, architectural and mechanical drafting, English, geometry and algebra.

MEMBER: Seattle Athletic Club.

WILDER GOODWIN

Born at New York, N. Y., Jan. 14, 1887. Parents: Almon, Maud (Wilder) Goodwin.

Schools: Gunnery School, Washington, Conn., and Hackley School, Tarrytown, N. Y.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degree: A.B. 1907.

Unmarried.

Occupation: Law.

Address: (business) 2 Rector St., New York, N. Y.; (home) 128 Central Park, South, New York, N. Y.

I COMPLETED the requirements for my degree at Mid Years of senior year and from then until shortly before Class Day worked for the Saddle Mountain Mining Company, at Christmas, Ariz... in various capacities of unskilled labor.

In the fall following our graduation I went to the University of Berlin with Hermann Hagedorn, '07. While there we founded the Harvard Club of Berlin and led a very enjoyable though dignified existence. That winter and spring I spent travelling in Egypt, Italy, and Greece. In the fall of 1908 I entered the Columbia Law School, where I took the Beck prize in Real Property Law.

While travelling and during vacations I wrote a novel, "The Up Grade," which was published by Little, Brown & Company, in 1910. That same year I left the law school on account of illness. I then took a vacation motoring with some friends through Southern France, the Riviera, and northern Italy, after which I entered the law offices of Stover & Hall, 60 Wall Street, New York, as a law clerk.

In January, 1912, I went into partnership with John Reynolds, '07, under the firm name of Reynolds & Goodwin. Criticisms of him as a partner are barred by the fact that he is the censor of this book. Anyhow we are still partners.

Since 1912 I have done no travelling except short trips to Bermuda, Porto Rico, and Cuba (and a return trip to the Mexican border in human cattle ears!).

In 1914 I took my examination for a captain's commission of volunteer cavalry and this year under the Hay bill was commissioned as a Captain of Cavalry, Officers' Reserve Corps, U. S. Army.

In 1914 I also wrote a serial novel which was published under an alias for very good reasons.

From June to December, 1916, I was at the Mexican border with Squadron A of the New York Cavalry, and as Reynolds was a member of the same troop, the firm continued to exist in Texas, although not to practise law actively there. Any clients, however, who wish to have cactus weeded, ditches dug, or horses groomed, can now get expert advice from the firm on these subjects.

MEMBER: Harvard Club of New York City, Authors Club, Military Order of the Loyal Legion, Squadron "A" Club.

HARRY FRANCIS GOULD

Born at Chelsea, Mass., Oct. 22, 1885.

Parents: Henry Francis, Martha Jane (Moulton) Gould.

School: Boston Latin School, Boston, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-06. Degrees: A.B. 1907; M.F. 1908.

Unmarried.

Occupation: Forestry.

Address: (business) 89 State St., Boston, Mass.; (home) 8 Palfrey St., Watertown, Mass.

ON graduation from the Forestry School I at once entered the employ of the firm then known as Fisher, Cary & Bryant, remaining there about one year, after which I entered the Massachusetts State Forestry Department as an Assistant Forester, which position I held for some four years. From this earlier association with a professional firm engaged in forestry work and the later connection with state work I obtained experience along divergent lines which has since proved valuable.

My work with the state gradually directed my attention to the question of forest planting as being one of increasing importance in this country, and while the function of the state as a factor in this work was well recognized. I believed the private or corporate individual would also play an important part.

The chief difficulty had formerly been the extreme high cost of getting planting work done on a commercial scale: a cost so high as to be prohibitive. With a view to remedying this condition I became instrumental in organizing the Franklin Forestry Company, becoming Treasurer thereof, and leaving state employ. This position I now hold and I am glad to say that results seem to be justifying our aims: namely the creation of forest plantations on a large scale at a sufficiently low price to render the work profitable commercially, this being at present the only basis on which the practical American business man can be induced to invest.

While my interest in forestry is of course paramount, the demands of my business have been sufficient to keep me completely occupied with it, leaving no time to participate in work of a more general nature, even supposing I had had the good fortune to have the opportunity to do so. The only office of a public character (if it may be called such) that I hold is that of member of the Executive Committee of the Massachusetts Forestry Association.

Member: Watertown Harvard Club, American Forestry Association, Massachusetts Forestry Association, Interchange Club of Boston, Unitarian Club of Watertown.

ALBERT YOUNGLOVE GOWEN

Born at Cleveland, Ohio, May 8, 1883.

Parents: Caleb Emery, Gertrude (Younglove) Gowen.

School: St. Paul's School, Concord, N. H.

Years in College: 1903-05.

Married: Margeret Huntington Smith, June 2, 1909, Cleveland, O.

Child: Margeret, July 7, 1910.

Occupation: Vice President, Lehigh Portland Cement Co.

Address: (business) Conway Bldg., Chicago, Ill.; (home) 999 Lake Shore Drive, Chicago, Ill.

LEFT College in 1905, due to the illness of my father, and started working in the stone quarries of the Kelley Island Lime & Transport Co. at Kelley's Island, Ohio. Later I was promoted to the general offices in Cleveland, Ohio, where I was placed in charge of the retail business for a few years. Later I took charge of the executive end of that company. Then I was promoted to an important position in the Lehigh Portland Cement Company, with offices in Cleveland. Ohio, and put in charge of that territory. Three years ago I was elected Vice President of the Lehigh Portland Cement Company, and, due to the growth of the company, moved the offices from Cleveland, Ohio, to Chicago, Illinois where I am now living, with offices at 331 Conway Building.

MEMBER: Union, Tayern, and Cleveland Yacht Clubs, Cleveland, Ohio; University, Mid-day, Onwentsia, Indian Hill, and Casino Clubs, Chicago, Ill.

ALEXANDER GALT GRANT

Born at Boston, Mass., April 25, 1885.

Parents: Robert, Amy Gordon (Galt) Grant.

Schools: Boston Latin School, and Noble and Greenough's School, Boston, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degrees: A.B. 1907; LL.B. 1910.

Married: Catherine Lyman Delano, May 31, 1913, Chicago, Ill.

Children: Alexander Gall, Jr., March 17, 1914; Frederick Delano, Dec. 25, 1916

Occupation: Law.

Address: (business) 84 State St., Boston, Mass.; (home) 31 Massachusetts Ave., Boston, Mass.

A FTER leaving College I entered the Harvard Law School, where I studied day and night for three years and succeeded a little in repairing the damage to my brain caused by four years of the Harvard elective system. I found life at the Law School pleasanter than at College, partly by reason of the fact that I had an interest in common with my classmates less elusive than the mere bond of having entered the University at the same time with about 700 freshmen, most of whom were about as neutral as myself.

On leaving the Law School I put my LL.B. degree in a friend's safe, insured my life with Stanley Swaim (I think) and got my father to find me a job. My A.B. degree, by the way, is in an old drawer with a bunch of mining stock certificates worth in all (including the degree) about thirty cents. Thanks to a strong pull, I received a position as law slave in a good office, where I completely disappeared into a dimly lighted library for three more years. During that time I had the acute pleasure of seeing certain of my classmates, who were not lawyers or doctors or teachers, forging ahead, amassing great wealth and honors.

I wriggled a little way out of this gloomy obscurity in 1913, when I married. My wife had a college education so there is at least one educated person in the family even when I am home. We hired a flat and a servant and eventually bought a Henry Ford to take our two sons out driving.

I wriggled out a little further next year by expounding with great lucidity the Federal Income Tax to the readers of the Boston Transcript (a Hearst publication). The law is simple to understand if you haven't got $3,000 a year or a conscience. If you have both you will end either in jail or the poorhouse.

I finally emerged from the gloom entirely in the summer of 1916 and celebrated the event by taking a little trip through our United States. I gave the West (everything beyond Newton) a real treat and even honored Mexico and Alaska with my presence. On returning I entered into a law partnership with Fisher H. Nesmith, '06, and J. Sidney Stone, '05. We have handsomely furnished offices "somewhere in Boston" with periodicals for the patients and cigars for classmates.

JOHN MERRICK GRAY

Born at Walpole, Mass., Feb. 25, 1884.

Parents: Robert Smith, Harriet Francis Gray.
School: Volkmann School, Boston, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-06. Unmarried.

Occupation: Dveing and Bleaching Cotton Yarns.

Address: Main St., Walpole, Mass.

SINCE leaving College, which I did at the end of my Junior year, my father having died that spring, I have been working most of the time in the plant of the S. Gray Company, dyeing and bleaching cotton yarn. I am now Vice President and Secretary of that corporation.

Nothing of any great importance or special interest has happened to me since I left College. I have joined the Masons and have gone as far as the commandery and shrine. I joined the Harvard Club of Boston and was a member for several years, but recently dropped out, as I felt that the dues were too much for the few times I was able to use it.

I am one of the registers of voters of the town of Walpole and that is about as far as I aspire to go politically.

No, I am not married vet.

Member: Orient Lodge, Hebron R. A. Chapter; Cyprus Commandery, Aleppo Temple; Norfolk Republican Club; Walpole Board of Trade.

ARTHUR BROOKS GREEN

Born at Washington, D. C., Nov. 7, 1884.

Parents: Bernard Richardson, Julia (Lincoln) Green.

Schools: Western High School, Washington, D. C.; and Phillips Exeter Academy, Exeler, N. 11.

Years in College: 1903-07. Degrees: A.B. 1907; S.B. 1909.

Married: Pearl Whitcomb, March 18, 1911, Newton, Mass.

Children: Henry Lincoln, Feb. 3, 1912; Ruth Harmony, March 4, 1913;

Margery Bassett, July 19, 1916.
Occupation: Industrial Engineering.
Address: 264 Centre St., Newton, Mass.

I WAS first kindly employed by George B. Post & Sons, New York, architects, where it was the duty of the engineers to spoil every thing the architects dreamed of, in order that it might stand up. Then I shifted to the "Tri-Borough Subway" where there were no architects. It was early in February, 1911, that I came down to the "Good Old State of Maine," as I was afterwards to learn that it was, to help fill in after the withdrawal of a firm of "efficiency engineers" from Cumberland Mills, the principal plant of S. D. Warren & Co., of Boston. Here is made high class book paper, coated and uncoated.

I became duly despised as a member of the "Efficiency Crew," and duly at sea as to what I should be expected to accomplish. Some thought that all that was necessary was the establishment of a system, and this would have suited the "supers" finely, because it would only have affected the boys on the job, to make them work more and the "supers" less; but the workmen take little interest in this kind of plan, and it came about that the most important thing was for the bosses to take up more of the work that they had left to the workmen to do, and then the shoe was on the other foot. The "supers" began to do the despising.

We have been through a very interesting uphill fight for it, with many discouragements, the upshot of which is that we are trying to develop scientific management in a paper mill for the first time on record. We have been fortunate after six years of work in developing a method of control of the process of beating, where rule of thumb and experienced judgment have seemed always bound to prevail, and now we want to make this a basis of right placing of responsibility on the bosses, but that is not what they like about it. That is the trouble with this scientific management game:— it comes hardest on those higher up, and you are likely, if you play square, to get the very man you work for down on you.

Edward L. Lincoln, '08, brother of Henry of our Class, is with me on this venture. Except when the Harvard Club in Maine gets together for a dinner once a year, we do not see many Harvard men, and we feel more than 120 miles away. So here's for the Decennial with bells on!

Member: Taylor Society, Technical Association of the Pulp and Paper Industry, American Society of Civil Engineers, National Council of the National Economics League, Woodfords Club.

[Since the above was written Green has resigned from the Cumberland Mills and is now a consultant in paper mill processes. — Ep.]

FREDERIC ELROY GREENE

Born at Copenhagen, N. Y., June 1, 1882.

Parents: Fred A., Mary Ella (Ward) Greene.

School: Phillips Exeler Academy, Exeler, N. H.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degree: A.B. 1907.

Married: Christine Dyer, April 6, 1915, Lake Arthur, La.

Occupation: Social Worker.

Address: 35 Pearl St., Worcester, Mass.

MMEDIATELY after leaving College I went to Kyoto, Japan, where for three years I taught English in a government school. The long and frequent vacations made travel and observation possible. My longest trip was one through the heart of China in the winter of 1909. On returning to America via the Indian Ports and Europe, I spent the next winter in the South. Meanwhile having become interested in social work in the Far East, I decided to try it out here. My first job was with the Boston Children's Aid Society. The task proved so fascinating and stimulating that I am now completing my sixth year in this kind of work. Five of these years have been spent in the delightful surroundings of the Berkshires. I am now on the point of leaving Pittsfield to go to Worcester to take charge of the Worcester district of the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children.

GARDINER FRANK GREENE

Born at Roxbury, Mass., Nov. 10, 1884.

Parents: Frank E., Mary A. Greene.

School: Volkmann's School, Boston, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degree: A.B. 1907.

Married: Gladys Bulfinch Gibbs, Sept. 10, 1910, Marblehead, Mass.

Child: Gardiner Gibbs, Sept. 16, 1914. Occupation: Boston Index Card Co.

Address: (business) 113 Purchase St., Boslon, Mass.; (home) 46 Green St.,

Brookline, Mass.

I WENT abroad for a year after leaving College. I came back and went to work in a banking and brokerage house in Boston, working there about two years. Then I went to work on the Boston Herald in the advertising department for about a year. I spent the following summer touring over Europe, returned, and went into the advertising agency business with my brother, under the name of Greene Advertising Co. For the last three years I have been with my brother in the Boston Index Card Company.

RICHARD BARTLETT GREGG

Born at Colorado Springs, Colo., Feb. 13, 1885. Parents: James Bartlett, Mary (Needham) Gregg. School: Cutler Academy, Colorado Springs, Colo. Years in College: 1903-07. Degrees: A.B. 1907; LL.B. 1911.

Unmarried.

Occupation: Industrial Counselor.
Address: 75 State St., Boston, Mass.

I F men do not tell what they have found worth while, if they give only a bare list of dates and places, these class reports will not amount to much. For that reason, I want to tell a little about the job that interests me so much.

Industrial counseling is neither law, nor efficiency work, nor welfare work. It is an attempt to approach and deal in a scientific way with labor problems and the complex relations between employers and employees in industry. As a preliminary to helping secure sound relations or helping plan wise policies, the industrial counselor must learn all the facts which affect the particular labor problem in a given concern. Only with such facts can he make sound diagnoses. Whether the client be an individual employer, an employers' association, a trade union, an employers' association and trade union jointly, a governmental body, or a consumers' organization, the industrial counselor deals impartially with the problems submitted. We do not tie up to any formula, system, creed, or class. So far as possible we try to do preventive work in advance of open trouble. We do some work, however, in the midst of strikes.

The work has endlessly interesting features. The human factors, the psychology, the problems of science, organization, group action and democracy are fascinating. When you get close to men in their work, you see them at the heart of their ambitions, disappointments, and hopes and fears. An opportunity to gain special insight into human nature is ascribed to the medical profession, but my experience in industrial counseling makes me believe that more than any other profession it affords an absorbingly interesting view of human nature.

A tabular view of my history since graduation is as follows: 1907-08, I taught mathematics and chemistry at Milton Academy, Milton, Mass.; 1908-11, Harvard Law School, tutoring during the summers; in my last year at the Law School I was assistant in Government I; 1911, in the summer I went abroad, visiting Scotland, England, Germany, and France, Hermann Hagedorn gave me a wonderful two weeks in Germany: September, 1911, to July, 1913, practised law with the firm of Gaston, Snow & Saltonstall, Boston; July, 1913 to July, 1914, acted as private Secretary for A. F. Bemis, President of Bemis Bro. Bag Co., Boston, Mass.; six months of this time was spent in a trip to India and around the world; July, 1914, to September, 1915, practised law with the firm of Warner, Warner & Stackpole, Boston; November, 1915, entered the office of Robert G. Valentine, Industrial Counselor, Boston; spring of 1916, entered into partnership with Robert G. Valentine and Ordway Tead under the firm name of Valentine, Tead & Gregg. I have continued in the work of industrial counseling since that date. I am a member of the corporation of the Perkins Institution and Massachusetts School for the Blind.

The trip around the world was full of color and variety. Such an experience enlarges horizons, brushes away prejudices, and teaches much. It filled my memory with many wonderful things. But by far the most interesting part of the time since graduation has been this past year.

WILLIAM FRANKLIN GREYDON

Born at Woburn, Mass., May 17, 1884.

Parents: Frank Warren, Sarah Abbie (Pomfret) Greydon.

School: Woburn High School, Woburn, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degree: A.B. 1907 (1908).

Married: Janette McLellan, Oct. 9, 1912, Woburn, Mass.

Occupation: Contracting.

Address: (business) 7 Lowell St., Woburn, Mass.; (home) 13 Page Pl., Woburn, Mass.

A FTER leaving College I went for about three months to the Harvard Medical School, but decided that I did not want any part of a physician's life, so left the School and went into the banking business, working for the firm of Blodget, Merritt & Co. (now Blodget & Co.) at 60 State Street. I stayed with them for about two years, starting in as a messenger, and working up to a salesman's position, travelling mostly in Connecticut. I left their employ to become associated with my father in the contracting business, which I have carried on with a fair degree of success since.

Member: Masonic Fraternity and its allied organization, the Order of the Eastern Star, also several local social clubs.

ARTHUR VINCENT GRIMES

Born at Somerville, Mass., April 5, 1884.

Parents: James Henry, Eliza Agnes (Cull) Grimes. School: Brookline High School, Brookline, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degree: A.B. 1907.

Married: Alice Lafield Brummett, Oct. 9, 1916, Dorchester, Mass.

Occupation: Certified Public Accountant.

Address: (business) 89 State St., Boston, Mass.; (home) 1738 Commonwealth

Arc., Brookline, Mass.

A FTER leaving College I spent the first summer having a beautiful loaf, without a worry on my mind. In the fall I decided that it was time that I found out if I had acquired, in addition to my A.B., anything which would enable me to earn my living; so I hied myself to New York City, the place of opportunity and good times, and found myself a position with a firm of certified public accountants on Wall Street. After about a year of this I found myself back in Boston, the place to live, working for another firm of C. P. A.'s, and remained with them for five years. During this time I travelled over all of this country, doing mills in Utica, where I had a very nice time with John White, copper mines in Arizona and Mexico, cotton gin manufacturing plants in Texas, etc., etc.

The work was hard, but I was given long summer vacations which enabled me to rest up as well as do some travelling in Europe. Finally I got tired of so much travel, so set up for myself in Boston, having previously passed my examination to become a certified public accountant, and have been my own boss for four good years now.

On October 9, 1916, I settled up, married, and settled down. Of course, you all know what anyone only married four months thinks of married life, so I need not dwell on that. Am now living a contented life with a good home, interesting work and sufficient of it, a few good intimate friends, and nothing much to worry about financially.

MEMBER: Harvard Club of Boston.

MERRILL GRISWOLD

Born at Washington, D. C., July 15, 1886.

NATHANAEL BABCOCK GROTON

Born at Westerly, R. I., Jan. 19, 1885.

Parents: William Mansfield, Hannah (Babcock) Groton. School: Protestant Episcopal Academy, Philadelphia, Pa.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degree: A.B. 1907.

Married: Anna Constance Heffern, Nov. 5, 1913, Philadelphia, Pa.

Child: Nathanael Babcock, Jr., July 15, 1916. Occupation: Ministry. Address: St. Thomas' Rectory, Whitemarsh, Pa.

POR three years following graduation I studied at the Divinity School in Philadelphia, Pa., for the ministry of the Protestant Episcopal Church. At the end of the three years' study Bishop Whitaker of Pennsylvania ordained me to the diaconate. During one of the summers of those years. I travelled in England and on the Continent with my brother, '09, and H. A. Leland, '09.

From June, 1910, to June, 1913, I was on the staff of Grace Parish in New York City (Broadway and 10th Street) where Rev. Charles Lewis Slattery, D.D., '91, is rector. Four months of the winter of 1911–12 were spent in travel with another clergyman of Philadelphia. Together we visited Southern Spain and Egypt, spent three weeks travelling on horseback from Damascus to Jerusalem, and returned home by way of Constantinople, Greece, and Italy. In March of that year I was advanced to the priesthood by Bishop Greer of New York.

St. Thomas' Church, Whitemarsh, Pa., called me as rector in June, 1913. Whitemarsh is only three miles from the northern edge of the city of Philadelphia. Consequently while my home is in the country, I am very much in touch with the city.

THE mere external, and therefore unessential, facts of my life during the decade since graduation run along in somewhat this fashion:

During the summer of 1907, an unforgettable jaunt with Douglas Field and Johnny White through the Tyrol and northern Italy (vide T. D. W. or D. G. F. concerning the attractions of Macugnaga, not all merely mountainous); in the autumn, assistance at the birth of the Harvard Club of Berlin, followed by sleepless weeks trying to chaperone one Wilder Goodwin, '07, stud. phil. at Berlin University; the publication of a book; return home and marriage; the wilds of Colorado, horse thieves, and a drunken sheriff; Germany again; a winter of so-called study at Columbia; another book; a baby; two years of teaching at Harvard: an adaptation produced and murdered at the New Theatre: some short plays produced by the Harvard Dramatic Club and elsewhere, the worst of them all, of course, the most successful; many poems, mostly punk; a Roman tragedy in verse and very many acts, fortunately burned in time. That brings us to 1911. In that year, I guit teaching, went to Europe for six months with my family, and then to Santa Barbara for six months more. I had been told that Santa Barbara was Ultima Thule for poets and sick. But it proved to be only Lotusland. So we packed up and came back East. I had meanwhile absorbed somewhere the notion that if I only had a farm all would be gay and glorious. So we bought a hillside in Connecticut, built a house, went more or less broke, and, not being able to escape the consequences of this error in judgment as simply as we had been able to evacuate Santa Barbara. I buckled down and began to examine, with some care, life in general and my own spiritual machinery in particular. My main occupation since then has been to learn to know that engine and to learn to run it (or let it run me) with some degree of smoothness and efficiency. I am still a pretty poor mechanic, but the study has been useful. I have meanwhile acquired another A1 baby, and a staggering amount of experience concerning the high cost of farming. My knowledge of the immigrant problem is first hand. Most of the immigrants have passed through my kitchen or leaned languorously upon my hoes and rakes. I have published a novel and a play or two and some verse which everybody likes and nobody buys; and have latterly taken off my coat to work for preparedness; not guns or armies — there are plenty of people working for preparedness of that sort — but that deeper preparedness of the spirit that is essential if any army and navy we may have in future is to be a real defense and not merely a menace to our institutions. I am trying, with a number of other more or less young men, to rouse people in America to some sense of their obligations as citizens. It's a nice, big job, and if any 1907 man is hungry for work, he may come to us confident that he will not be turned unsatisfied from the door. Office hours, six to six, all around the clock.

These are great times, 1907. The class of 1776 and the class of 1861 had nothing on us of 1907 in the matter of opportunity for serving God, justice, liberty, and the U. S. A!

Come on! You remember those walls we talked about that morning in Sanders? Well, here they are!

GILBERT WILLIAM HAIGH

Born at St. Louis, Mo., May 18, 1884. Parents: Friend, Mary (Stoney) Haigh.

School: Lawrence High School, Lawrence, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-06.

Degrees: A.B. 1907; M.D. 1910.

Unmarried.

Occupation: Medicine.

Address: 297 Pleasant St., Worcester, Mass.

In the fall of the year I received my bachelor's degree, which I had earned the year before, I resumed my studies in the Harvard Medical School. They became progressively more interesting as they changed from fundamental and scientific to clinical and hospital. My classmates were friendly and congenial, especially my roommate I college, "Andy Mack" of "1907." With my roommate I pursued my favorite out door sports and enjoyed many week-end visits to the hospitable country home of a family of dear friends.

During the interval between my graduation from Medical School and the beginning of my hospital training in September, I lost my father to whom I owed much for my education and whose untimely death robbed him of the satisfaction and pleasure of having given me a medical education through his efforts and sacrifices.

I duly entered upon my hospital service at the Worcester City Hospital, which afforded me an inestimable training for the general practice of medicine and surgery. There, also, my work and my associates were congenial, so congenial and pleasant that I shall regard this as one of the happiest periods of my life.

Soon after having completed my hospital practice I settled in practice in Worcester where I had made acquaintances and friendships. I have continued to plod along, devoting myself closely to work and paying off my debts.

BARTON HALL

Born at Leavenworth, Kans., July 13, 1881. Parents: J. Chalmers, Charlotte (Barton) Hall. School: Central High School, Kansas Cily, Mo.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degree: S.B. 1907.

Unmarried.
Occupation: Architect.

Address: 623 West End Ave., New York, N. Y.

A FTER leaving College I came to New York and entered the office of Clinton and Russell. Five or six months later I joined the force at Trowbridge and Livingston's office, where I spent two very happy years working on the drawings for the Bankers' Trust and other prominent buildings. In 1912 it was necessary for me to go West where I had to spend the next four years in dealing principally with real estate problems. In 1917 I returned to New York to take up again my architectural life.

Member: Harvard Club, New York; Harvard Club and Blue Hills Country Club, Kansas City, Mo.

DEAN HALL

Born at Dayton, O., Dec. 14, 1883.

Parents: John Dean, Lilla May (Holp) Hall. School: Phillips Exeter Academy, Exeter, N. H.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degree: A.B. 1907.

Married: Marjorie Lane Laudeirdale, June 10, 1913, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Child: Doris Josephine, Sept. 20, 1914.

Occupation: Captain, Coast Artillery Corps, U.S. Army.

Address: (business) Fort Grant, Panama Canal Zone; (home) 241 84th St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

CHORTLY after leaving College, I was designated by President Roosevelt to take the examinations for Second Lieutenant in the army. I was commissioned as a Lieutenant in the Coast Artillery Corps in January, 1908. Since that time I have served at many places on both the Atlantic and Pacific coasts and am now at Fort Grant at the fortifications which guard the Pacific entrance to the Panama Canal. I have now served one year of my three-year tour of foreign service. The place is delightful and I am well satisfied here. We get a chance to go back to the States for a month or two every year. I was promoted to Captain during the year.

ERNEST JAMES HALL

Born at Somerville, Mass., Dec. 7, 1885.

Parents: John James, Annie Randolph (Van Lew) Hall.

School: High School, Medford, Mass. Years in College: 1903-07, 1909-10.

Degree: A.B. 1907 (1910).

Married: Alice Clara Poole, July 28, 1915, Brockton, Mass.

Child: Randolph Van Lew, April 15, 1916.

Occupation: Teaching.

Address: (business) High School of Commerce, Avenue Louis Pasteur, Boston, Mass.; (home) 33 Long Ave., Allston, Mass. LEFT College in April, 1907, to accept an appointment as assistant in the Philippine Civil Service. I went to Manila where I was assigned by the Civil Service Commission as Supervisor of Industrial Training in the Province of Albay. I resigned this position in June, 1909, and returned to College in the fall, obtaining my degree in 1910. During 1910 I did some tutoring in this country and in England. In September, 1911, I took up the duties of a sub-master in the Brockton High School, teaching Spanish, History, French, and Latin. From February to June, 1912. I was again enrolled in Harvard University, as a member of the Graduate School of Business Administration.

The summer of 1913 was spent travelling on the Pacific coast and in the Canadian Rockies, renewing the friendship of classmates who were not at the Sexennial Reunion. The summer of 1914 I toured England, France, and Spain, barely succeeding in avoiding the turmoil of the "German Invasion." I found Spain throbbing with industrial activity, which had increased surprisingly since my visit there in 1909. Thoughtful Spaniards explained the prosperity of the country as due to the fact that the young men who formerly had expended their energy in the colonial possessions now remained in Spain and developed the resources of the country; thus showing that the war with the United States was a blessing in disguise. I noted a predominance of German tourists in Spain, especially in groups representing Chambers of Commerce, fostering a friendship for Germany which still persists in the press and among the Spanish people.

In July, 1915, I married Alice C. Poole, of Brockton, and spent the summer in the mountains of Virginia; returning to settle down in Allston in sight of the dear old tower on Memorial Hall, a goal which I shall always keep before my little son, Randolph Van Lew, whom we hope will one day reach it and receive the award bearing the motto "Veritas."

I stopped teaching in the Brockton High School in 1915 to fill the position of instructor of Spanish in the Boston High School of Commerce, where I now am.

NATHAN LORD HALL

Born at Malden, Mass., Sept. 23, 1884.

Years in College: 1903-06.

Degrees: A.B. 1907 (1906); LL.B. 1909.

Married: Rose Sydeman, Dec. 4, 1913, Boston, Mass.

Children: Ruth Jacqueline, Jan. 22, 1916; Helène, Feb. 7, 1917.

Occupation: Law.

Address: (business) 18 Tremont St., Boston, Mass.; (home) 15 Walnut Park

Road, Roxbury, Mass.

A FTER leaving College I attended the Law School and received my degree of LL.B. in the usual course. I then entered the office of Thomas J. Barry, '79, with whom I was associated for two years. Since then I have engaged in practice for myself. In 1915 my brother, Reuben, became my partner.

On December 4, 1913, I married Rose Sydeman, a sister of William H. Sydeman of our Class. On January 22, 1916, Ruth Jacqueline Harris was born, and we liked her so well that about ten hours ago my wife presented me with another little girl, Helène Harris. I guess she takes the prize for the youngest in the Class, as she is at present about ten hours and thirty-one minutes of age. That's all.

GEORGE WESLEY HARRIS

Born at Topeka, Kan., Aug. 1, 1884.

Parents: William, Laura Ellen (Bryant) Harris.

Schools: Topeka High School, Topeka, Kan., and Tufts College, Medford, Mass.

Years in College: 1905-07. Degree: A.B. 1907 (1808).

Married: Agnes Louise Herbert, June 5, 1912, Montclair, N. J.

Occupation: Newspaper work.

Address: (business) 135 West 135th St., New York, N. Y.; (home) 1452 Bedford Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

I HAVE been in the newspaper business since leaving College. At present I am President of the New York News Job Printing Corporation, publishing the New York News and the New Jersey Informer News, and Editor of both. I have been actively interested in the political life of New York City and in the progress of the colored people. The New York News Charity Bureau has for its object the relief of poverty and distress among both races in Harlem. As Labor Agent of the New England Steamship Co., I have sought to promote industrial progress of my people. I was formerly Assistant Editor of the New York Age and Editor of the Amsterdam News.

GORHAM WALLER HARRIS

Born at Providence, R. I., Jan. 7, 1885.

Parents: Joseph, Mary Waller (Patterson) Harris. School: High and Latin School, Somerville, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degrees: A.B. 1907; A.M. 1909; Ph.D. 1915.

Married: Mary Louise Dyer, June 8, 1910, Somerville, Mass.

Children: Leighton Gorham, Aug. 24, 1914; Norman Dyer, Oct. 28, 1915. Occupation: Teaching.

Address: (business) Simmons College, Boston, Mass.; (home) 47 Churchill St., Newtonville, Mass.

THE year following commencement I was instructing the young idea in the High School, Medford, Mass., in classics and mathematics. During this apprenticeship, I decided to abandon the dissemination of "prep school" Latin for the pursuit of college chemistry, and returned to Harvard. A couple of years of study and research in the Graduate School, with some assistant work on the side, gave me an A.M. and a new job, that of instructor in Simmons College, Boston (which is not a cooking-school, but a professional school for girls).

In June, 1910, I made a momentous choice — missed the Class triennial in order to get married. Sometimes I think it was almost worth it! The year 1913-14 was spent in further research at Harvard under Prof. T. W. Richards, recent Nobel prizewinner, after which I went back to Simmons as an Ass. (please preserve the abbreviation) Professor, a chair to which I have managed to cling ever since. In 1915 I was allowed to adorn my name with a Ph. D. and was alleged to have been "admitted to the ancient company of scholars," a charge which I must, in honesty, categorically deny.

In the summer of 1912 my wife and I spent the three months' vacation in travelling over the map of Europe in a conscientious but guide-free ramble. (First-trippers are always painfully conscientious, I believe.) Little did we guess, as we grew to like one nationality after another, that the "morituri" were saluting us. Of course, we cannot but be more nearly neutral in the present business, since we have had the chance to see how evenly human nature has been distributed in the scheme of things. Since that time, two small boys have come to warm the cockles of our hearts and to kick holes in the landlord's plaster and to learn the Harvard cheer.

I can't refrain from mentioning what seems to me the most important item in this very commonplace history of mine, a mental evolution, starting in college days and moving more rapidly since, which has changed me from an ordinary conservative in politics and religion to a pretty thorough-going radical, reader of the "Masses," pal of the proletariat, member of various reform and revolutionary organizations, internationalist, and, to my reactionary friends, a crank generally.

Are., Evanston, Ill.

MY first position after leaving College was with A. J. Tower Company at Roxbury, where I soon found inside work unattractive, and in January, 1909, I took up the selling end with Allyn & Bacon of Boston. This work was very interesting, but an opportunity to go to Mexico offered still more interest, as well as principal, and I became hide buyer for Kistler, Lesh & Co. of Boston. In 1911 I was transferred to the sales department and was given the western territory making my home in St. Louis. I made St. Louis a real home to me by marrying at this time, and continued to live there until June, 1916. I have transferred my office from St. Louis to Chicago with Kistler, Lesh & Co., and since October, 1916, have been living at Evanston, Ill.

Aside from business, my outside interests have been plenty of exercise in the form of tennis, baseball, and, this winter, squash tennis. My hope for the future is not to miss any of the big reunions of 1907 and to meet all my friends of 1907 at our fiftieth anniversary.

Born at Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 9, 1885.

Parents: Leslie, Mary Grace (Howe) Hastings Wilson. School: Noble and Greenough's School, Boston, Mass. Years in College: 1903-07.

Degree: A.B. 1907.

Married: Dorothy Dow, May 22, 1915, Marion, Mass.

Child: Dorothy, April 9, 1916. Occupation: Manufacturing.

Address: (business) 93 Summer St., Boston, Mass.; (home) 42 West Cedar St., Boston, Mass.

WHILE in College I became the executor of an estate which was largely interested in Boston real estate. Upon leaving College I took over the management of this and had a fairly good taste of the real estate business. I did not like it very much, and found time to do considerable travelling. Just previous to my marriage in 1915, I turned over the details of the real estate to some one else and after my marriage was on the lookout for something new. I dabbled a little in concrete floor construction for several months. In the summer of 1916 an opportunity in the manufacture of dress skirts presented itself and I have devoted my time to that ever since.

WHEN I received my A.B., I considered I was eddicated, but my dad thought otherwise — and I went to Tech. Three years later I struggled out into the light of day with S.B., 1910, added to my collection of degrees. It took me a couple of months to recover from the surprise of this, and then I picked the automobile business as the best way to acquire joy-rides, and landed the job of Assistant Engineer with the E. R. Thomas Motor Co., Buffalo. The payment of my "salary" proved too much of a strain on their resources and they busted six months later. I chivvied a job out of the Mercer Motor Co., Trenton, and went to work as Chief Draftsman and Designer. For two months I remained entombed in that vault — and then had to pull out on account of sickness and went to California for a little fresh air. A telegram from my old chief at the Thomas Company dug me out again not long after, and I came East to Bryn Mawr to be again his assistant, this time with the Pennsylvania Auto Motor Co. But some one mislaid the company's funds, and before the whole thirty-five cents had been recovered I had decided that the automobile game was not all I had supposed, and went into mill inspection work for a large insurance company in Philadelphia. About that time the present Mrs. Hawes decided that I was such a worthless lot that she had better protect humanity by taking me in charge — so we were married and started to investigate the high cost of living in Bryn Mawr. I remained with the insurance company two years or so, having charge of their automobile claims department, and then, finding that Mrs. Hawes was not well in Philadelphia, we moved to Boston. I shortly found myself production man for a machinery manufacturing concern at Springfield, Mass., where I remained until the financial depression of 1914, just at the start of the big row on the other side. Old man Economy took a crack at me then - efficiency men being looked on as unwarranted luxuries, and I went back to insurance work — this time as a safety engineer for my present company. After about a year spent in giving most of New England's biggest mills the once-over I was handed the State of Maine branch and told to go to it — which I have been industriously doing since. On March 1. we are to consolidate our two state offices, at present at Lewiston and at Biddeford, in one larger one at Portland — another move! So I can't tell where I'll be living after then — I can't say I care for this one-step sort of life — moving to a town, moving away, hesitating, and moving back — but at least 1 do become familiar with many places and meet many attractive people. And perhaps I suffer a little from Kipling's complaint:

"For to admire and for to see,
For to behold this world so wide,
It never done no good to me
But I couldn't help it if I tried."

But my "world so wide" has been a bit circumscribed to date.

Degree: S.B. 1907. Unmarried.

AVING worked up from the machine shop to the position of chief draftsman with the wonderful weekly stipend of eighteen per—before even entering College, I felt that the average of fourteen and sixteen cents per hour offered by the various large companies was not attractive—after I had really graduated.

I undertook to play a waiting game, with the result that I landed in the West Indies as chief engineer of a light, ice, and power company at seventy five per month, on Thanksgiving Day, 1907. When I had been in this position about a month, the then manager, "got cold feet" — or maybe it was a girl "in the States" — anyway he "beat it" and left the management to me — but he did not leave me his knowledge of Spanish, which was the universal language. I found the company to be much underbalanced financially, I contracted tropical malarial fever, and at the end of the year came back to the states.

It's too much climate for a steady diet, but if you ever have the chance to visit Porto Rico, do so. It's wonderfully beautiful and interesting.

On my return to the States, I spent a couple of months doing nothing but trying to kill the fever bugs in me, and go trout The bugs wouldn't die, and I didn't have pep enough really to do much fishing. In the following June I hired out as superintendent of construction of a transmission line in New York State. Fine work! You have to be half rough-neck, all gentleman, and work 36 hours per day. I had about 250 men hobos, thugs, and teams, working on a line forty-one miles long in very rough country. I think I travelled that line on foot three times every day for months. The same old malaria bugs were at me and they may have helped, anyway I made the most intimate acquaintance with a perfectly good case of typhoid fever. Twelve adorable weeks in the hospital in which I almost died! I got out of the hospital about Christmas time and in February accepted the joint management of the Hudson Counties Gas & Co. and the Cornwall Telephone Co. I had about four years of this - fighting the malaria all the while, until I was obliged to go into the mountains and get the bugs all killed. It took about a year and a half. The last half year of this was not bad. I felt fairly well and the fishing that year was fine. From this time on, my life has been very much every day — eight months a sales engineer, a year with Stone & Webster, and since then acting as electrical and mechanical engineer as a free lance. Sometimes the going is very easy and others very hard. At this writing I find myself engaged in making a report on the physical and financial condition of a small public service corporation in northern Jersey.

THE years from 1907 to 1911 I spent at Harvard working for the degree Ph.D. During these years I served as assistant and instructor in the department of physics and taught physics in the Harvard Summer School. The years 1912–13 were spent in doing post-graduate work at Harvard. I came to Swarthmore College as head of the department of physics in the fall of 1914 and have remained here since then.

Looking over this brief report the question naturally arises, has life, since leaving Harvard, been a success? If success can be measured in terms of real happiness and useful service, then the past ten years have been abundantly successful. For where can we hope to find more of real happiness than in following out a line of research which is constantly developing new and interesting phases; in associating intimately with a faculty of about forty excellent men; and last and first, in having a family consisting of a mother, a daughter, and a son—each one of whom you believe the best on earth, and each one of whom believes the same of you. Such is my measure of happiness. And where can one hope to find more useful service than in helping to instruct young men and women and in helping to determine their characters and capacity for service? Such is my service.

INNOCENTLY wrote a quite unnecessarily complete story of my doings since graduation, once before; and was quite stunned to read the thing in cold print in the 1913 report. I had had some unfounded notion that the account would repose in the archives until after my rise to fame.

That one experience I deemed sufficient. When the report blank for the Decennial Report arrived, I coldly ignored the proffered opportunity again to toot the trumpet. I didn't fill in that second page. But it appears that this is a responsibility which may not be avoided. The Hon. John's second appeal is difficult to disregard. Accordingly —

I was in the employ of the Library Bureau as manager's assistant in their steel furniture factories, first at Cold Spring, N. Y., and later at Ilion, N. Y., for the three years immediately following graduation. I was then with R. Hoe & Co., in their New York City plant for a few months. I then entered the employ of the Platt Iron Works, in Boston, as salesman and engineer — handling pumping apparatus, and their line of power plant equipment. That was a very interesting and useful experience. I conducted some duty trials on pumping machinery, and assisted at others; got my first experience in selling machinery; and, more important yet, I found that this kind of work was more congenial than any I had previously undertaken. Since the latter part of 1912, I have continued along the same line, in the employ of the Worthington Pump and Machinery Corporation, formerly the International Steam Pump Co. I have worked only in the Pittsburgh district and West Virginia throughout this time.

A Worthington man is a pump man primarily, and this concern manufactures nearly all kinds of pumps, and for a multiplicity of uses. The same company has also designed and built some of the largest and best horizontal gas engines now in operation. Following the expiration, in 1912, of the original patents of Rudolph Diesel, they have designed and marketed an equally successful oil engine, a full Diesel type, operating on the heaviest petroleums. The construction of air compressors has changed radically during the last three years, and this concern has stayed abreast — maybe a little ahead — in this line also. The process of making gasoline by the compression and cooling of oil well gas has brought into being a new line of compressors, and Worthington is one of the three concerns really manufacturing these. This company also builds its full share of the enormous surface condensers used in connection with the present-day steam turbo-generators which furnish the electric current to the cities.

A salesman, like myself, may handle the negotiations for large units in these various lines only semioccasionally, if at all. We are expected to be able to handle any of them, at any time. Hence, though the nature of the work precludes one from developing into such a shining light as many a 1907 man is shown to be — in the 1913 report — nevertheless 1 find 1 can be exceedingly busy, greatly interested, fairly up-to-date, and even moderately well fed, with matters as they stand.

FTER passing my New York bar examinations in January, 1909, and graduating from the Harvard Law School in the spring of the same year, I took a two months' vacation under the excuse of a much needed rest from my efforts. In the autumn of 1909 I began to gain experience in the practice of law with the firm of Wing, Putnam & Burlingham, which has now become Burlingham, Montgomery & Beecher. On May 1, 1912, I formed a partnership with Schuyler M. Meyer under the firm name of Meyer & Henshaw, and during the five years of our association together we have proved that a Harvard 1907 man can be successful even when associated with an Eli. For, aside from Schuyler Meyer's temporary aberration in choosing Yale as a proper place for an otherwise estimable young man to spend four years, he has shown himself to be an ideal partner, both from the point of view of ability and congeniality. We have our offices at 27 Cedar Street, New York City, and it is certainly good to find that 1907 men frequently drop in to say "Hello! Hello!"

As I am not married I have been able to devote a considerable amount of my leisure time to activities in which I am interested outside of business. I have found excellent opportunities opened in connection with the Boy Scouts of America. For four or five years I have had a Boy Scout troop of my own, and our meetings, hikes, and summer camping trips give me lots of real enjoyment and the boys seem to get not only plenty of fun out of it, but good and helpful practical experience as well. During the last year or two I have helped a little with the executive end of the organization and only wish I had more time to give to it. I have also become interested in the Big Brother Movement and a few civic activities, and feel that New York City affords exceptional opportunities to Harvard men for volunteer work outside of business. After serving about six years as a member of Squadron A, I am now very keen for the adoption of universal training and service.

But the one thing I'm most sure of is that I can hardly wait for this spring and the 1907 Decennial Reunion!

WHEN I left Harvard, I expected to become a chemist, but I hadn't been out more than three years before I had gradually shifted to physiology—especially respiration and nutrition; and now I am shifting again, this time to medicine—especially pediatrics.

The first year after leaving College, I was Instructor in Chemistry at Swarthmore College. Then I worked a few months in a paper mill. In December, 1908, I went to the Nutrition Laboratory of the Carnegie Institution of Washington in Boston and remained there until July, 1915. Since then I have been Assistant in Pediatrics and also a student in the Johns Hopkins Medical School.

My work at the Nutrition Laboratory was wholly of a research nature — at first done in cooperation with the Director and later independently. The results of the work have been published in articles in various scientific journals. During the winter of 1910—11, I went abroad and studied, mainly with Dr. J. S. Haldane in Oxford and Dr. J. Barcroft in Cambridge. In 1913, I went to Europe a second time, and spent a month with Dr. Haldane and another month at the Instituto Mosso, 10,000 feet above sea level on Monte Rosa, studying with some Italian investigators the physiological effects of alcohol at high altitudes. In 1914 I spent three months with the New York State Commission on Ventilation, experimenting on the physiology of different ventilation conditions.

As I felt that the obtaining of a degree in medicine would be advisable in widening my viewpoint and in affording better possibilities for the future, I took advantage of an opportunity to become an assistant at the Johns Hopkins Medical School and at the same time to study for an M.D. At present I am in the second vear of my Medical School course.

IN the year 1907-08 I attended the Graduate School and received the degree of A.M. The following year I worked in the Graduate School of Columbia University. During the period from June, 1909, until the following May my time was chiefly occupied in travelling, partly abroad and partly in this country. From May, 1910, until June, 1912, I worked at Columbia University on my book dealing with the poetry of Edmund Spenser, the Elizabethan, and on June 12 of the latter year I received the degree of Ph.D. on the completion and publication of that volume. In September, 1912, I entered the New York office of Lee, Higginson & Company, and for four years past I have been engaged in selling securities. This work I have found extremely interesting, for it involves some knowledge of practically every kind of business, if it is to be successfully prosecuted.

GILBERT IULIUS HIRSCH

Born at New York, N. Y., Dec. 16, 1886.

Parents: Julius, Bella Hirsch.

School: Columbia College, New York, N. Y.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degree: A.B. 1907.

Married: Charlotte Teller, Oct. 14, 1912, Wilmington, Del.

Child: Richard, Sept. 12, 1914.

Occupation: Writer.

Address: 240 Tenafly Road, Englewood, N. J.

In the fall of 1907 I entered the Columbia Law School, became one of the editors of the Columbia Law Review the following year, and in the spring of 1910 was admitted to the New York Bar. I decided not to practise law, however, and in June of that year, the day after graduating from Law School, I became a reporter on the New York Globe and Commercial Advertiser. On New Year's Day, 1912, I went to Schenectady, N. Y., to become editor of The Citizen, the Socialist weekly which supported Mayor George Lunn, who went into office at that time — the first Socialist mayor in the East. I also wrote articles and stories which appeared from time to time in magazines.

In the fall of 1912 I married and went to Paris to live. With the exception of short visits to England and Germany, we stayed in France until the summer of 1914, when I took my wife to Freiburg, in South Germany, for the famous "Daemmerschlaf." Five days later the war broke out; and as Freiburg is near the frontier, the danger of a French invasion drove us into Munich. But we soon returned to Freiburg, although the booming of the cannon could be plainly heard not far away. And in a hospital full of wounded soldiers, our son was born. Six weeks later we returned to America.

Although our sympathies had been and still are strongly with France, and although our presence in Germany at the outbreak of the war was quite accidental, still we had seen enough during our two and a half months in warring Germany to perceive at once that many of the things which were being said and written about Germany in this country were untrue and unfair. So, both my wife — who is also a writer — and I, tried to bear witness, in whatever way we could, to the suppressed truth.

In the summer of 1915, the New York Evening Post sent me to Berlin as their regular correspondent; and my wife, who, with our young son accompanied me, was asked to write for the Hearst newspapers. Although we returned to this country the following spring, we are both still writing on German personalities and conditions for these and other newspapers and magazines.

IRVING BROWNE HITCHINGS

Born at East Saugus, Mass., Jan. 7, 1884.

Parents: John Warren, Ella Browne (Browne) Hilchings.

School: High School, Saugus, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Married: Gladys Niles Moulton, June 2, 1917, Lynn, Mass.

Occupation: Mechanical and Electrical Engineering.

Address: (business) General Electric Co., West Lynn, Mass.; (home) 48 Chestnut St., Saugus, Mass.

NOTHING of exceptional interest had taken place in my life since the issue of the last Class Report until last November. It was then that the unhappy prospect of continuing to be a bachelor faded, for on the twenty-fifth of that month Miss Gladys Niles Moulton, of Lynn, became engaged to me.

I am still in the engineering department of the General Electric Company at Lynn.

PIERRE RICHARD LEONARD HOGNER

Born at Oper Kalix, Sweden, July 17, 1884.

Parents: P. G. Richard, Adrieune (Lindstrom) Hogner.

School: English High School, Boston, Mass.

Years in College: 1906-07.

Degree: S.B. 1907.

Married: Christine Akersohn, June 18, 1908, Boston, Mass.

Children: Pierre, Nov. 7, 1909; Marguerite, Jan. 9, 1911, died Dec. 17, 1912;

Adrienne, Jan. 19, 1915.

Occupation: Architecture.

Address: (business) 1012 City Hall, Chicago, Ill.; (home) 6343 Greenview

Ave., Chicago, Ill.

IN 1907-08 I went abroad to Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Germany, and France, remaining in France eight months. In June, 1908, I came back to Boston. In 1908-09 I went back to the Lawrence Scientific School for advanced courses. I was in Seattle with Gould and Champney, architects, in 1909-10 and the next year was in business with M. A. E. Harvey, the firm being Harvey and Hogner, Architects, Hamilton Bldg., Portland, Ore. We built several smaller buildings, residences, and apartment buildings, a country school, a bank, and a church, the largest building costing about $60,000. I came to Chicago in November, 1911, and was connected here with Marshall Fox and Otis and Clark as draftsman.

In 1913 I became a United States citizen. I passed examination for government service in the Philippines and also for the City of Chicago, Grade II Architectural Draftsman. I was appointed in 1913 Architectural Draftsman to the City of Chicago and took a leave of absence in 1914 to accept an appointment for the Philippines. Served six months at Corregidor as Architectural Draftsman in the Quarter Master Corps and resigned because of social conditions, and other reasons, especially living conditions.

I returned to Chicago, after having a pleasant trip to Japan, Hawaii, Guam, and the Philippines. In 1915 I passed the examinations for Architectural Designer, Grade III, and was appointed, which position I still hold. I have travelled extensively through the Western and Eastern United States during these years.

ELMER ELWIN HOUSE

Born at Henniker, N. H., Dec. 8, 1884.

Parents: Elwin Lincoln, Sherlie De Forest (Grow) House.

School: Boston Latin School, Boston, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degree: A.B. 1907.

Married: Ethel Wilhelmina Bird, Jan. 29, 1906, Boston, Mass.

Children: Elwin Lincoln, 2d, June 29, 1907; Dorothy May, July 29, 1909;

Eleanor Elizabeth, March 28, 1911; Ruth Sherlie, Feb. 7, 1912.

Occupation: Teacher, Orchardist.

Address: R. F. D. No. 1, Hood River, Ore.

IN October, 1907, I came west to Spokane, and was engaged in educational work until 1910. I was a teacher at the Hood River High School in 1908 and 1909, and orchardist in 1910 and 1911. I was reporter for the Spokesman-Review, Spokane, Wash., in 1912–14, and have been an orchardist from 1914 to date. I have been busy since then making one good apple grow where two rotten ones grew before. I am Secretary, Hood River Orchard Research Society.

Weight and waist measure 1907-17, identical; circumference of head 1917, much reduced from 1907, but believe there is more inside. Words of praise: no gray hairs, no bald spot, no whiskers, of any sort whatsoever. Accomplishments: one wife, proved perfect and sterling; four bungalows, ditto.

Member: Hood River Orchard Research Society.

LOUIS ORRIN HOWARD

Born at Thompson, Conn., Feb. 7, 1884.

Parents: Mart A., Azora (Cummings) Howard.

School: Worcester Classical High School, Worcester, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degrees: A.B. 1907; M.E. 1909.

Married: Muriel Burnet Crawford, Aug. 28, 1908, Dudley, Mass.

Children: Lydia Wadsworth, May 31, 1909; Betty Burnet, Aug. 16, 1910; Louise Orrin, April 1, 1912; Muriel Crawford, Aug. 11, 1913; Sylvia May, Jan. 14, 1915.

Occupation: Mining Engineering.

Address: (business) 421 Felt Bldg., Salt Lake City, Utah; (home) Sandy, Utah.

I SPENT the next two years after graduation from the College in the Graduate School of Applied Science, combining work for an advanced degree with an Austin Teaching Fellowship in Mining and Metallurgy. After completing the course there, I was for two years Instructor in Metallography and Ore Treatment at the Case School of Applied Science, Cleveland, O. During this time I did a considerable amount of private work along mining and metallurgical lines.

In January, 1912, I came to Utah to take charge of the development of a mine that was exploiting ores of uranium, vanadium, and radium. Upon the curtailment of operations in July of that year I made Salt Lake City my headquarters. While getting established, I served on the editorial staff of a local mining journal, but in 1914 resigned to give all my time to my business as consulting engineer. Since then I have been engaged in the examination, development, and management of mines in Utah and adjacent states. I have contributed frequently to the technical press during the past two years, and at present am consulting engineer for the legal firm of Booth, Lee, Badger & Rich, The Day's Fork Mining Co., The Nevada Anaconda Copper Co., and the Edison Tungsten Mines.

Occupation: Manufacturing Superintendent.

Address: (business) Foot of Blackwell St., Long Island City, N. Y.; (home)

111 Maurice Ave., Elmhurst, Long Island, N. Y.

SINCE leaving College,—since,—well, I've got a dim recollection of holding a job in Tarrytown as bookkeeper for two long weeks,—then I came to the Oakes Manufacturing Company and have been here ever since. The first winter here I took the evening course in industrial chemistry at Pratt Institute. In 1908 I was put in charge of our laboratory. The next six years the head of the firm and I worked on industrial and chemical "nuts." In May, 1915, I was made Superintendent. We manufacture dyes and dyestuffs and accessories for the textile trade.

For the last seven years business needs have held me here at reunion time, but it will be different this time.

In 1912, I married the best girl in the world, the same girl that I hope all the rest of you married. If so A-MEN; if not B-MEN.

FRANK MILLER HOWES

Born at Rockland, Mass., April 19, 1885.

Parents: Stephen Miller, Henrietta Wyman (French) Howes.

School: High School, Rockland, Mass. Years in College: 1903-06.

Degrees: A.B. 1907; M.D. 1910.

Married: Marion Danforth Tucker, June 22, 1912, Newton, Mass.

Child: Margaret, June 17, 1914.

Occupation: Physician.

Address: 9 North Orchard St., New Bedford, Mass.

MY senior year in College I entered Harvard Medical School, completing my four years there in 1910. After five months abroad with Sammy Brown, '07, and Ned Gardner, '06, I became a medical interne at the Boston City Hospital from November, 1910, to March, 1912. From March, 1912, to June, 1912, I was Interne at St. Luke's Hospital, New Bedford. On June 22 I was married and, after a short trip to the mountains, began the practice of medicine in Fairhaven, Mass. In August, 1915, I was appointed Assistant Visiting Physician to St. Luke's Hospital and on July 1, 1916, I moved to New Bedford because of the greater opportunity afforded by the city and because of my hospital appointment there.

There are very few '07 men near here but when they come they are welcomed.

DAVID HEATH HOWIE

Born at Lynn, Mass., April 28, 1886.

Parents: David, Margaret Ann (Remick) Howie. School: Worcester Academy, Worcester, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degree: A.B. 1907.

Married: Harriet Neal Baum, June 6, 1911, Boston, Mass.

Occupation: Secretary.

Address: (business) 44 State St., Boston, Mass.; (home) 17 William St., Cambridge, Mass.

SINCE January 1, 1911, I have been Secretary to Mr. James J. Storrow of Lee, Higginson & Co., Boston.

SAMUEL THOMAS HUBBARD, Jr.

Born at Greenville, N. J., July 7, 1884.

Parents: Samuel Thomas, Elizabeth (Armstrung) Hubbard.

School: Morristown School, Morristown, N. J.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degree: A.B. 1907.

Married: Margaret Bassett, Sept. 17, 1912, Fall River, Mass.

Children: Harriell Borden, Oct. 2, 1913; Mary Hustace, Feb. 15, 1915.

Occupation: Cotton Merchant.

Address: (business) 66 Beaver St., New York, N. Y.; (home) 610 Palisade

Ave., Yonkers, N. Y.

THE first two years after leaving College I worked in Helena, Ark., in the cotton business, with the firm of W. A. Short & Co., being north in New York during July and August. The winter of 1909 I spent in Fall River, Mass., as Branch Office Manager for the firm of Hubbard Bros. & Co. Since then I have been in New York in various capacities and am now junior partner of that firm.

I joined the New York Cotton Exchange in June, 1914, and have served on a number of committees on the Exchange. I am also a director of the New York Cotton Exchange Clearing House Association.

There is little to say outside of the above, as I find that business takes a great deal of my time.

I have made two trips to Europe, on the last one I was one of the many who tried to get home from Europe when the war broke out. I had more or less of an exciting time coming back, when we were supposed to have been chased by the Emden or some other German cruiser, and finally put in at Halifax, N. S. Whether we were really chased or not, I do not know.

I have done nothing exciting or of very great interest to the balance of the Class.

ALBERT FRANCIS HURLBURT

Born at Holyoke, Mass., March 15, 1884. Parents: Paul, Louisa (Langlois) Hurlburt. School: High School, Holyoke, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-07. Degree: A.B. 1907.

Unmarried.

Occupation: Teaching.

Address: 513 Elm St., Ann Arbor, Mich.

THE year following my graduation I spent partly in Cambridge and partly in travel through France and Spain. In October, 1908, I came out to Ann Arbor, Mich., where I had accepted an instructorship in Romance Languages at the University of Michigan. After five years of teaching I decided that I wanted to go back to the Atlantic seaboard. So in the fall of 1913 I entered the Harvard Graduate School, where I spent a most enjoyable year 'mid the scenes of my youth. It lasted only too short a time, alas! and before I realized it I was back at Ann Arbor, taking up again the onerous yet agreeable duties of a teacher. Nearly three years have elapsed and I am still here, sitting on the job and waiting for that coveted assistant professorship and a fair pittance to live upon.

CHARLES WILLIAM HUTCHINSON

Born at Francingham Centre, Mass., March 17, 1885.

Parents: Franklin, Margaret (Farmer) Hutchinson.

School: Francingham High School, Framingham, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-06.

Degrees: A.B. 1907 (1906); A.M. 1907.

Unmarried.

Occupation: Medicine.

Address: (business) Massachusetts General Hospital, Boston, Mass.; (home)

4 Worcester St., Framingham Centre, Mass.

AFTER graduation, I turned to teaching in secondary schools, teaching Latin, Greek, and Chemistry, in the University School, Chicago, Moses Brown School, Providence, and finally in Middlesex School, Concord, Mass., where I remained three years. Since then I have studied at the Harvard Medical School, finishing my course this year. After July 1, I shall be connected with the Massachusetts General Hospital, Boston, as a house surgeon.

JOHN HORTON IJAMS

Born at New York, N. Y., Nov. 20, 1884.

Parents: John Tabb, Phoebe Adele (Smith) Ijams.

School: Berkeley School, New York, N. Y.

Years in College: 1903-06.

Degree: A.B. 1907.

Married: Margaret Seton Porter, May 8, 1915, Lawrence, L. I., N. Y.

Occupation: Bond business.

Address: (business) 43 Exchange Pl., New York, N. Y.; (home) 149 East 40th St., New York, N. Y.

As time goes on the importance of passing events (which, as they occurred, loomed large) seems somewhat to fade in memory's retrospect and only the main facts stand out. In short, I have been in the bond business in New York City since the end of my last real vacation—namely, October 1, 1907. For a month over eight years I was with Harris, Forbes & Co. (at first N. W. Harris & Co.) in the capacity first, of bond salesman in New York City, and later as a member of the office organization connected with sales in the city. This association was pleasant, instructive, and of much value for its training and experience.

On November 1, 1915, I left Harris, Forbes & Co., and became associated with the New York office of Hambleton & Co., bankers and dealers in bonds, the senior partner in which was T. Edward Hambleton, '07. On July 1, 1916, the aforesaid New York office (with a few exceptions) became the firm of Tilney, Ladd & Co. (N. L. Tilney, '06), with whom I am now associated. Our business is confined to bonds — mainly railroad bonds — and we hope to continue placing these indispensable articles with the needy rich of New York for some time to come. Any classmate who feels he must own a few securities of this character will be received with open arms on the fifteenth floor of 43 Exchange Place. So much for sordid business.

On May 8, 1915, the big event of my life took place when Margaret Seton Porter and I were married. We continue to live in New York and to lead the simple existence of the modern cliff dwellers.

For five years I nobly served the State as a member of Squadron A., Cavalry, N. G. N. Y., and was fortunate or unfortunate enough to have completed my enlistment before the beginning of the late vacation enjoyed by the National Guard on the Texas border. Here endeth my "life" until a relentless Class Secretary demands additional literature some five years hence.

WILLARD EDWIN INGALLS

Born at Lynn, Mass., Feb. 19, 1886.

Parents: Edwin Warren, Elmina Emma (Dobbins) Ingalls.

School: Lynn Classical High School, Lynn, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-06. Degree: A.B. 1907 (1908).

Married: Margaret Mary Lee, May 19, 1913, Winthrop, Mass.

Children: Willard Edwin, Jr., April 23, 1914; Edmund Francis, Jan. 6, 1916.

Occupation: Publishing.

Address: (business) 8 Bosworth St., Boston, Mass.; (home) 44 Wilshire St.,

Winthrop, Mass.

SINCE leaving College I have been connected with trade paper publishing, both on the editorial and circulation ends of that business. I started work in August, 1907, with Superinlendent and Foreman, a technical shoe-trade weekly published in Boston, Mass., and until March, 1909, was one of its staff of writers. From March, 1909, to May, 1910, I was Secretary and Treasurer of the Dominant Publishing Company of New York City, publishers of The Dominant, a monthly magazine for band and orchestra leaders. In May, 1910, I returned to Boston and did editorial work for Jacobs' Orchestra Monthly, published by Walter Jacobs, a Boston music publisher, and took charge of the circulation department of this magazine and of The Cadenza, a mandolin, banjo, and guitar monthly, also published by Mr. Jacobs. During 1913 and 1914 I also assisted Mr. Jacobs, who was at that time Secretary of the American Guild of Mandolinists, Banjoists, and Guitarists, in addition to my other work. In January, 1916, Jacobs' Band Monthly was established and in January, 1917, The Tuneful Yankee, a monthly magazine for pianists, was added to the three others previously mentioned. At the present time I have charge of the circulation department of this chain of four magazines and also write and conduct a "column" in the Orchestra Monthly and in the Band Monthly.

THE only important event in my life is that I went to Harvard in the fall of 1903, and after four years swiped a sheepskin when the faculty wasn't looking. Since then I have worked hard on various occasions to earn enough money to loaf, the one thing I do really well. I went to Plattsburg in August, 1915, and again in June, 1916, when I got myself made Top Sergeant of A Company to save the bother of carrying a rifle on the hike. I soon discovered it was an office no one honored or trusted, especially on days when the Captain's wrist-watch was fast.

Child: Mary, May 24, 1916.

Occupation: Law.

Address: (business) 100 State St., and Capitol, Albany, N. Y.; (home) 329

Western Ave., Albany, N. Y.

A FTER graduation I attended Harvard Law School, graduating in 1910. In New York I was employed by Chadbourne & Shores, attorneys, until January, 1912, then by Ivins, Wolff & Hoguet until December 31, 1914. On January 1, 1915 I was appointed Deputy Attorney General of the State of New York, and moved to Albany. I am still holding office under that appointment, representing the State in almost every kind of civil action, although principally assigned to civil service and military matters and mortgage tax cases. On December 1, 1916, I opened an office at 100 State Street, Albany, for general practice.

Children: Elizabeth Jean, April 23, 1912; Katherine Allison, Sept. 4, 1916.

Occupation: Mining.
Address: Manmoth, Cal.

A FTER graduating in 1907 I went to work for the Mammoth Copper Mining Co. at Mammoth, Cal. I worked for two years or so underground at various jobs a miner does and then became assistant superintendent at the Mammoth Mine. I remained employed in this capacity until January, 1912, when I became superintendent of the York Harbor Mine at York Harbor, Newfoundland. I stayed there for nearly two years and then came back to the Mammoth Mine as assistant superintendent, in which capacity I am still employed.

FREDERIC ANGIER JENKS

Born at Canton, Mass., Dec. 3, 1886.

Parents: Henry Fitch, Lavinia Hathaway (Angier) Jenks.

School: Roxbury Latin School, Boston, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-07. Degrees: A.B. 1907; LL.B. 1913.

Unmarried.

Occupation: Law.

Address: (business) 1001 Pemberton Bldg., Boston, Mass.; (home) 45 Spring

Lane, Canton, Mass.

FROM 1907 to 1910 I was in business in Boston. The next three years were spent at the Harvard Law School. Since 1913 I have been practising law with Mayberry, Hallowell, & Hammond. Boston, Mass.

No excitement and nothing of interest to anyone but myself.

LEON ROSWELL JILLSON

Born at Worcester, Mass., June 7, 1884.

Parents: Frank, Evangeline Osgood (Thompson) Jillson. School: Hartford High School, Hartford, Conn.

Years in College: 1903-06.
Degrees: A.B. 1907; LL.B. 1909.

Unmarried.

Occupation: Law.

Address: (business) 16-18 Exchange Pl., New York, N. Y.; (home) 174 West

89th St., New York, N. Y.

FTER graduation I entered Harvard Law School and gradu-A ated in the class of 1909. In July of the same year I entered the employ of the law firm of Ward, Hayden and Satterlee, at 120 Broadway, New York City. Shortly thereafter I began private practice of my profession but continued to maintain association with said firm until it was dissolved in January, 1913. Thereafter and to date I have maintained association with the successor firm known as Ward, Wilson & Hayden, but devote considerable time to my private practice and personal clients. Since January first of this year I have become general counsel to Gude Bros. Kieffer Company of New York and Newark, N. J. My practice has thus far been of a general nature, some litigation and considerable consultation work. Thus far I have seen no opportunity or desire for specializing, as I am both ready and willing to take any sort of case where the client is willing and able to pay the price of proper services. However, I wish to make special appeal for the clientage of my classmates, so promise you all special rates, each rate measured according to the degree of prosperity indicated by your appearance.

Matrimony has thus far had little or no place in my program but signs seem more active nowadays and I guess I shall join the ranks of the sane and sensible before my next story is written for a Class Report.

Publications: nothing but briefs which the judges have seen fit to incorporate in their opinions published in the various New York reports.

FRANCIS WALKER JOHNSON

Born at Lynn, Mass., Aug. 28, 1886.

Parents: Henry, Frances Adelia (Martin) Johnson.

School: Classical High School, Lynn, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degrees: A.B. 1907; LL.B. 1910.

Married: Ruth MacDonald Brigham, June 30, 1913, Lynn, Mass.

Children: Richard Brigham, May 9, 1914; Francis Walker, Jr., Aug. 9, 1915, died March 22, 1916.

Occupation: Law.

Address: (business) 735 Exchange Bldg., Boston, Mass.; (home) 31 Stanwood

Road, Swampscott, Mass.

I REALLY "left College" in 1910 when I was graduated from Law School. Since October, 1910, my business hours have been devoted to bearing part of the heavy responsibilities of the firm of Storey, Thorndike, Palmer, and Dodge, with whom I am still associated. My initial incentive to toil was my desire to marry and it is probably unnecessary to add that since marriage I have required no other. My labors are those of a very general practice and I am beginning to think I may be fitted for them.

Socially I do not scintillate. Membership in a modest neighborhood club and occasional glimpses of the white lights prove adequate.

Politically I am an excellent voter. I vote regularly but all too often in vain. For two years I have been a member of the Finance Committee of my town.

IRVING EUGENE JOHNSON

Born at Clinton, Mass., April 17, 1885.

Parents: Everett Lazell, Mary (Goodrich) Johnson. School: Clinton High School, Clinton, Mass.

Years in College: 1904-07.

Degree: B.A.S. 1907.

Married: Sylvia Lucinda Wood, Oct. 28, 1914, Clinton, Mass.

Child: Marilynn Wood, Jan. 23, 1916. Occupation: Superintendent of Streets.

Address: 30 Randolph St., South Weymouth, Mass.

ROM 1907 to 1913 I was engaged in the practice of landscape architecture, being in business two years for myself and the rest of the time employed by two different firms. In the spring of 1913 I was appointed Superintendent of Streets and Sewers for the town of Clinton, Mass., which position I held until 1915, when the political ax hit me where Nellie wore the beads and it was a case of too much Johnson. During 1915 I worked for a contractor, building state roads, and in April, 1916, was appointed Superintendent of Streets for the town of Weymouth, Mass., where I am now located. My wealth consists of a real wife and one husky daughter now a year old. Stocks, bonds, and government leaks do not affect my state of mind nor will the state of Massachusetts be affected by my income tax.

KENNETH SIMONDS JOHNSON

Born at Woburn, Mass., Feb. 12, 1885.

Parents: Edward Francis, Mary Elizabeth (Simonds) Johnson.

School: Woburn High School, Woburn, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degree: A.B. 1907.

Married: Grace Louise McCormick, May 2, 1913, Jersey City, N. J.

Occupation: Telephone Engineering.

Address: (business) 463 West St., New York, N. Y.; (home) 2540 Boulevard, Jersey City, N. J.

A FTER spending a year in the Graduate School of Applied Science and a year in the Graduate School of Arts and Sciences, I came to New York in the fall of 1909 and took a position in the Engineering Department of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. On the strength of this lucrative job—at $15 per—I joined resources with H. M. Tillinghast and A. B. Green to the extent of leasing a five-room apartment in the upper part of New York. After a couple of years, Green decided that married life in Maine was better than bachelor life in New York, so Tillinghast and I removed to a furnished room where we lived together for two years more.

In May, 1913, I followed Green's example and was married to Grace Louise McCormick of Jersey City, where we have since resided. In December, 1913, I took a position in the Engineering Department of the Western Electric Co., and am still there, trying to solve the varied and interesting problems which constantly arise in the telephone game.

Shortly after coming to New York, I became well acquainted with our classmate, Raymond O. Grover, and found him to be one of the best friends I have ever had. His sudden death last year was one of the greatest shocks which I have ever had.

Member: Musicians Society of Jersey City, N. J.; Towanda

Club of Woburn, Mass.

RODNEY CAMPBELL JONES

Born at Boston, Mass., June 1, 1885.

Parents: Westley, Cora Campbell (Stuart) Jones. School: Roxbury Latin School, Boston, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degree: A.B. 1907.

Married: Ilelen Darrow, June 1, 1910, Boston, Mass.

Children: Barbara Stuart, Oct. 31, 1911; Phyllis Cogswell, Sept. 28, 1914.

Occupation: with Vacuum Oil Co.

Address: (business) 49 Federal St., Boston, Mass., and 41 Commercial St., Portland, Me.; (home) Grassmere Road, Woodfords, Me.

A FTER graduation I spent the summer in an automobile tour of France, England, and Wales. On November 1, 1907, I started in the commission stock and brokerage business in Boston with the firm of A. S. Leland and Co., members of the New York and Boston stock exchanges.

In December, 1909, I went with Allen Arnold and Co. in the same business, organizing a statistical department for them.

While the brokerage business was profitable I made up my mind I did not care for it as a steady occupation, and in September, 1913, I went into the auto accessory business for myself. In September, 1914, my second daughter Phyllis was born. I had her all picked out as varsity material for P. D. but while she has the physique and the true fighting spirit I am afraid U 4 will thwart my ambition.

The auto accessory business was far from profitable and in January, 1916, I joined the Automobile Department of the Vacuum Oil Co. For a month I sold "Gargoyle Mobiloils" to the big auto truck owners in Boston. In February I was appointed representative for the state of Maine and moved to Portland May 1, 1916. Since then I have nearly solved the problem of getting twenty-five hours into a day and making two nickels grow where one used to.

Outside of the fact that I have just passed through a period of three feet of snow and 24° below zero, "All's very well with the world."

WILKINS JONES

Born at St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 6, 1885.

Parents: Silas Beverly, Harriet (Senter) Jones.

School: High School, St. Louis, Mo.

Years in College: 1904-07.

Degrees: A.B. 1907 (1909); LL.B. (Washington) 1910.

Unmarried.
Occupation: Law.

Address: (business) 1754 Pierce Bldg., St. Louis, Mo.; (home) 4339 Forest

Park Boul., St. Louis, Mo.

THE three years following graduation I spent at the St. Louis Law School, the Law Department of Washington University. After receiving my legal degree I secured an office on the top floor, seventeenth, of the Pierce Building, St. Louis, and started in to practise. I have changed my office once, to larger quarters on the same floor. Upon taking up my work I at once joined the Business Men's League of St. Louis, now the Chamber of Commerce, and have tried to take my part in helping along movements to advance the city. Last year, 1916, I was Chairman of its Lawyer's sub-division.

Whenever possible I have returned to Cambridge. The summers of 1908, 1909, and 1910 saw me there. The following year in August and September I went West through the Canadian Rockies, through California, and homeward through Yellowstone Park. For four months, in 1912, I travelled in Europe and had a wonderful time making real many things about which I studied in College. The summer of 1914 again saw me East, and of course at Cambridge, and again last year (1916) Cambridge drew me by its spell. The University is always progressing, the new library and freshman dormitories are evidences of the fact. And as the decennial approaches, one of the milestones for inventorytaking, I look back and feel some dissatisfaction when I consider what I might have done, yet something has been accomplished and I hope to do more in the future.

Unmarried.

Occupation: Law.

Address: (business) 317 Hennen Bldg., New Orleans, La.; (home) 4635

Baronne St., New Orleans, La.

A FTER leaving Harvard in 1907 I took a position as stenographer in a law office in New Orleans, reading law under the supervision of my employers and taking some special courses in law in the Law Department of the Tulane University of Louisiana. I was admitted to the practice of law by passing the examinations of the Louisiana State Bar Association and our Supreme Court on January 13, 1910. I have been practising law in New Orleans since.

In 1914 I served as Secretary of the Employers' Liability Commission of Louisiana, which Commission drafted the Workmen's Compensation Law of Louisiana.

I am a member of the following organizations in New Orleans: Jefferson Lodge No. 191, Free and Accepted Masons, of which I am a Past Worshipful Master; Gulf Lodge No. 221 of the Independent Order of B'nai Brith, of which I am a Past President; Miriam Chapter No. 17, Order of the Eastern Star, of which I am a Past Worthy Patron; Jerusalem Temple of Ancient Accepted Order of Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, of which I am at present Oriental Guide: 32° Mason of the Grand Consistory of Louisiana; Concorde Chapter No. 2, Royal Arch Masons; Louisiana Council No. 2, Royal and Select Master Masons; Shalimar Grotto No. 59, Veiled Prophets: University Club, of which I am Vice President: Harvard Club of Louisiana; Tulane Society of Economics, of which I am Vice President; Young Men's Hebrew Association, of which I am Vice President: Masonic Club; Tulane College Alumni Association and Tulane Forensic Club, of both of which organizations I am a Past President; and Benevolent Protective Order of Elks.

CHARLES FABENS KELLEY

Born at Boston, Mass., Oct. 18, 1885.

Parents: Augustus Hill, Julia Maria (Dyer) Kelley. School: Roxbury Latin School, Roxbury, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-06.

Degree: A.B. 1907.

Married: Marion Ludington Patten, Nov. 27, 1913, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Occupation: Teaching Art.

Address: (business) 203 Hayes Hall, Ohio State University, Columbus, O.; (home) 1951 Summit St., Columbus, O.

UITE accidentally I completed the work for my degree in 1906, but as I wished to be known as a member of '07, I took a year's leave of absence and studied painting until February. Then I travelled for a publishing firm for a few weeks and landed on the Boston Herald. I drifted into federal court reporting, and in consequence my valuable services were secured by the Advertiser, a conservative paper which believes in that kind of thing. The truth of the matter was, that my principal interests were along art lines, and I did not see just how I could make a go of it, so I took whatever came along. I may state emphatically, however, that I did not like the newspaper business. Dick Walsh, Dick Wiswall, and "Bucky" O'Neil were on the Herald when I was and I believe O'Neil is still there.

At the suggestion of my father I thought I would try to carry a little culture into the Middle West, so I managed to secure a position as cub instructor at the University of Illinois. There I stayed for six years, wrote a couple of books with two other Harvard men, and painted some mural decorations for the University Club at that institution.

In the fall of 1914, having been successfully married, I came to Columbus as head of the Art Department of Ohio State University. At Illinois they have no use for anything but the "material," and in consequence I could not say I enjoyed my work there, but here things are quite different, and I am having a chance to do constructive work with good backing. Perhaps you might say that I consider it my function to show the Middle West (in small part) the economic value of esthetics.

While at Illinois I was for two years Secretary of the Harvard Club of Eastern Illinois. At present I am Secretary of the Harvard Club of Central Ohio. I am (at present writing) President of the Faculty Club at the University here, but I shouldn't be surprised if there were another election shortly.

My principal interest is the study of oriental art, with the emphasis on Japan. For the past two years I have been learning to read and write the Japanese language. In three years more I hope to have a working knowledge of it.

One of my greatest regrets is that I missed the sexennial celebration.

Occupation: Chemistry.

Address: (business) Midvale Steel Company, Philadelphia, Pa.; (home) 40

East Tulpehocken St., Philadelphia, Pa.

A FTER graduating from College I continued in Cambridge as a graduate student in chemistry. During this time I taught in various courses in the same subject. In 1909 I was appointed instructor. At various times following this I taught in the courses then called Chemistry 1, 2, 5, 16, and 17. This I continued until the fall of 1912 when I left Cambridge to enter the employ of the Midvale Steel Company as research chemist. I am at present with this company, where, in addition to having charge of the laboratory, I have been working on various research problems about the plant, mostly of a metallurgical character.

Occupation: Advertising.

Address: (business) Greenleaf, Leon and Bryant Sts., Boston, Mass.; (home)

6 Coolidge Hill Road, Cambridge, Mass.

POR two weeks following graduation I took a vacation with my roommate, Clement Titcomb, and while on it decided to pass by the chance to go into my father's business. Instead I started work as messenger with the Old Colony Trust Company, Boston, and stayed there until February, 1908, having Stanley Swaim and S. P. Fay as fellow workers from 1907. From February, 1908, until December, 1910, I sold high school and college text-books for Allyn and Bacon, of Boston, travelling through Massachusetts, Connecticut, and Rhode Island most of the time. Asaph Haskell, 1907, was with the same concern for a time. From December, 1910, to January, 1912, I was in circulation work with the Curtis Publishing Company, Philadelphia. From January, 1912, to February, 1917, I was connected with the advertising department of the Plymouth Cordage Company, North Plymouth, Mass. I started work February 1, 1917, with the United Drug Company, where I shall serve as assistant advertising manager. I like my job and am glad to be back in Boston, where I can see more of 1907 men and keep in touch more closely with Harvard activities.

Occupation: Metallurgical Engineering.

Address: (business) c/o Anaconda Copper Mining Co., Anaconda, Mont.;

(home) 416 West Fourth St., Anaconda, Mont.

O'N leaving College in June, 1907, I went to Clifton, Ariz., where I was employed as a chemist by the Shannon Copper Co. In the following September, the panic having come on, the smelter was forced to close, and I was minus a job. Shortly after this I was attacked with rheumatic fever and spent the balance of 1907 recovering in a hospital.

Early in 1908 I was employed to make examination and report on several mining properties in New Mexico and had an interesting time.

Late in 1908, the mining business being very quiet, I went East and for two years was in the wholesale produce business in

Utica, N. Y.

In December, 1910, I accepted a position with the Anaconda Copper Mining Co. at Great Falls, Mont., and was employed by them in laboratory and research work for three and a half years. This smelter closed in the summer of 1914, and most of the staff, including myself, had to seek other employment. I soon became connected with a gold cyaniding plant at York, Mont., acting as mill foreman and assayer. However, after a short career this company went to pieces for lack of capital. In February, 1915, I entered the technical department of the Anaconda Mining Co., here at Anaconda, Mont., where I have since been employed.

JOHN EDWARD KIRWIN

Born at Norway, Me., Aug. 1883.

Parents: Michael Francis, Emma Jane (Shedd) Kirwin.

School: English High School, Boston, Mass.

Years in College: 1904-07.

Degree: A.B. 1907.

Married: Lillian Gertrude Loker, Oct. 18, 1913, Putnam, Conn.

Occupation: Efficiency Engineer.

Address: (business) Millis, Mass.; (home) 189 Tremont St., Newton, Mass.

I STARTED to learn the shoe manufacturing business with the B. F. Spinney Co., Boston, Mass. I stayed with this firm about one year, and then went with Dunn & McCarthy Co., shoe manufacturers, at Binghamton, N. Y. I left this firm and became Editor of Superintendent and Foreman, a technical paper for the shoe manufacturing trade. I entered the employ of Leather and Shoe Audit & System Co., 183 Essex St., Boston. I wrote series of articles on "Shoe Factory Efficiency," which were printed in book form by the L. & S. Audit & System Co. I decided to re-enter the factory and get into the details of the shoe manufacturing game again, so I went with N. B. Thayer & Co., manufacturers of boys', youths', and little gents' shoes, as efficiency man. After working for two years for the Thayer Co., I was tendered the position of superintendent of the Forbush Shoe Co., North Grafton, Mass.

I left the employ of the Forbush Shoe Co. to associate myself with a small shoe manufacturing concern in Canada, but, after a few months, I concluded that it could not be properly financed to assure success. I then returned to the United States, and soon after engaged with the Herman Shoe Co. at Millis, Mass., where I am still located as cost, efficiency, and system man. Another very important event in my life was my marriage in October, 1913, to L. Gertrude Loker, Wellesley, Class of 1906.

Born at Boston, Mass., Jan. 5, 1885.

Parents: Minot Melville, Martha Ellen (Marsh) Killredge.

School: Boston Latin School, Boston, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-07. Degrees: A.B. 1907; A.M. 1908.

Unmarried.

Occupation: Education; library work.

Address: Trinity College, University of Toronto, Toronto, Ont., Canada.

THE academic year following graduation, 1907-08, I spent at Harvard in the Graduate School of Arts and Sciences as University Scholar, and in June, 1908, received the degree of A.M. with honors in Romance Languages and Literatures. I was in France during the summer of 1908, and the two following academic years at Dartmouth College, Hanover, N. H., 1908-09 as Assistant Instructor in French, and 1909-10 as Instructor in French. During 1910-11 I was again at Harvard in the Graduate

In September, 1911, I came to Toronto, Canada, where I had accepted an appointment as Lecturer in French in Trinity College, one of the four Arts Colleges of the University of Toronto. which is divided into Colleges somewhat after the system of English universities. I was appointed Professor of French, in charge of the Department of French, at the same institution from the beginning of the year 1912-13. At the same time I became, ex-officio, one of the Governors of Trinity College School, Port Hope, Ontario. During the last two years, 1915-17. I have been a member of the Board of Graduate Studies of the University of In addition to my regular duties I became interested in library work, and was appointed Associate Librarian of the Library of Trinity College in 1913; and Librarian in 1914. As one of the results of this appointment I was elected a member of the Executive Committee of the Public Library Institute, Toronto District in 1915, and was re-elected in 1916.

I am interested in music and in the theater; and I have had some little business experience incidentally. My first attempt in the rôle of impressario came last December, when I undertook to arrange a concert here in Toronto in aid of the Canadian Section of the National Allied Bazaar held in Boston in the same month. I have at least tried consistently to keep out of a rut by having interests outside my regular university work, and so far I think I have succeeded. In this I have been helped not a little by the good fellowship of the members of the Harvard Club of Toronto, of which for the past three years I have been Secretary and Treasurer. It is an active and flourishing club, as any who read the Harvard Alumni Bulletin may notice. I still call Boston my home; and I have been fortunate in being able to spend a considerable part of each year in my own country.

Since August, 1914, living in Toronto has had the added interest of being in the second largest city of a country at war. Part of the college buildings have been turned into barracks, the campus has been used as a parade ground, and for the last two years I have been lecturing to what remained of my classes to the accompaniment of a military band, a drum and bugle corps, and a band of pipers! And in these years I have learned to know Canadians better than I ever thought I should, and to realize how much they have contributed to the cause of the Allies in this great war. The University of Toronto has sent more than 3600 men, undergraduates and graduates, with the inevitable sad consequences. Several members of my own classes have made the supreme sacrifice; and, I am glad to say, several have served their country notably. During all this time I have been proud to be able to point to what Harvard men have done for the same cause of liberty and democracy. And news has come this first week of April, 1917, which will make it possible to show with still more pride what Harvard men can do.

LEFT Harvard in order to enter the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis, where I graduated in 1909. Immediately thereafter I went to sea, where I've been ever since and hope to continue the rest of my days. First on the battleship Georgia as a Midshipman, I cruised around the West Indies, and in the following March (1910) I was ordered to the New York. which left immediately for the Orient. We spent some months in the Mediterranean, and then in Egypt, Africa, India, and the Straits, during which time I had some splendid shooting, and finally ended up in Japan. Then began a cruise of the Orient, during which we visited most every port from Rangoon to Northern Siberia, and most of the islands in between. In September, 1911. I was ordered to the Villalobos, one of our gunboats stationed on the Yangtse Kiang river in China, and it so happened that I was at Wuchang when the Chinese revolution broke out there. To be sure. I had no idea at the time that it was a revolution, nor did any of the troops who started the thing off by a meeting and the murder of all the Manchus who happened to be hanging around. It started out just as the usual sort of roughhouse they had had so often, with the usual burning and looting - no worse than the kind they had often had before; and then some newspaper correspondent or other happened to call it a revolution, and so a revolution it was. There were lots of battles about this time, and I had a front seat for them all, as they always took place on the golf course where I habitually spent much time. The reason was that the bunkers made excellent forts and the hazards were splendid trenches — besides they were ready made. Whoever got to the bunkers first and staved the latest won the They always knocked off fighting during lunch or tea time, for they considered that fighting during meal hours was just like making a flank attack — that is, that sort of thing isn't playing the game "—it simply "isn't done"—in China. Between battles I used to go around and buy crystals, jades, porcelains, bronzes, and all manner of junk from the looters (both sides looted indiscriminately) who had sacked the three richest cities in central China, Wuchang, Hanyang, Hankow, and had made a good job of it. So by virtue of great good luck and absolute ignorance, I picked up some quite wonderful loot. But that was my undoing, for from it has grown my life's passion. I developed a taste and a madness for old porcelains and bronzes that kept me in China for years, has kept me a pauper ever since, and will send me poor to my grave. I've no doubt. So right here let me advise against any such taste — for one becomes worse than a small boy with stamps — much worse.

After China I went back to the Philippines and was given command of a young gun-boat, the Pisculagua, and I was so proud - I was still a Midshipman - I nearly busted; but after I had been caught out in a few typhoons a thousand miles from nowhere, and had to do all the worrying for myself, I calmed down considerably. Then I took my ship down to the Sulu Sea to keep an eve on the Malay pirates who were trying to run in guns from Borneo to the Moros of the Southern Philippines, with whom we were having considerable trouble. And then I wandered back to Japan, and to my true love. China, where the beginning of the war found me — in Shanghai. But one night I happened to dine at the Shanghai Club — that wonderful old Club which includes most every race under the sun -- where night after night, year in, year out. Frenchmen and Germans and Austrians and Russians had embraced one another over the tenth cocktail - well, in looking over the menu-card I noticed that "Hamburg steak" had been scratched out, and "minced steak" written in in red ink. That was too much! It was no longer the place for me: straightway I set a course for New York. Well, it is a wonderful; place, this New York, especially when you've been away for years, and the lights are bright, and the music is gay, and the sweetyoung-things are gloriously lovely, and . . . and so on, - but "Take me somewheres East o' Suez" . . . you know the rest. But it's better than you can even imagine - you'd best come take a look. Don't wait too long though - a man ought to be young and red-blooded.

THE following synoptic description tells the whole story: from 1906 to August, 1907, I held the position of computer at the Bausch Lomb Optical Company; 1907-11, I was instructor at Barnard College, Columbia University, New York, N. Y. Here in 1910 I secured my A.M. degree; 1911–12, instructor at Washington University, St. Louis; 1912–13, resident student at the University of Chicago, in 1913 I secured my Ph.D. in mathematics; 1913–14, Professor of Mathematics, Ripon College, Ripon, Wis.; since 1914, Assistant Professor of Mathematics, Armour Institute of Technology, Chicago, Ill.

My summers have all, with two exceptions, been spent on my brother's farm in West Falls, N. Y.

WALTER NIND LACY

Born at Pleasant Prairie, Wis., Dec. 12, 1884.

Parents: William Henry, Emma (Nind) Lacy.

Schools: West Division High School, Milwaukee, Wis., and Ohio Wesleyan

University, Delaware, O. Years in College: 1906-07.

Degrees: A.B. 1907; A.M. 1908; S.B. (Ohio Wesleyan) 1906. Married: Helen Julia Murdock, July 30, 1908, Delaware, O. Children: Martha, Nov. 3, 1909; Elizabeth, May 21, 1911.

Occupation: Teacher.
Address: Foochow, China.

A FTER completion of my work at Harvard in 1908, I was married to Helen Murdock and we sailed for China. My appointment was to the Anglo-Chinese College at Foochow, China, and I have been connected with this institution from that time to the present. In the spring of 1910 I was put in charge of the Foochow Branch of the Methodist Publishing House in China, with which I am still connected. In the summer of 1915 I took my family for a year in the United States, and spent one semester studying at Teachers' College, New York, and one semester studying and teaching at the Ohio Wesleyan University. Returning to China in the fall of 1916 I took up my old work, and have since been appointed Principal of the Mintsing Boys' Higher Primary School, in addition. This school is located fifty miles inland from Foochow and most of the time (necessarily) is in charge of the assistant principal, a Chinese man.

HAVING completed my work for the bachelor's degree in my Junior year, I spent my Senior year in graduate study, beginning research on a geological problem on which I devoted much time during the academic years 1906–11. The report on this investigation constituted my thesis for the doctorate in geology. During these and succeeding years I taught in the following capacities: 1907–08, Assistant in Geology, Harvard and Radcliffe Colleges; 1908–09, Head Assistant in Geology, Harvard College; 1909–10, Instructor in Geology, Harvard and Wellesley Colleges; 1910–11, Instructor in Geology, Harvard and Wellesley Colleges; 1911–12, Instructor in Geology, Harvard, Radcliffe, and Wellesley Colleges; 1912–14, Instructor in Geology, Massachusetts Institution of Technology and Wellesley College: since 1914, Assistant Professor of Geology at Massachusetts Institution of Technology, and instructor of Geology at Wellesley College.

As a geologist my summers have necessarily been largely devoted to field investigations. In 1907 I spent three months in the West, seven weeks in Montana, and five weeks on the Pacific coast and in the Canadian Selkirks and Rockies. In 1908 I was able to spend some time in looking over the classical geology of England. The summers of 1909 and 1910 were devoted to field work in Rhode Island: and the summers of 1911, 1912, and 1914, to field work in New Hampshire. In 1913 I had the good fortune to be engaged by Dr. Adolf Knoff as his assistant in geological research in the High Sierra Nevada in Southern California. The summer of 1915 was given to completing a manual and text-book on field geology. Finally, in 1916, I was appointed instructor in the Harvard Summer School of Geology in Colorado.

My present interest and study is largely concerned with the application of geology to problems of engineering, a topic of vital importance to practising engineers and to the public at large.

Degree: A.B. 1907.

Unmarried.

Occupation: With Stone & Webster.

Address: (business) 147 Milk St., Boston, Mass.; (home) South Ave., Weston, Mass.

In 1907 I entered the employ of Stone & Webster, and am glad to say that I am still with them. After two years of accounting, I was transferred to the Securities Department where I handled some of the correspondence and the trading. Later, as a salesman, I specialized in public utility securities; but with the change in the policy of the firm since the formation of the American International Corporation, I have been doing a general securities business.

When the war broke out in 1914 I offered my services to the State Department in Washington, but as they apparently were not needed, I decided thereafter to mind my own affairs. After the Lusitania massacre, however, I joined the rush to Plattsburg, and enjoyed the experience sufficiently to give up another vacation last year in order to attend a second camp. Now it is a question of ethics whether to accept a commission in the Officers Federal Reserve Corps. If a Democrat I should say, Yes; but being a Republican I dislike the idea.

Married: Agnes Bella Lawson, Feb. 22, 1908, Brookline, Mass.

Children: Frederick Hugh, Aug. 4, 1910; Lawson, Jan. 26, 1914; William

James, March 14, 1916.

Occupation: Civil and Hydraulic Engineer.

Address: (business) Drawer V, Harrisburg, Pa.; (home) 2209 North Second St., Harrisburg, Pa.

T LEFT College in 1905 to enter the United States Consular Service at Sonneberg, Germany, where I stayed until 1906; then returned to the United States and did some private engineering work, later entering the employ of the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Co. on the subway loop work around City Hall. I did most all the lay-out work on this end of the job, and as I saw the finish ahead in the fall of 1907, I took a position as assistant engineer with the Water Supply Commission of Pennsylvania. At first I examined water power and water supply systems and propositions all over the state and reported thereon. Later I took over the hydrographic work and then became division engineer in charge of all the streams in Pennsylvania in connection with bridge building, dams, fills, and obstructions in and along the harbor lines. The work is so interesting that I have staved with the state longer than I at first expected to do. However, like Federal work, the future of state work is not enticing and I intend to make a change soon. I often am called on outside work as consulting engineer, which opens a good field.

My interests are my family of boys, hunting, which I do every fall, fishing, sailing, and motor-boating. As my family spend five months at our summer home on the New Jersey coast I can indulge in the three latter and some hunting each year.

I prefer the outdoors for real life, but enjoy my clubs, in some of which I have been active in executive positions. I have one hobby that is not at all harmful, namely, I collect and search for Indian relics in this state. Unfortunately Harrisburg is a Yale and Princeton town. There are half a dozen other Harvard men but we never get together. I joined the Harvard Club in Philadelphia, but never get around as my other activities in Philadelphia take up too much time. I would like to get on to the Reunion but doubt if I can as that hits me at my busy time.

I have offered my services to the U.S.A. in the Naval Coast Defence Reserve for home service but absolutely refuse to go out of the country to fight. I enjoyed the H. A. Bull and am getting hald like 1910 in the inside of the last page of the cover.

Occupation: Law.

Address: (business) 37 Wall St., New York, N. Y.; (home) 131 West 74th St., New York, N. Y.

I RECEIVED the degree of LL.B from Harvard Law School as of the class of 1910. On July 5 of that year I became a law clerk in the office of L. H. Rowe, Esq., 165 Broadway, New York City, and remained until March 23, 1911, on which date I went with the law firm of Underwood, Van Vorst, & Hoyt, 25 Broad St., New York City. On January 1, 1912, I became managing clerk of its successor firm, Van Vorst, Marshall & Smith, at the same address, and continued in that position until November 19, 1912, when I became assistant to Mr. Van Vorst, and travelled considerably in connection with the firm's business.

In the early summer of 1914 I came in contact with Hastings Lyon, Esq., a graduate of Harvard Law School, practising at 141 Broadway, New York City. In August of that year I left Van Vorst, Marshall & Smith, and after a two months' vacation in Canada with my wife, returned to New York City to take up my duties in the partnership which had been fermed with Mr. Lyon under the firm name of Lyon & Lilly with offices at 141 Broadway.

On May first of this year we removed our offices to 37 Wall Street where we continue the practice of law.

PAUL HUNTINGTON LINABERRY

Born at Bradford, Pa., March 24, 1885.

Parents: William Lowell, Laura (Laflin) Linaberry.

School: Oneonta High School, Oneonta, N. Y.

Years in College: 1903-06, 1907-08. Degrees: A.B. 1907 (1908); A.M. 1910.

Married: Elizabeth Mary Barnes, June 14, 1909, Oneonta, N. Y.

Children: Rosamond Elizabeth, Feb. 3, 1912; Pauline Suzanne, Jan. 18, 1914;

Earl Barnes, Aug. 13, 1916.

Occupation: Instructor in French.

Address: (business) Phillips Exeter Academy, Exeter, N. H.; (home) 12 Ash St., Exeter, N. H.

I NOTICE that the closing words of my "life" in the third Class Report are: "In June, 1912, I was appointed instructor of French in the Phillips Exeter Academy, which position I now hold." These words may well serve as the beginning of my fourth report.

The last four years have been spent hard at work in that position: it has been work in which I have taken much pleasure. Teaching in a large boys' school has more connected with it than the merely mechanical class-room drill. Among other activities I have been out on the playing field coaching a football team in the fall, and in the spring I have been in charge of a league of dormitory baseball teams. And now I am ending the academic year by a ten days' sojourn in New York City to act as reader in French for the College Entrance Examination Board. After all, the most important event in my life during these last four years was the arrival of my son Earl Barnes on the thirteenth of August, 1916; he is already making preparations to enter Harvard with the Class of 1938. The only possible regret that I may have about him is that he is not the Class Baby. Most of my summers are spent in Exeter where I have a home, it might almost be called "a country place," with sufficient ground to afford play room for my children and to raise a bountiful supply of garden sass. I lead an almost bucolic existence without feeling that I am in any way rusticating. I anticipate no immediate change in my work or my life.

MARK LINENTHAL

Born at Boston, Mass., Nov. 2, 1886.

Parents: Michael, Yetta (Golden) Linenthal. School: English High School, Boston, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degree: A.B. 1907.

Address: (business) Amherst College, Amherst, Mass.; (home) 3 Northampton

Road, Amherst, Mass.

FOUR years in the Graduate School, four years teaching Greek I and Latin at Harvard, two years at Amherst, and deponent still "believes in the classics." My summers have been spent mostly among the Plymouth County ponds, not eventful except 1914 and 1915. On July 8, 1914, I sailed with J. V. Fuller, '14, for a short Mediterranean trip on a Fabre Line boat, calling a few hours each at ports in the Azores, Lisbon, Barcelona. and Marseilles. I could recommend this plan - submarines excepted - to any '07 man looking for a pleasant and inexpensive vacation trip. Leaving Fuller at Mentone, I crossed the Italian frontier a week before French train service was discontinued, was in Rome when the first declarations of war were reported, and going on to Greece reached Athens the day news came of England's declaration against Germany, - with no available funds, and no prospect of getting any, as the banks were refusing even U. S. Government drafts. Mr. Weirick, the American consul, had 100 francs on hand and was facing the prospect of living on them indefinitely. The next morning the situation had cleared up a little, and by the end of the week four stranded Americans got passage on a Greek steamer for Italy. We were a queerly assorted lot of passengers that sat down at the long mess table - some ten English engineers, refugees from Servia, as many Germans and Austrians, one very elegant French gentleman, with a sprinkling of Italians and Swiss. Further complications resulted from the booking clerk's practical joke: he had assigned berths on the international plan — first an Englishman, then a German, then the Frenchman, then an Austrian, and so on down the list. At that we were more comfortable than on the sixteen days' trip from Naples to New York in the steerage of a Sicilian immigrant boat, where the bill of fare had to be helped out by bribing stewards to pass over chocolate from the ship's stores, and as one fellow adventurer phrased it, "a bath was an historic event."

On September 1, 1915, after a day's exploring trip into the Hampshire County hills, I signed articles to teach Latin on President Meiklejohn's "new model" at Amherst. Translated into Harvard terms, this means Latin put into the most workable shape possible as part of study for a degree in "history and literature," and thought of as an integral part of a college course leading students "to attempt to understand the lives which other men are living with lesser degrees of understanding. . . . to reflect upon their living, to formulate the beliefs on which it is based, to study the conditions by which it is molded, to bring to clearness the problems by which it is faced, to study the moral, social, economic, political situations of which it is constituted." — (Amherst Catalogue, 1917, page 14.) And so Professor Haskins, "The New Humanities," in W. H. Crawford's "The American College." I have come to feel strongly that this ought to be the aim of any college course as such, distinguished from specialized training preparing for teaching, medical school, etc. It would follow that any of us may naturally ask himself whether our courses in college kept this aim mainly in view. To quote from a recent address of President Meiklejohn's at Rutgers College: "What man is loval to a college? Surely it is the man who is interested in the 'interests' of the college. . . . If the college has given itself up to the pursuit of knowledge and appreciation, philosophic, literary, scientific, humanistic, no man who has ceased from that pursuit is, in any genuine sense, a member of the college community." In line with this I would suggest that one of the most worth-while expressions of loyalty to Harvard may be an intelligent and sympathetic interest in the undergraduate courses where such "humanistic" study is the main purpose, and in the problems which the shaping of these presents. Such interest implies naturally study of the situation in the given subject; and any opinions arrived at as a result, if communicated through the Bulletin or — perhaps through the proper committee of the Overseers as representatives of the alumni, would be a help towards better adjustment of the courses in question to the broader ideal of the college.

WILLIAM MORTON LITTLE

Born at Malden, Mass., July 19, 1884.

Parents: George Godfrey, Georgia Russell (Fowler) Little. School: Winchester High School, Winchester, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-04.

Married: Estelle Rood Archibald, March 29, 1914, Malden, Mass. Children: Madeline, Jan. 3, 1915; Margery, April 18, 1916.

Occupation: Office Manager.

Address: (business) 154 Tremont St., Boston, Mass.; (home) 11 Cambridge St.,
Winchester, Mass.

HAD a desire to see our country when I left College and went west to a mining camp in Nevada, where I stayed a year. I worked in mines, prospected, and took a trip through Death Valley, Cal., during that year. Later I became connected with the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. in New York, in a travelling position which kept me on the road for several years. I covered forty-one states very thoroughly, and saw the sights and gained information very valuable to me. After that I lived a year in San Francisco, Cal. I returned to my home in Winchester, Mass., in June, 1912, and have remained here since. I have been an office manager and accountant since that time. In March, 1914, I was married in Malden, Mass., the city I was born in. I have two baby girls now, Madeleine and Margery. No more travelling for me!

I am Secretary of the Winchester Boat Club and Junior Warden in the Masonic Lodge in Winchester, Mass.

Member Winchester Boat Club and Wm. Parkman Lodge, A. F. & A. M., Winchester, Mass.

Berry, Oct. 4, 1915.
Occupation: Merchant.

Address: (business) Room 26, Fruit Produce Exchange, Boston, Mass.; (home) 1025 River St., Hyde Park, Boston, Mass.

A S the Boston connection, in association with my father, of the firm of D. F. Littlefield, Wholesale Fruit, Produce, and Grocers' Supplies, a concern established in 1861, and as President of the Joseph Warren Co-operative Bank, trustee of two real estate trusts, and, incidentally, interested in one of the business phenomena of this generation, the motion picture industry, I find myself hardly able to realize that ten years have elapsed since "that day" in June, 1907, so rapidly and pleasantly have the years passed for me.

Happily married and with our children growing up, I look towards the future contentedly and regard the past without regret.

ALLAN STEPHEN LOCKE

Born at Portland, Me., June 7, 1885. Parents: Joseph A., Florence P. Locke.

Prepared by lutor.

Years in College: 1903-1907. Degrees: A.B. 1907; LL.B. 1910.

Unmarried.

Occupation: Law.

Address: (business) 36 Wall St., New York, N. Y.; (home) 4 West 53d St., New York, N. Y.

In August of that year I took the Maine bar examinations at Portland, and after being sworn into practice there in October, came to New York to establish a residence — which has since continued — and to prepare for the New York bar examinations. In the course of time I was admitted to the New York bar and to the Federal Courts — attempting during this interval various methods of procedure from acting as a law clerk to attempting independent practice. From March, 1913, until May, 1916, I was associated with the firm of Emmet & Parish at 52 Wall Street, when I started my own office at 36 Wall Street where I am now located. Vacation periods have frequently found me in New England, either in Maine or New Hampshire, and I have been somewhat into the Adirondacks. Much of September last year was spent in the Province of Quebec, Canada.

MEMBER: Harvard Club of New York City; The Association

Unmarried.

Occupation: Law.

Address: (business) 10 Tremont St., Boston, Mass.; (home) 115 Neptune Road, East Boston, Mass.

TPON my graduation in 1907, I took up the study of law at the Harvard Law School. Believing that law was not my subject, after having had one year's study, I then attended the Business School at Harvard. Later, however, in 1910, I again took up the study of law, this time at the Boston University Law School, and graduated from that institution in 1912. I was admitted to the Bar of Massachusetts in 1911, and since that time I have been practising law in Boston.

WALTER LOVELL

Occupation: Law.

Address: (business) 54 Wall St., New York, N. Y.; (home) Riverdale-on Hudson, N. Y.

DURING my senior year I did the work for an A.M. degree, which I received in 1908. While at the Harvard Law School I was an editor of the Law Review, and an assistant instructor in economics in the College. I duly finished my Law School course in three years, and took the degree cum laucle in 1910. I obtained a job with the firm of Carter, Ledyard & Milburn, and have stuck in the same place ever since. I have had a variety of experience in law practice involving questions from the value of a horse-bite by an express truck horse to the liability of the German government for neutral cargoes sunk by commerce raiders and submarines. Although I have not specialized in any particular branch of law, I have had many interesting cases in admiralty, and since the war especially in prize court matters and war questions affecting shipping.

On February 14, 1911, I was married to Judith Folger Longyear and am still so married. Two husky future Harvard halfbacks (three and a half years and sixteen months respectively) constitute the family.

JAMES JOSEPH McCARTY, Jr.

Born at Lowell, Mass., March 26, 1885.

Parents: James Joseph, Mary Catherine (Crowley) McCarty.

School: Lowell High School, Lowell, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-06. Degrees: A.B. 1907; M.D. 1910.

Unmarried.

Occupation: Medicine.

Address: 2501 Monroe St., Chicago, Ill.

LEFT College in 1906 to enter the Medical School, although graduating with the Class in 1907. After serving my time in Medical School, I entered upon an interneship at the Carney Hospital, South Boston, leaving there in April, 1912. This was a very pleasant experience. I practised for awhile in Lowell. Mass., and then accepted an appointment as interneat the Chicago Lying-in Hospital from January to July, 1913. Then I decided to stay in Chicago, and while looking around for a location. I accepted a temporary clerical position in the taxation department of the city, which paid me a very good living wage. My conscience did not trouble me in accepting the money when I discovered. on account of my position, that most millionaires seemed to be poverty stricken, judging from the personal property they would schedule for taxation. In October, 1913, I began private practice and am still on the job. I do not have to rely entirely upon my ability to pry a dollar or two from the lame and the halt for sustenance, as I am a health officer in the public schools under Chicago Civil Service and am also an Examiner for the New York Life Insurance Company. I was an Instructor in Obstetrics and Diseases of Children at the University of Illinois Medical School, and am at present Associate in the Department of Diseases of Children at the Chicago College of Medicine and Surgery.

Member: Harvard Club of Chicago, Irish Fellowship Club.

Stayms Club, Chicago Medical Society.

THE summer of 1907 I devoted to reacquiring that health of body and mind which a strong finish at the University had forced me to relinquish. A good rest interspersed with a little travel was followed by three months in the office of Lee, Higginson & Company, Boston, after which I was deployed as a decoy for idle but ambitious money in the, at that time, almost undisturbed but wholly uninvested precinct of New England, Rhode Island and Providence Plantations. After having scoured the country from the Atlantic to the Pacific for the wherewithal to invest this lusty, yet entirely uninstructed infant of means, Providence,during the course of which I gathered from the civilized cities of Puget Sound, the stifling bowels of the earth at Butte, and the sulphur burning smelters of the Great Falls of the Missouri, where milk is red, not white, those wonders without which no peddler of bonds bearing a rate of interest greater than four per cent would be safe in the presence of the person to be persuaded, prim New England or the less, Providence the proud prodigy-I resigned and went South in 1909-10 to recover again. I had invested Providence, but at what cost. The insatiable voracity of the growing youth, so shortly apparent, is so notorious that the financial fodder of a nation flows east, and north, and south in his direction, and there is now nothing, be it four, six, or twenty, at which his digestion rebels. Bond men a fair field!!!

On my return north in December, 1910, I was elected a Director of the Columbus Exchange Bank in Providence, became private secretary to my father, devoting considerable time on the side also to the composition and study of music, became a charter member of the University Glee Club of Providence, an organization of college graduates, similar to the New York University Glee Club, and was the accompanist of the club for five years until this year, when I became its President. In 1912 I was a semi-finalist in the Rhode Island golf championship and the next spring runner-up in the spring championship, and the same year was elected Secretary-Treasurer of the Rhode Island Golf Association, which office I still hold, and was Captain of the Rhode Island Golf Team for three years. I am at present Treasurer of the Providence Symphony Orchestra, and also of the Community Chorus of Providence, a movement similar to Barnard's New I was also for two years a Vice-Presi-York Community Chorus. dent of the Rhode Island Federation of Musical Clubs.

I was married in 1915 and have a little daughter who is remarkable among other things in being beautiful and still looking like her father.

As to business: in September, 1915, I was elected Treasurer of the Harris-Corliss Engine and Machine Company, which, under the name Wm. A. Harris Engine Company, is one of the oldest and most widely known builders of Corliss-type steam engines in the United States, and in January, 1916, I was elected a director of the Mechanics National Bank of Providence, one of the oldest banks in the city, so that it appears already that I am one of the old crowd.

Member: Harvard Club of Rhode Island; Hope, Providence Art and University Glee Clubs, Providence; Rhode Island Country Club; Agawam Hunt Club.

GILL McCOOK

Born at Steubenville, O., Aug. 16, 1882.

Parents: George Wythe, Annie Louise (Gill) McCook. School: Phillips Exeter Academy, Exeter, N. H.

Years in College: 1903-05.

Unmarried.

Occupation: Manufacturing.

Address: (business) Steubenville, O.; (home) 631 North Seventh St., Steubenville, O.

FROM 1905 to 1907 I was in the sales department of the La-Belle Iron Works, Steubenville, O., and the next year I was in Alberta, British Columbia, and Washington, holding various jobs, among them railroad express messenger's guard for Wells, Fargo & Co., with headquarters in San Francisco. From 1910 to 1912 I was with Gill Bros. Co., Steubenville, O., manufacturers of illuminating glass-ware, in the capacity of foreman of a factory department and of salesman through the middle western, eastern, and New England states, and in the summer and autumn of 1912 on the Pacific Coast from Edmonton and Vancouver to San Diego and Calexico. In 1913 and 1914 I was with the Pittsburgh Crucible Steel Co., Midland, Pa., in the auditing department. During 1914–15 I was in Cleveland, O.

I spent August, 1915, with the First Training Regiment at Plattsburg, N. Y., Company B. In September and October, 1915, I was with Company B in the officers' training camp at Fort Sheridan, Ill., with the rank of Corporal of Infantry. In May, 1916, I was at Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., in the first business men's cavalry troop, Troop A, 2d Cavalry. From Oglethorpe I went to Atlanta and Savannah, Ga., and sailed from the latter city for Boston. From Boston I went to the June cavalry camp at Plattsburg, back to Ohio in July, and down the St. Lawrence to Montreal in time to attend the August cavalry camp at Plattsburg, where I served as platoon sergeant in I Troop, 2d United States Cavalry.

I am writing these lines on the last day of January in Los Angeles, Cal., from where I have been looking at alfalfa and hog ranches in the southern part of the state, and incidentally playing a little golf.

I note with pleasure that our Secretary has "done his bit" on the Mexican border. Years in College: 1903-05.

Married: Myra Theresa Costella, June 24, 1908, Cambridge, Mass.

Children: Barbara Louise, Nov. 11, 1910; Dorothy Gertrude, Jan. 21, 1913; Harvey Sumner, May 28, 1914; Edith Marjorie, Aug. 2, 1916.

Occupation: Accountant.

Address: (business) c/o Boston & Maine R. R., 152 Causeway St., Boston, Mass.; (home) 28 Otis St., Melrose, Mass.

WHILE at College, and for the greater part of a year afterwards, I was engaged in research work at the Harvard Observatory, under the direction of Prof. E. C. Pickering. During these years, variable stars of the Algol type were diligently pursued by comparative means. Several hundred were charted and their periods ascertained. The first spectrum of lightning was also obtained by Prof. E. S. King, in which capacity I was acting as his assistant.

Leaving Cambridge, I went West, became interested in placer mining and was appointed secretary to my father, who was president of the Black Gnat Mining Co., of California.

After two years I returned East, married, and settled down. I secured a position with the Boston & Maine R. R. in their auditing office. Tariffs, rates, and earnings are now my daily courses.

HORATIO SPRAGUE McDEWELL

Born at Winthrop, Mass., July 9, 1885.

Parents: Henry Martin, Hallie Eliza (Soule) McDewell.

School: Phillips Exeter Academy, Exeter, N. H.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degrees: S.B. 1907; M.M.E. 1908.

Married: Esther Kellogg, July 29, 1914, Boston, Mass.

Child: Virginia, Sept. 17, 1915.

Occupation: Education and Engineering.

Address: (business) 210B M. E. Laboratory, University of Illinois, Urbana, Ill.: (home) 1405 South Orchard St., Urbana, Ill.

IN 1908-09 I returned to Cambridge for post-graduate work—specializing in internal-combustion engineering, and holding an appointment as Austin Teaching Fellow in the Thermodynamics and Mechanical Engineering Laboratory. Following this, I served an apprenticeship in the gas engine department of the Allis-Chalmers Co., Milwaukee, Wis. After the completion of this apprenticeship I continued to work for the same company until August, 1913, as gas engine erecting engineer. During this period I travelled pretty much all over the country east of the Mississippi, and as far west as Kansas City, erecting and starting large gas engine plants and acting as physician for sick gas engines. For six weeks in May and June, 1911, I enjoyed the pleasures of walking typhoid and spent the following year recuperating.

In August, 1913, I left the employ of the Allis-Chalmers Co., and spent the following year in writing on internal combustion engineering topics. On July 29, 1914, I was married to Miss Esther Kellogg of Brookline, Mass., and in the last week of August we left Boston for Urbana, Ill. Here, at the University of Illinois, I have been teaching the young idea the theory, practice, and design of internal-combustion engines and kindred subjects. As a "light occupation" I have availed myself of the opportunity for further study by taking graduate courses in advanced thermodynamics, thermo-chemistry of combustion, and the mathematical theory of elasticity.

On September 17, 1915, we were gladdened by the arrival of a small daughter, since which time our education can truly be said to have commenced.

Occupation: Lumber.

Address: (business) Waterboro, Me.; (home) 17 Bolton St., Portland, Me.

IMMEDIATELY upon leaving College I began work as an investigator with The Investor's Agency, New York City. I remained with this concern eight months, during which time I had some interesting experiences, particularly in connection with the investigation of the office of the President of the Borough of the Bronx. About May, 1908, I accepted a position as Assistant Secretary of the National Civil Service Reform League, with offices at 72 Wall St., New York City. Here I passed three pleasant years, although an inside job never really seemed to fit me. I had an itching for something more practical, so I gave up this position and after an unsuccessful trial as an accountant, accepted a place as treasurer of a lumber company here in Maine.

This business venture has turned out fairly well, well enough to make it seem sensible to take unto myself a wife. This I did soon after getting under way here in Maine. We live in Portland, and spend our summers at Ossipee Lake, Maine, a splendid play place for our two little Marbles, Mary V., and Charles B., Jr.

With me it has been a series of years given up chiefly to the interests of our little family and to the material side of life. I hope that in a future report I may appear less self-centered.

JAMES HOWARD MEANS

Born at Dorchester, Mass., June 24, 1885.

Parents: James, Helen Goodell (Farnsworth) Means. School: Noble and Greenough's School, Boston, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-07. Degrees: A.B. 1907; M.D. 1911.

Married: Marian Jeffries, Jan. 11, 1915, Boston, Mass.

Occupation: Medicine.

Address: (business) Massachusetts General Hospilal, Boston, Mass.; (home) 15 Chestnut St., Boston, Mass.

FTER leaving Gollege I went through the Harvard Medical A School, graduating in 1911. From August, 1911, to March, 1913. I was a medical interne at the Massachusetts General Hospital. In the spring of 1913 I spent several months engaged in research at the Nutrition Laboratory of the Carnegie Institution in Boston. The summer and fall of 1913 I spent travelling abroad with P. D. White, '08, and I worked in the physiological laboratories in Copenhagen and Cambridge, England. In December. 1913. I returned to the Massachusetts General Hospital, having been given the Henry P. Walcott Fellowship (Harvard), which I held for the next three years. My time was spent largely in the investigation of certain problems in physiology and pathology. Last summer I was given a new position, on the full time basis. at the Massachusetts General Hospital, with the title of Associate in Medicine. This work consists in teaching, in research, and in having charge of one of the medical services for half the year.

The line of work I have chosen, while less remunerative than private practice, is extremely congenial. It brings one in contact with men engaged in advancing medical science in many localities in a way that private practice cannot.

Since the fall of 1915 I have been a First Lieutenant in the United States Army Medical Reserve Corps, and since last spring a member of the Red Cross Base Hospital, No. 6. These activities are largely on paper, but are a step in the medical aspect of our much needed preparedness.

I wish to take this opportunity to express my most profound sympathy for our excellent Secretary. I am Secretary of my medical class, and last summer edited a class report. I, therefore, can appreciate better than many what a teamster's job this report writing is. Knowing how annoying it is to have men slow in sending in their "lives" I am punctiliously sending in mine the same day the blank arrived.

I have published about twenty papers on medical subjects. They are so technical that their titles would mean nothing to the lay members of the Class and the medical members have probably already been invaded by reprints. My most monumental work is unquestionably the "Secretary's Report No. 1, Harvard Medical School, Class of 1911." If you don't believe it I will send you one and you can give it the once-over.

IN the fall of 1906 my physician ordered me to drop college work at once and take a sea voyage, or my eye trouble would give me a real case of nervous prostration. I went to Jamaica, landed at Kingston on a Friday, bumped into the great earthquake the following Monday afternoon, camped out for a few days without too much comfort, had two old ladies from Pennsylvania to steer through the quake zone, got some amusement from their solicitude for their goods and chattels, and had a very rough time getting back to the U.S.A. Eyes a little better.

From 1908 to the fall of 1916, I took part in appendicitis, ptomaine poisoning, auto-intoxication (nothing to do with alcohol or automobiles) and several minor troubles, mostly due to the eye trouble. I had periods of comparative comfort as I changed glasses. One specialist after another. Operation, no ether, left eyeball cut, muscles moved, eye ball sewed up. Time: actual, one hour. Time: my feelings, one month and three days. Operation helped some. Still not 50 per cent. efficient. Life, black as your hat.

I always liked the smell of gasoline. Bought several old cars, took them apart to see what made 'em go. Learned how not to pinch a clinched tire, also how to crawl under a car in evening clothes, to put on a chain. Sold cars in various sections of the country. Also tried my hand at the piano business, real estate, advertising, and writing fiction.

In the fall of 1916 I went to work for the New England Signal Truck Agency. Still there, but shall resign soon to attend to my own business. Invented a few weeks ago a "Safety Signal" for automobiles. Worked nearly forty-eight hours straight to get models in Boston Auto Show. Did it. Have patent well under way, and Massachusetts Corporation forming to make "Protecta" Signals. Own the patent rights and all the stock. Don't know how much there is in it, but have already sold some — enough to assure me of being able to finance it myself. Still writing advertising for several concerns. Not "arrived," but, I hope, "on the way."

A college man never in his whole life knows quite so much as on the day he graduates. Then, armed with a full equipment of book knowledge, he goes forth, confident in his power to conquer the world. He knows it all.

During the first few years in business, our Graduate, if he has real "man-stuff" in him, learns at least one thing: that he is no better man just because he is a college man. Perhaps our Graduate takes a position, a subordinate position — how he does hate the word "job" — under some high-school chum whose native ability and courage have won him promotion. Here we have the elements for a clash, finely-polished theory against practical experience.

Now, if both our friends have strong characters, a conflict is sure to come. Theory finds business run not at all to suit him; hot criticism follows, hasty words are spoken. Then comes the critical time in our Graduate's career. He can show himself a narrow-minded "snob"—there is no other word to use.—or a real man, magnanimous enough to fight fair, and big enough to admit his inferiority to his less-educated, but more efficient co-worker, whose two-fisted energy has made him twice the man of affairs our Graduate is at present.

One may say that the most valuable acquisition a man gets in college is learning how to learn. If at the beginning of his business career the Graduate uses this faculty, applying it in the way of learning from men, as he formerly learned from books, then his success, if he is honest with the world and with himself, will surely come. If he has brains enough to get a college diploma, and will subdue his ego to the yoke of service, he can get pretty much anything he goes after, and his college education will, in the long run, prove his greatest help in reaching the heights.

As Socrates says, "Know thyself!" It is not weakness, but the best of strength, to be able to say, and believe it yourself, to the man in overalls, "Brother, though I meant well, I did you a wrong. Will you forgive me?" It is not easy, but it is the only way to right living and success.

EDWIN ALONZO MESERVE

Born at Charlestown, Mass., May 10, 1884. Parents: Alonzo, Abbie Marilla (May) Meserve. School: Boston Latin School, Boston, Mass. Years in College: 1903-06, 1908-09.

Degree: M.D. 1913.

Married: Daphne Mildred Copp, Oct. 20, 1915, Boston, Mass.

Occupation: Medicine.

Address: 266 Belmont St., Watertown, Mass.

▲ FTER graduating from Harvard Medical School, I took one A year's hospital service at the Newton Hospital, which was one of the best years of my short life's experiences. (Incidentally I met my wife there as she was an assistant to the Superintendent of nurses!) On finishing my interneship there, I was appointed surgeon to an exploring party sent out under the National Geographic Society to the Andes of Peru, South America. Here a wonderful, exciting, awe-inspiring four months was spent among glaciers 16,000 feet above sea-level, and among the gorgeous tropical lowlands, travelling ground where no white man had ever been before. My first night in camp was signalized by a midnight attack by Indian marauders, and my last day was celebrated by being sunk at sea by collision, to be picked up from the open life-boats. In between times, as a climax to continuous hair-raising exploits when one's life hung but by a thread, we were driven by the German raiders into a neutral port and kept prisoners.

After all these thrills, I settled down to the sober and not too "get-rich-quick" life of a practitioner of medicine. I put in one year and a half on the Staff of the Boston Dispensary as a District Physician, until the stress of private practice made me give it up for lack of time.

For two and a half years I have been, and now am, Consultant Physician to the Welsbach Gas Co. of New England, having full charge of the medical work there. I am also Assistant Physician to the Boston Baby Hygiene Association, where I have a clinic of about sixty babies. I have also been Medical Examiner of the New England Order of Protection for the past two years.

FREDERICK HEARD MIDDLETON

Born at Laconia, N. II., April 5, 1886.

Parents: Walter Dennison, Kate Kimball (Putnam) Middleton.

School: Boston Latin School, Boston, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degree: A.B. 1907. Unmarried.

Occupation: Farmer.

Address: Marlboro Road, Hudson, Mass.

FROM 1907 to 1912 I was in a stock broker's office, and the next two years I was with a pork packing establishment. During the year 1914-15 I attended Massachusetts Agricultural College and since then I have been farming in Hudson, Mass.

HERBERT JAMES MILES

Born at Brookline, Mass., Oct. 22, 1883.

Parents: Jonas Michael, Lizzie Baxter (James) Miles. Schools: High Schools at Brookline and Concord, Mass.

Years in College: 1904-07.

Degrees: B.A.S. 1907; M.F. 1910.

Married: Caroline Raymond Benton, Nov. 25, 1914, Newton, Mass.

Child: Hester B., June 7, 1915.

Occupation: Forester.
Address: Westerly, R. I.

THE college year 1907-08 I attended the Graduate School of Arts and Sciences, and the years 1908-10 the Harvard Forest School. During the summer of 1908 I studied at the Summer School in Cambridge.

From July, 1910, to February, 1912, I was in the United States Forest Service, and was stationed in Oregon until October, 1911, when I came East on leave of absence.

On February 1, 1912, I resigned from the Forest Service and opened an office in Boston for the practice of consulting forestry in the firm of Miles and Hall. The firm was dissolved in October of that year, and I continued to practise alone at 28 Adams St., Brookline.

During the spring terms of 1912 and 1914 I taught forestry at Rhode Island State College. In the spring and summer of 1914 I did forest survey work for the Massachusetts State Forestry Department.

Since August, 1914, I have been with the United States Bureau of Entomology, in the branch which is engaged in the suppression of gipsy and brown-tail moths. I have been stationed at Westerly, R. I., except for a period of ten weeks in the summer of 1916 when I was at the Gipsy Moth Parasite Laboratory at Melrose Highlands. Mass.

LEIGHTON MILES

Born at De Witt, Neb., June 2, 1886.

Parents: Francis Wayland, Mary (Leighton) Miles.

Schools: Keystone Academy, Factoryville, Pa.; Cambridge Latin School, Cambridge, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degree: A.B. 1907.

Married: Pauline Hudson, Aug. 1, 1914, Kansas City, Mo.

Occupation: Land Inspector.

Address: 511 Bryant Bldg., Kansas City, Mo.

FUTURE generations will look back on the first day of August of the year 1914 as a day fraught with greatest historical importance for it marked the beginning of the Great European Conflict. For me it has an added significance as it was my wedding day. (No analogies countenanced for one minute.) Beyond the momentous event of my marriage to Miss Pauline Hudson there has been little to record for the past four years.

The first six years of this decade I spent in the East with the Dennison Manufacturing Co. in South Framingham and Boston, and later in a box business in New York City. I have not been East since I came out here in January, 1913, to serve as assistant to the inspector for five large investment companies, with head-quarters in Dundee and Edinburgh, Scotland.

My work has been most interesting. It has entailed lots of travelling, and in the course of my various trips I have ranged from the Rio Grande to the Saskatchewan, and from Portland, Orc., to New Orleans. There have been hardships a-plenty on these inspection tours but they have been far outweighed by the benefits and the enjoyments. The close communion with Mother Nature which is a certain development of four years study of her boundless possibilities is a delightful acquisition. There has been much pleasure on these rounds in being associated with and entertained by successful business men of the highest type. There has been even some little satisfaction in mulcting some faithful sons of Eli a few annual shekels, a tribute to the prowess of our great football machines. May the "balance of power" long stay by us.

Parents: Arthur Dudley, Cornelia (Knower) Mills.

School: Albany High School, Albany, N. Y.

Years in College: 1903-07. Degrees: A.B. 1907; M.F. 1911.

Unmarried.

Occupation: Forest Examiner.

Address: c/o U. S. Forest Service, Yreka, Cal.

FOR the last six years I have been filling a small place as forest assistant and forest examiner in the administration of National Forests in California. My principal assignment during the last three years has been in land classification, the object of which is to segregate lands within the forests which are chiefly valuable for agriculture from the permanent forest lands, thus aiding both in practical agricultural development and forest management.

In connection with the preparedness movement the Forest Service has a field of usefulness of its own. All work which tends to stabilize forest industry and develop and perpetuate national resources not only helps to ensure permanent prosperity in peace times, but also aids in fitting the country for a war crisis. In the actual defense of the country, in the event of war, efficient forest organizations, both national and state, will furnish valuable material for reserves. They could be used as auxiliary to the military forces in the mountains.

WILLIAM MINOT

Born at Warcham, Mass., Aug. 15, 1885.

Parents: William, Elizabeth Vredenburgh (Van Pell) Minot.

School: Noble and Greenough's School, Boston, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degree: A.B. 1907.

Married: Lucy Greenleaf Woodworth, June 23, 1908, Brookline, Mass.

Children: Lucy Woodworth, Dec. 12, 1909, died April 28, 1910; Grace Woodworth, Nov. 7, 1911; William, Jr., Sept. 23, 1914.

Occupation: Real Estate Organizations.

Address: (business) 18 Tremont St., Boston, Mass.; (home) 142 Marlboro St., Boston, Mass.

ON leaving College I entered the Law School, and stayed there for two years. I then became a member of the Massachusetts Bar, but have never practised law. The autumn of 1909 I entered the office of my uncle, Laurence Minot, where I am still working. The office manages a large number of estates and real estate organizations. After a few years I specialized in the latter, becoming Treasurer of the Woodbourne Co., a management corporation, and Assistant Treasurer of the Boston Ground Rent Trust and the Western Real Estate Trustees.

At this time I had to give up my interest in various public-spirited organizations for which I did a good deal of work my first few years in business. The most important of these were the Boston City Club (of which I was Treasurer for three years), the Boston Chamber of Commerce (in which I was President of the Under Forty Division for one year and served on various committees), the Good Government Association, Massachusetts Fish and Game Protective Association (executive committee), Noble and Greenough's School (Treasurer), Society for the Promotion of Public Training (member organization committee), Wells Memorial Association (Trustee), Boston Floating Hospital (Trustee), Milk and Baby Hygiene Association (Trustee), Republican Ward 11 Committee, Boston.

I have had to resign from all of these duties, on account of business pressure, except the Good Government Association, of which I serve on the executive and finance committees, and Noble and Greenough's School, of which I serve as Treasurer.

My business makes it necessary to travel around the country a good deal, and in this way I have gradually broadened my interests. My active business in real estate organization management now carries me to Detroit, Milwaukee, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Sioux City, Omaha, Denver, Kansas City, and Atlanta, visiting other cities from time to time on prospects. We also manage various organizations whose properties are in Boston.

I am now serving as Assistant Treasurer in the Boston Ground Rent Trust and Western Real Estate Trust, and as Treasurer of the Western and Southern Associates, Whitehall Real Estate Trustees, Bay State Associates, Improved Dwellings Association, and The Woodbourne Co. I am serving as President of the City Land Co., and the Iowa Securities Co. (a holding company for shares of financial institutions in Sioux City), as Trustee of the Commonwealth Syndicate Real Estate Trust and Share and Mortgage Trust, and as Director of the Cambridge Electric Light Co., State Street Trust Co., Boston Storage Warehouse Co., National Dock and Warehouse Co., Boston Cooperative Building Co., American Core Twine Co., and Messimer and Carrean, Inc., a real estate brokerage company in New York.

WARD MAYHEW PARKER MITCHELL

Born at New Bedford, Mass., Sept. 2, 1883. Parents: Cecil Wallace, Lydia (Parker) Mitchell.

School: Helicon Hall, Englewood, N. J.

Years in College: 1903-07. Degrees: A.B. 1907; LL.B. 1910.

Married: Eleanor Washington Swann, June 7, 1916, Richmond, Va.

Occupation: Law.

Address: 17 Milton Road, Brookline, Mass.

I WENT through the Harvard Law School, graduating in 1910. I spent some months abroad, in England and France. I came to New York City in the spring of 1911, and have remained there until the present time. I was admitted to the New York Bar in the spring of 1913. I have since practised law independently and in the office of McLaughlin, Russell, Coe & Sprague. I was married on June 7, 1916, to Miss Eleanor Washington Swann, of Richmond, Va. The wedding was attended by one member of 1907, Walter H. Pollak. The best man was Orlando M. Barnes, a Harvard Law School classmate of 1910, with whom I also spent three months upon the Mexican Border as a member of Company "G" of the Seventh Regiment, having been called into active service on June 19, the last day of my wedding-trip. I was furloughed to the National Guard Reserve on September 22, and am now momentarily expecting another call to arms against a more formidable adversary.

Occupation: Medicine.

Address: (business) 47 West Elm St., Brockton, Mass.; (home) 202 Spring

St., Brockton, Mass.

I COMPLETED my work in College in 1906, having studied very little and learned much less; and entered the Medical School in September of the same year.

School in September of the same year.

Never having entered the race in College for a Phi Beta Kappa Key, I found the "trench life" in the Medical School rather serious. During the latter part of my fourth year in the Medical School, I was eliminated from the list of aspirants for an M.D. for that year by receiving a surgical appointment at the Massachusetts General Hospital. This necessitated reentering the School after completing my hospital service and receiving my M.D. in 1911.

In September, 1911, I settled in Brockton, Mass., where I have practised since. My work has been limited to surgery.

My life has been a busy one since I came here, but as yet I have not been mentioned in the "Who's Who and Why" column of the Saturday Evening Post.

During the autumn of 1916 a strong desire which had been growing for over two years, reached such proportions that it could no longer be denied, and leaving our two small children with relatives, my wife and I sailed for France and entered the service of the American Ambulance Hospital at Neuilly-sur-Seine, I in the capacity of assistant surgeon and my wife as an auxiliary nurse.

It would be a waste of space in the Class Report to attempt to describe my work and experiences. They were very similar to the experiences of many other American M.D's. who have done their bit for the Allies and who have been able to describe what they saw so vividly on their return. My one great regret was that I was unable to remain in France until the end of the war.

THE year after leaving College I held the Fellowship of Central American Research at the University, receiving my master's degree in 1908.

For the last eight years I have spent the winters and springs in Central America and southern Mexico in archaeological research.

From 1909 to 1914 I held the Central American Fellowship for the Archaeological Institute of America. This took me to the state of Yucatan, Mexico, twice (1909 and 1913), and to Guatemala and Honduras four times (1910–1912, 1914).

During this period I had charge of the excavation of the ancient Maya city of Quirigua, Guatemala, which flourished from 475 A.D. to 540 A.D. A brief account of this work appeared in The National Geographic Magazine for March, 1913.

In addition to this large piece of work, a number of smaller explorations were undertaken, including a very arduous, and as it turned out, a very dangerous trip down the little known Usumacintla River of southern Mexico. On this trip I had the misfortune to enter Mexico by her back door, just at the time the United States Marines were occupied in forcing her front door, i.e. Vera Cruz, April, 1914, and a hasty retreat back through the jungles of Guatemala was effected forthwith.

For the past three years, 1914-17, I have been connected with the Carnegie Institution of Washington as Research Associate in American Archaeology. During this period I have continued to make yearly trips to different parts of the Maya field, and have been lucky enough to discover much new material, hieroglyphic inscriptions, monuments, temples and the like.

The most important discovery during this period, and in fact throughout my connection with this work, was made in May, 1916, when I found a large ruined city in the dense tropical forests of Peten, northern Guatemala, which turned out to have the earliest monument yet reported from any center of this ancient American civilization, dating from about 50 A.D.

The past decade has brought me many hair-breadth escapes in the Central American bush, and the fact that I have escaped thus far unharmed, is chiefly due to good luck, and to the wellknown Class propensity for "putting it over."

ERNEST EDWARD FRANCIS MORRISON

Born at Allston, Mass., June 25, 1884.

Parents: David Franklin, Mary Hannah (Lynch) Morrison.

School: DeMerritt School, Boston, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-04.

Unmarried.

Occupation: Sales Manager.

Address: (business) 188A State St., Portland, Me.; (home) 186 Maxfield St.,

New Bedford, Mass.

THE reason that I withdrew from Harvard before finishing my course was on account of receiving my appointment as Lieutenant in the Marine Corps. I left Boston and journeyed to Annapolis where I put in one year in attempting to ascertain how little I knew and how much the powers that be knew. The result of these mental clashes resulted in the withdrawing of my forces and making an attack on the commercial battlefield.

In this line my endeavors have been mostly connected with the sales departments of the concerns I have been battling for.

However, I have also launched out in the construction engineering lines, being one of the engineers in charge of bridge and building work in putting the Western Pacific Railway through the Great Salt Lake salt fields and over the Rockies. On finishing up this work. I was planning to go to India to follow up railroad work, but unfortunately the gold fever at this time struck me and so I made ready an outfit and started from Las Vegas, Nev., for a tour of the Grand Canyon and, following my program, plowed about the deserts of Southern Nevada, including a trip into Death Valley. I spent a very delightful eight months in chasing my golden Chimera, but found in the end only disappointment and sickness, as I was taken out in the desert with typhoid fever and just managed to get back to Salt Lake City in time to get into the hospital and there lay unconcious for ten weeks. When I had recovered my strength I felt that home was a pretty good place, so after spending a few months in the South recuperating, I came back to Boston and took up my business threads once more by going to work for my own folks. I spent about three years at this work in New York as assistant in the shoe department of James McCerry's. From there I went to our Philadelphia Sorosis store. However, my health would not stand the strain of the inside work, and after a couple of months in a Pennsylvania Sanitarium I joined the forces of the Barrett Company as district salesman, having charge of Southern New England territory for these people for two and a half years. Then I had another attack of inflated Ego and went into business with Mr. Edward Durant, in New Bedford, doing a wholesale roofing and supply business. At the end of a year we stepped out very luckily with our clothes on our backs and I guess that was all.

At the present time I am New England Sales Manager for the Beckman-Dawson Company of Chicago, manufacturers of asphalt shingles, and the Acorn Refining Company, of Cleveland, manufacturers of asbestos roofing materials and paints. Business is coming in very well now and I hope that any '07 man who is contemplating building will not forget to bring his roof troubles to me.

Up to the present time I have not joined the rank of the college benedicts but I hope that by reunion time I can present a "Mrs." to my fellow classmen.

CLEVELAND MORSE

Born at Clinton, Mass., Nov. 18, 1884. Parents: George W., Lydia (Bates) Morse.

School: Worcester Academy, Worcester, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degree: A.B. 1907.

Unmarried.

Occupation: Vice-President, E. P. Bartlett & Co.

Address: (business) 1350 West Grand Ave., Chicago, Ill.; (home) 1324 Elmwood Ave., Wilmette, Ill.

A FTER graduating in 1907 I was engaged in the real estate business in Boston, but after two years was compelled to leave that city (not by the police but from purely domestic reasons) and return to Clinton, Mass., the town of my birth. Once landed there I had to find amusement as there was not business enough to take up my time. I served on various town boards, and finally was elected Chairman of the Board of Selectmen. I was also Secretary of the Cemetery Trustees, President of the Chamber of Commerce, and along with all this was serving faithfully as Second Lieutenant of K Co., Ninth Massachusetts Infantry. In this capacity I went to Lawrence, Mass., "and bled and died and almost fought" at the time of the strike.

Gradually, however, I tired of the life there, and in 1913 I came to Chicago and engaged in business. My modesty forbids my speaking further, however, of this, and if you really are inquisitive I would kindly refer you to Bradstreet. Suffice it to say that I am contented and happy in old Chicago.

June next will be the month of months, for not only will I attend the celebration but in that month also will I embark upon the Sea of Matrimony. If all goes well I will be in Cambridge for the show.

Occupation: Consulting Agricultural Expert.

Address: (business) 1001 Hibernia Bldg., New Orleans, La.; (home) 1624

Eighth St., New Orleans, La.

FTER graduating from College in 1906, I went to Mexico as A Assistant Field Manager of the Tlahualilo Agricultural Company, Tlahualilo, Durango, Mexico. This company had 25,000 acres in cotton alone and was said to be the largest cotton plantation in the world. I resigned and returned to the United States early in the summer of 1907. During 1907-08, I obtained much valuable experience working for Warren H. Manning, the wellknown landscape designer of Boston; Isaac Hicks & Son, nurserymen, Westbury, Long Island, N. Y.; and the Agricultural Experts' Association, of New York City. In the fall of 1908 I became Assistant Managing Editor and Agricultural Expert of The Country Gentleman, holding this position until early in 1910, when I resigned and went to Mexico. I returned from Mexico, married Elizabeth Fenn Leonard of Albany, N. Y., and went back to Mexico as Agricultural Expert of the National Railways of Mexico and the Mexican Express Company. In the spring of 1911 conditions became very unsettled in Mexico and I returned to this country, purchasing a farm at Northboro, Mass. Until September, 1913. I practised as a consulting agricultural expert, covering the East, Middle West and part of the South, operated my farm. and wrote and lectured. I next went to Arizona as Professor of Agriculture at the University of Arizona, Tucson, Ariz. In 1914 I became Superintendent of the Arizona Agricultural Extension Service and State Leader of County Agents, United States Department of Agriculture. I was also founder and Secretary of the Arizona Farm Improvement Association. In August, 1916, I resigned to enter commercial work, and in December, 1916, opened an office as consulting agricultural expert in New Orleans, La.

EUGENE ELLIS MUNN

Born at Chicopee Falls, Mass., Aug. 23, 1884.

Parents: George Merritt, Sarah Arnold (Ellis) Munn. School: Fitchburg High School, Fitchburg, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degree: S.B. 1907.

Married: Robina Robertson Oliphant, Sept. 30, 1911, Springfield, Mass.

Child: Eugene Ellis, Jr., July 14, 1915. Occupation: Engineering Salesman.

Address: (business) 93-95 Pearl St., Boston, Mass.; (home) 25 Cutter St.,

Warerley, Mass.

IN July, 1907, I entered the Tramway and Suspension Bridge Department of the John A. Roebling's Sons Company at Trenton, N. J., where I remained until July, 1911, designing and erecting aerial tramways and suspension bridges. At that time I was transferred to the office of their New England Agents, the Durable Wire Rope Company, Boston, Mass., where I am still located. Since returning to Boston my duties have been those of mechanical and sales engineer for the above company.

On September 30, 1911, I was married, at Springfield, Mass., to Miss Robina R. Oliphant of that city. We have one son, Eugene Ellis Munn, Jr., born July 14, 1915. These have been the two real, big, happy events in my life in the last ten years.

We are living in Waverley, only twenty-five minutes from Harvard Square, and hope all our friends will come to see us during the reunion this June.

Occupation: Stock Broker.

Address: (business) 53 State St., Boston, Mass.; (home) Whitelawn Ave.,

Millon, Mass.

A FTER leaving College at mid-years, 1907, I went on a shooting trip in the South with Bill Long, and on my return entered the stock brokerage firm of Weld, Grew & Company to learn what I could of this business. After a year or more I went with a bond house, Millet, Roe and Hagen, and remained with them for about one year. On November 1, 1909, I started in business with Bill Long, under the firm name of Long and Nash, and we have been at it ever since. Also as a side issue I have a poultry establishment in Milton, and if any one wants to see "the real birds," let them visit my plant. I have Bantams and Langshans, and Fred Warren can testify as to their qualities, or you can look up their records at Madison Square Garden, New York, or at Boston.

However, the greatest event in my life has been my marriage in 1913, and I have two of the finest children you ever saw.

NATHANIEL CUSHING NASH, Jr.

Born at Cambridge, Mass., June 19, 1885.

Parents: Nathaniel Cushing, Nellie Munro (Fessenden) Nash.

School: Noble and Greenough's School, Boston, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degrees: A.B. 1907; LLB. 1910 (1911).

Unmarried.

Occupation: Law.

Address: (business) Room 1051, 53 State St., Boston, Mass.; (home) 1 Reservoir St., Cambridge, Mass.

As a partner of the firm of Goodale & Nash, I am practising law in Boston. In addition to the attention required by my growing law practice, I have participated somewhat in politics, representing my ward as a member of the Cambridge Common Council for the year 1914–15. I am a director of the Cambridge Trust Company. My vacations are spent fishing and hunting in the Maine woods. Having been, for many years, closely identified with rifle and pistol shooting around Boston, the preparedness movement saw me a member of a training battalion, in which I now hold the rank of First Sergeant. During 1916, I had entire charge of the outdoor rifle practice of this organization, and am now engaged in helping in the rifle instruction of the recruits of one of the units of our National Guard.

SAMUEL HART NEWHALL

Born at Lynn, Mass., June 2, 1886.

Parents: Freeman Howard, Helen Johnson Newhall.

School: Classical High School, Lynn, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degrees: A.B. 1907; A.M. 1908; Ph.D. 1913.

Married: Mary Simmons Francis, June 25, 1915, Exeter, N. H.

Child: Stafford Hart, May 2, 1916.

Occupation: Teaching.

Address: (business) Deerfield-Shields High School, Highland Park, Ill.;

(home) 405 Beech St., Highland Park, Ill.

I REMAINED at Harvard as a student until June, 1911, then I taught three years at Exeter, one year at the Hill School, one year in Baker University, Baldwin, Kans., and at present I am in charge of Latin and Greek in the Township High School in Highland Park, Ill.

JAMES ARTHUR NEWMAN

Born at Winchester, Mass., Feb. 26, 1885.

Parents: John Robert, Mary Anna (Wadleigh) Newman.

School: Winchester High School, Winchester, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Married: Bertha Jane Waldmyer, Oct. 31, 1913, Winchester, Mass.

Child: James Arthur, Jr., Nov. 21, 1914.

Occupation: Manufacture of chicken in glass jars.

Address: c/o Elmtree Poultry Farm, Inc., North Leominster, Mass.

SINCE leaving College I have travelled quite extensively — especially through Canada — up and down the Labrador coast, Newfoundland, and Nova Scotia. After trying several lines of business I was offered the excellent position of Assistant Manager of the Elm Tree Poultry Farm, Inc., in North Leominster. In this large manufacturing plant, we put up hundreds of chickens a day in glass jars. The chicken is put in the glass jars raw and is then cooked by a secret process. We are the only concern doing this successfully today. Our complete line includes all the byproducts of chicken such as livers, cream chicken, potted chicken, etc., as well as all kinds of fruits and vegetables. Our product is sold from Boston to San Francisco and is used on all the warships of the United States Navy, even as far as the Philippines.

In sports, I have followed up sailing and canoeing, and have twice assisted in defending the American Challenge Cup for sailing canoes, against a Canadian challenger, and twice against a Swedish challenger.

My other hobby is ice-boating, and principally through my efforts there has been built up a fleet of twenty-five ice-boats, which we sail and race on the Mystic Lakes, Winchester, Mass.

This is the largest fleet east of the Hudson River.

CHARLES ELIOT NICHOLS

Born at Somerville Mass., Oct. 25, 1884.

Parents: John Loring, Emma Amy (Taylor) Nichols. School: Somerville Latin School, Somerville, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degree: A.B. 1907.

Married: Vera Maud Bunker, Aug. 7, 1909, Hancock, Me.

Children: Charles Eliot, Jr., April 22, 1910; John Loring, Nov. 24, 1914;

Ruth Bunker, March 18, 1916.

Occupation: Structural Engineering.

Address: (business) 147 Milk St., Boston, Mass.; (home) 26 Spruce St., Watertown, Mass.

I DEVOTED two years to work in the Graduate School of Applied Science after receiving my A.B. The fruits of this graduate work were a thorough grounding in the theoretical fundamentals of building and other structural designing, particularly in reinforced concrete design; an increased store of pleasant recollections to carry through life, and a very lean purse — but no further degrees.

After being married in 1909 we (it is we from then on) migrated to the Pacific Coast and settled in Seattle, Wash., to oppose the threatened falling off of population following the A. Y. P. fair. I spent two prosperous years in Seattle and Portland and then moved the small family to Keokuk, Ia.

My work in Keokuk during 1912 on the engineering and construction of the power development for the Mississippi River Power Co. was tremendously interesting and instructive, but I appreciate now the reason John Benbow did not go home to that section of the country to settle down.

Since the latter part of 1912 we have been in or near Boston devoting our best energies to "the early education of the child," and to the design and construction of the new Massachusetts Institution of Technology buildings with a view to the possible future education of said children.

Engineering and construction work with the Stone and Webster Engineering Corporation bids fair to keep me located in Boston for several years to come.

Born at Haverhill, Mass., Oct. 6, 1883.

Parents: James M., Eliza (Marsh) Nichols. School: Milton Academy, Milton, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degree: A.B. 1907.

Married: Margaret Rowe, Oct., 1909, Cincinnati, O.

Children: Harold Willis, Jr., Jan. 3, 1911; Margaret Elizabeth, May 24, 1912; Sarah Marsh, Sept. 13, 1915.

Occupation: Pulp and Paper Manufacturer.

Address: (business) c/o The Fox Paper Company, Lockland, Cincinnati, O.;

(home) 2345 Madison Road, Cincinnati, O.

I SPENT the summer of 1909 travelling abroad with Adams Leland, going to work in Cincinnation my return. I have been connected with the Fox Paper Company for nearly seven years, the last three or four years as President. In 1912–13 I organized the Chesapeake Pulp & Paper Company of Virginia.

Except during an occasional eastern trip, I have seen very little of the 1907 men, but have impressed upon John White and the few other classmates who have dropped in, the amount of genuine pleasure it gives us to have them with us.

Born at Oxford, Pa., Nov. 6, 1879.

Parents: Conrad Henry, Emma (Dickel) Nieweg.

н 1907 — 18

Schools: Oxford Academy, Oxford, Pa., and West Chester State Normal School, West Chester, Pa.

Years in College: 1903-06. Degree: A.B. 1907 (1906).

Married: Adell A. Taylor, June 27, 1906, Cambridge, Mass.

Occupation: Education.

Address: (business) South Philadelphia High School for Boys, Broad and Jackson Sts., Philadelphia, Pa.; (home) 53 Price Ave., Lansdowne, Pa.

IMMEDIATELY following my graduation, or rather the granting of my diploma (in 1906, "as of" 1907), I returned to the profession which I had interrupted in order to be a Harvard man. From September, 1906, until March of the next year, I taught in the High School at West Chester, Pa., when I was so fortunate as to be elected Head of the Department of History of the Central High School of Pittsburgh, Pa.

The following summer the South Philadelphia High School for Boys was opened, and I was chosen a member of the original faculty. My wife and I moved from Pittsburgh and stationed ourselves in the residential section of West Philadelphia. That spring we chose the suburbs of the city for our residence, where we may be found at any time except the summers.

The past ten years, therefore, have found me enjoying a head-ship of the language department in one of the largest high schools in the state. I had in the interim the task of assisting in the organization of another secondary school in West Philadelphia, — an experience of two years which I have since found very profitable in my present executive work.

My future seems to lie in my present environments. We have magnificent appointments in a wonderfully equipped institution, and a faculty of sixty-five men, drawn from all parts of the United States, and representative of the best universities in the world.

Among my outside interests in the past ten years, I might mention: membership in the Philadelphia Classical Club, Director of the Lansdowne Republican Club, President of a Delaware County Baseball League, Member of Columbia Lodge, No. 91, F. & A. M.

Ave., Chicago, Ill.

As an undergraduate I intended to study law, and accordingly entered the Harvard Law School in 1907. In one month the embryo passion to become a legal light died. November, 1907, saw me with a job as Secretary of the American Boiler Economy Co., of Philadelphia, Pa., piloted by Charles M. Clark, 1903.

In another year I was married. After a few more months it was decided that the occult science of boiler economy could be better practised under another name and in a different climate. With these changes made, I bobbed up as Vice-President of the Northern Equipment Co., of Chicago, Ill.

Then came my son John. He is now seven. He fights; I have heard him swear; since his ambition to become a policeman subsided, he wants to play football for Harvard; and, withal, he does very well in school.

Until 1911 I worked with the Northern Equipment Co. Then I became nervous and by way of a cure attended a sanitarium called the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration for a year. The cure was complete in that it revealed an easier way to feed the mouths and clothe the backs of those dependent upon me.

The Northern Equipment Co. was sold, and the Atlantic Co. was organized, of which Clark became President, and I became Vice-President. Please note that under our name we could do anything, but being forward looking, we installed an equipment of automatic screw machines and proceeded to frighten our competitors in Chicago.

The weaning of an Eastern man from the East is a terrible job. Clark could not stand Chicago. He picked up the Atlantic Co. and moved it to Boston in 1914. This left me unattached. Thinking I had become something of a screw maker I decided, after sleepless nights, to start a company of my own. It was the Automatic Screw Machine Products Co., started July, 1914. In a month the war almost upset my pet project. But I had read in the Harvard Classics that "Fortune is a fickle dame; at times she frowns and at times she smiles." I waited for the dame to smile, and, true to her reputation, she did. It so happened that the demand for our products was greatly inflated by the war. Thus the company prospered and is now fairly well established.

In 1914 we were blessed with a second son, Richard. He is chiefly interested in Harry Lauder selections on the Victrola. On rare occasions he will listen to his father sing the Dutch Company. I hope he will some day do his part to tie a knot in the bull dog's tail, an operation which I, by the way, have never been fortunate enough to see.

Occupation: Real Estate.

Address: (business) 414 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.; (home) 15 East

10th St., New York, N. Y.

A FTER leaving College I entered the banking business in Boston. In the early part of 1910 I had an opportunity to travel throughout New England for a prominent engineering firm. As there seemed to be no future in this work I went to New York City in 1911 and began work with the American Real Estate Company. Later I went with Douglas L. Elliman when he opened his own firm, which was incorporated in January, 1912. Starting with the firm at its inception, it has been a great source of satisfaction to help in its growth; it has become today one of the leading firms in this city. At the last annual meeting of the directors of Douglas L. Elliman & Co., I had the gratification of being elected to the board of directors and given an interest in the firm. The pursuit of my work has been my principal effort and I have entered into no other interests worthy of mention.

A short trip in the West is the only travelling I have done. On November 16, 1916 I was married to Miss Eva Mali, daughter of the Belgian Consul General, Piere Mali. Other than the above there has been very little in my life of interest to others.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degree: A.B. 1907. Unmarried.

Occupation: Soldier.

Address: 1 East 51st St., New York, N. Y.

(The following information about Walter Oakman was furnished by Harold W. Bell. — Ep.)

OAKMAN left this country and arrived in London in September, 1914, with the idea of taking part in some form or other in the war. Soon after his arrival he fell in with Richard Norton, back for a short time from France for the purpose of organizing the "American Volunteer Motor Ambulance Corps." This Corps has since done splendid work behind the French lines. Oakman promptly joined, as did "Dill" Starr. who happened to be in London at the same time. They both went with the Corps to France where they remained until December.

About this time Oakman and Starr decided that the ambulance work was too slow and they returned to England and enlisted in the R. N. V. R. for service in the pre-tank armored motor cars, Oakman as chauffeur and Starr as general supernumerary and utility man. They were, of course, under the orders of the British Admiralty at this time. They saw active service and took part in the battle of Neuve Chapelle in the spring of 1915. In May or June, Oakman and Starr were both commissioned as sub-lieutenants and returned to England. This was about the time of the Allied expedition to Gallipoli, and Starr was sent to the Dardanelles with the gun equipment for armed motor cars and Oakman returned to Dunquerque. After a short stay in France he was sent back to England because the armed motor cars then in use were not satisfactory in connection with trench warfare. Oakman spent the summer of 1915 in England under canvas with his Corps.

When, shortly afterwards, this branch of the armed motor service was abandoned, Oakman tried for a commission in the Royal West Kent Regiment with the idea of proceeding to Gallipoli, but the regiment left before he succeeded in being attached to it and went to Saloniki. A little later Oakman was commissioned as second lieutenant in the Coldstream Guards and went into training at Windsor for the winter of 1915-16. In the spring of 1916 he left for France and after a few weeks behind the lines was sent into the front trenches. Within twelve hours after his arrival he was hit and very badly wounded and as a result one of his kidneys had to be removed. When sufficiently recovered he was sent to a nursing home in London where he made a slow recovery, two more operations being necessary. Last fall he was returned to "light duty" at Windsor and was used in training new units. He expects very shortly to be sent back to France for active service.

Parents: Henry R., Rosa Carl Oberholtzer. School: Davenport High School, Davenport, Ia.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degree: A.B. 1907.

Unmarried.

Occupation: Journalism.

Address: (business) Ranier, Minn.; (home) 35 Oak Lane, Davenport, Ia.

URING 1907-08 I studied landscape architecture at the Harvard Graduate School. In July, 1908, I went steerage to England, remaining until December. In the spring of 1909 I was Managing Editor of the Rock Island Union, Rock Island, Ill. For a year from June, 1909, I did independent geographical work in the Rainy Lake District of Ontario. In July, 1910, I went to Europe, where I travelled and studied at the British Museum. London. In March, 1911, I accepted a position as American Vice and Deputy Consul at Hanover, Germany. I resigned this position in October, 1911, to resume geographical work in Canada. From June to November, 1912, I made a two thousand mile canoe trip with one Indian to Nutheltin or Sleeping Island Lake in the barren lands of Northwestern Canada.

Since 1913, I have lived almost continuously among the pagan Ojibwa Indians in the territory north of and tributary to Rainy Lake, Ontario. I have made numerous trips alone on snowshoe or in canoe to tribes within a radius of 250 miles, one of the objects being to record in their own language, and from their own dictation, their old legends and songs.

TY life since leaving College has been outwardly uneventful. Delicate health caused me to give up business in the autumn of 1910, when I returned to Harvard to work in the Graduate In the spring of 1911 I received the A.M. degree. was during this winter that I took up the study of Old and Middle Irish, and acquired a knowledge of and interest in Irish literature and life, which has continued to occupy my attention. summer of 1911 I paid my first visit to Ireland. During the winter of 1911-12 I was Assistant in English at Harvard and did further work in Middle Irish. The following winter I suffered a complete breakdown in health and was forced to give up teaching. It was then that I conceived the idea of collecting fugitive verses which I had written from time to time since graduation, and trying to bring out a small volume. As I was in England in the early summer, I took my book to Elkin Mathews, in London, and he accepted it, publishing "Celtic Memories and Other Poems" in the autumn of 1913. The book was rather favorably noticed in England, and was imported and published in this country by John Lane Company, who have since published my books in the United States. During part of the summer of 1913, and during the spring and summer of 1914, I had the pleasure of living in an ancestral place in County Cork, Ireland, which gave fresh impulse to my love for that country, and to my literary activities.

So far as I know, I am the only man in the United States or Great Britain doing original creative work who has at the same time a knowledge of Old and Middle Irish. It is the spirit and beauty of early Irish literature that I am trying to make more accessible to English-speaking readers. I have been able to enlarge my activities by writing plays, my first, "The Fairy Bride," having an Irish folklore background. To interpret the spirit of Irish literature in simple English, with Irish racial but not dialect peculiarities, is my aim. I have now given up all thought of a return to teaching, and am engaged in the preparation of further books.

Children: Anne Page, April 15, 1914; John David, Nov. 13, 1915.

Occupation: Ministry.

Address: 19 Russell Ave., Watertown, Mass.

THE first three years after our graduation I spent as a master in St. Paul's School, Concord, N. H., where I taught English and history. Having decided to enter the ministry, I attended the Episcopal Theological School on Brattle St., Cambridge, for three years and received the degree of Bachelor of Divinity there. During that time I completed some work done in my Senior year and obtained my A.M. from the University in 1911. In 1913 I was married and entered the Episcopal Ministry, serving as Assistant in Grace Church, Manchester, N. H., for two years. In 1915 I accepted a "call" to Watertown, Mass., where I am now acting as Rector of the local Episcopal Church in a rapidly growing suburban community.

HAVE been connected with the Boston Herald or allied publications since graduation, being the residue of a group of '07 and other Harvard men who began "journalism" here in July, 1907, solely for glory until they learned to swim after being thrown into the pool. W. R. Ellis, a physician and a Harvard graduate, who never practised because of his practical belief in the Rooseveltian doctrine that condemns race suicide, was responsible for this Harvard influx into the Herald. Its success may or may not be judged by the fact that several years later the Herald became bankrupt. This was not due, however, to the munificent salaries paid Harvard alumni or the size of their expense bills. Dick Walsh, who at last accounts was one of the Saturday Evening Post's bright young men, will corroborate me in this respect. Lest he be modest, be it known that he was by far the best of the '07 journalistic cubs. He shone so that the Boston Chamber of Commerce took him away from the Herald before it became bankrupt. Dick Wiswall was with us for a while, but left the game for a real calling. With myself as the sole '07 survivor here the receivership ended, but this was not a case of cause and effect. Other Harvard men, one from '07, arrived after I did. There was Ernest Gruening, for instance. I was once night city editor of the Herald and used to boss Ernest. Several years later he became Managing Editor of the Traveler, with myself as makeup editor, and the first indication that he was taking hold of his new job right was when he raised my pay. He resigned rather than kow-tow to Jim Curley after an exposé of the Boston mayor that flirted with the libel laws, and that left me again the only representative of the Class here with the exception of Edson Smith. I almost forgot him. He is one of our financial editors. I have been reporter, copyreader, night city editor, and at present am makeup editor of the Traveler and manager of the Herald News Bureau.

Address: (business) 50 Oliver St., Boston, Mass.; (home) 31 Forest Circle, Winchester, Mass.

When a freshman at Harvard I had the old hunch That to study was useless, So I loafed with the bunch.

Though I finished the year
With a margin to spare
I don't think I treated
Myself on the square.

As I had lots of friends
Who were "near" engineers,
I transferred to Tech
For the other three years.

Alas for the plans
That I looked forward to!
My supply of hard cash
Wouldn't carry me through.

So a dignified Junior
I never became,
And I'm not so sure now
I'd have gained by the same.

A soliciting job
Was the first that I tried,
And cute little ads
From old codgers I pried.

But the money I made
Didn't suit me at all
As commissions were scarce
And my salary was small.

I kept at it though,

Till the year nineteen-eight,
When the old N. E. Tel.

Took me into its gate.

Here now I'm abiding And I like it real well For in matter of wages
They've treated me swell.

Two political offices
I could have had,
But I gave them both up
As the outlook was bad.

So with best of good wishes I close this brief tale,
As again on the ocean
Of life I set sail.

JAMES CRESSON PARRISH, Jr.

Born at New York, N. Y., Jan. 11, 1884.

Parents: James Cresson, Emma Thorn (King) Parrish.

Occupation: Painting.

Address: (temporary) Hottinguer et Cie., Paris, France; (home) Bangor, Me.

T HAVE lived more or less abroad in Paris and Spain since leav-1 ing College. I have more or less studied painting in the aforesaid places. I have been to two Matz Arts balls which is enough for one decade. I have lived at different times in Toledo, Ainla, Madrid, lastly in Segovia, where the Spanish painter Urhago works. I had the privilege of his friendship and criticisms. I have exposed paintings in the Paris Salon, New York National Academy, Philadelphia Fine Arts, Corcoran Gallery, Washington, etc. For the past year and a half I have been driving a Ford Ambulance in France with the American Ambulance. I spent the winter of 1915-16 in the Vosges and saw some fighting in December at Hartmans-Weilerkopf. In June our section (Section 3 under Lovering Hill, '10—very efficient and very nice) had an orchestra seat at Verdun in the Thiamont-Fleury sector. I saw Walter Lovell, '07, en route at Bar-le-Duc; he was in command of Section 2. Since then he has gone into aviation. At present I am about to return to rejoin the Ambulance - with consent of William's U-Boat flotilla, of course — the old s. o. b.

ton Rd., Brookline, Mass.

TEN years out of College! And single!

In the fall of 1907 I entered the Harvard Medical School, and the following four years time did not hang heavily upon my hands. Having finished my course and having received a license to practise medicine on the public at large, I took a sixteen months' medical interneship in the Boston City Hospital. Following that I served seven months as a surgical house-officer at St. Luke's Hospital, New Bedford, Mass.

In July, 1913, I returned to the Boston Floating Hospital as senior house-physician and while there accepted the position of pathologist to St. Luke's Hospital, New Bedford. After the season on the "Floating" was over I did some special laboratory work at the Boston City Hospital with Prof. F. B. Mallory, and in December, 1913, returned to New Bedford, where I have been since.

During this time I have continued as pathologist to St. Luke's Hospital, an institution of about two hundred beds. than which, outside of Boston, there is no better in the state, and have engaged in the practice of internal medicine and pediatrics.

The practice of medicine is very interesting, especially from the financial standpoint because, at first, you never know where next month's rent is coming from. However, I have been very fortunate in being connected with an excellent hospital and so have probably had an easier initiation than the average doctor.

Last year I was honored with the first vice-presidency of the

New Bedford Medical Society and recently was asked to accept the position of medical supervisor at the Morse Twist Drill and Machine Co. of New Bedford, which employs about two thousand expert machinists.

Member: American Medical Association, Boston City Hospital Alumni Association, Boston Medical Library, Harvard Medical Alumni Association, Massachusetts Medical Society, New England Pediatric Society, New Bedford Medical Society, St. Luke's Hospital Clinical Club.

HENRY HAINES PERRY

Born at Westerly, R. I., Feb. 1, 1884.

Parents: Arthur, Emma (Foster) Perry.

School: Roxbury Latin School, Roxbury, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degrees: A.B. 1907; LL.B. 1910.

Married: Edith Nicholson, April 30, 1913, Moorestown, N. J. Children: Henry Haines, Jr., April 26, 1914; Anne, Sept. 23, 1915.

Occupation: Investment Bonds.

Address: (business) 150 Devonshire St., Boston, Mass.; (home) Prospect St.,

Belmont, Mass.

I LEFT College in February of Senior year (degree as of March, 1907) to travel in Egypt, Palestine, and Europe, returning in September. I entered Harvard Law School in 1907 and travelled again in the summer of 1909 and in 1910 after graduation.

For two years I was with the law firm of Ropes, Gray & Gorham (now Ropes, Gray, Boyden & Perkins) of Boston. In 1912 I opened an office for general law practice on State Street, Boston. My individual practice was largely in probate, title, and office law.

In April, 1916, I gave up general practice to become a member of the firm of Arthur Perry & Co., of Boston, dealers in investment bonds.

My home is in a rural community, where with a modest garden we enjoy playing that we are "farming it."

MEMBER: Harvard Club of Boston, Oakley Country Club.

LIVINGSTON PHELPS

Born at Pau, France, May 15, 1885.

Parents: Charles Harris, Eleanor Livingston (Pell) Phelps.

School: "Stella Matutina," Feldkirch, Austria; Eaton College, England; Collège St. Ignace, Paris, France.

Unmarried. Occupation: Law.

Address: (business) 60 State St., Boston, Mass.; (home) 4 West Cedar St., Boston, Mass.

I SPENT senior year and the following two academic years at Harvard Law School, where I was treasurer and one of the editors of the Harvard Law Review. On September 1, 1909. I began the practice of the law with Ropes, Gray & Gorham, 60 State Street, Boston. On June 1, 1915, I became a partner in that firm, its name having been changed to Ropes, Gray, Boyden & Perkins.

Member: Union, Tennis and Racquet, Harvard, and Union Boat Clubs, Boston; Pokanoket Club.

VASSAR PIERCE

Born at Brookline, Mass., June 2, 1885.

Parents: Wallace Lincoln, Lulie (Walworth) Pierce.

School: Milton Academy, Milton, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degree: A.B. 1907.

Married: Dagmar Ladensack, Jan. 6, 1917, Boston, Mass.

Occupation: Manufacturing.

Address: (business) K and First Sts., South Boston, Mass.; (home) 187 Babcock St., Brookline, Mass.

ON leaving College I took a motor trip abroad and then went to work for Kidder, Peabody & Co., of Boston. I continued with them until April, 1916, when I decided that the banking business was firmly on its feet and could get along without me. I then entered upon a short life of leisure. I spent the month of June at Plattsburg. My experience there was not exactly my idea of leisure but I got a lot of good out of it and strongly recommend it. In August I went to work for the Grueby Faience and Tile Company of South Boston, manufacturers of a special type of wall and floor tile. I have since become Treasurer.

Member: Harvard and Union Clubs, Boston.

JACOB MICHAEL PLAUT

Born at Cincinnati, O., July 10, 1885. Parents: Nathan, Emma (Levy) Plaut. School: Franklin School, Cincinnati, O.

Years in College: 1903-05.

Married: Alice Sachs, May 16, 1911, New York, N. Y. Children: James Sachs, Feb. 1, 1912; Emma Louise, 1914. Occupation: Shoe manufacturing and wholesale shoe business.

Address: (business) Elm & McFarland Sts., Cincinnati, O.; (home) 3632 Washington Ave., Cincinnati, O.

A FTER leaving College, I entered the firm of Nathan Plaut & Co., and worked for several years in a minor capacity. In 1910 I was admitted into the firm, the name being changed to Nathan Plaut & Son. The same year we formed a new corporation, The Plaut-Butler Co., a shoe factory, of which I am Treasurer. I was married in May, 1911, to Alice Sachs, (Bryn Mawr, '08). After a European trip we returned to Cincinnati.

MEMBER: Harvard Club: Losantiville County Club: City Club.

MILTON TUTEUR PLAUT

Born at Cincinnati, O. Jan. 14, 1885.

Parents: Abraham, Bertha (Tuteur) Plaut. School: Woodward High School, Cincinnati, O.

Years in College: 1903-06. Degree: A.B. 1906 (1907).

Unmarried.

Occupation: Secretary-Treasurer, The Plant Co.

Address: (business) 6 West Pearl St., Cincinnati, O.; (home) 774 Greenwood Ave., Cincinnati, O.

A FTER obtaining my A.B. degree in 1906 (as of 1907), I accepted a position with Franklin MacVeagh & Co., wholesale grocers, of Chicago. There I remained until the fall of 1908, when I returned to Cincinnati to become Secretary and Treasurer of The Plaut Co., a new corporation succeeding the wholesale furnishing goods business established by my father. This position I still hold. Outside of mercantile affairs, my interests have been largely in music and social service. Ever since my college days, when I conducted boys' clubs at Prospect Union and Dennison House, I have been keenly interested in settlement work and up to the death of my father in 1912, took an active part in it. I have worked at the Maxwell Settlement in Chicago and the Jewish Settlement in Cincinnati, and have been a member of the board of directors of both institutions.

Member: Harvard, University, City, and Automobile Clubs, and Chamber of Commerce, Cincinnati.

WALTER HEILPRIN POLLAK

Born at Summit, N. J., June 4, 1887. Parents: Gustav, Celia (Heilprin) Pollak.

Schools: Summit Academy, Summit, N. J.; DeWilt Clinton High School,

New York, N. Y.; and Columbia College, New York, N. Y.

Years in College: 1904-07. Degrees: A.B. 1907; LL.B. 1910.

Married: Marion Heilprin, April 4, 1914, Washington, D. C.

Child: Minna Heilprin, Oct. 27, 1915.

Occupation: Law.

Address: (business) 111 Broadway, New York, N. Y.; (home) 135 West 87th St., New York, N. Y.

I ENTERED the Harvard Law School in the fall of 1907, and graduated in 1910. While in the Law School I was an Assistant in Government in Harvard College, and during the second and third years of my course an editor of the Law Review. summer of 1909 I was employed in the revision of the ninth edition of "Sedgwick on Damages" under the direction of the editor. Upon leaving the Law School I travelled in England and the Continent in the summer of 1910. In the early fall of that year I became associated in the practice of law with the firm of Sullivan & Cromwell at 49 Wall Street, New York City. In December, 1912, I entered upon an association with the firm of Simpson & Cardozo which, the following year, took the name of Cardozo & Engelhard. On the first of January, 1914, Cardozo & Engelhard dissolved by reason of the election of the senior member to the bench. As an incident of the reorganization, Mr. Engelhard took me into partnership. Our relation has continued from that time to this. On May 1, 1916, two other partners joined us, and the firm has since continued under the name of Engelhard, Pollak, Pitcher & Stern.

My personal work is mostly litigated, involving particularly the trial of cases and the argument of appeals. In leisure hours, I have interested myself in some degree in the work of the Citizens' Union (of whose Legislative and Campaign Committees I have, during the last year, been a member) and in the work of the Committee on Legislation of the New York County Lawyers' Association.

Member: Harvard Club, Reform Club, Association of the Bar of New York City, New York State Bar Association, New York County Lawyer's Association, American Political Science Association, Association for Labor Legislation.

17 y 19, Vedado, Havana, Cuba.

A FTER leaving College I worked for the Government of Cuba as engineer in the lay-out and construction of a twenty-mile highway between Santa Clara and Camajuaní. I was employed by the Government for six months, and then was offered a position by a contractor named M. P. Marceau, working for him also on road construction, for three years on a percentage basis.

Since then I have continued work under the firm Torrance & Portal, the other partner of the firm being Mr. Chester Torrance.

I have successfully carried out several important contracts; among them the water works of most of the important cities of Cuba, except Havana, where nevertheless, I have installed the pumping station that supplies the city and a good many water mains.

At the present I have charge of the construction of the Santa Clara City water works, Havana City asphalt and granite blocks pavement, and Cienfuegos City pavement.

THE allotted space will hardly be sufficient to tell of my marvelous career, but as the cost of white paper is so high, and I cannot afford, on my niggardly salary of $500,000 per year to buy any, I shall be forced to allow the paper provided by the Class to suffice.

It is most unreasonable to limit one to the years after leaving College, as the years of adolescence are so much more interesting than those of maturity, especially those episodes of my life when I murdered my nurse by filling her false teeth with chewing gum, and when I stole my maiden aunt's rear padding and hocked it for thirty cents to go to the first movie show in our village.

However, since the story of my life is to be limited, here goes: After leaving Cambridge in June, 1906, having already provided myself with the first requisites of a college graduate, a wife, a child, and some debts, I found a job with a sweet little concern, the American Sugar Refining Co. Tasting molasses, however, soon began to ruin my fondness for candy, so I transferred my abilities to the Brooklyn Eastern District Terminal, where in September, 1906, I learned the rudiments of freight handling. As the principle rudiment is being on the job at 7 a.m., I soon decided to advance myself to an 8 A.M. job, and succeeded in being promoted to chief clerk to the agent by 1907. After a week's vacation around Class Day of 1907, when I saw my less experienced classmates receive their sheepskins, I returned to my labors, and in 1908 had graduated to the agent class or 8:30 A.M. class. In 1909 I attained what was then the height of my ambition and got into the 9 A.M. position of Assistant General Manager. 1912 saw my final promotion to Vice-President of the Brooklyn Eastern District Terminal (popularly known as B. E. D.) and I can now stay in BED as long as I like. My duties are educational, being head of the Traffic Department which educates the ignorant shipper, by advertising, solicitation, and otherwise, to use our Superior Service. The school is a large one, 2,938 to be exact, and the professor enjoys his job, as he himself learns something every day. He still finds time to see some of the boys, such as Chet Noyes, Stanley Swaim, Joe Russell, Punk Lane, Don Iselin, and Sims Edgell, and is looking forward to seeing the whole Class in June.

EDGAR WITTERS POWELL

Born at Milton, Vt., Aug. 5, 1883.

Parents: Homer Edgar, Lucia Burgess (Witters) Powell.

School: Worcester Academy, Worcester, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-04.

Unmarried.

Occupation: Telegraph Operator.

Address: (business) Wells River, Vt.; (home) Milton, Vt.

IMMEDIATELY after leaving College, I had charge of a grist mill, which was run by my father and where we did quite a large business in handling flour, grain, and feed at wholesale and retail in my home town of Milton, Vt. That continued for a little over a year, and then from learning the telegraph alphabet from my physics book in College, I succeeded in imbibing enough of a railroad operator's knowledge so that I managed to get a job with the Central Vermont Railway in May, 1906. Since then I have mostly been following that profession, having worked for the New York Central Railroad, also for two other divisions of the Boston & Maine, for whom I am now working, and have been steadily since July 1, 1913.

MY career since leaving the Grand Old Institution of Learning will probably not occasion any pangs of envy on the part of my classmates. However, I have managed to keep four feet and seven inches ahead of the sheriff and at this writing am tolerably solvent. After serving an advertising apprenticeship on Voque under the more or less able tutelage (observe how polite I have become) of my classmate W. F. Eastman — who is now an honest-to-Gawd "Publisher," by punkin' - I obtained further "experience" (that's what they all talk about when they want you to work for nothing a minute) on the Electrical World and New York Herald. After that I persuaded the Wall Street Journal to allow me to "accept" a position which I held down for six years. It was worth the trouble. My ears are now cut pointed, my tail bobbed, and my nails razor-sharp. I learned that the dollar is the most clusive thing (outside of a "female" - to use Prexy Eliot's designation of the species) in the world, and that one should never go south of Fulton St. without leaving one's wallet at home and without attaching a fire alarm to one's watch. After being skinned alive a couple of times I at length learned how to retain my financial fur and am now bold enough to write for automobile catalogues and consider the 1917 models of the "tin Lizzies."

I served three years in the National Guard (1st Regiment Cavalry) and took part in the "Red" and "Blue" war-game in Connecticut.

In 1915 I became the Inquiry Editor of The Magazine of Wall Street, which has the largest circulation of any financial publication in this country — see Price, Waterhouse audit. After I had been there several months, one day when I wasn't looking, they took me by the scruff of the neck, figuratively speaking, and dumped me into the Managing Editor's chair. I am now in a position to allow my assistants to do most of the work, and accept all of the blame while I absorb the credit. If any of my classmates care to drop in (except on "press-day") I will guarantee to tell them how to hold on to their ill-gotten gains — if not to double them.

Finding finance at times mentally indigestible and just to show Earl Biggers, Wilder Goodwin and other 1907 literary luminosities that they haven't cornered the fiction market, I wrote a couple of short stories of the "sweet young thing" variety. You get me—the man and the girl and the red automobile—start in saucily, sprinkle well with carmine lips, virginal eyes, white lace, etc., and clinch your hero and heroine in the last paragraph. The Pictorial Review (circulation 1,400,000) bit hard and took them both. The first appeared in the January, 1916, issue and the second is on the way. But both have been paid for and so I should gebibble—except that they paid the illustrator for one drawing as much as they gave me for the whole story. The "other man" in the first story, "Debutanting," is Powell Crichton, 1907. I want this to go on record as he vehemently denies the alleged libel. However, I wrote the story so I ought to know.

Some of my classmates have married happily — and they are the ones I envy — while others have married but are not working at it. I am still single through no fault of my own, and I warn anyone against asking me why.

I am getting weary of the Harvard Club cuisine and have about reached the stage where no reasonable offer will be refused. If any of my classmates can "fix it up" for me they will receive a liberal commission and a week-end ticket for life-applications considered in order of receipt.

My "diggings" at 112 West 47th street are just above those of "Pete" Murphy, the '08 human nightingale. When he is not making his living filling three-card flushes at the Club, he tunes his pipes—"vocalizing," I believe he calls it—and at such times I start the phonograph. As yet there have been no casualties.

I live with a Princeton and a Johns Hopkins man but the laws of neutrality are strictly observed. We keep a tolerably well stocked cellarette and all '07 is welcome without regard to race, color, previous or present condition of servitude. Married men accompanied by their spouses are requested to give notice of intending visits a reasonable length of time in advance.

P.S. If any classmate can succeed in exhuming my old roommate at Weld 26, "peg-leg Gile" from the jungles of Porto Rico, he will confer a lasting benefit upon 1907 and humanity. "Jeelsey" is a darn good chemist but a rotten correspondent—besides, I want him where I can rustle up a good, old-fashioned argument once in a while.

Publications: "Debutanting" (short story) Pictorial Review, January, 1916; "A Dip in Diplomacy" (short story) Pictorial Review (not yet published): regular contributor to The Magazine of Wall Street, for the last two years; miscellaneous contributions, political, humorous, etc.

HIRAM STEVENS POWERS

Born at Millbury, Mass., Sept. 29, 1884.

Parents: Frank E., Laura (Lincoln) Powers. School: Worcester High School, Worcester, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degree: A.B. 1907.

Married: Alberta E. Hoeftmann, Nov. 30, 1912, Worcester, Mass.

IF I could only find the copy I wrote several years ago I could really feel I was again taking English A. Immediately after leaving College I entered my father's business, the wholesale and retail selling of coal and masons' materials. Soon after the death of my father the business was incorporated under the name F. E. Powers Co. Therefore my whole history since leaving College has been a continuous effort to keep the ever-suffering public from freezing during these cold New England winters.

Think a minute, you who live in New England, of the person who supplies your coal and you must realize the position of "honor and trust" I hold. In fact mine is all "honor" and nearly all "trust." Both the federal and state governments are now conducting investigations to prove our claim that we are honorable and "trust" is the motto of the coal business. If the government fails in its efforts, it loses its $1\frac{1}{2}\%$ of honor for that's my gross taxable income.

Yet this is enough. William J. Bryan, I think it was, said "our object in this life is not to seek sordid riches but rather to have made the world happier or better for having lived in it." Surely my family enjoy the honor and my customers are happy that I continue to trust. This is the history of my life in relation to the world. My recreation the world gives me, with its beautiful scenery and a sufficient abundance of wild game, aided now and then by a 1907 Class Reunion Committee.

FROM 1907 to 1914 I was on the staff of the Boston Transcript; two years as reporter, two years as assistant reviewer of music and drama, three years as editorial writer. During 1908 I was a resident at St. Mary's House for Sailors in East Boston, where my education began. It was continued during the strike in Lawrence, Mass., in 1912. Since October, 1914, I have been on the staff of the Boston Globe as editorial writer.

JOHN CROWTHER PRIZER

Born at Rochester, N. Y., Nov. 6, 1885. Parents: Edward, Mary (Crowther) Prizer. School: Bradstreet School, Rochester, N. Y.

Years in College: 1903-07. Degrees: A.B. 1907; LL.B. 1910.

Unmarried.

Occupation: Law.

Address: (business) 59 Wall St., New York, N. Y.; (home) 43 Prospect St., East Orange, N. J.

I TOOK my degree at midyears, 1907, and went abroad, where I attended courses at the University of Lausanne, in a casual sort of way. In the autumn of 1907 I returned and entered the Law School at Cambridge. Then I spent three years of reasonably hard work, rooming with another '07 man, Otis Dana, and continuing to enjoy many pleasant personal relations which had begun during the College years. I was associated with the editorial board of the Harvard Law Review and on graduation was given a scholastic ranking of third, which I am proud to say was a higher ranking than any Yale or Princeton man in the Class received.

Since leaving Law School, my life has proceeded without adventure. I can only say for myself that I have not been a rolling stone. I entered the office of a large Wall Street law firm in the capacity of a law clerk and passed my examinations to the New York bar shortly thereafter. My residence, as during undergraduate days, has continued to be in the Oranges, "over on the Jersey side." At present I am a partner in the firm of Barry Wainwright, Thacher & Symmers which is a successor to the firm whose office I entered in 1910. I have had a great deal of exceptionally interesting work, particularly in maritime and international matters, and I have found my professional relations very congenial.

My location in New York has kept me in touch with a good many of our classmates and has given me a number of happy chances to see others during their visits to New York. In the field of matrimony, I have been a conspicuous failure. Even my old roommate, Otis Dana, in spite of his temperamental caution, has left me at the post and is now the father of a fine boy.

Child: Anne Esther, May 28, 1914.

Occupation: Electrical Engineer and Contractor.

Address: (business) 514 Allantic Ave., Boston. Mass.; (home) 161 Cypres St., Brookline, Mass.

WHEN I left College I entered the employ of the Hudson River Telephone Co., with headquarters at Newburgh, N. Y. I worked with them for a year and a half. When I left this company I was employed taking charge of and repairing trouble on the switchboards in the various exchanges located in the district along both sides of the Hudson River from Poughkeepsie to Peekskill.

In February, 1909, I returned to Boston to work for Edwin C. Lewis, Inc., Electrical Contractors, with whom I stayed until May 1, 1913. When I left E. C. Lewis I was holding the position of Assistant Superintendent in the Construction Department.

On May 1, 1913, I joined the M. B. Foster Electric Co., Electrical Contractors and Engineers, of Boston and New York. William St. George, '07, and myself bought controlling interest in this company on the above date and since that time have been running the Company. At the present time I hold the position of Vice-President.

Children: Sarah Bent, Oct. 20, 1911; Horace Upham, Jr., March 31, 1914.

Occupation: Farmer.

Address: Flemington, N. J.

A FTER graduation I stayed in Cambridge two years, studying civil engineering. Then I worked two years on the Cambridge subway, and two years more for the City of Everett, making a detailed map of the city. Every summer I obtained a leave of absence from my other work and taught surveying at the Harvard Engineering Camp, Squam Lake, N. H. In 1912 I received an appointment as Instructor in Civil Engineering at the Harvard Graduate School of Applied Sciences, and taught hydraulics, resistance of materials and roads, there until the merger with Tech became an accomplished fact. Not wishing to teach in Tech, and wanting to find out something about farming, I bought a farm in Concord, Mass. A year there taught me a lot of things, and I have now moved here to Flemington, where I have the sort of farm I want.

I RESIGNED from College in the spring of 1905—object, matrimony in the dim distance. I started in to learn the cottonyarn manufacturing business as a "green hand" in the Kilburn Mill in New Bedford. After working through the various departments I was taken into the office in the spring of 1907. I was married in Sharon, Mass., Oct. 22, 1907, to Miss Jessie A. Sawyer of Sharon and Cambridge, Goodwin B. Beach '07 acting as best man. I travelled for the Kilburn Mill for a number of months selling yarn. Later I became cotton classer and purchasing agent and at the present time am still "on the job."

TY career since leaving Harvard in 1907 has been taken up M career since leaving translate in 22 mg Harvard profs principally with doing to others as my Harvard profs would have wished to do to me. I began by cow-punching in Texas. That is to say, cowboys who sat in my classes gave me ready instructions three times a week regularly and with a proper amount of gusto and breeziness from the western plains. After a due proportion of giving and receiving of valued instruction here. I changed my diggings to Lawrence, Kan., teaching in the University of Kansas, as my first experience had been similarly in the state university in Texas. Here, too, the opportunity of hobnobbing with local characters offered itself. There were cowboys, breezy editors, long-bearded farmers, and suffragettes, all types, both in the college and out. The temperature rose, however, to such lofty heights in summer, and fell to such extreme depths in winter that I decided I preferred Cambridge climate, notorious for its variety as it is. Then with a new collection of letters following my name, granted me for residence at Harvard, I went forth again with a brazen front to meet the Philistines. This time they appointed me "Acting Professor of English Language and Literature" at the University of Wooster, in Ohio. After diverse experiences, serious varied with frivolous, communing with Bryan on prohibition, and with Governor Ellis on democracy, I left Wooster to come to the University of Maine as Assistant Professor in English. My last summer was spent in part at Plattsburg where they decorated me with the high "office of honor and trust" of a place in the front rank. But Plattsburg offers the sort of duty every man ought to get into, high office of honor or not.

SINCE graduation from the Bussey Institution I have engaged actively in farming. The account which appeared in the Sexennial covers these years substantially.

In October, 1915, I entered The Guilmant Organ School in New York City, running the farm by proxy. This is my second and last year of the course.

The school trains organists and choirmasters both in the theory and practice of the profession. It was founded under the presidency of the late Alexandre Guilmant by one of his pupils, Dr. William C. Carl, Director of the school and organist of Old First Presbyterian Church. The faculty includes Clement R. Gale, Mus. Bac. Oxon.; Warren R. Hedden, Mus. Bac., F.A.G.O.; Howard Duffield, D.D.; Thomas Whitney Surette; Lewis C. Odell, A.B.; and Charles Schlette.

THREE years in the Harvard Law School immediately following our graduation completed my life at Cambridge, and in 1910 I came to New York and entered a small law office, where I worked as a clerk for two years. In 1912 Wilder Goodwin and I formed a partnership. We have been practising law together ever since and a more delightful relation I cannot imagine. In September, 1912, I was married to Katharine Hovey. The next two years were the happiest and best of my life and they passed very quickly. I get a lot of fun out of my work and enough work out of my recreation to keep in pretty good shape. I try to pass as much time outdoors with my horse and dog as I can. Two summers ago the three of us rambled through the Adirondacks and Vermont for six weeks, camping wherever we happened to be at nightfall.

Early last July I went to the Texas border as a member of Squadron A where we remained until the middle of December, much to the benefit of my health and the detriment of my law practice. We were stationed near Brownsville at a town called McAllen about five miles from the Rio Grande River. On the whole I am very glad to have had the experience.

I have taken an active part in the affairs of the Harvard Club of New Jersey and am at present the President of the Club. Since leaving College I have made few new friends and I find as time goes on that the Class of 1907 means more to me every day.

Child: Astrid, Dec. 23, 1913. Occupation: Salesman.

Address: (business) 620 Atlantic Ave., Boston, Mass.; (home) 28 Prince St., Jamaica Plain, Mass.

A FTER graduation I took an extended tour of the West and spent three years in Chicago selling cotton yarn for Catlin & Co., large commission merchants. I then went with R. & O. Lindemann of Alexandria, Egypt, and Dresden, Germany, as manager of Rhode Island. They were the largest house in the world in Egyptian cotton. After four successful years with them the English seized them and we went out of business on account of the war. I then came with my father's firm Edward E. Rice & Co., indigo merchants, a firm of one hundred years' standing in Boston. In 1912 I married and have a daughter, Astrid, three years old. She is a fine one too. I am still riding horses for sport and am generally contented.

Address: St. Paul's School, Concord, N. II.

A FTER working as a manuscript reader for the F. A. Stokes Co., in New York, I took up teaching at the Morse School, Englewood, N. J. In 1912 I came to St. Paul's School, Concord, N. H., where I have been ever since, teaching English and coaching football and rowing. During the summer of 1916 I went to the first business men's camp at Plattsburg, where I learned why the Union armies were beaten at Bull Run. Most of my summers have been spent running a boys' camp at North Belgrade, Me. I am very happy in my work.

CLEMENT RICHARDSON

Born at Halifax, Va., June 23, 1878.

Parents: Leonard, Louisa Richardson.

School: Mount Hermon School, Mount Hermon, Mass.

Years in College: 1905-07. Degree: A.B. 1907 (1908).

Married: Ida Jane Rivers, Sept. 1, 1908, Meriden, Miss.

Children: Louise Elizabeth, Sept. 1, 1909; Ida Mae, July 1, 1911; Clementine, March 6, 1913; Evelyn Adelle, Nov. 12, 1915.

Occupation: Head of Department of English, Tuskegee Institute, Ala.

Address: Box 84, Tuskegee Institute, Ala.

THE first year after graduation I was head of the department of English at Atlanta Baptist College, Atlanta, Ga. The remainder of the time I have spent in a similar position at Tuskegee Institute. I have published articles for Technical World, Ambition, The Country Gentleman, and Travel Topics; two text-books, "Elementary Language Lessons," and an arrangement of Booker T. Washington's "Up from Slavery," and am editing Cyclopedia of the Colored Race, three volumes. It is a biography of all leading colored people. Will be out early in 1918.

HENRY ALLEN RICHARDSON

Born at Rockport, Mass., April 23, 1886.

Parents: Nathaniel, Laura Etta (Witham) Richardson. School: Gloucester High School, Gloucester, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-08. Degree: S.B. 1907 (1908).

Unmarried.

Occupation: Mechanical Engineering.

Address: (business) Room 1303, 200 Fifth Ave., New York, N. Y.; (home) 81

Pierrepont St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

IMMEDIATELY after leaving College I began work in the shipyard at Newport News, Va., as a marine draftsman. After a year's stay there I came to New York to enter engineering work and I have remained here ever since, except for two short periods of a few months each. I have specialized on the design of power plants and am in the office of a consulting engineer at present.

I have always had a strong leaning toward military affairs and the expenditure of much time and energy resulted in a demonstration that I couldn't get a commission in either Army or Navy with defective eyesight, even if corrected by glasses. One camp at Plattsburg last summer dimmed my military ardor, but only for a few weeks.

SAMUEL ESTABROOKS RICHARDSON

Born at Lower Waterford, Vt., May 13, 1884.

Parents: George Abiel, Kate (Estabrooks) Richardson. School: St. Johnsbury Academy, St. Johnsbury, Vt.

Years in College: 1903-07. Degrees: A.B. 1907; LL.B. 1910.

Unmarried.

Occupation: Law.

Address: East Barnel, VI.

I ENTERED the law offices of Howe and Harvey at St. Johnsbury, Vt., after graduation from Law School in 1910. I was engaged in general practice of the law there until August, 1912, when I resigned my position to enter the Legal Department of the American Sugar Refining Co. at 55 Wall St., New York City. I remained there until July, 1915, when I was obliged to give up work owing to a nervous breakdown. I have been home since July, 1915, but expect to enter the business of law again within the next few months.

JOHN ARTHUR RITCHIE

Born at Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 23, 1884.

Parents: John, M. Adelaide (Everson) Ritchie. School: Syracuse High School, Syracuse, N. Y.

Years in College: 1903-05.

Married: Edith Rose Trim Mason, May 14, 1914, Cleveland, O.

Child: John Arthur, Jr., July 16, 1915.

Occupation: Organizer.

Address: (business) 220 Fifth Ave., New York, N. Y.; (home) 95 West 183d

St., New York, N. Y.

I LEFT College at the completion of the sophomore year to engage in railroad construction work. I was with J. G. White & Company, Syracuse Railroad Construction Co., and I. A.

Hodge & Company, during the next four years. These concerns constructed the interurban trunk trolley lines controlled by the Beebe syndicate in Central New York.

During 1909 I was automobile editor and in charge of automobile advertising of the Syracuse Herald.

On January 1, 1910, I founded the Empire State Motorist (now Motordom), a bi-weekly automobile magazine and the official publication of the New York State Automobile Association, with a circulation of 8,000. I was publisher and sole owner of this magazine until April, 1912, when it was purchased by the above association.

From April, 1911, to April, 1912, I was Secretary and Treasurer of the New York State Automobile Association, with headquarters at Albany, N. Y. From June, 1912, to February, 1913, I was engaged in organizing a chamber of commerce at Plattsburg, N. Y.

From September, 1913, to July, 1915, I re-organized the Cleveland Retail Credit Men's Association, and originated what has since come to be known as "The Cleveland Plan," for the mutual interchange of credit information by retail merchants and the collection of their overdue accounts. "The Cleveland Plan" has since been adopted and is in successful operation by chambers of commerce and retail merchants' associations throughout the country.

During the early fall of 1915, I did special credit organization work with Messrs. B. Altman & Company, New York.

Since November, 1915, I have been with the Cloak, Suit & Skirt Manufacturers Protective Association, 220 Fifth Avenue, N. Y., and am engaged in establishing a comprehensive credit and collection system, upon a nation-wide scale, for manufacturers in the Women's Ready-To-Wear Industry.

Occupation: Cotton Merchant.

Address: (business) 18 Post Office Sq., Boston, Mass.; (home) 346 Main St.,

Winchester, Mass.

WHEN writing my report for the Sexennial, it seemed a long way to look forward to the Decennial and I felt that in the space of four years I would certainly accomplish something of note to report to my classmates. But here it is now 1917 and the thing of note has not materialized. I am still in the cotton business and with the same firm with whom I started in 1907. At home I find myself the proud father of two children, Rosamond and George, Jr. My wife and I, the fall after our marriage, went to housekeeping in Cambridge, where we lived most pleasantly though modestly, for a little over a year and a half. We then moved to Winchester where we are now very comfortably situated. I still drive a car, in fact had two this winter, but if the price of gasoline and tires keeps mounting with the H. C. L., I fear that walking or street cars will come into vogue again with our family.

Much to everybody's surprise, I have developed a taste for gardening and early rising. The result last spring was not very encouraging, though about ten per cent of our seeds came up, but this year is to be another story as we have already devoured several seed books and sent for all the free seeds offered.

seed books and sent for all the free seeds offered

My general health has been excellent but has not been due to any particular diet or pledge of total abstinence. I am a trustee of the Avon Home of Cambridge.

Address: (business) Ithaca Conservatory of Music, Ithaca, N. Y.; (home)

11 Grey Court, Eddy St., Ithaca, N. Y.

WHEN I went to Porto Rico to teach English in the graded schools I had the intention, I knew not how, of making a musical career. Before leaving, my last acts were the purchase of a French horn to accompany my travels, and attendance at a recital in Boston by Harold Bauer, January 2, 1908. I stayed six months in the tropics, started a composition for piano-trio, received word that I was a Harris Travelling Fellow, hastened North, caromed from the open arms of my friends, adherents, and acquaintances into those of Doctor Karl Muck who had preceded me Berlinward, and finished my piano-trio, which was then reshipped to America and performed at a Harvard Musical Club concert. I then took a Wagner-bath which lasted the next two years, culminating in Bayreuth. I also studied various musical branches, with Argus-eyed Germans. I worshipped at the shrine of Reinhardt. I envied — and still envy — those who planned to spend five years in European study. I became engaged to Miss Randolph, whom I later married. I met Harold Bauer. I visited Italy, but had no chance to see France, which still lies ahead of me.

Then began my teaching career — in Texas. I have not as yet visited the Grand Canyon of Colorado, but I have plumbed the abyss of American musical ignorance: a far more imposing spectacle, no doubt. From Texas date some of my best songs, including those sung by Bispham — also the prelude to a projected opera, and a still-cherished yearning to write a Ballet of Texas Wild-Flowers in the Spring.

In Illinois I first blossomed as a pianist.

In Pennsylvania I toured a thousand miles, the idolized director of a Presbyterian Glee Club. Those most intimate with me knew and forgave the fact that I sometimes read Elbert Hubbard and Bernard Shaw.

In my three-years' stay in Vermont I wrote the Variations in

A minor, now published, performed, and even praised by a few rash souls.

I have appeared as composer, conductor, or pianist in New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Chicago, Pittsburgh, and many other American cities.

I am now teaching in Ithaca, N. Y., and planning books on composition, piano-technique, and the philosophy of music. If I ever do learn to teach composition I shall be the only person in the world who knows how, as the subject in question has been radically wrongly imparted for the last three hundred years.

Publications: Two songs: "Solitude," "Despair," sung by David Bispham, June, 1914; "Variations in A minor," for piano, played, season of 1916–17 in New York, Chicago, and Boston by Harold Bauer; published 1917 by G. Schirmer of New York, Other music still in MS.

If I have worked passably hard, there are no results to which I can point with pride or even satisfaction. Your pack horse can't grow enthusiastic over a trail that seems to be none of his choosing. Still I enjoy good digestion, excellent health, and have managed to keep out of jail.

I hope to blazes I may do something in the next ten years that will be worth writing about.

SINCE the last Report so many events of world importance have taken place that it is impossible to think that the tale of any individual life is interesting enough to tell at this time. Let us pull together as a Class, as Harvard men, and as Americans, and then possibly at a later date some of our individual records may be worth printing.

WALTER LEO SCANLAN

Born at Boston, Mass., Nov. 7, 1884.

Parents: Daniel Joseph, Mary (Foley) Scanlan. School: English High School, Boston, Mass.

Years in College: 1904-07. Degree: S.B. 1907 (1908).

Married: Catherine Eva Campbell, April 29, 1916, Rochester, Vt.

Occupation: Mining Engineering.

Address: Waterbury, Vt.

IN 1907 I worked in the Calumet & Arizona mines, carried a rod for the Copper Queen Mining Co., and finally became geologist for the Shattuck Arizona Mining Co., all in Bisbee, Ariz. During the mining decline of those years I worked for experience in Jerome, Ariz., at the United Verde, and in West Norfolk, Va., for the Eustis Smelting Co. I went to Cuba as Assistant Exploration Engineer for the Guantanamo Exploration Co., and left because of fever in the spring of 1909.

I went to Ishpeming, Mich., in the fall of 1909, with The Cleveland Cliffs Iron Co., as geologist, superintendent of explorations, and mining engineer. Since 1914 I have been with the Magnesia Talc Co., Waterbury, Vt., as Superintendent of Mine.

HORTLY after receiving the first notice from the Class Committee I began to write a connected story of a disjointed life. The day after I completed the chapter on "Lessons Learned from Border Patrol Duty," I received letters from John Reynolds and John Benbow informing me that my blank had not been received. Convinced that the two Johns were after the blank and not after my life, I complied. Voila!

I am still engaged in the practice of law. No use going into details. The people are on to the lawyers, so the less said the better.

Moving is the great spring sport in Chicago. I have not moved in six years. Conclusion:—either he pays his bills, or being a lawyer, his creditors do not bother him.

Politics. Of course. No sir, I haven't been indicted by State's Attorney Hoyne. But all the rest of the politicians here in Chicago have been. Ouite right.

Military Record. Here is where I throw out my chest and say: Look me over. Saw about four months service on the Border with the First Illinois Field Artillery, Battery G. I lost thirty-five pounds in those four months. Dug ditches, groomed horses, and acted as kitchen police occasionally. For a short time I was the acting high-numbered canoneer on the goulash canon. Due to my German-sounding "monicker" I was never permitted near a real canon. Great disappointment to me that there was no real battle. Ready to go again. Germans, Turks, or Austro-Hungarians—in the artillery they all look alike, you never see the enemy. I do feel sorry for the infantry, which acts as a screen for the artillery. Unless Uncle Sam gets busy and trains his men, the artillery will shoot more of their own men than the enemy. Moral: Work for Universal Military Service.

THIS is the tale of an embryo engineer who developed into a rank, out-and-out advertising man.

After a year in the Graduate School of Applied Science (1907–08) to top off my course in electrical engineering, I went to the Pittsfield (Mass.) works of the General Electric Company, with very little cash and a lot of debts. This was a "summer job" and ended in January, 1909, when I came to Cleveland on hearing that there was some chance of my getting a permanent position with the National Electric Lamp Association here. I got the job. Little did I dream that seven years later I would still be working for the same interests, and still less that I would be the proud father of three buxom daughters! By the law of "natural selection" I gravitated from the engineering to the advertising department, and in 1912 founded our company's house-organ, the National Mazda Stimulator which I have edited ever since, and of which the millionth copy was recently printed. That same year I married a Cleveland young lady with whom I became acquainted in a religious organization of which I happened to be president, and the next year the "young ladies' seminary" of three members, already referred to, began to arrive. In 1914 I was lucky enough to win first prize of $250 in the Society for Electrical Development's national contest for an electrical story. It helped pay that winter's gas bill.

I have little to add except that I am exceedingly happy in my work and with my family. My part in the advertising of the National Mazda lamps is one of trust and responsibility, and the company expresses its recognition of that fact in tangible form.

I am planning to come East for the decennial, possibly with one or more of my "flock." Why not let's have a baby show?

LENTERED the Harvard Law School in 1907 and was graduated in 1910. In August, 1909, I was admitted to practise law in Massachusetts. During my second and third years at the Law School I was Assistant in Economics in Harvard College. On July 7, 1910, upon graduation from the Law School, I married and proceeded immediately to Tientsin, China, as Professor of Law and Political Science at the Imperial Pei-Yang University. I remained in China until December, 1911, terminating my connection with the university because of the interruption in work caused by the Revolution which resulted in the overthrow of the Manchu dynasty and the establishment of the Chinese Republic. I returned to this country in February, 1912. My trip to China was by way of the Pacific and Japan, the trip home was by way of Suez and Europe. From February, 1912, to February, 1913, I was in the employ of the National Civic Federation as a member of the staff engaged in investigating the regulation of public utilities. Part of the work was done in Cambridge, at Langdell Hall, in conjunction with Professor Wyman; the remainder was done in New York, as head of the investigating staff. In February, 1913. I was appointed Lecturer in Political Economy at the University of Michigan. I have remained at Michigan as a member of the Faculty of Political Economy to the present day. At the end of one semester I was appointed Associate Professor, and at the beginning of the academic year 1914-15 I was appointed Professor of Economics, which position I now hold. At the beginning of the present academic year (1916-17) I was made Secretary of the Department of Economics. In the national emergency arising out of the entry of the United States into the European War I was appointed Chief of the Economics and Social Service Corps of the Michigan division of the Intercollegiate Intelligence Bureau. Aside from my academic work, and from my participation, as a citizen, in the civic and political life of the general community, I have been especially interested in Jewish In this connection I have served as President of the Intercollegiate Menorah Association ("for the study and advancement of Jewish culture and ideals") for the past three and a half years, and as Associate Editor of The Menorah Journal (a magazine of Jewish life and thought) since the inception of its publication in January, 1915. I have also maintained an active participation in the Zionist Movement through affiliation with the Federation of American Zionists.

Publications: Books. "Economics, Part I," 1911, Imperial Pei-Yang University; "Commission Regulation of Public Utilities," 1913, National Civic Federation (as chief investigator, was co-author of this compilation and analysis of laws on Commission Regulation of Public Utilities, with William D. Kerr, public service lawyer of Chicago, as editor, and Bruce Wyman, then Professor of Law in Harvard University, as counsel); "Railway Regulation," 1915, Lasalle Extension University; Arlicles, "Summary of the Law of Sales," (pamphlet) 1911, Imperial Pei-

RUSSELL FIRTH SHELDON

Born at Lynn, Mass., July 17, 1885.

Parents: Chauncey Cooley, May Louise (Firth) Sheldon. School: Lynn Classical High School, Lynn, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-07. Degrees: A.B. 1907; M.D. 1911.

Married: Lura Emma Hewey, Oct. 9, 1916, Brookline, Mass.

Occupation: Medicine.

Address: 31 Pinckney St., Boston, Mass.

I CONTINUED my education for four years in the Harvard Medical School, spending three summers as Camp Physician at Camp Becket, Becket, Mass. After three months' service in the Throat Room of the Boston Dispensary, I entered the East Surgical Service of the Massachusetts General Hospital. At the close of my interneship in November, 1912, I started practice at 227 Beacon St., Boston, the office of Dr. E. A. Codman. An assistantship in physiology at the Harvard Medical School gave a small stipend, and in addition I did some examining for the United States Marine Corps. For over two years I was a District Physician for the Boston Dispensary, and until recently have been Assistant to the Surgeons at the same institution.

My work has been almost wholly surgical, though at present I hold a Civil Service position as School Physician of the City of Boston. Also I have been doing some work for various insurance companies under the State Compensation Act.

I was married last October, and am now settled in a small flat. I depend on a Ford for transportation and have no dreams of "Tin Sixes."

IN the summer of 1907 I took the "Departmental Assistant" examination for the Philippine service, and in January, 1908, was appointed an "Examiner" in the Bureau of Audits, Manila. In less than a year I was made a District Auditor and assigned to the Bicol provinces of Albay, Sorsogon and Ambos Camarines. In 1912, after a siege of typhoid fever, I returned to the United States on vacation, taking a leisurely trip around the world and stopping for a short visit in Cambridge.

In 1913 I returned to the Philippines and, after a year as District Auditor at Cebu, I was made Superintendent of Provincial and Municipal Audits, with headquarters in Manila.

In 1915 I again returned to the United States, and in 1916 I was elected to the office of City Controller in Tacoma, which position I now hold.

FLETCHER HARPER SIBLEY

Born at New York, N. Y., April 5, 1885.

Parents: Hiram W., Margaret (Harper) Sibley.

School: Groton School, Groton, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degrees: A.B. 1907; LL.B. (N. Y. Law Sch.) 1909. Married: Georgiana Farr, June 10, 1908, Orange, N. J.

Children: Hiram, March 26, 1909; Georgie, Aug. 12, 1910; Anne, Feb. 16, 1912; Elizabeth, Aug. 25, 1916. Occupation: General Business.

Address: (business) 100 Sibley Block, Rochester, N. Y.; (home) 400 East Ave., Rochester, N. Y. A FTER graduation I attended the New York Law School, taking my degree there and passing the bar examinations in the spring of 1909. I then practised law in the office of Crocker & Wickes, 5 Nassau St., New York City, for two years and a half, after which I moved to Rochester, N. Y., which is my home, taking up business here. Since settling in Rochester I have largely given up the practice of the law, devoting myself to several business corporations in which I have a financial interest and also, as far as time permits, to semi-public work in the city. I am Treasurer of the McKinley-Darragh-Savage Mines Co., Vice-President of the Hollister Lumber Co., director in several coal companies, director of the Security Trust Company of Rochester and also the Alliance Bank of Rochester, and President of the Provident Loan Society of this city.

In a semi-public way, I am President of the Rochester Chamber of Commerce, Vice-President of the Young Men's Christian Association, Vice-President of United Charities, Treasurer of the Rochester Homeopathic Hospital, and director of the Rochester Dental Dispensary and various other similar institutions.

In 1914 I was appointed by the Mayor a member of the committee to revise the health code of the city of Rochester, and in 1915 I was appointed by the Judge of the County Court a member of the Monroe County Child Welfare Board. I have also acted for five years as Superintendent of a large Episcopal Sunday-School in St. Paul's Church and also as a member of the Diocesan Board of Religious Education and of the General Board of Religious Education of the Episcopal Church.

But above and beyond all these material things I had the great good fortune to be married on June 10, 1908, to Georgiana Farr of Orange, N. J., and I am now the proud father of our Class Cup Boy and of three strong and vigorous daughters.

Occupation: Civil Engineer.

Address: (business) John A. Roebling's Sons Co., Trenton, N. J.; (home)

409 South Olden Ave., Trenton, N. J.

IMMEDIATELY after graduation I started to work for the Pennsylvania R. R. on the "crosstown" tunnels in New York City, making my home in Elizabeth, N. J., with my parents. In September, 1907, I left the P. R. R. Co., and went to work for the State of New York in the department of state engineers. At first I was assigned to the highway department and was located in Albany for about two months, after which I was sent out on construction work on highways. In this work I was located in various cities and towns in northeastern New York in the vicinity of Plattsburg. In August, 1908, I was transferred, at my own request, to the barge canal work, and was located at Fort Edward, N. Y., until November of the same year, when I secured a transfer to Lockport, N. Y., where new work was just beginning on the canal. I continued with the state until September, 1910, when I left the service and entered the employ of Larkin & Sangster, a Canadian firm of contractors who had the contract for building the combined locks at Lockport and other structures pertaining to canal improvement in Lockport. I left the employ of Larkin & Sangster and entered the engineering department of the John A. Roebling's Sons Co., of Trenton, N. J., on January 1, 1917.

Parents: Edward, Vesta Victoria (Shallenberger) Simmons.

School: St. Paul's School, Concord, N. II. Years in College: 1903-06, 1907-08.

Degree: A.B. 1907 (1908).

Married: Georgie Swindell, Feb. 23, 1911, New York, N. Y.

Children: Bradford, Dec. 9, 1911; Edward Ball, Feb. 14, 1914; William Ham-malt, June, 1915.

Occupation: Real estate, sales manager.

Address: (business) 1620 Munsey Bldg., Baltimore, Md.; (home) 502 Wilmslow

Ave., Roland Park, Md.

I WAS absent during the Senior year (1906–07) tutoring the son of W. T. Wright, St. Davids, Pa., so I graduated with 1908. During the summer of 1908 I tutored Byrne Hull, nephew of James Byrne, in Bass Rocks, Mass. In the fall of that year I took the first job I could get, of any consequence—stock clerk in the machine shop of the C. G. V. Import Co.—who sold Charron (French) cars in New York. I graduated to salesman and then assistant sales manager. In the early part of 1911 I foresaw the failure of the Company, and being engaged to be married, I asked for a position with the Roland Park Co., of Baltimore,—from Mr. E. H. Bouton, its president, whom I had met in New York.

With the job, at $75 per month, tentatively in my hands, we burned our bridges and were married, in New York, leaving after a week at Lakewood, for Baltimore. I think I had $125 in the the world at the time.

Since then I have been hard at it in Baltimore. First as apprentice, then assistant in Rental and Repair Department, then salesman—and in the last month (April, 1917) sales manager. We develop land on probably a more expensive and modern scale than any other similar company in America. I try to sell it.

My work has been exacting and poorly paid, but I'm learning, and blissfully happy at home. Too busy, and too centered, in fact, on my work and my family, to have paid the attention I would like to have paid to all the freinds and attachments I left in coming to Baltimore. But I do not forget.

From the above time-table it can be seen that Boston has, in my case, scored four out of seven. After having compared it with other places where I have occupied myself in trying to beat the h. c. of l., I have decided to take as my personal slogan, "Boston is Better."

At the time my career was last checked up (1913) in the 1907 Class Annals I was associated with the Alexander Hamilton Institute of New York City as Staff Secretary.

In 1915 I accepted the position of Advertising Manager of the Knox Motor Company of Springfield, Mass. In this capacity I assumed the pleasant responsibility of announcing a new model Knox tractor — and shortly after had the even more congenial task of announcing, to a selected list, the arrival of a new Smiley model — Charles Edward, born August 5 of that year.

In the fall of 1916 I associated myself with the Regal Shoe Company of Boston as Sales Promotion Manager. This work I find most congenial. Instead of being tempted to wish, now and then, that I were in some one else's shoes, I am kept busy wishing that more people were in Regal shoes — and in seeing that the greatest possible number get there.

Occupation: Teaching.

Address: (business) Franklin Intermediate School, Englewood, N. J.; (home)
132 West Palisade Ave., Englewood, N. J.

AM still a teacher. Three years were spent as Principal of Allegany High School, Allegany, N. Y.; four years in Orleans High School, Orleans, N. Y., part of the time as Vice-Principal. Simultaneously I had the supervision of the German in the grades of that city. At present I am Principal of the newly organized Intermediate or Junior High School in Englewood, N. J. The position has many of the interesting problems attending any work of a pioneer nature. Junior High Schools are the present hobby of educators. I am glad to be in the first-line trenches in the midst of the theoretical excitement.

In 1911 I was so fully convinced of the worth of a certain little grade German book that I had written in collaboration with another that I had it published myself, after vainly begging for recognition at the hands of a number of text-book publishers. My conviction as to its merit was somewhat justified, I feel now, because it was adopted in the cities of Buffalo, Hoboken, Weehawken, Portland (Oregon), and, lately, in Boston. I am glad that this showing consituted an argument sufficient to gain the attention of D. C. Heath & Co., who will hereafter publish it. As I write this, their presses are turning out a revised edition designed especially for Junior High School use.

And so I have worked and played and been happy. I have been married only once since my separation from Alma Mater. I have not made a million yet (as you may suspect), but have been able to get along comfortably, nevertheless.

You will pardon me if my narrative has been somewhat personal and is tinged with any flavor of conceit. You want it to be personal, I take it. I might have omitted mention of any little successes that have been mine. But you want that too, don't you? And now in conclusion let me say, that if, by any further chance, you think that this still appears conceited, then you may go to ——— Cambridge next June. I'll be there, and you may prove that you are mistaken.

A S soon as final examinations and the substance covered by them had slipped comfortably from our minds, one Fred Warner and myself pursued a casual course over as much of Europe as we could reach in ten weeks, —a delightful trip along more or less usual routes, varied by an occasional experiment.

On returning, I entered the service of the Pennsylvania Railroad. at a freight station on the harbor front of Baltimore, a section which to me as bill-of-lading clerk seemed striving to deluge the country with tin cans, fertilizer, and crushed oyster shells. After four months came a transfer to Philadelphia, where I spent nearly three years as different kinds of clerks. Then I commenced wandering about the eastern states as a freight solicitor, and for varying periods lived in York, Pa.; Baltimore, Md.; New Haven, Conn.; Easton. Pa.; and Uniontown, Pa. This work of searching out freight is interesting in itself and particularly fortunate in its "fringe," — the chance, practically a necessity, of learning something about the workings of every business using freight transportation.

From March, 1914, to December, 1916, I was stationed in Toronta, Canada, with the job of exploring, from a freight standpoint, the 1500 miles of country between Fort William and Halifax. To the interest of becoming familar with this country, normally rather little known to us, was added that of observing the extraordinary military and industrial development since the beginning of the war.

Since December, 1916, I have been in New York in the Foreign Freight Department, engaged almost entirely in the handling of export freight.

My experience of various large and small cities points out clearly the fact that all of them have some features which makes them pleasant places in which to live.

JOHN VASSAR STARK

Born at Penn Yan, N. Y., July 22, 1885.

Parents: Martin Charles, Emma (Wolcott) Stark. School: Penn Yan Academy, Penn Yan, N. Y.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degree: S.B. 1907.

Married: Belle Sarah Marshall, June 8, 1910, New York, N. Y.

Child: Marshall Wolcott, Oct. 26, 1916.

Occupation: Merchant.

Address: (business) 50 Main St., Cortland, N. Y.; (home) 76 South Church

St., Cortland, N. Y.

A FTER leaving College I spent a few months at the summer home of my parents on Lake Keuka, N. Y. In September, 1907, I moved to New York City, where I worked in the engineering department of the N. Y. C. & H. R. R. R. until April, 1916. At that time the business interests in Penn Yan that my father left required such attention that I thought it advisable to leave the engineering field temporarily and enter the business world. I stayed in Penn Yan until the middle of the summer and then moved to Cortland, N. Y., where I opened up a new retail clothing store on September 23. Since then I have given my full time to that enterprise.

While in New York City I lived in various sections, — Brooklyn, Harlem, Mt. Hope, and Morrisania. In the last named section

I found my wife-to-be and in 1910 I married her.

In 1908 I joined the Prospect Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church on probation and while I was active there until I left the city, I never became a full member. At different times I served as member of the chorus choir, President of the Young Men's Club, President of the Epworth League, Treasurer of the Board of Trustees, and in several lesser capacities.

During most of my stay in New York City I was active in politics. I ran for the office of County Registrar when Bronx was made a separate county, and at other times for Alderman, Assemblyman and Congressman, but I was never fortunate enough to be elected.

During the last three years of my stay there I was a member of the Amici Whist Club and served as statistician for one year. In that club I met with more success than I did in politics; I won the grand prize the first two years and was ahead when I left last year.

In 1914 I was elected associate member of the American Society of Civil Engineers and am still such. In 1915 I was elected a member of the Harvard Engineering Society of New York City, but had to resign when I left the city.

Since I left there I have been too busy with business matters to give much attention to anything else, but I have dabbled a little in politics and have been elected County Chairman of Cortland County.

Last October a son arrived at our home so I expect he will soon remove from my shoulders my business and other cares and allow me to retire.

Married: Nancy Mildred Kapland, April 11, 1916, Providence, R. I.

Occupation: Medicine.

Address: 143 Prairie Ave., Providence, R. I.

A FTER leaving College I went to the medical department of Harvard University, graduating in 1910. In the fall of 1910 I began my interneship at St. Joseph's Hospital, in Providence, R. I. I left St. Joseph's Hospital in January, 1912, to go into private practice at 671 Broad St., Providence, R. I. I remained at this place for about eleven months, and then went into the office of Dr. William L. Harris as his medical assistant at 532 Broad St., Providence, R. I. I remained here until I married in April, 1916, when I settled at 143 Prairie Ave., Providence, where I have my home and office.

In 1915 I was appointed Assistant Pathologist at St. Joseph's Hospital but I do not hold that office now.

I passed the Massachusetts State Medical Board examinations in 1910, and those of the Rhode Island Medical Board in 1912.

A FTER receiving my degree from the Harvard Law School and, being admitted to practise at the Massachusetts Bar in 1911, 1 entered the general practice of law at Boston, and have continued to practise this profession up to the present time.

Outside of business hours I fill up my time with a few hobbies such as fishing, microscopy, and music. For the last three years

I have played trombone with the Winchester Orchestral Association, an amateur orchestra of about sixty members, and have had an opportunity to play "at" numerous symphonies and other worth-while works.

I am also playing with another amateur orchestra of about thirty members — The Footlight Club Orchestra. We rehearse once a week at the Harvard Musical Association rooms in Boston and play for the Footlight Club's dramatic performances at Jamaica Plain about four times a season.

EDGAR BLOOM STERN

Born at New Orleans, La., Jan. 23, 1886. Parents: Maurice, Hanna (Bloom) Stern. School: Boys' High School, New Orleans, La.

Years in College: 1903-06.

Degrees: A.B. 1907; A.M. 1908.

Unmarried.

Occupation: Cotton Merchant and Broker. Address: (business) 840 Union St., New Orleans, La.; (home) 5115 St. Charles Ave., New Orleans, La.

TMMEDIATELY after graduation I entered the employ of Lehman, Stern & Co., Ltd., Cotton Merchants and Brokers. In 1910 I was elected Treasurer of this company, and have continued in that position up to the present time. I joined the New Orleans Cotton Exchange in 1909, and the New York Cotton Exchange in 1912. Since 1913 I have served as a member of the Board of Directors of the New Orleans Cotton Exchange.

I have devoted a good deal of attention to Chamber of Commerce work. After serving several terms on the Board of Directors of the New Orleans Association of Commerce, I was elected Vice-President of the Association in 1911, and President in 1915, and since then have been National Councillor to the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. In connection with these duties I have frequently been called upon to make public talks in situations which were not lacking in variety and amusement, ranging all the way from an exceedingly animated occasion when I had to speak to the Louisiana State Senate in opposition to a bill, in favor of which about nine-tenths of its members were committed, when I was glad to escape physically intact, to an occasion when I welcomed a Convention of Deaf Mutes, with an interpreter conveying my remarks to the audience through the medium of sign language. When I delivered the Baccalaureate address at the Commencement of the Louisiana State University in 1915 I was hiding behind a solemn exterior a quiet smile at the thought of what some of the friends of my own undergraduate days might have thought of my efforts on that occasion to advise the young men and women of the graduating class as to how to model their careers.

I have had some insight into public administration in several public offices. In 1912 I was appointed by the Governor of Louisiana a member of the School Board of New Orleans, and in 1913 was appointed by the same official a member of the Board of Administrators of the State Charity Hospital. In 1915 I was appointed by the mayor of New Orleans a member of the Audubon Park Commission, and in 1916 was appointed by the mayor a member of the Public Belt Railroad Commission.

Occupation: Lumber manufacturing and banking.

Address: (business) 180 Exchange St., Bangor, Me.; (home) 24 Grove St.,

Bangor, Me.

WENT west in the fall of 1907, visiting most of the Coast cities and making a hunting trip to Alaska in company with Leslie Hastings, '07, and others. I worked in a lumber mill during the winter and spring of 1907-08. I returned east in April, 1908, and tntored at the University of Maine until July, when I entered the Yale Forest School at Milford, Pa. I studied there and at New Haven and Clarks, La., and was graduated in June, 1910. I returned to Bangor, Me., and went into the logging and forestry business with Walter G. Alpaugh, Yale, M.F. '10. This partnership dissolved in July, 1912, and became I. G. Stetson & Co., which continued in the same business until July, 1914, when I became a manufacturer of lumber on my own account, buying small tracts of timber and sawing with small portable mills, which business I am still doing.

In July, 1915, I formed the Martinon Lumber Co., a New Brunswick corporation, being associated with Frank C. Hinckley, '96, Waldo P. Lowell, and others. I became Treasurer of this company. We acquired extensive tracts of freehold and crown land in New Brunswick, which we are now operating. We have a number of small mills, cutting about ten to twelve million feet per year. The lumber business is the best ever, but it costs a lot now-a-days to get it out.

I am Vice-President of the First National Bank, Bangor, and a director of the same; Director of the Penobscot Log Driving Co., and Orono Pulp & Paper Co.; and a Director and Treasurer of the Crogan Manufacturing Co., recently formed to manufacture an improved patent tape-measure.

Publications: I have written several articles for the Forestry

Quarterly on the subjects of growth of timber and log rules.

Occupation: Accountant.

Address: (husiness) 205 Broadway, Cambridge, Mass.; (home) 90 Hancock—St., Cambridge, Mass.

FROM College I went to work for the New England Telephone & Telegraph Co., in the engineering department in Boston. After about two years there I commenced to tire of the work and to seek employment elsewhere. It was not long before I passed one of the civil service examinations given by the state of Massachusetts. As a result of this I was appointed to a position as engineer with the Massachusetts Highway Commission to work on state road construction. I was employed here for over two years, at the end of which time I became so much interested in accounting that I decided to study the profession and make it my life work in the place of engineering.

In June, 1911, I came to New York as attorney for the Texas Company. I was admitted to practise in New York in 1912. I took a trip to Europe and India from August to October, 1913.

GEORGE HARRISON STEVENSON

Born at New Haven, Conn., July 31, 1880.

Parents: George Robertson, Emma Catherine (Cramer) Stevenson.

School: Hilhouse High School, New Haven, Conn.

Years in College: 1903-04.

Married: Helen Augusta Doolittle, Dec. 20, 1911, Long Beach, Cal.

Child: Harriet Marston, Dec. 7, 1912.

Occupation: Newspaper work.

Address: 216 Long Beach Bank Bldg., Long Beach, Cal.

BEING of a modest disposition I have refrained from accepting the Presidency of the United States or any other minor office since leaving Harvard. Shortly after leaving College I repaired to California, noted for its sunshine, flowers, and gullible tourists, and entered at once into newspaper work. For two years

I was correspondent for the Los Angeles Examiner. Then I went to work for the Los Angeles Express, and at the present time I am the correspondent of this excellent newspaper, also for the Los Angeles Tribune and the Associated Press, my place of residence being Long Beach.

The only criticism I have against California is its distance from the Harvard Yard. As a newspaper man never grows wealthy it is rather difficult for him, particularly if he lives on the West coast, to go very frequently to Cambridge, the center of the world, since the railroads have not yet realized the vast benefits they could obtain were they to issue free passes to the downtrodden class of humanity to which I belong.

I am as crimson-blooded a Harvard man as ever and realize that Harvard is the only university recognized by the wise men of the East and other heavenly constellations. If ever I am elected to Congress I shall introduce a bill providing for the removal of Harvard to southern California, although such action would, of course, inflict a great hardship on the second-hand tradesmen of Cambridge.

Four years after I landed in California I put the yoke of matrimony round my neck, and as a result my nose has been nearly polished off my face by the grindstone of the high cost of living. The other parts of my anatomy still bear a resemblance to their original form.

Though far removed from the place made famous by John the Orange Man, Butler, the well-known bull dispenser and toreador, and incidentally, John Harvard, in whose honor many gallons of malt and spirituous liquors are consumed daily and nocturnally, I persistently follow the accomplishments of Harvard in athletics.

If possible I shall attend the Reunion, but whether I have or do not have the good fortune to be on hand, I shall always realize that the Class of 1907 of Harvard University is the finest aggregation of humanity ever seen by mortal eyes.

The Harvard, Yale, and Princeton men of southern California gather early in the summer for a track meet, at which fond recollections of college days are recalled. We also at this gathering contribute to the welfare of the brewers by causing several kegs to disappear with incredible celerity. I have met at these reunions many Harvard men I knew at Cambridge but have yet to meet a 1907 man.

I have not as yet accomplished anything that would make me famous or infamous, but I am still trying, as Emerson advises, to hitch my automobile to a star. My star, however, has been awfully elusive and seems to have much more speed than my automobile possesses. With crimson blood in his veins there should be no limit for a Harvard man but the skies (see "Hoyle on Poker," page 23).

I have never written anything but checks and they have been too small for any self-respecting publisher to notice. I therefore refrain from giving the date of their publication.

No one under forty should write an autobiography. But—. Writing is my profession, and editing and hack writing have got me my living. I began by editing for a year on the Allantic Monthly under Bliss Perry. Then I went to the Youth's Companion, assisting Jack Macy as a Joke Editor—then a six months' excursion into politics as a clerk in the White House in Taft's only administration.

About six years ago I joined the Washington Bureau of the Boston Transcript as a correspondent—reporting the news, scrapping the unnecessary facts of my Harvard education, and ascertaining enough things to supply subjects for comedies and tragedies until the end of my life. About Thanksgiving time, 1916, I left the Transcript, at their request, because "the slant" of my "mind in sociological and political matters is distinctly different from what the Transcript's has always been and which it is not yet ready to abandon."

At the present moment (middle of January, 1917), I am doing editorial work for the United States Department of Agriculture, writing short stories, and hoping soon to read proofs on a novel.

VERY little of interest has occurred since I wrote the story of my life for the last Report. I am still unmarried, and hope, by the grace of God, to remain so, as I find bachelor life eminently satisfactory. In business I have shifted from hardware to real estate, being at present with the firm of J. A. McLane & Co., Chicago, but haven't done anything worth commenting on. The main event of interest to me was being dragged out from my happy home last June with a lot of other unfortunates, and sent to the Border with the First Illinois Field Artillery. We were stationed at Fort Sam Houston, San Antonio, Texas, for about four months, returning to Chicago and being mustered out about November 1. It was a wonderful experience in many ways, but it didn't make me at all enthusiastic about the country's present military system. I think the two points most clearly brought home to us all were the inadequacy of the National Guard to cope with a sudden emergency, and the crying need for universal service in this country. Since returning I have done nothing of interest. I hope to be present at the reunion, unless a few more "overt acts" occur between now and then, in which case, Lord only knows where I will be.

JAVING completed in June of 1906 the requirements for my degree of Bachelor of Arts, I studied in the Harvard Law School during the academic year 1906-07, on leave of absence from the College. After graduation I continued my course at the Law School and received the degree of Bachelor of Laws in June of 1909. I passed the Massachusetts Bar examination in January of 1909, and was admitted to practice February 19, 1909. I began the general practice of the law, independently, at 28 State Street, Boston, with my uncle, Arthur P. Stone, A.B. 1893, LL.B. 1895, and Joseph Wiggin, A.B. 1893, LL.B. 1896, as office associates. Arthur P. Stone and I formed a partnership on February 1, 1912, continuing, however, our office association with Joseph Wiggin. On July 1, 1912, we three removed our offices to 27 State Street, Boston. I have been for some years Secretary of the Hunnewell Club, and am a member of various other social organizations in Newton, and of the Republican City Committee.

ON July 16, 1907, I started to work for the Buffalo Weaving and Belting Co. at Buffalo; in June, 1909, I became its treasurer and have held that position ever since. On May 31, 1908, I was married to Gertrude Norton. I have two boys, one eight and one six. And that is all there are. There isn't any more. I haven't amassed a fortune but that does not signify that I am the soul of honesty. I haven't held any posts of honor or trust, unless it is fair to consider being treasurer of the Babies Milk Dispensary the one, and borrowing $10.00 from Louis Irving to help pay the coal bill the other. It is only fair to note the Babies Milk Dispensary above referred to became insolvent a few months after I became treasurer.

What, you may say, can you point to after ten years of endeavor that you have accomplished? What have you done to justify your existence and Crimson Education? Oh! Oh! now I can talk frankly. I would point to my few trivial writings given below. They are available at almost any reputable newstand and are well worth the small investment required. I thank you.

FOR about ten years I have been in the publishing and advertising business two T vertising business: two years with J. Walter Thompson Advertising Agency in New York; four years with Review of Reviews Magazine in New York; four years with Today's Magazine in New York as eastern advertising manager. Recently we bought Housewife Magazine and merged it - as Today's Housewife. We have 1,200,000 subscribers, mostly in smaller towns. I'm now supposed to be western advertising manager located in Chicago; I expect to stay in this wonderful business until I'm fifty — then I'm going to retire to some swell town where I can secure an appropriate degree of "Eminence owing to the flatness of the surrounding country." As my business contract says I'll get fired if my health breaks down, I am seeing to it that I have plenty of good old age coming to me. Nine years ago I quit living à la carle and took on a wife with all the table and hotel fixings - including (in the course of events) a son and heir. To date he has cost me about $60.00 per pound; considering the war prices, I believe a son should inherit before the father passes out.

IN August, 1907, I started to learn the foundry business in the steel foundry of Pratt and Letchworth Co. at Buffalo, N. Y. I continued with that company until April, 1912, when I left to become Purchasing Agent for the U. S. Hame Company, which position I still hold, with the added title of Assistant Treasurer. The last two years have been very busy ones for me and I have enjoyed the experience very much. I have always found enough time to return to reunions and a Yale baseball or football game each year.

MY business career so far has been that of bank clerk, salesman, special agent for the Travelers Insurance Co., and finally insurance broker in business for myself.

I have lived in East Walpole, Brookline, Auburndale, and Dedham, Mass., where I have been since October, 1910. I enjoy Dedham and expect to live there indefinitely for there are a good many of my friends, including classmates, who have now made Dedham their home.

I am very happy and proud of my family. My two boys are going to be real sports, I am sure. They love the woods and can skate, skee, swim, etc.

Last summer I was ill with a hole in one lung which kept me out of business and sports, but I am sure I shall do my share to celebrate our reunion.

JOSEPH LOUIS SWARTS

Born at St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 21, 1885.

Parents: Charles L., Emma (Weil) Swarts. School: Smith Academy, St. Louis, Mo.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degrees: A.B. 1907; M.D. (St. Louis Univ.) 1911.

Unmarried.

Occupation: Medicine.

Address: (business) Wall Bldg., 3905 Olive St., St. Louis, Mo.; (home) 5237 Waterman Ave., St. Louis, Mo.

A FTER leaving College I studied medicine at the School of Medicine of St. Louis University, and in 1911 received the degree of M.D.

The following two years I spent in the St. Louis Female and City Hospitals, first as Junior Assistant Physician, and then as Assistant Resident Physician.

In 1913-14 I studied in Europe, working as volunteer assistant in the Berliner Waisenhaus and Kinder Asyl—a large municipal Childrens' Hospital, where, in addition to my work in the wards,

I did some investigative work on gastric digestion in infants and made a study of a large number of cases of infantile eczema.

After nine months in Berlin I continued the study of childrens' diseases in Vienna, Munich, Paris, and London, and returned to America just before the outbreak of this terrible war.

After returning to America, I started to practise medicine in St. Louis, where I am specializing in childrens' diseases.

At present I am teaching in the Department of Pediatrics of the St. Louis University School of Medicine, my work consisting of bedside teaching and lecturing to the senior class.

For the past two and one half years I have been Physician to the Juvenile Court of St. Louis - where my work has been very interesting, examining delinquent and dependent children and advising with the Court and the probation office concerning the disposition of the various cases. This work is very much more personal than the above lame exposition would indicate, as it takes one into the lives of all sorts of men, women, and children, and reveals with shocking vividness the necessity of a broader humanity in the brotherhood of man.

At the St. Louis University Law School I have been giving a series of lectures on medical jurisprudence from the doctor's viewpoint. Last year I was appointed visiting physician on the staffs of the St. Louis City Hospital and the Infectious Disease Hospital of St. Louis. I am now on the certification committee of the St. Louis Pure Milk Commission, and for the past year have been conducting two municipal Infant Welfare Stations where mothers are advised in the care and feeding of children.

I am trying to keep interested in the play, music, letters, tennis, boating, and these diversions keep my viewpoint sweet and my life worth while.

Occupation: Rubber Goods Manufacturing.

Address: (business) Canton, Mass.; (home) 376 Arborway, Forest Hills, Mass.

MY life since leaving College has been startlingly uneventful. I have been continuously with the Plymouth Rubber Company of Canton, Mass., of which corporation I am now Secretary and Director.

To date I have maintained my state of single blessedness, which I consider, under the present H. C. of L., a "Status Quo" much to be desired. I take a short trip to the coast twice a year, but am for the most part at home. I spend my summers "Way Down East," journeying occasionally to the "Big City," and am still somewhat addicted to skating, tennis, and golf in season.

The events of deepest moment in my life have been the HAR-VARD-YALE encounters.

JEROME TANENBAUM

Born at New York, N. Y., Oct. 17, 1885. Parents: Leon, Johanna (Beran) Tanenbaum. School: Phillips Exeter Academy, Exeter, N. II.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degree: A.B. 1907.

Married: Helen Shoninger, Nov. 10, 1913, New York, N. Y.

Child: Charles Joseph, Oct. 20, 1914.

Occupation: Real Estate and Insurance Broker, also Real Estate Appraiser.

Address: (business) 640 Broadway, New York, N. Y.; (home) 315 Central Park West, New York, N. Y.

I FINISHED my course at Harvard College in February, 1907, and returned to my home in New York. I joined my father in the real estate business and have devoted myself to that line of work ever since. In 1910 I became a partner in the firm of L. Tanenbaum, Strauss & Co., and am still hard at work. Although transacting business generally as broker and agent I have also made a particular and careful study during the past five years of the assessed valuations of real estate in Manhattan, and have specialized in acting as an expert on real estate tax matters.

During the past ten years I have not been able to travel a great deal, much as I would have liked to. In 1912, however, I took a pleasure trip to the Panama Canal and the West Indies, which trip I enjoyed most thoroughly.

In November, 1913, I was married to Helen Shoninger, a graduate of Barnard College, also of the class of 1907. We have a son Charles Joseph, who was born in October, 1914, and we hope that in due time he too will go to Harvard.

O^N leaving College I went into the English factory of the Submarine Signal Co., as a mechanic and boiler maker. For the next five years I remained abroad, except for three vacation trips to Boston. During this time I went through all departments of our English Agency and had charge of various jobs in Holland, France, Spain, South America, Japan, China, and the Philippines. Since then I have been in the Boston office of the company.

While abroad I played on the English hockey team against France and won the single sculling championship of the Philippines. In 1914, I rowed on the Union Boat Club crew at Henley, only being beaten by the Harvard crew.

A CONNECTED story of my life since leaving College will reveal the fact that my experiences in the ten years following graduation have not been extraordinary and unconventional. It is of record that I studied law at the Harvard Law School for the three years following the completion of the College course, and received my LLB. degree in June, 1910. During the summer of 1909 I had worked in the law office of Hon. Alden P. White, at Salem, Mass., and my return to that office in the fall of 1910, after a most delightful summer in Europe, was expected. Seven long years of work and study, that now seem so short in retrospect, have followed in that same office much to my pleasure and profit, and inasmuch as we now do business under the firm name and style of White, Richards and Tarr, I feel naturally that I should congratulate myself on the privilege of this association.

But business is only one phase of a man's life; recreation is another phase, and right here should be noted my fun in experimenting with radio communication. Folks at home were afraid of the "sharp lightnings" and "magnetic leakages," so I built a log cabin in the woods of West Gloucester, and on the brow of a modest hill, above the tops of maples and pines, raised my aerial wires on high. Soon I was reading the swift signals of many distant stations, and attempting by night to transmit signals of my own to amateurs in my locality. The spectacular fireworks from the open rotary spark-gap drew many visitors, who were not at all interested in the matters of new and varied combinations of receiving instruments, delicately "tuned" and "balanced" for the reception of far away, sweet toned signals in code, for the Germán Embassy, maybe, from POZ.

Well, yes; I must now admit, that that cabin is now devoid of radio apparatus, the big transformer has gone, and the "aerial" now swings uselessly in the breeze. That's all true. And why? Well, you see, I'm expecting now to go to housekeeping this summer in that same log cabin with its four little rooms and huge fireplace, and the wireless junk simply had to go. SHE said so, and SHE knows. Ever since last July when I journeyed back and forth in my ever-ready Hupmobile from Gloucester to that little gem of a town on Cape Cod known as Cotuit, and presented my case before the single justice, who with no hesitation granted my earnest plea for perpetual attachment. I have been willing, because of my pardonable exultation, to agree to anything short of a felony. And so the wireless stuff has gone out, and furniture and "fixings" have gone in.

I guess that is about all. But I serve notice now to all persons interested, that, if it should transpire that I miss a day or two of that grand and glorious decennial celebration of the peerless Class of 1907, WE may then be fairly regarded as on our way to Bermuda or the azure islands of the South Sea.

I HAVE done almost nothing that counted, save to study and think and dream. I am a philosopher out of a job, hopeful some day of doing, saying, or writing something of account. While I have earned almost no money at all, I have gained a little notice in the study of evolution. More in my own city I am known as a lecturer on bird life, and more recently a new field has opened to me of lecturing on human and philosophic problems. This talking needs the backing of written publications, so I plan to write — whether fiction or serious essays I do not know — but always something of an idealist trend in a scientific manner with as much personal frankness as the public will stand.

I have been too poor to marry, and too hard-minded to please—both. I love tennis above all pleasures, chocolate next; my friends are few and true.

In summary, I might add that the last ten years have taught me to envy the peace and happiness in normal, healthy minds, to admire more the business ability of my classmates (business being a game I cannot play), to suspect doctors, to pity ministers, to question others, to realize life is an exceedingly complex game if you mean to swing your dreams, and that to master a destiny one must be captain of one's own soul — expecting no help even from one's own alma mater.

THE year after our graduation I taught in Browne and Nichols School in Cambridge, and in 1908 came to the Choate School in Wallingford, Conn., where I have been ever since. I teach German (or pretend to), and am Senior Master, which means that I have other very interesting duties of an administrative kind. During the nine years I have been here I have seen the school grow from 40 to 180 fellows, and it has been a busy and delightful experience.

I have replenished the reservoirs of nervous strength, which are taxed heavily by schoolmastering, by taking trips in the summer — seeing America first. I have found that in the mountains of Wyoming and Colorado, with a saddle and pack horse, enough reserve strength could be easily obtained in two months to weather the severest academic gale.

I am still unmarried, but as I have 180 sons I don't mind it so much.

FRANK CHESTER TENNEY

Born at Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 13, 1883.

Parents: William Mitchell, Julia (Mc Nair) Tenney. School: Laurenceville School, Laurenceville, N. J.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Unmarried.

Occupation: Grain Commission Merchant.

Address: (business) Board of Trade, Duluth, Minn.; (home) 1415 East Superior St., Duluth, Minn.

A FTER leaving College in June, 1907, I accepted a position in the operating department of the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co., Youngstown, O., but only remained there until August, for I had a great desire to return to Minneapolis where I was born and where I had lived until entering prep school, and the opportunity presented itself in the fall of 1907.

I secured a position with the Atlas Elevator Company (which company operated a line of grain elevators in South Dakota), going out to Hitchcock, So. Dak., a little town of two hundred inhabitants, to act as assistant to the grain buyer and elevator operator at that point. Six months later I was transferred to Broadland, So. Dak. (a better job but a smaller town, only forty-five this time), as manager and buyer at the Atlas Elevator there. The next year I was sent back to Hitchcock as manager at that point. The next year (1909) I was ordered into Minneapolis to learn the terminal end of the grain business, working part of the time in the office and part of the time in one of the largest terminal elevators in Minneapolis.

Early in the spring of 1910 I had the chance to become associated with one of the smaller grain commission firms in Minneapolis, the Stinson-Gage Co., as secretary and cash grain salesman on the trading floor of the Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce. A few months later the company was organized as The Stinson-Tenney Co., and I was made vice-president.

In 1912 my brother, D. D. Tenney, who had also been in the grain business, and I bought out the others interested in the Stinson-Tenney Co. and formed The Tenney Company, of which organization I was made vice-president. The Tenney Company is doing a general grain receiving and brokerage business with offices in Minneapolis and Duluth and a branch in Milwaukee, with memberships in the grain exchanges of those three cities.

In August, 1914, I moved to Duluth, Minn., to take charge of our Duluth office in the Duluth Board of Trade, and have since made Duluth my home.

Although I feel that I have been moderately successful in a business way, I have been very unsuccessful in a matrimonial way as I am still a forlorn bachelor with no prospects even in sight, but have not yet given up hope of some day entering a son in Harvard. Possibly when on for the reunion in June I can get some useful pointers. I have attended all reunions and all but two Class Days since leaving College and hope to do so as long as I can toddle.

Child: Charlotte Crane, Nov. 11, 1916.

Occupation: Education.

Address: (business) Colorado School of Forestry, Colorado Springs, Col.; (home)

1503 North Nevada Ave., Colorado Springs, Col.

IN July, 1907, I entered the United States Forest Service as forest assistant and was assigned to the Coconino National Forest in Arizona, with headquarters at Flagstaff. In November of that year I was transferred to Santa Fe, New Mex., which was my headquarters until December, 1908. I was then appointed Chief of the Section of Forest Investigations in Forest District One (which includes the national forests of Montana and northern Idaho) with headquarters at Missoula, Mont. I resigned from the Forest Service in January, 1911, to accept the position of Assistant Professor of Forestry at Colorado College. (The Department of Forestry is generally known as the Colorado School of Forestry.) Upon the resignation of P. T. Coolidge (Harvard, 1905) as Director of the Department in June, 1912, I was appointed Director to succeed him, which position I have since held.

SINCE the last Report life has not been exactly monotonous. In July, 1914, at the solicitation of The American Architect (an architectural weekly), John T. Fallon, M. I. T. '07, and I sailed for Italy on the old S. S. Stampalia, which has since met its fate — the common one these days of submarine warfare.

After an exciting summer in northern Italy, gathering material for publication, relative to architecture and the allied arts — we crossed into Switzerland. It was good to be able to see the Matterhorn, though Zermatt was a deserted village. Finally we reached Geneva. To the wild accompaniment of a trainload of enthusiastic poilus we entered France, and so to Paris. Paris, though deserted, retained most of its accustomed odor. Everywhere preparations were being made for the expected siege. At last we found ourselves in London, after an "ever to be remembered" crossing, from Havre to Southampton, with "500 too many Belgian refugees."

On my return in October, 1914, I was appointed Instructor in Architectural Design in the School of Architecture at Harvard, which position I still hold.

In January of this year I opened an office with Roscoe P. De-Witt at 73 Tremont St., Boston, for the practice of architecture.

TATTENDED the Harvard Law School part of 1907-08 and part of 1908-09, being compelled to leave both years in late winter by severe attacks of grippe. I was in New Mexico on a ranch for about a year and a half. I have been in Des Moines ever since in the real estate business.

In 1912 The Thompson Trust was formed by my father, my brother Frederick Oliver Thompson, '07, and myself. It is a consolidation, under a trust agreement, of various pieces of real estate and other property formerly owned by us individually and jointly. It affords us a better and more convenient method of handling same under one management. The principal business of the trust is the buying and improving of city real estate. Of this Trust I am a Trustee.

I was recently elected a Director of the Iowa National Bank of this city, also a Trustee of the newly organized Des Moines Association of Fine Arts.

LTHOUGH the life I am living is very interesting to me. I A fear no sketch of it will interest the other fellows. Compared with the great things they are doing in law, education, finance, etc., farming will seem very tame — and it may be. Yet to farm in keeping with the precepts of the experiment stations and modern science is no fool's job and to be on a farm surrounded by good pure-bred live stock and growing crops really approaches the ideal both in independence and inspiration. I took over the live-stock business of an uncle and am breeding registered Percheron horses. Holstein-Friesian cattle, Shropshire sheep, and Berkshire pigs. Everything we raise is full blood. Even our chickens, geese, and turkeys are pure-bred and uniform, which not only adds to the beauty and satisfaction of the farm life but returns a product that commands much better than market prices. It helps a fellow to know that he is breeding and growing some of the best stuff in his part of the state. For instance, I raised and sold the two highest-selling pairs of mares ever sold in this county, one pair bringing over $1800 and the other $1200 at a public auction. My herd of registered cows is doubtless the best within a radius of fifty miles. My stallions are imported from France and my herd bull combines the blood of the world's record cow and the grand champion bull of the world.

Our Secretary was sorely mistaken when he classed me as a "Politician" in our last Report. I was only a candidate — and that not of my own choice. Of course I take an interest in our political life locally — I was the original Woodrow Wilson man in these parts and I was our county's delegate to the State Convention. I might add that I have served as President of our Board of Education, taught the Men's Bible Class at Sunday School, served as director of one of our banks, and director and treasurer of our Building and Loan Association with a capital of $200,000.

I attended the National Republican Progressive Conventions at Chicago and thought I would look up some of the fellows but so fast were the momentous things done that one had time only to keep "next" to what was going on. I have not tried to write anything for publication except the "Stone Insurrection: A Study in Southern Slavery." which was my Bowdoin Prize essay — this I sold to the State, Columbia, S. C.

Last summer I came very near being killed in my car. I stalled my engine going up a large hill, the brake slipped, and backing down the hill I lost control of the car in trying to keep from smashing into a team following me and went over a high bank. In a twinkling my car was hanging against an elm sapling half way down the bank with me at the wheel. Naturally I felt kindly toward that sapling, in that it seemed to have saved my life, and I felt plum sorry to have to cut it down to get my car out of its lodgment.

Closing, I might assure the fellows that I am still a Harvard man, an optimist, and a Democrat, and am looking forward to the Decennial Round-up of 1907 in June.

SAMUEL EELEY THOMPSON

Born at Abingdon, Md., Sept. 5, 1885.

Parents: Samuel Eeley, Capitola Black (Nelson) Thompson.

School: Dunham's Boys' Latin School, Baltimore, Md.

Years in College: 1903-06.

Degrees: A.B. 1907; LL.B. (Univ. Md.) 1908.

Unmarried.

Occupation: Law.

Address: (business) c/o U. S. Fidelity & Guaranty Co., Calvert and German Sts., Baltimore, Md.; (home) Nunnery Lane and Frederick Road, Catonsville, Md.

WHILE life in Baltimore may be decidedly romantic in its flavor, it can hardly be termed eventful, and so having spent my ten years since leaving College within the bounds of its placid influence, I now find myself completely enveloped in its very delightful atmosphere. Hence details of adventure and hair-raising episodes in my career are sadly lacking. As everyone knows, beauty reigns supreme in this city of ours, but for reasons largely financial and partially due to failure to appreciate what is constantly before us, there is still a great number of young bachelors. Into their class I am compelled to place myself as yet, but, as I have insinuated, romance never dies in Baltimore, and perhaps by the next Report, I too may be among the benedicts.

After a year of law school at the University of Maryland, upon my return from Harvard, I entered the service of the United States Fidelity and Guaranty Co. and two years later was made Attorney in Charge of its Reinsurance Department. This position I have held ever since, and as I have not yet been invited to seek other employment, and as I have received an increase in my compensation from time to time, I assume I have not been altogether unsatisfactory in the discharge of my duties.

In a burst of preparedness enthusiasm I enlisted in the Maryland Naval Militia as an ordinary seaman, but after getting entirely accustomed to the none too refined and absolutely undignified station to which I had committed myself, I was promoted first to Yeoman and then given the warrant of Pay Clerk. Our organization was not mobilized, but we did have numerous cruises on the Chesapeake Bay, and our experiences quite equalled in intensity, if not in duration, those of our fellow militiamen who were called to the colors. If it were not for the comforts resulting from being attached to the staff, I should deeply regret my rise in the ranks, for never do I expect my sense of humor to be so thoroughly exercised as it was when I was a common sailor.

As to anything really interesting to tell about myself, I am at an utter loss. I have lived in one place for ten years, mixed with the same people, had the same pleasures and held the same job. Like everyone else, business has taken most of my time, and outside of a few interests of varying natures the pursuit of pleasure has occupied the balance. My single effort in the literary field has been an article written for an insurance periodical for which I actually received real money. This unexpected result has practically determined me to refrain, while at the height of my fame, from further effusions.

This whole account I fear is highly colorless for one living so long in the rather colorful environment of the Monumental City, but I am afraid I have become so assimilated in it that I am unable to realize that what might be of considerable interest to those living in less individual places is just merely commonplace to an unappreciative resident.

WARREN DUNHAM THOMPSON

Born at St. Louis, Mo., June 17, 1882.

Parents: Frank Dunham, Florence (Lyle) Thompson. School: Brookline High School, Brookline, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degree: S.B. 1907.

Unmarried.

Occupation: Mining Engineering.

Address: (business) c/o Chile Exploration Co., Chuquicamata, Chile, S. A.;

(home) 333 Commonwealth Ave., Boston, Mass.

IN 1907 I graduated from the Harvard Mining School and went to the Dairy Farm Mine in Placer County, Cal. This mine closed in September, and I was transferred to the Golinsky Mine at Kennett, Cal., where I took the samples, helped the surveyor, looked after the mess house, and worked underground, timbering, mucking, and drilling. This mine closed in December, and I went to the Mammouth Smelter, where I worked in the sampling department and later on the furnace crew.

In May, 1908, I went to Prescott, Ariz., and took charge of the sampling and assaying of the Cardinal Mining and Milling Company. This mine closed, and I went to the Bodie Mine, where I did general underground work. Later I was changed to the Poland Mines in Poland, Ariz. Here I was in the engineering office, doing map work, taking samples, surveying, and keeping the mill records. I left here and went to the Tiger Gold Company at Harrington, Ariz.

In July, 1909, I returned to New York on account of illness in my family, and took a position with the Robins Conveying Belt Company, in the engineering department. In April, 1910, I was sent to the Braden Copper Company of the Guggenheim Exploration Company, where I made some detail blast furnace drawings, and a glass model of the Braden Copper Mine, showing the workings, geology, and contour of the property. This work finished. I returned to the Robins Conveying Belt Company where I remained until March, 1911; then I accepted a position with the Yukon Gold Company on a placer examination trip to Alaska. I did the surveying and map work, and had charge of the weighing and calculating of the samples, with the general engineering and layout of the grounds. This work was at Fairbanks and Iditarod. After the examination work was finished, I went to Dawson, Yukon Territory, studying the operation of hydraulic mines and dredging, returning to New York November 1, 1911.

From June, 1912, to June, 1916, I was with the Braden Copper Co., in Rancagua, Chile, as chief engineer. I returned to New York June, 1916, and after visiting in Boston and California, accepted a position in September with the Nevada Consolidated Mine, and intended to remain as Efficiency Engineer, but was called to New York by Pope Yeatman to go with Mr. E. S. Berry to investigate the property of the American Vanadium Co., 16,000 feet above sea-level in Peru. After my return to New York the last of November, 1916, I signed a three years' contract with the Guggenheims, this time for the Chile Exploration Co. (Chile Copper Co.) at Chuquicamata, Chile, and sailed from New York, January 31, 1917.

FOLLOWING the 1908 summer spent with relatives and friends in and about New York, I settled down in the General Electric Company at Lynn for more intimate association with the engineering work I had courted during previous summers. It was like returning to 1907—the more intimate the association the larger the life.

Later, as a first vacation, I enjoyed a sort of Sabbatical year which I devoted to teaching Electrical Engineering at the University of Vermont. The end of the year found the fascination of educational gardening and nursing greater still, and I became anchored in that wonderful Champlain Valley for another four and a half years as Assistant Professor of Electrical Engineering.

After serving as Head of the Electrical Engineering Department for a year, there seemed more behind than before, thus making it an appropriate time to change cars.

It was my very good fortune to have enjoyed warmth at the General Electric Company, and the Manager kindly opened the Lynn plant to my humble efforts as Efficiency Engineer. When one returns from several years away it is always refreshing to observe that what little monuments he had reared still stand—and not altogether as tombstones.

So here I am at the Lynn Works with a welcome for the '07's that pass and a long cheer for this our Decennial.

THE first two winters after leaving College I spent in Cuba as assistant and chief chemist with the Cuban-American Sugar Co., on their plantations "Tinguaro" and "Chaparra." There I learned a good deal about the sugar business, acquired a smattering of the Spanish language, sacred and profane (but principally the latter), gradually became acclimated to the attacks of the ubiquitous "Pulga," and obtained a fondness for tropic sunshine and the tradewinds which I have never lost. In this time of agitation over the "eight hour day" it is interesting to remember our regular schedule of twelve to eighteen hours a day seven days a week, starting work at 3 A.M. half the time and the other half at 3 P.M. The summers of these two years I spent on the Maine coast and in Europe, where I made the usual "grand tour." Two walking trips through Switzerland and three days spent in Milan absolutely "broke" and waiting for money — stand out with particular vividness from this time.

On my return from Europe in the fall of 1909 I went with Grinnell, Willis & Co. of New York, cotton goods commission merchants, as a salesman in their export department. I left them at the end of a year to go with R. Hoe and Co., New York and London, manufacturers of print presses and printing machinery, as an office assistant, and have been with them ever since in various capacities, in spite of which they continue to prosper. My work is mainly executive and concerned with the manufacture and installation of newspaper presses.

On September 30, 1914, I married Miss Dorothy Pratt, and we now have a son a year old, who is far better at waking up his father every morning than the College bell ever was.

HENRY ODIN TILTON

Born at Lexington, Mass., June 1, 1885.

Parents: Josiah Odin, Hallie Amanda (French) Tillon. School: Lexington High School, Lexington, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-06.

Degree: A.B. 1907.

Married: Olive Northrop Fobes, Sept. 30, 1914, Lexington, Mass.

Child: Edwin Odin, Aug. 2, 1915.

Occupation: Sales Agent.

Address: (business) 375 Main St., Worcester, Mass.; (home) 6 Chalmers Road, Worcester, Mass.

A LTHOUGH anything like an electric motor would have cast shivers down my spine in the good old days of 1903 to 1907 when the artistic atmosphere of Robinson Hall carried more alurement than the grim depths of Pierce, nevertheless the hand of fate is still leading me on as a peddler of electric apparatus and at times even as an M. D. (Doctor of Motors)! As stated in the Sexennial Report, I began work with the General Electric Co. between Class Day and Commencement in June, 1907, in the Boston sales office. Continuing in this work until about May, 1910, I found out what an electric index looked like on paper, but was advised to find out more about the real article at the Lynn factory. Accordingly I was at Lynn until October of that year, when I was transferred back to Boston and began a little real work as sales agent in the motor department, working in the towns and cities around Boston.

In June, 1911, I was unceremoniously packed off to Worcester to try my luck there, and as Worcester has apparently liked electric motors and as I have liked Worcester we still are good friends. In the past year business has sufficiently increased to warrant the arrival of a small office with stenographer, also an official Overland automobile, all of which can usually be found at 375 Main Street sometime during the day.

On September 30, 1914 I married Olive N. Fobes (Smith, '09) of Lexington and we have a twenty-months old boy, Edwin Odin Tilton, who in spirits and cheer is already a lusty Harvard, '37. He always has a special welcome for '07's.

We have a home with garden annex at 6 Chalmers Road. If the high price of potatoes continues we shall plant all the aforesaid garden with them this spring but in the last two years the variety of the products has been varied enough for the fussiest vegetarian. We have removed 1,203 stones (and boulders) by actual count to date, so why should not the garden thrive?

At odd times this winter I have added a Boy Scout Troop of thirty odd boys to my other occupations and enjoy the stunt immensely. I attended a national conference at Columbia in February after which some one thought I did not have enough boys to look after, so I am now a Deputy Commissioner with 150.

If war does not spoil all the good times planned for next June

I shall certainly be on hand.

X/ILL it seem egotistical for me to refer to myself as a disillusioned man? That is exactly the case; and now I must explain. Along with my first full-length-and-then-some trousers came a desire to go to College, and about the time I needed a razor to take the place of the shears and jack-knife for my upper lip came a desire for the Harvard brand of education. Just why College and Harvard, I don't believe I could have told in definite terms; only it seemed to me in a vague way that along with a diploma would come a release from most of my troubles. A little like the man in the poem who kept advertising his line of excelsior in a poor frost-bitten country where fur mittens would have done better, as it seems to me. I willingly endured a little present discomfort with different lines of merchandise in order to reach my coveted goal, an A.B. degree with all the rights and privileges pertaining thereto, chief among which I thought would be freedom from pecuniary embarrassments. Many a speaker in the Blooming Valley church had referred at commencement time to Who's Who and the part college men, and particularly Harvard men, play in the business and educational world, and I could take my oath that the notions I had were based on statements of what purported to be facts that I had heard ever since I was knee high to a pint of cider.

But along in the spring of 1907 I began to see a dismal light: my private treasury depleted, my credit strained, my father financially involved for me. I needed a position, what I got was a — job: a place to teach in a private school in New England for $350 a year and find myself. After mature deliberation, thinking maybe if I tried to find myself along about Christmas I wouldn't run on to much, I sorrowfully turned the offer down, and then I saw that however fat the chances may be for summa cum laude's from Harvard, a mere diploma, or even one decorated with a cum laude is not a sure passport to extraordinary wealth. Dissillusioned!

But fortune favored me in another direction. I found a very pleasant place in a small college in Illinois, Greenville College by name, where I served for two different periods, 1907–09 and 1912–15.

Thinking that perhaps any lack was more in degree than in kind I spent three years at the University of Illinois and became first an A.M. and then a Ph.D., with all the rights and privileges pertaining to those degrees, and started to look for a place. Disillusioned? Rather. I learned that since 1912 there are more Doctors of Philosophy than I had supposed there were Bachelors of Art in 1907. I went back to my old place after a near chance at a place in a university where in addition to French, German, Spanish, and Latin, I was expected to lecture on uplifting topics to women's clubs, and then lest time hang heavy on my hands. go out and glad-hand the butcher, the baker, the candlestick maker, also John Doe and Richard Roe and see that they voted right on the appropriations to the university maintainance. The spirit indeed was willing but the flesh weak. But merit will tell, and last year as Professor of Modern Languages in Jamestown ·College, North Dakota, I whistled a tune recognizably on the Northern Pacific tracks with the thermometer 38 below 0. was "Fair Harvard."

As I write this the sun is shining feebly through Pittsburgh atmosphere and my wife, whom I married last summer, is busy near by setting out a home cooked dinner to me before I go over to "Tech." I am happy but disillusioned again. For three years she took French and German from me in Greenville College, but now she won't take even English. But I don't care; this last disillusionment just suits me.

A PPRAISING my progress since leaving College by physical differences in elevation 1 have moved upward in the last ten years, for my first job was with the "sand hogs" underneath the East River, New York City, in the compressed air tunnels of the Pennsylvania Railroad, and I am now occupying a desk twelve stories above street level in the McGraw-Hill Publishing Co., as managing editor of the Engineering News-Record. The intermediate rungs in the ladder were a two-year session on the engineering staff of the Catskill Aqueduct, a $200,000,000 project for furnishing an additional water supply to New York City, and an eight-year period on the Engineering Record, where I became managing editor several years ago.

Very recently it was decided to consolidate the Engineering Record and Engineering News, the two leading papers in the civil engineering field, into a single journal, to be called Engineering News-Record, and I have just been notified of my appointment as managing editor of the new paper.

In the intervals between getting out our regular weekly editions I find time to play a little tennis at the West Side Tennis Club and indulge in an occasional round of golf at Ardsley.

Occupation: Coal Merchant,

Address: (business) 27 Kilby St., Boston, Mass.; (home) 6 Otis Pl., Boston, Mass.

A FTER leaving College I became a humble wage-earner in the Manhattan Rubber Co., of Passaic, N. J., for nine months. I then attempted to sell to my fellow-townsmen in Boston the garden hose and rubber mats that I had helped produce. That attempt lasted about two years. In 1910 my father died, leaving a wholesale coal business without a head. Although utterly ignorant of coal-mining and all its branches, I took over the business, and have run it with increasing interest each year.

When not too absorbed in business I kept up hockey for a few years, and played with the Boston Hockey Club and the B. A. A. With increasing age and decreasing speed, I dropped hockey, but have been keenly interested in tennis, squash, golf, and skating, and this past year in aviation.

Business and pleasure permitting, I managed a good bit of travel; a winter trip to some southern country, Jamaica, Florida, Cuba, and finally to Bermuda. While in Bermuda in an unwary moment, I was annexed by a fair lady, who later, in the fall of 1914, married me! The result is that I am now the proud possessor of my own fireside at No. 6 Otis Place, Boston — with the latch-key always out for classmates of 1907.

IN the winter of 1907–08 I returned to Cambridge to take the fourth-year mechanical work at Lawrence Scientific School. The following summer I experimented with a White steam engine in a boat, and in the fall took a position with The White Company. I thought I could design a better engine, so after a year of experimentation, my steam engine was installed on a tractor. The tractor did not work out well, so I redesigned it. Then the steam plant did not meet with the requirements, so it gave way to a gasoline engine. The tractor was shipped to a farm in New Hampshire to be tested and proved quite satisfactory in its operation, but in returning to Cleveland, it was totally destroyed in a railroad wreck.

Realizing that in order to make the tractor a success it must be able to consume kerosene, I decided, before rebuilding it, to perfect, if possible, a kerosene carburetor. It soon became apparent that I must first make a satisfactory gasoline carburetor and then endeavor to make it handle kerosene. I greatly underestimated the difficulties, but now, after five years, the carburetor is nearing its final form. While working on the carburetor, I became interested in windshield cleaners, used for sweeping the snow or rain from automobile windshields. Here again it was much more difficult to produce a practical device than I had anticipated. The "J. T." Auto Devices Company manufactures "J. T." cleaners in three models.

My father-in-law manufactures ladies' hats. He desired both to cut down the labor cost of making the hats and improve the quality of his product. This led to my originating a new type of machine for dyeing hemp braid; also, originating other machines for blocking straw and felt hats by partial vacuum, and lastly, a machine for blocking velvet hats whereby the luster of the velvet is not impaired. These machines have been giving satisfaction for three years.

Recently, I have become interested in the business of distributing three makes of automobiles, also a new type of machine for converting alternating electric current into direct current.

These activities have so occupied my time that it seems much less than ten years since June, 1907.

I have been granted the following United States patents: No. 1,099,143, Window Cleaning Device, June 2, 1914; 1,111,109, Liquid Fuel Burner, Sept. 22, 1914; 1,158,590, Window Cleaning Device, Nov. 2, 1915; 1,171,479, Tractor Plow, Feb. 15, 1916; 1,174,912, Apparatus for Dyeing and the Like, March 7, 1916; 1,178,972, Charge Forming Devices for Internal Combustion Engines, April 11, 1916; 1,214,845, Manufacture of Hats, Feb. 6, 1917; 1,214,846, Manufacture of Hats, Feb. 6, 1917; 9 Applications Pending; 2 Applications in Preparation.

Address: New Mexico Military Institute, Roswell, N. M.

TN February, 1908, I returned to Cambridge to finish my A.M. ■ work which had been interrupted the previous spring by a little sojourn at Stillman Infirmary, where I had taken refuge in June to avoid the annoyance of taking my "finals." In September, 1908. I began teaching in the Davenport (Iowa) High School but was obliged on physician's order to leave there shortly. There followed about three years of enforced idleness, spent in part in Pennsylvania, but largely in Colorado and New Mexico. In 1911 I resumed teaching, this time in the New Mexico Military Institute, where I have since that time been in charge of the history work. My life has been rather quiet and uneventful - no, New Mexico is not a part of old Mexico; the chief variation in the joys and sorrows which constitute the "career" of a teacher in a boys' boarding school has been an occasional flying trip East and several summers spent in archeological trips among the cliff dwellings and ruined pueblos of New Mexico.

Occupation: Law.

Address: (business) 200 Broadway, New York, N. Y.; (home) 101 Seventh

St., New York, N. Y.

A FTER graduation I came to New York, where I studied law and was subsequently admitted to the bar. Since admission I have engaged in general practice. New York City is at present my home. In order to get on in New York one must possess "pull" or "push." I possess neither. Hence, the title of "prominent attorney" does not apply to me as yet. My real success came in August, 1909, when I married a noble woman, who, for the past decade, in the capacity of physician, has been attending to the sick of our glorious city. Recently my wife and I appeared in a damage suit; she as the medical expert and I as the attorney for the plaintiff. After the jury were kind enough to render a verdict in our favor, the presiding justice, in a threatening manner, announced from the bench that in his legal judgment, the two of use constituted a monopoly and were therefore violating the auti-Sherman trust law.

LEFT College at the completion of my mid-year examinations. I immediately entered the rubber manufacturing business in Andover founded by my grandfather and continued by my father. For the first few years I studied closely and worked in the manufacturing end, but later took up the sales, giving particular attention to our New England business and export business. I have also made seven or eight trips to Latin-American countries where our principal field in the export business has been. I have learned to be fairly fluent in Spanish, which has been of great aid. In the last few years we have built and equipped ourselves to manufacture new important commodities, automobile tires and tubes, and substitute leather soles for shoes.

IN the fall of 1907 I started for Calgary, Alberta, Canada, with a chum, full of enthusiasm for the great West. We reached Calgary about the middle of November and left after a three weeks' stay, in which time we became fully convinced of the wonderful future ahead of that section of Western Canada, and equally sure that with our limited capital and experience there was no wonderful future ahead of us there. We went to Vancouver, and after trying every ship bound for Australia or Japan, hoping to work our way across, we grew somewhat discouraged at constant rebuffs and headed for San Francisco.

There I lived at Berkeley for several months, and in the spring of 1908 took a thousand-mile wagon trip through the mountains with a University of California man.

Returning to Berkeley in July, I made up my mind to come back East, which I did.

In October, 1908, I got a job as timekeeper with the George S. Holmes Co., of New York, which was the oldest and largest company in the city engaged in the iron turning and metal lathing business. I stayed with my job and am now Vice President of the Company. Four years ago I married and moved to Douglaston, Long Island.

GERALD DIGBEY VIETS

Born at Digby, N. S., Canada, June 2, 1883.

Parents: John Moore, Jane Snow (Roberts) Viets.

School: King's University Collegiate, Windsor, N. S., Canada.

Years in College: 1903-06. Unmarried.

Occupation: General merchant.

Address: (business) Kippewa, P. Q., Canada; (home) Digby, N. S., Canada.

ON leaving College in 1906, on account of ill health, I returned home for a few months. In search of new health, I went to Kippewa, Ouebec, in hopes that in its northerly climate and rugged surroundings I would find what I sought. Here I took a position with W. P. Shannon in his general store and tourist and sportsman outfitting business. After three years of this work, and chasing deer and moose between times, I thought myself fit to return to civilization. But on my return to the city I found I had not completely recovered my health, so took a position with the Canadian Northern Railway contractors as warehouse man and general clerk. After a year of this, on receiving a S. O. S. call from my old employer, I returned to Kippewa where I stayed until I thought my health would allow me to respond to my country's call. I enlisted in 1915 as a private in the 130th Overseas Battalion, and after nine months of the most interesting work of my life won a commission. I did not hold it long; for on the final medical examination before going overseas I was rejected and discharged. On arriving in Ottawa from Valcarbin Camp I met my old employer who sent me to Kippewa as manager of his business which I bought out in March, 1917.

So here I am, after the prosaic interim since leaving Harvard, at the end of civilization, very much at home with the half-breeds and Indians of the district and always glad to see any new white-face.

THE articles written by many of our Class for our last Report were so interesting that it makes me sorry that I am not a more proficient autobiographer. Life has gone on since our Sexennial in an even tenor of events. I was married in 1912 and lived for two years in Cohasset, trying my luck in my spare time at gardening on an almost toy scale. Being too far from my daily employment, I was forced to give up my country existence for an urban one. After two years of too near neighbors I am now going to a half-way country life.

Two children have made my recent years both happy and busy.

What with playing nurseman at home and attending to my daily business, no grass has opportunity to grow under my feet.

As I look back on my College career one of the greatest regrets is that I was not more closely identified with the Class. I have regretted more and more that I have not a much larger friend-ship and a still larger acquaintance with the fellows of 1907.

GORDON WEEKS WALLER

Born at New York, N. Y., Nov. 11, 1885.

Parents: Frank, Almira Stone (Canning) Waller. School: Morristown School, Morristown, N. J.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degree: A.B. 1907.

Married: Margaret Garrison Voorhees, June 9, 1915, Hopewell, N. J.

Occupation: Assistant Superintendent.

Address: (business) 612 South Broad St., Trenton, N. J.; (home) 404 Crown St., Morrisville, Pa.

FOR the three years immediately following graduation I became a commuting New Yorker. During nights I lived in Morristown, N. J., and during the days I sold linotype parts and handled foreign correspondence for the American Newspaper Supply Co. In 1910 I gladly broke away from this sort of work and from New York City and struck out for myself in the comparatively rural city of Trenton. My work here was in the cost department of the John A. Roebling's Sons Co., where I got an insight into accounting methods of a big industrial plant.

After three years here I exchanged carpets, stiff collars, and gentleman's hours for dust, old clothes, and real work, becoming Assistant Wire Mill Superintendent. In spite of the critics who say there is no money in the producing end of a business, I have been very well satisfied with the change. The work interests me greatly and the number of things to be known is unlimited. Even the knowledge and practice necessary to produce such an ordinary thing as a piece of wire would be almost incredible to a layman.

In 1915 I accomplished my most important achievement when I married. Since then I have indeed lived. Mrs. Waller and I are very comfortably situated in Morrisville, Pa., just across the Delaware River from Trenton, where we hope such 1907 men as visit New Jersey's capital may give us a chance to welcome them. I would enjoy even a brief chat with such a visitor, as Harvard men are scarce in this section of the country.

As the days are only twenty-four hours long, my athletic work is confined now to such prosaic events as "lawn-mower dash," "putting the ashes — outside," and such. My waist measurement, however, is still where it was ten years ago, and if by chance I have to run a block for a trolley I do not wonder if my life insurance is paid up.

For the benefit of those who would like to size me up from this report I will go on record that politically I am an Independent, and in other respects a believer in the simple life, prohibition, Y. M. C. A. activities, church membership, and work therein, and the value of cultivating tolerance and personal cheerfulness. Member: Harvard Club of Philadelphia.

RICHARD JOHN WALSH

Born at Lyons, Kans., Nov. 20, 1886.

Parents: Joseph Herbert, Elizabeth (Haslam) Walsh.

School: Reading High School, Reading, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degree: A.B. 1907.

Married: Ruby Hopkins Abbott, Sept. 28, 1908, Reading, Mass.

Children: Natalie Abbott, Oct. 26, 1909; Richard John, Jr., Dec. 4, 1912.

Occupation: Writing.

Address: 8 Church Rd., Ardmore, Pa.

FROM graduation until January, 1909, I was on the staff of the Boston Herald, first as a reporter and later as special writer for the Sunday edition. The most interesting incident of this period was "covering" the Republican National Convention at Chicago, in 1908.

For the next three years I was with the Boston Chamber of Commerce as assistant secretary and publicity man, and later as editor of the weekly newspaper issued by the organization.

In April, 1912, I went to work for the Curtis Publishing Company and became manager of the promotion department, being successively in the Boston, New York, and Philadelphia offices.

Last January I resigned to become a free lance writer. I make my living writing advertising, and hope to find time — and a market — for some other kinds of writing.

HAVING planned for years previous to entering College to become a doctor, I left the cares of College at the end of the junior year and took the next year in the Harvard Medical School, with a choice assortment of 1907 men. A year of this sufficed, we (the medical course and I) agreed to disagree, much to my regret.

In the fall of 1907 I went South with the late Louis Cabot, staying with him there and elsewhere until July, 1908, when I went West to spend the summer on a Wyoming ranch, later taking a delightful trip to the Coast and home by way of the southern route.

On reaching the East, I entered the office of Lee, Higginson & Co. in Boston, where I stayed until an offer from the American Telephone Company drew me to their Boston office, where I stayed until another offer came, this time to enter the field of industrial engineering with Arthur D. Little, Inc., in Boston. During my stay with the Telephone Company I was married and my real scurry for a living began in earnest and became pretty serious.

In the summer of 1912 I again saw the errors of my way and returned to the Boston office of Lee, Higginson & Co. to sell bonds for this worthy firm. Here I have been ever since and hope to remain until no longer of use to them. This is the only office of trust and honor I have to fill, and it takes pretty much all my time and attention to do that!

POR the past ten years it has been my great pleasure to have been a part of the organization at the Warner Sugar Refinery, Edgewater, N. J., which is on the west bank of the Hudson River just opposite 130th Street, New York City, where I have been gathering that experience in sugar refining and engineering which I have never been able to dig out of a text-book or the lecture hall. The sampling, weighing, and warehousing of the raw sugar, the washing and melting of the raw sugar, the desiccation and filtration process of the liquid materials, the boiling in vacuum pans, the washing and drying the finished sugars, the packing of the refined products into an endless variety of containers has been part of my training and study.

Trips to California and Cuba have somewhat broken the steady grind, the fight to keep production up and the cost down, strikes, shortage of labor and slow delivery of materials have made my business life a most interesting game.

The war has helped to develop a very large demand for sugar refined in the United States and our Company has been able to take quite a share in the business, and thus far large orders for France, England, Norway, Greece, Africa, and South America have been filled by us.

My pleasure is motoring over highways paved with Warner's Asphalt, with the wife and kids in search of good picnic or camping places. I expect to add golf this spring to the long list of means to keep down the fat.

My business address all of this time has remained the same but I have moved my goods and chattels from one apartment house to another and then to the country, remained at Bronxville just four years, and early last summer the coal man whispered fifteen dollars per ton for black diamonds, so the moving man took another chance on my furniture and we are now packed into ten rooms up in the air on Broadway at 89th Street. My landlord has provided us with a room on the roof and Sunday is my busy day explaining to the two young sons just how to use a saw and plane and 1 am finding how quick the little hands work; we build anything from battleships to wagons, but repair toys mostly.

I have been gaining experience in banking, on the board of the Edgewater Trust Company, very much interested in Warner's macaroni and G. Washington's Refined Coffee (Made in the Cup) and our sugar plantation in Cuba.

I was joint editor on "From Sugar Cane to Sugar Bowl," which is a booklet just issued by the Warner Sugar Refining Company.

YOU leave space on the blank form sent me for recording the deaths of five children. I disregard this affront and will gladly rehearse these ten bachelon years. It is but the typical early business career of any successful man.

For three years 1 was a vender — scarcely knowing whence would come the next plate of beans. I vended bonds and inactive securities. Now and then a security, becoming more active than its mates, would bite me, inflicting collateral abrasions and indentures. It was awful! Just awful!

The next seven years I spent in the advertising field—the longest term of service being four years with Bird & Son, East Walpole, Mass. I have also had newspaper and advertising agency work (in which I am now engaged), fighting my way up the ladder rung by rung. Up, up, up!

One cannot keep a squirrel on the ground.

But from the top rung in the ladder I wish to remind members of the Class who are advertisers that no bird ever flew so high that he would refuse new business. (Advt.)

HOWARD ERNEST WATERBURY

Born at Madras, India, Oct. 27, 1884.

Parents: Norman Mather, Lucy (McGill) Waterbury. School: Cambridge Latin School, Cambridge, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-05.

Married: Esther Maria Ely, Dec. 17, 1909, Newton Centre, Mass.

Child: Howard Ernest, Jr., Nov. 1, 1910.
Occupation: Fruit Grower and Horticulturist.

Address: (business) Court House, North Yakima, Wash.; (home) 409 North Fourth St., North Yakima, Wash.

LEFT Cambridge at the beginning of my Junior year (something that I have always regretted) and entered the Biltmore School of Forestry at Biltmore, N. C., shortly afterward. I received the degree of Bachelor of Forestry, January, 1907, and honorary degree of Forest Engineer in 1909 after submitting a thesis on "Different Methods of Timber Valuation." In the spring of 1907, I spent three months in special work on gipsy and brown tail moths in Eastern Massachusetts, leaving for Portland. Ore., May 1, 1907, to take up work with James D. Lacey & Co., the largest firm of timber land brokers in the country. I remained with Lacey & Co. until May, 1910, when I bought a one year old orchard in the Spokane Valley, near Spokane, Wash., making this my home until February, 1915. I spent the summer of 1914 in the Yakima Valley in charge of the Government Experiment Station at Grandview, under direction of the Office of Experiment Stations. Irrigation Investigations. I found the work very interesting and of considerable value to me, though I'm not sure how much good it did the farms, and in 1915 I moved to North Yakima to take charge of the field work of the State Department of Agriculture, Division of Horticulture. Beside the field work, I also have charge of all experimental work relating to fruit pests and diseases carried on in the Yakima Valley and, in fact, in the State. I have to farm my own orchard in the Spokane Valley by proxy as I am not able to be there very often. The work here is very interesting and as I am making some investigations in the nicotine solutions which have never been made before, as well as some experiments in producing high colored fruit by the judicious use of irrigation water, I do not like to give it up although I may decide to do so, as I have plans which will bring in far more of the filthy lucre.

I have lived out of doors ever since I left Cambridge, not for my health but because I like it, and I expect to stay out of doors all my life. I have one wife and one child. Doubt if I shall acquire more of the former but stand a chance on the latter. Hope so, anyway. I would be mighty glad to see any 1907 men who may pass through this part of the country and though the State is dry and getting dryer, if such a thing be possible, I will guarantee to feed them all the big red apples they can eat. My office is in the Court House right next to the jail so that it can easily be found and my visitors can feel at home.

THE history of my life from birth to June, 1913, appears in the Third Report of the Class. Owing to the high cost of paper. I shall not repeat it here. Since June, 1913, I have been promoted to an assistant professorship in Romance Languages at Boston University. I have bought a farm in Scituate, Mass., where I follow the advice of Voltaire and "cultive mon jardin," when I am not teaching. I love to teach, I love still more to grub in the earth, and so I am very contented with my lot.

I am Secretary-Treasurer and Editor of the publications of the New England Modern Language Association.

Publications: since June, 1913, I have published, "A Trip to South America," D. C. Heath, 1916; and my doctoral dissertation, "Chapters on Magic in Spanish Literature," Révue Hispanique, Paris, 1916. These books may be found on the shelves of the 1907 room at the Harvard Club, Boston. I have also published several newspaper and magazine articles on Spain, contemporary French dramatists, and the teaching of Modern Languages.

A FTER senior year I went to Lyons. France, as "Lecteur A'Anglais." at the Faculté de Lettres. On my way over I spent some time on the Morocco coast with Frederick Moore as war correspondent. After two years at the Université de Lyon, I returned to Cambridge and did some special work. Later I went to New York to work in the sales department of the United States Steel Products Co. I was in the New York office until 1914, when I was made representative of the company in France and opened the first office of the company in Paris. I expect to stay in Paris indefinitely.

I have recently been elected Honorary Secretary of the American Chamber of Commerce in Paris.

I am a member of the Board of Governors of the Harvard Club of Paris: and, with J. H. Hyde, was charged with the task of drawing up the Constitution and By-Laws adopted by the Club.

In view of yesterday's break with Germany, I'd be glad to rejoin my good old Seventh Regiment N. Y. N. G. if it should ever come over to do its bit.

DURING my freshman year I wrote a theme entitled: "Who I am and why I came to Harvard," and when I had finished it I breathed a sigh of relief because I thought I should never again be called upon to delve into the intricacies of autobiography. It appears now that my relief was to last but thirteen years and I am at it again in much the same frame of mind. Since there is no stern instructor goading me on to a dissertation of length I can be brief.

At the end of College the usual question of what to do confronted me and in a rather haphazard way I chose the textile industry. Believing in preparedness, I spent three years in a textile school before entering a mill. This training over, I became a day laborer and held positions of like responsibility for the next three years. At one time the industry nearly laid me low and in fact did halt my progress for nearly a year, with a severe case of typhoid fever. The time came finally for me to remove my overalls for good and to be addressed as "Mister" and not as "You." I came South in the summer of 1914 and am now almost considered a native son in that I "reckon" fluently and vote the Democratic ticket. One experience I have had which I do not care to repeat; a strike wherein it was necessary to call out the state militia. The past ten years have been full of interest to me, but they in no way differ from the years of every average American; plenty of work, some pleasure, the meeting with old friends, and a reasonable amount of success.

CHARLES OLIVER WELLINGTON

Born at Belmont, Mass., Oct. 1, 1886.

Parents: Arthur J., Helen A. (Hill) Wellington. School: Newton High School, Newton, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degree: A.B. 1907.

Married: Helen Cushing Underwood, Sept. 26, 1912, Belmont, Mass.

Children: Margaret, July 15, 1913; Roger Underwood, June 1, 1915; Jane, Dec. 17, 1916.

Occupation: Certified Public Accountant.

Address: (business) 110 State St., Boston, Mass.; (home) Concord Ave., Belmont, Mass.

SINCE the fall of 1907 I have been engaged in the practice of public accounting; first with the Eastern Audit Company, next with Gunn, Richards & Co., and lastly with Clinton H. Scovell & Company. I became a member of this firm, of which the senior partner is Clinton H. Scovell, Harvard, 1903, on August 1, 1913. In October, 1916, the firm name was changed to Scovell, Wellington & Company. We now have offices, with our own permanent staffs, in Boston, and Springfield, Mass., New York, Cleveland, and Chicago. Our work consists of the general practice of public accounting, especially designing and installing cost and general accounting systems, and the varied work of industrial engineering, commonly known as "scientific management." We are auditors for Harvard University and the Athletic Association.

I passed the examination for Certified Public Accountants in Massachusetts in 1910 and in New York in 1911. I have been a member of the Board of Examiners for Certified Public Accountants in Massachusetts since 1915.

I am a Trustee and Clerk of the Belmont Savings Bank, and Trustee and Secretary of the Belmont Cooperative Society.

MEMBER: Harvard Clubs of Boston and New York, Exchange Club, Longwood Cricket Club, Boston Athletic Association, Oakley Country Club, American Institute of Accountants, Massachusetts Society of Certified Public Accountants, American Economic Association, The National Economic League.

CHARLES LAWRENCE WELLS

Born at Quincy, Ill., Jan. 19, 1883.

Parents: George, Sarah Jane (Castle) Wells. School: Phillips Exeter Academy, Exeter, N. H. Years in College: 1903-07.

Degree: A.B. 1907.

Married: Lois Dudley Benton, Nov. 4, 1915, Quincy, Ill.

Occupation: Mortgage Banking.

Address: (business) 3 Wells Bldg., Quincy, Ill.; (home) 1875 Grove Ave.,

Quincy, Ill.

FTER graduation I spent a couple of months recuperating on A Cape Ann, and then started for home, little dreaming that it would be more than eight years before I again whiffed the salt air of the ocean or saw the old elms of Cambridge.

I spent a few months studying the ins and outs of the farm loan business and then spent a year and a half settling up the affairs of a defunct engine factory. Early in 1910 I went back to the loan business and am still busy loaning money to industrious farmers and selling the notes to conservative investors. I have not given this business my undivided attention, however, but have devoted some of my spare time to civic and social matters. I served two years on the Board of Local Improvements during a progressive and active administration; have been a director of the Boulevard and Park Association for several years; am president of the association that cares for the large and beautiful cemetery owned by the city; am secretary of the Civic Improvement League: and am generally serving on special committees that are appointed to arrange for better conditions in local affairs.

In 1913 I was made a Master Mason and have taken an active part in Masonic matters. At the present time I am High Priest of our Royal Arch Chapter, Illustrious Deputy Master of our Council of Royal & Select Masters, and hold some minor offices in our Consistory. Besides the interest I have taken in masonic work I have found it the means of making many friendships that have proved of value to me in many ways.

I have tried to get away from business at regular intervals and have succeeded in spending a month in Estes Park, Colo., in 1910 and 1911; a month with Sam Himes on his ranch at the headwaters of the White River in 1913; and have had a good many trips of a few days each to Chicago and St. Louis; and a number of short automobile tours.

In November, 1915, I was married and took "her" by way of Cincinnati and New York to see Harvard beat Yale 42 to 0, and that was the first and only time I have ever seen Harvard win a big game.

Occupation: Manager.

Address: (business) 201 Devonshire St., Boston, Mass.; (home) 133 Peterborough St., Boston, Mass.

MIORTLY after I left College, and on account of the illness of my father, I assumed the management of his business in Montgomery, Ala. He had a variety of interests including a hotel, electric lighting and power plant, ice factory, and coal yard. Just previous to my father's death in 1907 I leased the hotel and after his death succeeded in selling the electric plant and ice factory to a New York concern. I left the South in the spring of 1908. In the fall of the same year I was employed as a solicitor by the Boston Consolidated Gas Co., but left them early in 1909 to take a position as power salesman with the Empire District Electric Co. at Joplin, Mo. In the summer of 1910 I came to Charles H. Tenney & Co., of Boston, as Power Engineer and have been with them for the past seven years. At present I am Manager of the New Business Department and have supervision of the sale of gas and electricity in all of the public utilities operated by them.

Member: Engineers Club, Boston, Mass.; American Institute of Electrical Engineers; National Electric Light Association; National Commercial Gas Association.

Unmarried.

Occupation: Forestry and Lumber.

Address: (business) 415 Congress St., Portland, Me.; (home) 285 Newport

Are., Wollaston, Mass,

TOUCHING but lightly upon "any offices of honor or trust," I shall try to connect nine years of life since leaving College in 1908. September, 1908, found me with enough carfare to get to Van Buren, Me., where I agreed to clerk for the St. John Lumber Co., on the head of the St. Francis River. The following July I surveyed timberland for the Great Northern Paper Co. of Bangor, Me., and inspected lumbering operations during the winter, acting as paymaster in the spring on the Hood Stream Drive. From July, 1910, to March, 1911, I did cruising and general timber estimating work for Fisher & Bryant, of Boston, Mass. At this period I contracted the dangerous habit of reading railroad folders picturing the advantages of our Pacific Coast, which led me to spend seven months on the Columbia River scaling red fir logs and prime ranching. Rubber-coat making and bond selling(?) proved enjoyable but barely profitable occupations until June, 1912, after which I spent three months timber estimating in Aroostook County. In October, 1912, I again went to work for the Great Northern Paper Co. in their department of Forest Engineering, leaving in March, 1913, to act as Superintendent of the "Kineo Operation" for the American Realty Co. of Portland, Me. My time was occupied there until March, 1914, after which I cruised timber for two months and spent two more months making a boom scale of "river wood" at Livermore Falls, Me. The summer of 1914 and its results reached even unto me and I found it necessary to revert to old Massachusetts again, where I spent most of the time up to March, 1916, in pursuing gipsy and browntail moths for the State.

The American Realty Co. then sent me into Quebec and New Brunswick, to buy pulpwood for rail shipment. This lasted until October, 1916, when I was shifted to Vermont to open up a new country along West River. At present I am occupied in lumbering spruce wood and expect to continue until "the week" in June, 1917, calls a halt on all endeavors commercial.

Unmarried.

Occupation: Real Estate and Promoting.

Address: (business) 119 White Bldg., Utica, N. Y.; (home) 294 Genesee St.,

Utica, N. Y.

SHORTLY after graduation in 1907 I went to Europe with Hermann Hagerdorn and visited his family in Göttingen and there was joined by Douglas Field. The three of us started out with our knapsacks and walking sticks and as three musketeers toured through Germany, Switzerland, and Italy, which trip I hope will be written up some day by Hermann Hagerdorn. Later that summer I joined Junie Foster, Tom Claffin, and other Harvard men in Paris and I returned home in time to take up the first year in the Law School. At the end of the year I was called back here to Utica and have been located here ever since, working in coöperation with my brothers, and finally with one of my brothers built an office building known as the White Building, which I am glad to say is completely rented. In addition to this, I have carried on other real estate work and had considerable to do with the selling of a large timber tract and railroad known as the famous Rome & Osceola. The parties that purchased the timber tract and railroad placed me in charge here and so I have been helping to develop the proposition.

I have become very much interested in many of the civic improvements of the city and have coöperated with others through the Utica Chamber of Commerce and Rotary Club, and I have found the work extremely interesting and requiring considerable time.

During these years I have been living in bachelor quarters, and two years ago four of us started up what is known as the Whef House where we are well taken care of by two Japs. The doors of the Whef House are open at all hours and we can assure you of a good time if you stop long enough to enjoy some of the hospitality of Utica.

RICHARD STOCKTON WHITE

Born at Philadelphia, Pa., April 28, 1885.

Parents: Samuel Stockton, Jr., Katherine (Brown) White.

School: De Lancey School, Philadelphia, Pa.

Years in College: 1903-06.

Degree: A.B. 1907.

Married: Sara Mildred McCulloch, June 7, 1913, Rve, N. Y.

Children: Katherine May, March 1, 1914; James William, Nov. 23, 1916.

Occupation: Farming.

Address: Old Gulph Road, Narberth, Pa.

I LEFT College in June, 1906, returning to Cambridge the following June to take my degree of A.B. with my Class. After leaving College I went abroad for almost a year, during which time I travelled in Egypt, Italy, France, and England.

On returning to America I went into business and for about a year worked in an office, but as my health was then not very good I decided to study law. I therefore attended the University of Pennsylvania Law School, for one term, leaving the Law School to take the position of Assistant Treasurer in the S. S. White Dental Mfg. Co. There I stayed four and a half years, when I determined to give up business and to live in the country.

For about two years I have been engaged in farming on a small scale.

Last June I was called away "to the Colors," as I have been a member of the First Troop, Philadelphia City Cavalry, since 1909, and, like many other Harvard men. I spent the summer with my regiment on the Border. The First Pennsylvania Cavalry, of which we were a Troop, was stationed at El Paso, Texas, from July 11, 1916, until January 11, 1917. We have just been mustered out of the Federal Service and I am now about to resume farming.

MEMBER: Rittenhouse Club, Racquet Club, Philadelphia Country Club, Radnor Hunt Club, First Troop Philadelphia City

Cavalry.

PHILIP ERWIN WHITING

Born at Auburndale, Mass., May 15, 1886.

Parents: Fred Erwin, Amy Estelle (Ferguson) Whiting. School: William W. Nolen, tutor, Cambridge, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degree: A.B. 1907.

Unmarried.

Occupation: District Sales Manager of Walker Vehicle Company.

Address: (business) Room 3709, Grand Central Terminal Bldg., New York, N. Y.; (home) 362 Riverside Drive, New York, N. Y.

A FTER plugging away at the automobile business in Boston for over eight years, getting a great deal of experience, but not enough of that which we seek, I was corralled by a motor truck concern and put in charge of their New York office. After a year and a half of it here, I rather wonder why I ever stuck to the job in Boston so long, though I confess it is a quieter place to sleep in. My chief occupation now is taking telephone orders for trucks in flocks of fifty, and entertaining all friends who come to New York on a junket.

I do not find the golf courses as handy in New York as they were in Boston, but I steal away for a game as often as I can, and I do not leave a golf-widow behind, not having found anyone who would take a chance.

Member: Harvard Club of New York, Harvard Club of Boston, Brae Burn Country Club of West Newton, Mass., Society of Automobile Engineers.

CHARLES EDWARD WHITMORE

Born at Boston, Mass., Sept. 26, 1887.

Parents: William Henry, Fanny Walker (Maynard) Whitmore.

School: Boston Latin School, Boston, Mass.

Years in College: 1904-07.

Degrees: A.B. 1907; Ph.D. 1911.

Married: Elizabeth Manning Gardiner, May 31, 1913, Boston, Mass.

Child: William Francis, Jan. 6, 1916.

Occupation: Teaching.

Address: (business) 24 Warren House, Cambridge, Mass.; (home) 10 Remington St., Cambridge, Mass.

HORTLY after graduation I sailed for Europe, spending a year in study at Athens; I then returned to Harvard to work for a Ph.D., receiving that degree in 1911. I was appointed instructor in English in June of that year, a position which I still hold. My earlier inclinations would have led me to teach Greek, but no opening in that field appeared, and I am now more than ever convinced that teaching Freshman composition is by no means the hopeless and thankless task it is so often considered, but a chance to render real and needed service to Harvard and to the community. I am at present completing a book on composition, which I hope to be able to publish within a year.

During the summer of 1914 I was in Italy, and was delayed there by the outbreak of the war, but succeeded in returning without mishap or special incident. Otherwise I have remained in Cambridge, dividing my time between College duties and literary work.

Publications: "The Supernatural in Tragedy," Harvard University Press, 1915; "Twenty-five Sonnets," Cosmos Press, 1915; articles on early Italian poety in Romanic Review and Publications of the Modern Language Association of America.

MEMBER: Society of Colonial Wars in Massachusetts, Modern Language Association of America, American Dialect Society.

CHARLES BEALS WHITNEY

Parents: Charles Leavill Beals, Lottie Jane (Byam) Whitney.

School: Stone's School, Boston, Mass. Years in College: 1903-07, 1910-11.

Degree: S.B. 1907 (1911).

Married: Elizabeth Smith Waring, June 8, 1916, Bedford Hills, N. Y.

Occupation: Market Gardening.

Address: (business) Beaufort, S. C.; (permanent) 186 Gardner Road, Brookline, Mass.

A FTER leaving College I went abroad, and in January, 1908, went into the office of Estabrook & Co., bankers in Boston. I stayed there until February, 1911, when I went back to College for a half year, getting my degree in June, 1911.

In the fall I entered the office of Cutter & Co., Boston, of which firm Hatherly Foster was a member. I stayed there until the summer of 1912 when I came South to Beaufort, S. C., and bought a truck farm. I spend the winters South and the summers North, which makes an ideal life.

Member: Union Boat and Harvard Clubs, Boston; The Country Club, Brookline, Mass.; Corinthian Yacht Club, Marblehead, Mass.; Harvard Club of New York.

FREDERIC WALDO WHITNEY

Born at Sherbourne, N. Y., Dec. 22, 1885.

Parents: Frederic Waldo, Emma Frances (Estabrook) Whitney.

School: Friends School, Providence, R. I. Years in College: 1903-04.

Married: Eva Catherine Beller, Sept. 15, 1909. Occupation: Officer, United States Army.

Address: Manila, P. I.

I ENLISTED in the United States Army soon after leaving College. I landed in Manila, P. I., January 15, 1906, and served in cavalry there until July 15, 1908, when I was sent to San Francisco, Cal., for discharge. I took part in an expedition against Salvador, outlaw and religious fanatic. Reënlisted in the 14th Cavalry at Ft. Walla Walla, Wash., was made corporal and sergeant. I sailed for Manila, P. I., November 5, 1909. I took the examination for a commission in the Philippine Scouts (native troops of U. S. Army) November 30, 1911, and received a commission as second lieutenant on February 9, 1912. I have served in nearly every post in the Philippine Islands. During military régime in Mindanao I was military governor of Tucuran, a sub-province bordering on Sanao Province, for about nine months. I saw service there and cleaned up the province, turning it over to the civil government free of outlaws and "bad" Moros.

I am working on a grammar of the Maguindanao language, of which there is no adequate grammar. Maguindanao is an Arabic dialect spoken by the Mohamedans of southern Mindanao, P. I.

GEORGE WHITNEY

Born at Boston, Mass., Oct. 9, 1885. Parents: George, Elizabeth Whitney. School: Groton School, Groton, Mass.

Years in College: 1904-07.

Degree: A.B. 1907.

Married: Martha Beatrix Bacon, June 2, 1914, Westbury, N. Y. Children: George, Jr., March 21, 1915; Robert Bacon, Dec. 16, 1916.

Occupation: Banking.

Address: (business) 23 Wall St., New York, N. Y.; (home) Westbury, Long Island, N. Y.

I WENT into the office of Kidder, Peabody & Co., Boston, July 1, 1907, and stayed two years. Then I was one year in the bond department of Redmond & Co., N. Y. In October, 1910, with Charles Morgan, '08, and S. C. Markoe, '08, I formed the firm of Markoe, Morgan & Whitney, of New York. I resigned in October, 1915, to become associated with Messrs. J. P. Morgan & Co., in their bond department, where I now am.

Unmarried.

Occupation: Medicine.

Address: 48 East 65th St., New York, N. Y.

A FTER leaving Harvard in 1906, I studied medicine at the College of Physicians and Surgeons in New York City, taking my degree in 1910. The next two years were spent in Germany, where I was occupied in clinical work in various hospitals in Berlin and Munich. Since the fall of 1912 I have devoted myself to the practice of internal medicine in New York City.

I am Assistant Instructor in Physical Diagnosis at the College of Physicians and Surgeons, Attending Physician to the Vanderbilt Clinic and Adjunct Attending Physician to the Montefiore Hospital.

Years in College: 1903-07. Degree: A.B. 1907 (1908).

Married: Helen Healy, March 29, 1910, Pasadena, Cal.

Children: Virginia, Nov. 30, 1911; William Daingerfield, June 11, 1914.

Occupation: Flour Milling.

Address: (business) 608 Wilcox Bldg., Portland, Ore.; (home) 485 21st St., Portland, Ore.

A FTER leaving College I acted as Assistant Cashier, and then Cashier, for the Portland Flouring Mills Co. until March, 1910, when I was married and made my home in Los Angeles for a year. Then I went with the Hammond Milling Co. in San Francisco as a salesman until December, 1913, when I returned to Portland, Ore., my old home, going into the export department of the Portland Flouring Mills Co., where I have been ever since, gradually taking over the control of that department, and also the Company's business in the eastern and southern part of the United States. We have a world market, so there is always some interest. I am now Secretary of the Company, and begin to feel that I have reached the starting point. I have acquired some interests outside the milling business, notably in a family investment company of which I am vice-president, and a paper concern of which I am a director. The above reads as though I had had my share of success, and I have, but I feel it is more due to my choosing a father who has provided the means and the advancement when merited — and needed. I have just built a permanent home, which is open to all 1907 men.

н 1907 — 27

SINCE our Sexennial Report things have not changed greatly with me. I am still with the Dennison Manufacturing Co., as Mechanical Engineer with plenty to do to keep me out of mischief. Probably the most interesting events since my previous letter are the arrival of a second son, Gibson, and a daughter, Barbara. These two with the oldest, Roger, make a very lively houseful at times.

However, we believe we have a trio which can not be beaten. If any of you doubt the above statement, come out and visit us, bring your evidence, and we will demonstrate.

ORME WILSON, Jr.

Born at New York, N. Y., Nov. 13, 1885.

Parents: Marshall Orme, Caroline Schermerhorn (Astor) Wilson.

School: Browning School, New York, N. Y.

Years in College: 1903-06.

Degree: A.B. 1907.

Occupation: Banking.

Address: (business) 120 Broadway, New York, N. Y.; (home) 11 East 64th St., New York, N. Y.

I LEFT College in June, 1906. I travelled abroad considerably for several years, as well as in this country. I became a member of the firm of R. T. Wilson & Co., in May, 1913. I am the board (Stock Exchange) member for the firm. I am a director and officer in several industrial enterprises in which my firm is interested, and am on the board of Managers of the Home for Incurables, New York, and the Seamen's Church Institute of New York.

Member: Union, Harvard, Knickerbocker, and University Clubs, New York; Automobile Club of America; Tuxedo Club.

THEODORE HALBERT WILSON

Born at Middletown, Conn., Feb. 11, 1885.

Parents: Edwin Horace, Jane Amelia (Bidwell) Wilson.

School: Cambridge Latin School, Cambridge, Mass. Years in College: 1902-03, 1904-07.

Degrees: A.B. 1907; A.M. 1908; B.D. (Union Theol. Sem.) 1911.

Unmarried.

Occupation: Ministry and Education. Address: Olivet College, Olivet, Mich.

A FTER graduating from Harvard in 1907, I returned to study in the Harvard Divinity School for one year, taking my Master's degree there in the following June. During this year of graduate work, I helped organize and became the Secretary of the Harvard Trinitarian Congregational Club, the purpose of which was to give tangible proof to some of the churches of New England that Harvard Divinity School was not exculsively Unitarian.

During the latter half of the calendar year 1908, I was supplying various pulpits in eastern Massachusetts. But in January, 1909, I entered Union Theological Seminary in New York City. During the first months of my residence at Union, I served as Assistant to Rev. Lewis T. Reed, pastor of Flatbush Congregational Church, Brooklyn. During my last two years in the Seminary I was Assistant to the Director of Student Christian Work in the Seminary. And during the last year, in addition to this position, I was Principal of the newly organized Union School of Religion which was conducted by the Seminary.

The day after graduating from Seminary, I commenced my duties as Assistant Pastor of the First Congregational Church of Montclair, N. J., of which Rev. Hugh Black, D.D. was then the Acting Pastor. Here I remained as per our agreement for one year, after which I accepted a call to the pastorate of the Island Avenue Congregational Church, Skowhegan, Me., where I remained from October, 1912, to August, 1915. During these years I became Moderator of the Somerset Association of Congregational Churches and Ministers, and Visitor to Bangor Theological Seminary. In 1913 I was elected delegate to the National Council of Congregational Churches which convened in Kansas City, Mo., and was present at the meetings of that body, taking part in the deliberations which resulted in one of the greatest steps forward which has been taken by the Congregational denomination within recent years.

The fall of 1915 I spent in Cambridge, renewing old acquaint-ances and browsing in the Widener and the Andover-Harvard Theological libraries, and supplying pulpits in different parts of the country. I left this interesting life to become pastor of the First Congregational Church in Olivet, Mich., on New Year's Day, 1916, with the understanding that I was to teach at least one course in Bible each semester, in the College. After reaching Olivet, I completely reorganized the old Department of Biblical Literature by making it a Department of Religion in which courses not only in Bible but also in psychology of religion, religious education, and general introduction to religion should be offered. Further changes resulted in the introduction of a group known as the Religious Work Group, in which students who plan to become Christian Association workers, ministers, missionaries, settlement workers, and Bible teachers enroll. This group is now on an equal footing with the language, the economic, the historical-political, the science, the art, and the music groups.

The latest position to which I have been called is that of Professor of Bible in a Correspondence School of Theology which the Michigan Conference of Congregational Churches plans to start next fall. As this work will not commence until September, and as the complete details have not yet been published, I can give no further information with regard to it yet. But in order to make this story complete, I include the simple statement. Arrangements are being made here in Olivet to provide me with sufficient assistance both in church and in college to permit me to undertake this other work as well, thus enabling me to help raise the level of education among the Congregational ministers throughout the state who never have had a regular theological course.

Perhaps when we meet in the good old Yard in June, I may be able to give some more information about the mite which I am trying to contribute to the reputation of Harvard and of 1907.

Occupation: Law.

Address: (business) 84 State St., Boston, Mass.; (home) 12 Orne Sq., Salem,

DURING the summer of 1907 I reported for the Boston Herald, and entered the Law School in the fall. I stayed there for three years, tutoring in the summer. No events of moment disturbed the calm of my legal education. In the fall of 1910 I became engaged to Katharine Coggin, of Salem, Mass., and started practising law in Boston with the firm of Hill, Barlow & Homans. I was admitted to the bar in the winter of 1910–11. In 1912 I was appointed counsel for the Boston Legal Aid Society, and acted as such until the fall of 1913, when I became associated with the firm of Boyden, Palfrey, Bradlee & Twombly, in Boston, later becoming a member of the firm. In the summer of 1916, this firm, or some of its members, joined the firm of Warner, Warner, & Stackpole, under the name of Warner, Stackpole & Bradlee, and I am now associated with that firm in the practice of law.

I am a director of the Boston Legal Aid Society. This winter I am Visiting Lecturer on Business Law at Wheaton College.

Member: Harvard Club of Boston, Salem Golf Club.

MY time since graduation has been spent as follows: 1907–08, Harvard Graduate School; 1908–09, Instructor in Romance Languages, George Washington University, Washington, D. C.; 1909–11, studying at Paris; 1911–12, Instructor in Romance Languages, Colorado College, Colo.; 1912–13, Harvard University Graduate School; since 1913, Adjunct Professor of Romance Languages at the University of Texas.

I am sorry I have nothing exciting to tell, but — Well, while at Paris, June-Sept., 1914, I was obliged to leave the tiny suburb where I was staying just before the neighboring forts fired on Von Kluck's advance guards — and so it goes. But here's to the merry men of 1907.

I HAVE been with the Bay State Cotton Corporation practically ever since I left College.

This concern makes "Lowell" duck, which is famous as the best yacht sail duck. The main product of this Corporation, however, is tire fabric, which is made for all the leading tire manufacturers in this country.

Between my work at the mill and my family I find that the time goes by very quickly and pleasantly.

SINCE all school men cannot hope to become President, my time since leaving College has been spent in teaching the young ideas of other folks' offspring how to shoot. A goodly number of said young ideas are now old enough to shoot in defense of the foreign policies of one President, formerly a schoolmaster.

I LEFT College in 1903 and became principal of the schools in Evans City, Pa. After a year of service in that town, I took the principalship of the schools of Zelienople, Pa., for four years, going from there to the principalship of the high school at Uniontown, Pa. At the end of four years' service in Uniontown, I returned to Harvard in 1912, completing the work for my degree in June, 1914. I then returned to Uniontown, Pa., as superintendent of the public schools, holding this position until January 15, 1917, when I was appointed to the Deputy Commissionership of Education for the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degree: B.A.S. 1907.

Married: Clara Louise Moeller, Dec. 25, 1913, Needham, Mass.

Children: Louise Gertrude, Feb. 17, 1915; Barbara Mildred, Feb. 17, 1915.

Occupation: Teaching.
Address: Segregansel, Mass.

NCE graduating from the Bussey Institute of Harvard University in the spring of 1907, I have held several positions. The first was as assistant in the Bussey Greenhouses, which at that time were connected with the Bussey and in which propagation and various other horticultural points were taught.

In the spring of 1908 I accepted a position as propagator and plantsman in the nursery of Isaac Hicks & Son, Westbury, L. I. Here I remained until the spring of 1909, when I accepted a better position as manager of the nurseries of F. R. Pierson & Co., Tarrytown, N. Y. After remaining in this work for a little over a year, I decided to return to the graduate school in Landscape Architecture at Harvard where I took a year's work. From here, the following spring, I took up landscape designing with Warren H. Manning, a landscape architect in Boston. I remained here a few months and changed to a better situation in the same line with Thos. W. Sears, Providence, R. I. From here I had already accepted a position in Chicago as landscape architect for a nursery concern, but the last minute cancelled it. I then took up work with the American Forestry Co. in Framingham, Mass., as nursery foreman. From here, three years ago last August, I came to my present position — as Agricultural Instructor in the Bristol County Agricultural School, where I expect to stay indefinitely. I have purchased a home and the position of greatest honor I have ever held is to be husband of a fine woman and the father of a healthy pair of twin girls.

BENJAMIN LORING YOUNG

Born at Weston, Mass., Nov. 7, 1885.

Parents: Benjamin Loring, Charlotte Wright (Hubbard) Young.

School: Noble and Greenough's School, Boston, Mass.

Years in College: 1903-07.

Degrees: A.B. 1907; LL.B. 1911.

Married: Mary Coolidge Hall, March 3, 1908, Boston, Mass.

Children: Barbara, Jan. 20, 1912; Charlotte Hubbard, March 12, 1914; Lorraine, May 13, 1915.

Occupation: Law.

Address: (business) 60 State St., Boston, Mass.; (home) Weston, (P.O. Auburn-dale) Mass.

ROM July, 1907, to February. 1908, I was in the office of Stone & Webster, Boston. I entered the Harvard Law School in September, 1908, and received my degree of LLB. (cum laude) in June, 1911. I was fortunate at the Law School in being an Editor of the Harvard Law Review and in being chosen Marshal of the Class at Commencement. In September, 1911, I entered the law office of Ropes, Gray & Gorham, (now Ropes, Gray, Boyden & Perkins) and am still there. Much of my time, however, has been occupied with public affairs. I have been a member of the Board of Selectmen of the town of Weston since 1910, and was for two years (1913-15) on the State Board of Parole and Advisory Board of Pardons of Massachusetts, having been appointed to that office by Governor Foss. I am now serving my second term (1917) in the House of Representatives of Massachusetts, or, as it is often called, according to ancient terminology, the General Court. The work of the House, together with the duties of the Committee on Rules and the Committee on Ways and Means, takes practically all my time during the legislative session, which usually lasts from January to June. I have taken some part in the organization work of the Republican party, have served on various town and district committees, and acted as President of the Hughes Alliance of Massachusetts during the recent campaign. Political activity and public office offer no financial rewards, so far as I can discover, but they furnish a life of sustained and varied interest, excitement akin to athletics, and an all-round good time. There is also a sense of genuine satisfaction in trying to render efficient service, not merely to one or a dozen clients, but to that abstract body we politicians call the "pee-pul." At all events I find the advantages far outweigh the disadvantages, though perhaps I may change my views when I receive what waits for all of us around the next election corner, namely, "the hook."

I am a director or trustee of the Children's Aid Society, the Massachusetts Prison Association, and the Baby Hygiene Association of Boston. I once served an enlistment of three years in Troop B., 1st Squadron Cavalry, M.V.M., reaching the exalted rank of Sergeant.

I am very short on travel and adventure. My first trip to Chicago was to usher at Alexander Grant's wedding, and my only glimpse of the Mississippi River came from a trip to St. Louis for a similar experience of Austin Amory. A little canocing in the Maine woods and a few walking trips in the White Mountains, though hardly teeming with excitement, have served to keep me in good health and spirits.

Member: Harvard, Tennis and Racquet, and Tavern Clubs, Boston; Monitor Lodge (Masons), Waltham; Weston Grange.

WAS engaged in writing, editing, and teaching for several I WAS engaged in writing, curring, and to Chicago in 1908 to months after graduation; was called to Chicago in 1908 to take charge of Sheldon University Press; was later assistant to Advertising Manager (Harry Ford, now president Saxon Motor Co.) of Sheldon School. I then went to Battle Creek, Mich., for three years' work as editor, publicity manager, etc., for Dr. Kellogg of the Battle Creek Sanitarium, Good Health Publishing Co., and allied enterprises. While in Battle Creek, I started a civic organization, The Community Club, and as volunteer secretary initiated and put through the reclaiming of eighty acres of land in the heart of the city for a public park and playground, the installation of an ornamental-lighting-standard system for the main streets, the beautifying of homes, gardens, and streets by a series of prize contests, the election of men new to the school board with resulting reforms in the school system, etc. I came to New York in 1911; was employed as assistant to Condé Nast, publisher of Voque and other periodicals; was later appointed Advertising Manager of The Craftsman Magazine, serving in that capacity for three years, during which time I inaugurated Craftsman Service and the Craftsman Homebuilders' Exposition. In 1916 I organized The House of Service, Inc. to engage independently in publishing enterprises and advertising counsel. I was appointed publisher of the Official Program of the National Education Association Convention in New York, 1916, by the Mayor's Committee, and edited and published a 274 page book of the Convention and Guide to New York. I have been employed as advertising agent and counselor for several corporations and in the promotion of community and educational enterprises.

GARDNER TABER SWARTS, Jr.

Born at Providence, R. I., July 5, 1885.

Parents: Gardner Taber, Fannie (Merrill) Swarts. School: University School, Providence, R. I.

Years in College: 1903-08.

Degrees: A.B. 1907: S.B. 1908.

Unmarried.

Occupation: Business and Engineering Partner in Educational Exhibition Co.

Address: (business) 26 Custom House St., Providence, R. I.; (home) 70 Waterman St., Providence, R. I.

FTER graduating from College in June, 1908, I served as a A demonstrator for the Rhode Island State Exhibit at the International Congress on Tuberculosis heid in Washington, D. C., in September, 1908. After that I served as demonstrator and lecturer to school children in the International Exhibit on Tuberculosis during the seven weeks it was displayed in New York City. Nov. 20, 1908, to Jan. 17, 1909. On Jan. 25, 1909, I entered the employ of Samuel L. Gray, C. E., the consulting engineer on sewerage and water supply, serving as draughtsman, transitman, inspector and construction engineer. I remained in Mr. Gray's employ until about September 1, 1912, except for two months in August and September, 1910, when I obtained leave of absence to take charge of the design and construction of the graphic representation of facts and figures for the "Boston 1915" exposition; and a few other times when I was serving as director of the Rhode Island State Board of Health Tuberculosis Exhibit. In August, 1909, I started a "side line" business to my engineering work, which consisted of the design and manufacture for sale of exhibition material and paraphernalia on health and social subjects. The business was then and is now, conducted under the name of the Educational Exhibition Company, and has offices at Providence. These exhibits consist of models, photographs. charts, lantern slides, moving apparatus, and cases to hold such material during transportation, and are used by health boards, societies and educational institutions for the education of the public on such topics as tuberculosis, clean milk, mosquitoes and flies as disease carriers, water supplies, housing, and civics. This business grew so that about September 1, 1912, I formed a partnership with Robert F. Gowen, '06.

During the years 1914 and 1915 we designed and prepared many extensive exhibits for various state and government displays on health and education at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition. In the summer of 1915 we purchased the business of "The Statistics Bureau," founded by W. C. Brinton '07. Therefore we are now engaged in supplying all sorts of supplies for the graphic representation of facts. These include many devices too technical for mention here, the principal of which are, however, special charting papers for plotting business and engineering data by weeks, months, and years, and very short pins with glass heads of various colors which are used for plotting on maps routes of salesmen, location of agents, cases of disease, and other similar facts; also specially designed maps for use in this work.

In April, 1916, R. F. Gowen ceased to take an active part in the management of the Educational Exhibition Company which has since that time been conducted by myself.
